HAS IT EVER

struck you that by dealing with me you run no risk whatever of not getting exactly what you want? You see, I guarantee everything I sell to be exactly as represented, and in order to prove this to you I send all on approval, entirely at my own risk, either on receipt of cash or on "Cage Birds" deposit system, and if birds do not realise your every expectation you only have to return them, and back comes the whole of your money promptly and cheerfully. I was first advertiser to send all wild birds on approval, and during the whole 19 years I have been trading have never done husiness on any other terms. I have an exceptionally large stock of warranted genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches, in perfect health and condition, at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-; specially selected larger cocks, to moult for exhibition or muling, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 17/-; few extra special clean moulted cocks, in full colour and superb condition, fit for keenest competition, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; hen Goldfinches, 1/- each, three 2/-, twelve 7/-; splendid lot cock Bullfinches, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; hen Bullfinches, 1/- and 1/6 each; grand lot cock brown Linnets, all guaranteed clean moulted and full colour, with nut brown backs and rose red breasts, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; specially selected larger cocks for muling and contest singing, and guaranteed now in song, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 7/-; few exquisitely pencilled large show specimens, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; cock Greenfinches, 6d. each, three 1/-, six 1/6; yellow exhibition specimens, 1/- each; cock Chaffinches, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; exhibition specimens, 1/- each; Redpolls, 6d. each, three 1/6, six 2/-, twelve 3/-; exhibition specimens, 1/ each; splendid lot big, bold, clean moulted cock Skylarks, in perfect feather, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-, twelve 3/6; specially selected cocks, very steady for show or singing, 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-; few genuine finger tame, hand-reared 1910 cock Larks, in free song, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; young Canaries, 2/6 couple, 12/- dozen; Goldfinch, Linnet, and Bullfinch cages, 6d. each, 4/6 dozen; Lark runner cages, 6d. and 8d. each, 4/- and 6/- dozen; penny tin drinkers, 6d. dozen, three dozen 1/3, gross 4/-; zinc ditto, everlasting wear, 9d. dozen, three dozen 2/-, 6/- gross. Dealers please send stamp for wholesale cage list; prices and sizes will astonish you. Kindly note, I claim to have more birds through my hands than any other six men in the Midlands, and challenge denial; so persons on the look-out for exhibition specimens cannot do better than place their order with me, and there is one thing they may rely upon, and that is, if I cannot give them a good bird for their money I will not send inferior specimens. Although I do not make a song about it, I supply most of the leading exhibitors of to-day, and have supplied birds that have won at Crystal Palace and every other cage of note. Visitors to Birmingham are requested to call and inspect stock of the various advertisers. They will then see who really holds the birds. As the wording of my advertisements are being copied week by week, I beg to say I have no connection whatever with any other person in the trade, and that my only name and address is—

Norwich & Yorkshires

The Price is Right, but the Quality is Better. Have on approval and test the fact.

My prices for the genuine article with sex guaranteed is: Pairs, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6 upwards; cocks, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6 upwards; hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 1/6, 5/- upwards; travelling cages, 3d. extra.

NORWICH OR YORKSHIRE COCKS. Singing, and will make champions, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6 each; now, to prove this, I offer to give six months' approval with these birds—i.e., to refund money in full or exchange same for a cock on full song. All other birds usual approval terms, all bearing my stump as a guarantee of sex, and any bird proving not to be a cock bearing such stump is exchanged, the lapse of time being no object. Hence, here is a security never offered by anyone else, and a safeguard against the now well-known "hen trick"—i.e., the tempting priced, so-called singing cocks. Why purchase these German hens when I offer you genuine Norwich hens, three for 5/-. Travelling Cages, 3d. extra in all cases.

W. RUDD, THE Bird Specialist, NORWICH, ENGLAND.

Fanciers should certainly see the remarkable classification at Buckhaven. Write for schedule at once.—(Advt.)

I have had some of CAGE BIRDS Live Bird Labels, and I think them "all right" and most suitable.—W. JOHNSON (Exeter).

Kindly note my change of address from Chapel Street to The Fountain Inn, Eccleshill, near Bradford, Yorks, writes Mr. J. Wilcock.

Kindly note my change of address from Earlsdon-street to 30, Westminster-road, Coventry, writes Mr. J. Shaddock, Hon. Sec. Coventry O.S.

Mr. J. R. Mitchell gives 2s. 6d. cash for best Yorkshire in Novice classes at our open show, writes Mr. H. Parkinson, Sec. of the Bolton and Dis. O.S.

Will secretaries and fanciers kindly note that I have removed from Cyprus-terrace, Sandfield-road, Liscard, to 25, Grosvenor-road, New Brighton, writes Mr. W. Young.

Will Clapham show exhibitors kindly note that entries average only about 7 in each class? I will take entries and classify for anyone up to last post Saturday.—A. C. ASKEW, sec.

Will Mr. J. Wood, who sent me an order for Linnet and cage, kindly communicate his address to me, as it was not clear from his letter? writes Mr. Sam Howarth (Ashton-under-Lyne).

Will those who have written me for schedules note that same will be forwarded early next week? I have already received applications for over 80, writes Mr. C. C. Irvine, sec., Ayr and Dis. C.B.C.

Will those who may have been overlooked in the payment of prize money and specials won at our show, writes Mr. J. H. Nayler, sec., of the Lancaster Primrose C.B.A., kindly apply to me for same?

Class 7 in schedule of the show on Oct. 15 should read: "Border Fancy, Yellow or Yellow-marked," and not Yellow or Buff-marked, as stated, writes Mr. L. Hall, Sec. of the Pelton Fell and Dis. C.B.S.

The London and Counties O.S. are to be favoured with a washing demonstration by Mr. W. Shakespeare, on Oct. 19, at the Leysian Hall, City-road, E.C. It will be open to the public. —W. GILBERT, Hon. Sec.

The leading conversation at Burnley show last Saturday was the wonderful colour of Messrs. Davies', Cook, Huggins, etc., birds, which swept the deck. All used Sandiford's Royal Red "only." See report.—(Advt.)

The judges at our show, Nov. 22 and 23, are Messrs. J. Robson (Canaries), J. Frostick (British and Foreign birds), writes Mr. T. S. Moore, Hon. Sec. of the Cambridge and Cambs. C.B.S.

Lancaster Primrose report gives my name as Taylor instead of Kelsall.—H. TAYLOR KELSALL (Ashton-under-Lyne).

We have engaged a new hall this year for our show, writes Mr. A. Wake, sec. of the Middlesbrough C.B.S.; it is well lighted on both sides, and can be kept at a regular heat, and it is lighted by electricity. It will hold 1,000 exhibits.

The Committee of the Cleator Moor F.S. have indeed been fortunate in securing the services of Messrs. J. Stewart (Whitehaven) and G. Wilson (Frizington) to judge at their show on November 5, writes Mr. J. E. Byrne, the Hon. Sec.

Will secretaries and others kindly note our change of address to 45, Overdale-road, South Ealing, W., where all future correspondence in connection with the National British Bird and Mule Club should be addressed?—PLUMRIDGE AND CARR, Secs.

Mr. F. Benn (Gt. Horton) will judge our first winter show this Saturday, October 8, writes Mr. J. Lewis, Sec. of the Spen Valley C.B.S. Seeing Mr. Benn has given us every satisfaction on two previous occasions, I feel sure we shall have a good entry.

We will send schedules to all who have written for same as soon as they are ready. I cannot answer all asking for same as they are coming by every post, writes Mr. H. Boothman, hon. sec., Manchester and Northern Counties O.S.

We regret to learn that Mr. J. Patterson, the well-known Scottish fancier, has been suffering from a poisoned wound in the arm, and was unable to judge St. Andrew's show on Saturday last, but hopes to fulfil his engagement at Selkirk this week-end.

Owing to Mr. W. E. Greeves having been called suddenly to Ireland on important business, writes Mr. T. C. Crawhall, hon sec. of the Newcastle-upon-Tyne and Dis. C.B.S., he will be unable to officiate at our show on October 21 and 22. Mr. J. S. Clarke has been engaged in his place.

At our open show on October 26 and 27, writes Mr. J. C. Bell, sec. of the Border City (Carlisle) O.S., we are giving 54 classes with specials for each class and section, 2 silver cups, 2 gold and numerous silver medals. With such judges, too, as Messrs. Battye, Robson, and Nicholson we expect to have a bumping entry.

The Attercliffe and Dis. C.B.S., writes Mr. W. Richinson, the Sec., are having, on Oct. 13, at the Horse and Jockey Hotel, a washing competition for novices, all novices to bring their own birds; and the Society is giving a washing brush (value 2s. 6d.) for the member giving the best exhibition. Mr. J. Perry will be the critic.

We have engaged Mr. R. Rhodes, of Nottingham to judge the Crest and Crestbred classes at our show on November 30 and December 1 next. We have received the Crestbred C.C. and Foreign Bird Club patronage, and expect to have the Midland Counties Y.C.C. patronage also.—J. H. DEMAILLET, sec. of the City of Birmingham C.B.S.

The annual Dairy Show, held as usual at the Agricultural Hall, London, under the auspices of the British Dairy Farmers' Association, was a great success. It opened on Tuesday last, and closed on Friday. Vast crowds visited it, and everything pointed to a "record," the management of this affair reflecting the highest credit on the officials.

Through a printer's mistake in our prize list the words "confined to members" were omitted in connection with the gold medal for most points over the show, writes Mr. W. Whiteford, sec. of the Lochgelly C.B.S. I may also say that several specials have been received since prize list was printed, and these will be given to any class which may be without a special after judging has taken place.

As I have already received a P.C. asking if members are to compete for the special in Wedgwood Ware (timepiece and jasper vases) for most entries and the two 10s. specials (one for most points in Norwich and one most points in Yorkshires), will you allow me to state that these are given for outside champion and novice exhibitors? writes Mr. B. Peake, hon. sec. of the Hanley and Dis. C.B.S. Members are not to count.

At the Scottish Metropolitan Open Derby Show (Edinburgh), held last week, our report gave Mr. Drysdale as runner-up for the cup, whereas it should have been Mr. David Black, of Govan. Mr. Black took first prize in the buff pied or green cock class, also second prize in the clear, etc., buff cock class. Several errors appear in the report of this show, an explanation of which is given in a letter from the secretary, published in our correspondence columns.

Our president's daughter (Miss Kate Haggie), writes Mr. T. C. Crawhall, hon. sec. of the Newcastle-on-Tyne C.B.S., has promised us a valuable special in the form of a challenge cup for best bird shown by a member in either open or members' classes. It has to be known as "The Kate Haggie Challenge Cup," and has to be won twice in succession or three times in all. I expect by next week-end that the 2,000 schedules for our show will be posted; if anyone is overlooked, will he kindly write me, and I will forward one at once?

Having received the patronage of the Yorkshire C.C. of Scotland, our Yorkshire classes will be confined to Scotland, writes Mr. Wm. Guthrie, Sec. of the Kilmarnock O.C.B.S. Mr. F. Penman has kindly consented to judge same. This completes our list, making a specialist judge to each section. We also have the patronage of the S.C.C.C., B.F.C.C., S.N.P.C. The Plainhead Club have decided on Kilmarnock for their club show this year. The members are doing all in their power for the success of our show; we appeal to fanciers generally to rally round us and help to keep Kilmarnock in the forefront of Scottish shows.

Kindly inform secretaries that I have removed from Arthur Street, Gooso Green, Pemberton, to 106, Poolstock, Wigan, writes Mr. J. Large.

I have been engaged to judge the Canaries at the Cleator Moor F.S.'s next annual show on November 5th, writes Mr. Jas. Stewart (Whitehaven).

Our annual show is fixed for November 10, with Mr. A. Lewin (Oxford) as judge, writes Mr. T. Beven, hon. sec. of the North Berks F.S. Amongst other specials is one of 10s. from the Mayor of Abingdon for best cage bird in show.

The quarterly balance-sheet of the City and Suburban A.C.B., to hand from the sec., Mr. V. Wynn, shows the very satisfactory sum of £27 1s. 2d. cash in hand, this despite a loss of £2 12s. 4d. incurred at the last young bird fixture.

We have engaged Mr. R. Barrass (Rochdale) to judge at our annual show on November 12, writes Mr. A. H. Meadowcroft, sec., Heywood and Dis. C.B.S. We have our new challenge cup to be competed for at this show. Anyone within our radius will be in time for showing by joining at our next meeting.

Mr. R. Hanford, of 263, Osmaston Road, Derby, the well-known breeder, exhibitor, and exporter, has just issued a price list of the Norwich, Crested, Yorkshire, and other Canaries retailed by him. Fanciers and exhibitors will do well to write for a copy of this list, which may be had free on application.

Newcastle show this year will vie with all the large fixtures. They do what even the Palace cannot do, pay full prize money whatever the number of entries. From their first show they have stood out for the exhibitors' full money. They recognise the expenses an exhibitor is put to in entering his bird and paying railway fees, to say nothing of the trouble of preparing them. So fanciers should support this fixture, which introduced full prize money, which never cancels a class even if only one entry, and which has never amalgamated its classes.—(Advt.)

Another charming picture of Mr. H. Goodchild's graces the September issue of "Bird Notes"—the organ of the Foreign Bird Club. It depicts specimens of the Uvœan Parrakeet, and is accompanied by notes on the species by Mr. Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S., etc., and Mr. Hubert D. Astley, F.Z.S., etc. Mr. R. Suggitt writes on "The Breeding of the Jacarini Finch," Mr. Philip Gosse on "Some Birds of the Anges in the Neighbourhood of Aconcagua," Mr. H. Willford on "Bird Life Through the Camera," and Mr. A Sutcliff on "A Holiday in the West Indies." There are besides many other interesting matters and several half-tone illustrations.

A SPECIAL NUMBER.

and will be a "special" issue in every sense of the word, with many interesting and topical features, and specially good reports of the important exhibitions being held this week-end.

Don't risk disappointment, but place an order for your copy of next week's "CAGE BIRDS" with your newsagent at once.

The S.N.P.C.

Notice is given to Southern Norwich Plainhead Club members, writes Mr. F. S. Matthes, the hon. sec., that classes 20, 23, 24, 25 in open Norwich section at Plymouth show are cancelled to all club members for points in champion section, specials 1 to 6, and Mr. J. W. Ramsden's special.

Can it be Correct?

We hear with no little grief and pain that when the officials of a certain defaulting society in the London district met to consider the financial situation, the sum of money remaining in the coffers was ascertained, and it was decided unanimously and with alacrity to divide the amount equally between those present (all of whom were, we believe, creditors), on the well-known principle, apparently, of God helping those who help themselves.

Echoes from Glasgow.

On a recent visit to Messrs. McFarlane and Nairns' bird-room, Whiteinch, it was with regret I learned that we are about to lose one of our well-known breeders of the bird of circle, Mr. R. Nairn, better known as "Bob Nairn." He sails shortly for Western Australia to fill an important appointment. A member of the Partick Police for nearly 13 years, he has made many friends amongst his comrades and the general public. With the latter he was held in the highest esteem for his courteous and obliging disposition, and in the Fancy he is also well known. All will wish him God-speed and every happiness and success in his new home. Messrs. McFarlane and Nairn have had a good season's breeding of "the bird of circle"—30 young birds, several of which have already won their spurs on the show bench, and are expected to do some good work at the club show, the Albion Thistle, on Oct. 15, finishing up with the City of Glasgow show. We hope his partner, Mr. J. McFarlane, who has been a breeder of "the bird of circle" for over 30 years, and is a well-known son of St. Mungo, may continue his interest and keep the stud together. A visit was also paid to the bird-room of another well-known breeder Mr. Renfrew who, although failing in numbers of young birds (6 youngsters), has one or two models amongst them that are sure to be "in the tickets" during the season. Mr. Fulton (Partick), who has had a very fair breeding season, has some champions, and amongst the knowing ones he is expected to "trot" out the winner of the cup at the Glasgow Southern Confined Show; so Dennistown will require to be up and doing.—"SCOTCH FANCY."

Under the White Rose.

THE first Yorkshire Union show was to be held the first Saturday in October, at the end of the breeding season. This date looked a long way ahead, but it has come, and found us not altogether ready for it. Very many of the birds are not yet fit, and this notwithstanding we have had as nice a month of September as any birdy man could wish for. How would we have seen if the weather had been as erratic as during the most part of the breeding season? I reckon the birds would have been even a fortnight later at least.

BRADFORD CITY had the pleasure of opening the season, and they can congratulate themselves upon having such a successful show. The entries totalled 478, from 182 exhibitors, and they were a grand lot, well worth going a long way to see. Also the weather put on its best behaviour, quite up to the standard of the two previous years, a real fine autumn day, and a large number of fanciers took advantage of it, the room being taxed to its utmost for a few hours during the best part of the afternoon, the excellent daylight making it a pleasure to look at the birds and see them to the best advantage.

NOVICES, as usual, "came up smiling," and put down a good number of birds, some real toppers amongst them, the latter statement being proved by the fact that three of them were claimed at the Yorkshire Union limit price for novice classes, viz., £5 5s., and all hens at that. Where are the people who are always saying that a good winning hen is not worth as much as a good winning cock? I suppose they base their calculations on the fact that a cock is likely to last longer as a show bird. But some of the Yorkshire hens have lasted a very long time. The highest price I have heard about this season has been given for a hen, viz., £12, and it has been beaten at that. Query: How much is the bird worth that beat it? There are some who say that the price should be open, but I don't intend to discuss that here; but there are many who would like to have the pleasure of refusing (or taking) such a price for a bird.

I SHOULD like to draw the attention here to the rules of the Y.U. in regard to water tins. The Bradford City officials informed me that at least a dozen exhibitors sent their birds to the show with water tins that did not conform to the regulations laid down, but the fanciers there, true fanciers, I should say, did not have the birds disqualified, but sent out and bought some water tins, and put them on the cages of those that were not to the standard required; this matter should receive the attention of all exhibitors. Sometimes you may drop across a show where the officials are not as thoughtful as those at Bradford City.

LADIES connected with the City show had a very busy time in the refreshment room. A good number of fanciers took advantage of the chance of a tea on the spot. This, coupled with the fact that the eatables were excellent, made it doubly a pleasure. If the ladies look after their husbands as well as they did us, the husbands won't have much to grumble at.

A FEW of the good old faces kept "turning up" at the shows, fanciers whom one only sees at one or two of the most important fixtures. It is always a pleasure to see them, and have a talk with them on the subject of birds. One gets many interesting bits of information about birds in days gone by, particularly comparisons of the show bird of to-day and that of the past. Most of them say that showing to-day is quite on better terms than it was fifteen or twenty years ago.

"STRAIGHT 'UN."

A MISLEADING ADVERTISEMENT AND A DISCLAIMER.

Our attention has been drawn to an advertiser in our last issue styling himself "Rudd's Aviaries," of Canterbury. We have since learnt that this person cannot claim the name of Rudd as a patronymic, and that he has apparently adopted this trading name in the belief that it will serve him in good stead amongst bird-keepers. We desire to say emphatically that, had this particular advertisement been seen by us in the first instance, we should not have dealt with it without first querying its bona fides, because we do not believe in allowing anyone to profit by the years of hard work, expenditure of capital and attention to business on the part of another man by the use of his familiar trade name. Mr. Rudd, the well-known bird specialist, of Norwich, has no aviaries outside of Norwich, nor has he any connection with any other person trading in birds. On the ethics of this form of trading we express no opinion, but at any rate our columns shall not be made a vehicle for such announcements.

Copy of postcard received by Mr. Rudd:—

Cheriton, Kent.

Mr. Rudd.

Dear Sir,—My son has opened a shop in Canterbury as Rudd's Aviaries. I beg to be excused from any share in the use of your well-known name. It is dead against my wish or principle.—Yours faithfully, Hy Carvell, Senr. Poor, but fair. Gold medallist, author, and judge by unsolicited appointment.

Club Reports.

HIGH WYCOMBE AND DIS. F.S.

Annual meeting held Sept. 30, Mr. R. M. Gill in the chair. It was decided to extend radius to 20 miles. The Society has a small balance in hand. It was decided to hold the annual show, Dec. 28th, and to call a meeting to draw up schedule Oct. 14. —S. C. PEARCE, Hon. Sec.

BLAYDON-ON-TYNE & DIS. C.B.S.

At meeting, October 1, after the usual business, the question of patronages for show on November 4 and 5 was considered. Seeing the large number of societies who had promised us same, the members decided to engage a larger hall, namely, the drill hall, which is in every way suitable, being well lighted, free from draughts, and within ten minutes' walk of station. Will fanciers please note this, as we are trying to make our show a higher success than ever. Specials are likewise up to our usual high standard. All prize money is likewise guaranteed, whether there be competition or not.—G. HAVVER, Sec.

SUNDERLAND C.B.A.

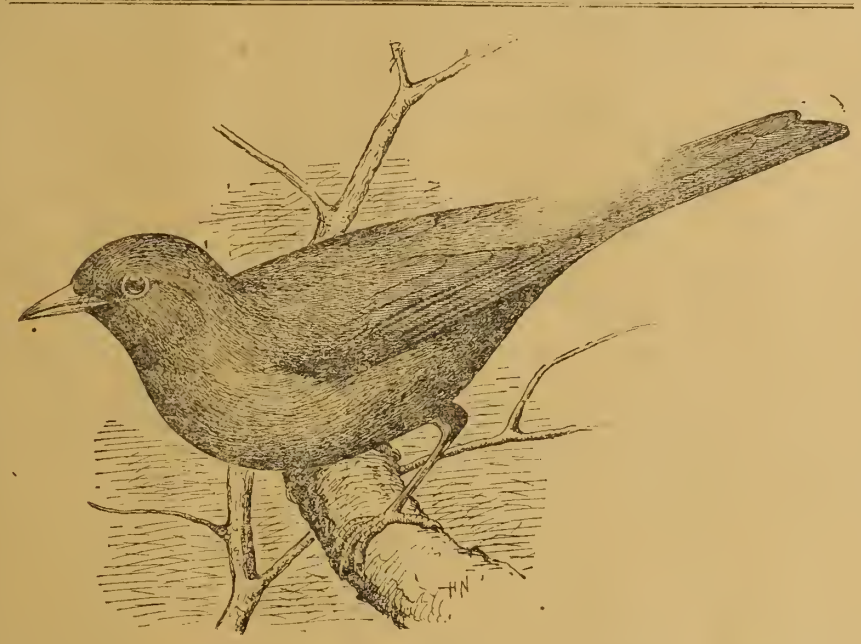
Meeting Fawcett Street Cafe, October 1, Mr. J. Farrar in chair. Committee appointed to visit various halls gave their report. Decided, to engage St. Peter's Hall, Green Street, for our members' show, November 19, this hall being in the centre of the town, and very convenient. Mr. T. Dixon (Bedlington Station) was appointed judge. We are having 37 classes. Will members please note that all subscriptions must be fully paid up by the time they make their entries (not later than November 24)? Specials urgently needed; we shall be obliged if members will give this matter their attention. A drawing will be held on day of show for visitors, six Canaries having been promised by members.—J. JEFFREY, Hon. Sec.

QUEEN'S PARK (Glasgow) AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting Marie Stuart Halls, Crosshill, September 30th; good attendance. Arrangements for annual club show, 19th November next in the Marie Stuart Halls, were completed. Judges: Messrs. Jervie (Glasgow) for Norwich, and Lappin (Rutherglen) for other varieties; 53 classes. Members were entertained to a lecture by Mr. C. Campbell, on "The Norwich Plainhead Canary"; this was most instructive, and all thoroughly enjoyed it. Many questions were answered by the lecturer. The chairman, Mr. Thomson, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Campbell, which was taken part in by all. A washing exhibition arranged for next meeting. Shall be glad if all members will now give their attention to specials for show, and also induce any likely members to join. R. HEGGIE, Hon. Sec.

SWANSEA AND DISTRICT C.B.A.

Special meeting held Sept. 27th, Market Coffee Tavern. Best-attended meeting this year. Letters were read from Southern Y.C.C. offering their eight specials for competition at open show, November 9th and 10th, and from Messrs. Spillers and Bakers, Ltd., offering 20s. cash special; both specials were accepted. A large number were also given by members who have worked hard collecting them. Quite a surprise was created when Mr. D. S. A. Longden placed on the table a massive silver cup valued £3, given by R. Thomas, Esq.; all eyes turned towards it, and the members are going to try and win it. Also announced that a gentleman of the town is willing to give a cup providing another was obtained; a small committee was formed to try and obtain it. A pleasant hour was passed talking over birdy matters with Mr. J. H. Isaacs, the well-known member of the Green C.C. We were delighted to hear that the G.C.A. members intend sending us a record entry. Next meeting October 11th; unless subs. are clear on cards for the year members will not be entitled to the benefits according to rules.—S. H. GEORGE, Hon. Sec.



THE BLACKBIRD; BELOVED BY BIRD-KEEPERS, MALIGNED BY FRUIT-GROWERS.

A drawing of the bird which secured Second Prize at the Crystal Palace Show for Mr. W. Sketchley, of Northampton.

DERWENT VALLEY C.B.S.

Meeting held October 1st, headquarters, Mr. G. Barkas in chair. It was decided to put all specials on for most points, and we hope that by the date of show we shall have a special for every class. Decided to hold meeting on October 15th, for election of stewards, make arrangements, etc., for open show.—J. LINDSAY, Hon. Sec.

GREEN CANARY ASSOCIATION.

Meeting September 22nd, Oldham Hall, Liverpool, Mr. J. W. Metcalfe in chair. Messrs. Ambler, Withington, Murray, Thomas, Bloor, Capper, Lea, Richards, Wright, Hancocks, and Wagstaffe were elected members; and the following nominated: Messrs. Pearce, Davenport, and Jones. Unfortunately, our efforts to secure patronage to fill the vacant date, viz., December 3rd, were not successful, hence the Yorkshires and Norwich will not be out that week. It is pleasing to note that we have secured the full classification (12 classes) for the Crystal Palace show. The rules, syllabus cards, and specials cards (the latter giving full list of shows), judges, etc., will be in the hands of members 'ere now. Old show fixed for January 14th. Owing to pressure of business, Mr. Hales was unable to deliver his lecture on "Preparing Birds for Exhibition," but Mr. Lugg, who happened to look in, gave us a very interesting lecture on "The Different Seeds Suitable for British Birds and Canaries," at the end of which he was unanimously accorded a hearty vote of thanks.—GEO. GREEN, Sec.

GLASGOW AND DISTRICT C.B.A.

Meeting of committee held September 27th, Duncan's Rooms, 71, London-street, Glasgow. Present: Mr. R. B. Jarvie (president), Messrs. W. Hutchison and R. Jeffrey (vice-presidents); committee, Messrs. Godber, Paliney, Graham, Thomson, Chalmers, Applegyard, Martin, Forrest, Wood, Gibb, Maxwell, Henderson, and A. Malcolmson (treasurer). R. Heggie (assist. sec.), Alex. MacFarlane (auditor). Secretary said the club had been successful in securing the Drill Hall, Stirling-road, for show; also the following clubs had granted their patronage: Scottish B.B. and M.C., trophy; Scottish P.C., medal for best cock, medal for best hen, etc.; Border F.C.C., medal; and Yorkshire C.C. of Scotland. Secretary was instructed to write the Border Fancy C.C. for their novice medal for competition, in addition to champion medal. Secretary also instructed to write various printing firms for estimates of schedules and marked catalogues. Mr. Chalmers proposed that we open a subscription list to provide a championship trophy for competition amongst members of the various clubs, wishing to compete for same. The club whose members gain the highest number of points to hold trophy for twelve months. An amendment by Mr. Gibb to leave matter over until next season was defeated, so that subscription lists will be issued as soon as possible. Meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman. Fanciers wishing to forward 2s. 6d. subscriptions should do so as early as possible to enable them to compete for members' specials.—FRED. BOWMAN, Sec.

NORTHERN COUNTIES NORWICH AND C.C.C.

Meeting Sept. 21, Mr. R. W. Smith presiding. A discussion arose on, if there were a tie for any of the medals at shows gaining our patronage. We decided to add following rule: "In case of a tie for any of our medals at shows where our patronage is given, most prize money winner to take medal; in the event of points and prize money being equal, birds to be rejudged and medal given to best." It was carried that we put the initials N.C.N. and C.C. on entry form, novice members to put X after initials. Also decided to accept the offer Messrs. W. Coxon and R. Topping to print a few copies of our rules free. Will members and those inteading to join please forward subscription 2/6 early, so as to be eligible to compete for medals and specials? —W. CURRY, Sec.,

HULL C.B.S.

Meeting at Oddfellows Hall, October 3, about 50 members being present, the occasion being a washing exhibition by Mr. D. D. Longhorn, and a washing competition, Messrs. Calam and Harland as judges. Mr. Longhorn washed with a skill which can only be obtained by long practice, and his performance was followed with marked interest and appreciation, after which the following faced the judges as competitors for the beautiful medal given by Mr. Howe: Messrs. Potter, Parkes, Sowden, Fox, Frith, and McKay, each washing one bird. The judges had a very hard task to place winner, but after a close inspection, and taking into consideration the style of handling, etc., Mr. Frith was declared winner, with Messrs. Parkes and Potter very close up. The chairman asked all to do their best as regards specials for the open show, same to be in before October 17, on which date a special committee meeting will be held for allocating same.—E. R. RIDLEY, Hon. Sec.

Nests of Birds, Poultry, etc., should be regularly sprinkled with KEATING'S POWDER, especially when hens are sitting. Don't forget to do this just previous to the eggs hatching, to destroy the Red Mite. It kills all insects, harmless to everything else.

Wild-Bird Life.

How Wild Birds Feed.

The month of September proved one of the best for anyone at all interested in Nature study. The weather has been as good as one could possibly desire, there being plenty of warmth and bright sunshine, and an absence of wind; and rambles abroad have been most enjoyable. Although the foliage is just changing colour, leaves still hang thickly upon some of the trees; the hedgerows are as dense as ever, and here and there bright patches of vivid scarlet berries of the wild rose, clusters of hips and privet, just ripening in the autumn sun, await the coming of the Fieldfare and Redwing. Elder fruit is greedily devoured by all the larger birds, and speedily disappears. Years ago every cottager's and farmer's wife annually made a few bottles of elderberry wine, as the berries could be easily gathered along the hedgerows and borders of woods; but since wild birds have increased so enormously, it is impossible to collect the fruit unless it is specially protected by netting, and even then the most persistent birds manage to get the greater portion of the crop.

Wild birds have greatly altered their feeding habits during the last few years, as anyone may see who is constantly watching them. In consequence of their increase in numbers the ordinary food supply is somewhat limited, and so they have very naturally turned their attentions to other forms of sustenance. Our fruit crops have greatly suffered, and none of it is now safe. There was a time when the firm fruit of the apple was always safe while still upon the tree; it was only when it had fallen and was half decayed that the Blackbirds and Thrushes, Rooks and Starlings, had any liking for it. But now it is quite a different matter; the fruit is eaten and damaged long before it is perfectly ripe, and to save any at all it has to be picked several weeks before it is quite ready, and then left to ripen under cover. A neighbour of the writer's lost half his fruit this season, only saving the remainder by gathering prematurely. A fine crop of Victoria plums was lost early one morning before he was up, and his pears were taken, although the tree was carefully netted. A Blackbird will stand on the netting, and by his weight and actions press it down until he is able to reach the fruit with his beak. Grand songsters as these birds are, we could easily spare a few while the fruit is ripening.

In the Courts.

AUDACIOUS THEFTS OF CANARY AND GOLDFINCHES.

At the Hereford City Police Court last Saturday, before Mr. G. J. Caldwell and Mr. S. H. Prosser, W. Went, carter, Friars Street, and W. C. Parker, carter, St. Owen Street, were charged with stealing a Canary, value 10s., the property of W. J. Phillips, St. James's Road, on September 12th. Mr. Phillips said he had a Canary hanging in the porch. He missed the bird about half-past seven on Tuesday morning. The cage was not taken, but only the bird. There was a gravel walk up to the house. There was a considerable amount of seed on the floor, and marks of nailed boots.—One of the defendants said he did not take the bird on the Monday, but on the Tuesday.—Detective-constable Hoskins said he made enquiries, and recovered the bird, with several others, in the kitchen of Went's house. When charged prisoner said he did not steal the bird. Afterwards he said, "Me and Parker had the birds." Parker was afterwards arrested. On the Monday one of the men had been delivering coal opposite Mr Phillips's house. When charged jointly, Parker said, "We had the birds I know. That's all. I've got mine at home." The bird produced was a good songster, and they must have head it from the opposite side of the road, and stolen it.

Prisoners were further charged with stealing two Goldfinches, the property of Mr. Nash, of Belmont Road. The birds were at his house at 4 o'clock on the Wednesday, and that was the last time he saw them. The birds had been taken out of the cages. The prisoners had been delivering coal in that neighbourhood.—Defendants said the birds were hanging halfway down the garden, but witness said they were only just under the window.—P.C. Mattey said that on examining the premises he found four bird cages hanging near the window, and there were marks where someone had climbed up on the fence. They had tried to get over the fence into Mr. Nash's garden, but were not successful, and they then got over into the neighbour's garden, and so on to the place where the birds were hung. Went was charged with stealing the birds, and he replied, "It is no good trying to get out of it. I'll own up to that. Parker was with me, and he has the young bird." Went had been at the Court before, and had been put on probation. Nothing was known against Parker.

The Bench said they did not want to send them to gaol if possible. Went would be fined 10s. in each case, or 14 days in each case, and costs. Parker would be fined 5s. in each case, or 14 days' imprisonment on the two cases.—A fortnight to pay was given.—Mr. Phillips congratulated the police on the way they had acted.

"CAGE BIRDS" GUIDE TO THE SEASON'S SHOWS.

PART I.

Paste this List up in your Bird-room for reference purposes.

We have taken great pains to make this list of the 1910-11 shows which offer open classes for cage-birds accurate and complete, and shall be glad to be notified of any inadvertent omissions. This year we have adopted the plan of publishing our Guide in two parts in order to ensure that the list covering the latter part of the season shall be as complete as possible. Part 2 will be given in November.

The fixtures in heavy black type are those of Societies participating in the benefits of CAGE-BIRDS "Guarantee Scheme." Shows marked (*) are under Cage Bird Union Rules: those marked (†) under the rules of the Yorkshire Union of C.B.S. As fresh shows are constantly being licensed by the Cage Bird Union, however, exhibitors should refer to the official list published monthly in CAGE BIRDS, for these additional fixtures adopting Union rules.

The Shows.

CITY OF BRADFORD.

Bradford City O.S. had the honour to open the list of Yorkshire Union fixtures on Oct. 1st, and were rewarded with a good response to their schedule of 30 classes, the entries totalling 478, an average of 16 per class, which must be considered very good. Taking them as a whole, the condition was very good, not many being down that were what we should call "not ready." Novice classes were a grand lot, both in regard to numbers and the general high standard of the birds. Ten classes were provided for these, and they contained 224 entries, averaging over 22 per class, thus upholding the name of "the backbone of the Fancy." Three of the winners, all hens, we believe were claimed at the limit price, £5 5s. Well done! Novices, this looks as though you had some rare good birds. The Norwich Novice, one fancier (and he ought to know), thought were better than in the open classes. The show was held as usual in the Faversham Street Council Schools (Leeds Road), which are very central, being within easy distance of the railway stations; and the trams pass the school quite closely. This, no doubt, had something to do with the good attendance on the Saturday afternoon, the room being taxed to its utmost limits. The room itself is very suitable for the purpose; it is very lofty and well lighted, free from draught, and well ventilated. The management is in excellent hands. Mr. F. Rhodes as secretary has good experience in show matters, and he has a good understudy in Mr. W. Morement, these two being well backed up by such well-known fanciers as Messrs. Denison, Horsfield, and Gill as show stewards, and Messrs. Ludbrook (treasurer), W. Wharton (chairman), Plowright, Bower, Smith, Helliwell, Fortnam, and Bateman as general assistants. The refreshments, as is usual at this fixture, were in the hands of the wives and lady friends of the members, and were quite up to the usual standard; the ladies know how to put a good tea before you, and to be able to get a bit of something to eat on the premises is a great advantage. The show was held under the rules of the Yorkshire Union and the patronages of the Y.C.C., O.N.P.C., the Y.C.B.B. and M.C., and the leading gentry of the district. The judge elect was Mr. J. Robson, Mr. A. W. Hartley (Bradford) being engaged as assistant; the former took all the open classes and the two Norwich novice, the latter all the Yorkshire Novice and the selling classes.

LONGTON (Staffs.)

This show was held in the old Free Library, Town Hall, on Oct. 1st. The library makes a splendid room for the purpose, being spacious, well lighted, and quite free from draughts. Judging was over in good time, and the award slips placed on the cages immediately each class was adjudicated upon. Unfortunately entries were hardly up to last year's total; consequently a few classes were cancelled. But taking into consideration the fact that many birds are not yet through the moult, the entry was a good one. Norwich turned up very well and some very typical specimens were amongst them, especially the two unflighted classes. The Buff class was a stormer, both for numbers and quality; quite two sets of winners could have been picked out of this class. We heard that a well-known breeder of the "chubby ones" made an offer of £10 to the owner for winner, which was refused. Most of the Yorks. classed contained some very typical exhibits. Here, as in the Norwich section, the cream was to be found in the unflighted bird classes. The special for best bird in show fell to Mr. Bond's Siskin-Canary Mule; this would in some measure compensate this exhibitor for the loss of his dark Greenie-Canary, which unfortunately died shortly before judging commenced, a loss which was deeply deplored by the officials. We were pleased to see such a good "gate," the room being well filled from the time of opening until the close. The management was excellent. Better attention to the exhibits it would be impossible to give. The stewards worked hard, and the birds were admirably staged, and in good time. Everything worked with clock-like precision. Messrs. Hallam and Lovatt discharged the duties of hon. secs. as only thorough fanciers can do; they stuck to their posts throughout the day, and left no stone unturned to add to the convenience and comfort of exhibitor and exhibit. Mr. J. H. Roe judged.

PAPERS WHICH BRING SUCCESS.

I have dispatched cheque to cover our show advertisements in the "Poultry World" and CAGE BIRDS, and may say that although my committee did not intend at first to spend so much in advertising, yet, judging by the results, we have come to conclusion "ITS MONEY WELL SPENT."—H. JONES ROBINS, Hon. Sec., Liskeard Show.

ST. MARYCHURCH AND BABBACOMBE.

Quarterly show of the St. Marychurch and Babbacombe F.S., held September 28, Commercial Hall. Entries in the cage bird classes were the strongest on record, and competition in the small British class very keen. Mr. J. N. Jeffery judged, and gave satisfaction.

RESOLVEN.

Resolven and Vale of Neath P.P. and C.B.S. held second annual open show September 29, in a marquee on the cricket field. The entries in the cage bird section were much better than in the previous year, and were considered extremely good, seeing the show was held rather early. Great credit is due to the secretaries, Messrs. Kerswell and Jones, and their committee, for the way they carried out the arrangements, and great care was taken of the exhibits. Mr. J. F. Entwistle (Wakefield) judged the cage birds.

BURNLEY.

The 24th annual exhibition of the Burnley and Dis. C.B.F.S., was held under C.B.U. rules on Sept. 30th and October 1st, in the large Showroom of the Weavers' Institute, a room which, as the majority of Lancashire exhibitors know, is an ideal one for the purpose. The show was formally opened on the Saturday afternoon at two o'clock by the local Conservative M.P., Geo. Arbuthnot, Esq., supported by Mr. Alderman Hough and Mr. Alderman Howarth. The right hon. gentleman, in the course of a very interesting speech, said he was of opinion every man should have a hobby of some description. He referred briefly to the pleasures derived from bird-keeping and the general good fellowship which seemed to exist amongst fanciers. Mr. Alderman Howarth afterwards, on behalf of the society, presented Mr. Arbuthnot and Mr. Hough with a drawing-room cage and bird each, both gentlemen suitably responding. The show proved a grand success, there being plenty of birds on view, and a rattling good gate, the room being crowded to excess on the Saturday afternoon. We noticed particularly there was a strong assembly of Norwich fanciers (many of them not exhibitors at the show), who were no doubt very anxious to see what class of birds were coming out this season. Mr. J. E. Davies (Stockport) had a field day in Norwich, winning first in every class in which he exhibited, also taking special for best bird in show with a clear buff cock. Other special winners were: Best unflighted bird shown by a champion member, Mr. J. Evans' unflighted buff hen; best unflighted bird shown by a novice member, Mr. Midgley's unflighted yellow; Sandiford's special, Mr. Davies' unflighted yellow; and Hyde's special, Mr. R. Braybrook's unflighted buff. Never was a society blessed with better and more capable officials than Burnley. With such men as the president (Mr. R. Braybrook), the vice-president (Mr. Jude Hayhurst), the treasurer (Mr. J. Evans), the secretary (Mr. R. Fowler), and a committee like the Burnley committee, the management of a show seems to come natural, and success is assured from the commencement. Messrs. H. W. Battye and A. Hirst judged.

DALKEITH.

Dalkeith and Dis. C.C.'s annual show held on Oct. 1st. We were sorry to see some of the varieties rather poorly represented owing, unfortuuately, to some of the breeders having had anything but good luck in this district. Scotch Fancies opened the programme, but a total of less than a score faced the judge, Mr. J. McLennan, who had rather an easy task all round, and under his careful and masterly handling the awards were soon up. Norwich fared a shade better, but we should like to have seen keener competition for the valuable specials. The old fancier, Mr. Holmes, had these along with the British and Mules under his care, and he left little to be desired. We were pleased to learn that this gentleman is now getting better in health, and he expects to be able to get to work again shortly, after an enforced period of two years of illness. Borders were the feature of the show, and what we saw on view to-day is likely to uphold the reputation of Dalkeith and Newtongrange. Last year this place was noted for yellow hens and greens, and this year they should do well. The medal was won by a good buff foul cock, of Mr. J. Thomson's. Mr. J. Smillie judged Borders, and his awards left very little to be desired; in fact, grumbling was conspicuous by its absence. The society are fortunate in having a good hall, well lighted, and free from draugbt, and also in having an ideal secretary in the person of Mr. J. Ewing, hard-working, retiring, but ever-obliging. The arrangements under his care throughout were A1. The show was well patronised.

ST. ANDREWS.

St. Andrews' fanciers held their 17th annual open show in the Town Hall, 1st October. The hall is admirably suited for a bird show, being free from draughts and having good light. The floor space was ample, and allowed the public, who patronised the show well, every comfort in viewing the exhibits. The society is in a flourishing condition, its membership is good, and the management of its affairs is in the hands of a capable and enthusiastic committee. Mr. P. Whittet makes an excellent president, and Mr. A. B. Macintyre a most efficient, courteous, and practical hon. secretary and treasurer; he had all the arrangements well in hand, and everything in apple-pie order when we arrived. The list of cups and specials for competition was a long one. The society has every factor which should bring about success. Scotch Fancy entries were scarcely so numerous as formerly, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in quality, and in the majority of classes the awards were very keenly contested. Messrs. A. Patterson (Edinburgh) and J. Cook (Cowdenbeath) judged this section, and their awards gave every satisfaction. There were several good classes of Norwich, but the most of them are not yet finished; this section was judged by Mr. D. Buchan (Falkirk), and his awards were well received. The entries in the Border Fancy classes were good, and there were several lovely birds staged along with the British and Mules, etc. These classes were the feature of the show, and many of to-day's winners will be heard of during the season. These classes were judged by Mr. J. F. Dewar (Edinburgh), in the unavoidable absence through illness of Mr. J. Patterson (Chirnside), and his awards gave every satisfaction. The following officials deserve, with the above-mentioned, great credit for the admirable way in which they helped to make the show a success:—Messrs. C. Kerr, C. Berwick, W. D. Keddie, J. D. Brown, R. Berwick, J. Hamilton, and T. S. Evans.

GILLINGHAM (Kent).

At this show, held on September 20, only six classes stood out of 23 scheduled. We hear a great deal from time to time about limiting competition, but when it is limited, as here, to the county, 17 classes have to be cancelled, and the other six only yield an entry of 35 birds. What could have been the cause? The birds were nicely staged at the end of the hall, and the committee, headed by Mr. Pain, did all they could to make things go smoothly. Mr. Cotterill made an efficient and obliging secretary, and we regret the support given to such good fanciers was not more generous. Mr. J. Robson judged.

NOR. CL. (7): 1, Bellamy, very warm, even col., nicely mealed Buff, good stout body; 2, Taylor, quality bull of nice shape and col.; 3, vhc, Brainhill, good col. buff; hc, Wakham; c, Lancaster. TKD. UNFLIG. (9): 1, Bellamy, charming buff, grand type and col., will improve and make a topper; 2, 3, Taylor, buff, and heavily variег. bull, two stout, shapely birds of capital feather and nice col.; vhc, hc, c, Brumhill. GOLDIE, ETC. (4): 1, Welsh, nice bright faced Goldie, good bars, back and tail; 2, Brumhill, very smart, rich col Goldie, not ready; 3, Wickham, nice shapely Goldie, neat blaze and buttons; vhc, Smith. SISKIN, ETC. (4): 1, 3, Pankhurst, well marked, nice col., shapely Siskin, 3rd nice col., well marked Twite; 2, Wickham, pretty little Redpoll, neat feather, nice markings; vhc, Fergusson. A.O.S. (5): 1, 3, Acland, Missel Thrush and Blackbird, in very nice form, and of good quality; 2, Wickham, well marked Hawfinch.

Notes from Erin.

IT is pleasing to see yet another society founded this season. Some little time ago, it will be remembered, I suggested to fanciers in Derry City to form a Cage Bird Society. As a result a few ardent fanciers met, and, having got over the preliminaries, they called all fanciers together, and appointed officers, and are now well satisfied at having floated the society, now known as the Derry Pigeon and Cage Bird Society. It promises to have a bright and prosperous career. When we look through the list of names appointed as officers this is not to be wondered at, as all of the gentlemen are well-known exhibitors.

ANXIOUS to bring the society as early as possible to the notice of the fanciers in Derry and district, they advertised their undertaking in a most practical manner by holding a members' show. There could be no better way towards making their existence known. On September 22nd the society held their initial show, and although very early in season, their untiring efforts were rewarded by a huge success. This was very encouraging, and new members are being enlisted rapidly into the ranks.

THE officers deserve every credit for the manner in which they carried out their duties, and I heartily congratulate Messrs. T. A. Bond, president; Dr. J. R. Magee, vice-president; A. T. Gallagher, hon. sec.; T. Cargill, hon treasurer; and the committee, S. Hyndman, J. Young, J. Moore, J. M'Menamin, M. Kerr, R Faulkner, A. Bond, W. J. Gilfillan, R. Glenn, W. Morrison, H. Scott, and J. M. Wilton. The most prominent exhibitors were Mrs. Taylor, who with seven entries gained six prizes; Mr. T. Cargill (13 entries and 10 prizes), and Mr. J. Kinnear (8 prizes out of 11 entries, in addition to special for best bird in show, which he tied for with Mr. Cargill). Another show, open to all Ireland, will be held about the end of November, and it is hoped that fanciers throughout Ireland will be represented by a good entry from every room. No doubt Derry will apply for patronage of our specialists clubs.

EXHIBITORS and members of the Y.C.C. of Ireland will be glad to learn that the rumour as to this society being defunct is without foundation. I am pleased to hear from Mr. Hyland, the courteous and energetic secretary, that the society is granting its patronage to clubs, which, proves that our old club still lives. It is hoped that all members will this season rally round and try, by a special effort, to put this club on a good financial basis. There is plenty of room for a few more societies and shows in Ireland, and I trust this society's forthcoming show will prove a huge success. At a committee meeting on September 26th the secretary was instructed to prepare a balance-sheet, when, at an early date, a general meeting will be called, and officers for present season appointed. In the interests of our hobby, may I suggest that we "bury the hatchet," let bygones be bygones, and start this season afresh for the love of the sport?

WE are all pleased to see that the Holywood and Dist. Society intends holding an open show. We trust it will be a success, and thus encourage this young society in its efforts.

LEEDS C.B.S.

Meeting at headquarters October 1st, Mr. P. Whiteley in chair. Mr. W. T. Pickering (Dewsbury) elected a member. After certain final show arrangements, Mr. J. Bailey (Bradford) gave us his promised "washing exhibition." This proved both interesting and instructive, Mr. B. describing each point as he went on—how to handle the bird and how to dry it. He also gave our members several good wrinkles in respect to getting the birds into tip-top condition. The washing job in Mr. Bailey's hands looked such a simple one that we are sure none of our members who saw this exhibition need feel nervous the next time they attempt to wash a bird.—J. CHAMBERS, Hon. Sec.

A CRISIS IN THE EXHIBITION WORLD

Leading Shows which are "closed" to certain exhibitors. What will the outcome of the situation be?

Matters in the exhibition world seem to have arrived at a pretty pass—someone or something seems very likely to "get hurt."

The trouble—if trouble it proves to be—arises out of the secession from the Cage Bird Union of certain powerful societies on the Tyneside, in London, and in one or two other districts. By the rules of the Union, its members can only exhibit at the shows of affiliated or licensed societies, consequently several of our leading cage bird exhibitions—Newcastle, Gateshead, Battersea, Bristol, York, Leeds, the Horticultural Hall, the Crystal Palace, to name but a few—are "forbidden ground" so far as members of the C.B.U. are concerned—they can only exhibit thereat at risk of suspension by the Union.

Two serious problems arise out of the situation: (1) Will the Union members remain loyal and resist the attraction of securing wins at those noted exhibitions "outside the pale"; and will the Union remain stern in its resolve to visit with suspension members guilty of patronising these said non-Union fixtures? (2) Will those societies which have broken away from the C.B.U. be able to hold exhibitions successful from the points of view of entries and finance without the support of exhibitors who are Union members?

The answer to the first part of problem 1 remains as yet "on the knees of the gods," as the saying goes; only the future can supply it. With regard to the second part of the problem, the matter seemed to us of such grave and urgent import that we addressed the following communication to the C.B.U. secretary, Mr. Lythgoe:—

["CAGE BIRDS" LETTER TO MR. LYTHGOE.]

DEAR MR. LYTHGOE,—As we are just starting a new show season, it has struck me that it is of the highest importance to the exhibiting public to know exactly what are the intentions of the Cage Bird Union in respect of cage bird shows held without any recognition of the Cage Bird Union. Could you, in the interests of the cage bird Fancy and my readers, give me by return for publication in this week's issue certain a definite pronouncement on the policy the Union intends to pursue with regard to Rule 22, where it states that "registered members of the Union shall be liable to suspension if found exhibiting at a suspended or non-affiliated or non-licensed club's show"? Are we to understand that there is a definite conflict promised between the Union and shows which are not held under Cage Bird Union rules? I trust you will recognise the importance of my question, and the need for giving it an immediate answer, so that the situation may be clearly put before all exhibitors at once. I had intended coming down myself and interviewing you on this vital point, but the claims on my time prevent it, and I can only express the sincere hope that you will provide me, in answer to this letter, with as comprehensive and simple a statement as you can in the very short time I have allowed you. Kind regards and best wishes.

F. CARL.

Here is the reply sent us by Mr. Lythgoe, and his letter may very well be read in conjunction with the one published on page 216 of this issue, which reached our offices in the interim.

[MR. LYTHGOE'S REPLY.]

DEAR MR. CARL,—In reply to your letter I don't know that I can say anything further than what appears in my letter of Monday (see page 216—EDITOR), except that the members themselves, through their delegates, have decided that Rule 22 shall stand, and it rests with them whether it is loyally observed or not. I don't know that any more definite pronouncement is necessary. It depends entirely on the delegates and district committees in reporting cases of violation of the rule whether any more vigorous line is taken. As regards the shows outside the Union, as far as I can hear there is no promise of any conflict whatever between them and the Union. They are free agents, and if their wish is to remain outside the Union, it is not the province of the Union to quarrel with them on that score, or show resentment by taking any action against them. The great majority of shows that have withdrawn are grouped in different districts, with no doubt sufficient exhibitors amongst themselves to make a show without the aid of Union members' entries. If the members exhibit at these shows, the blame could not attach to the show authorities, but to the exhibitors themselves.

G. W. F. LYTHGOE, Sec., C.B.U.

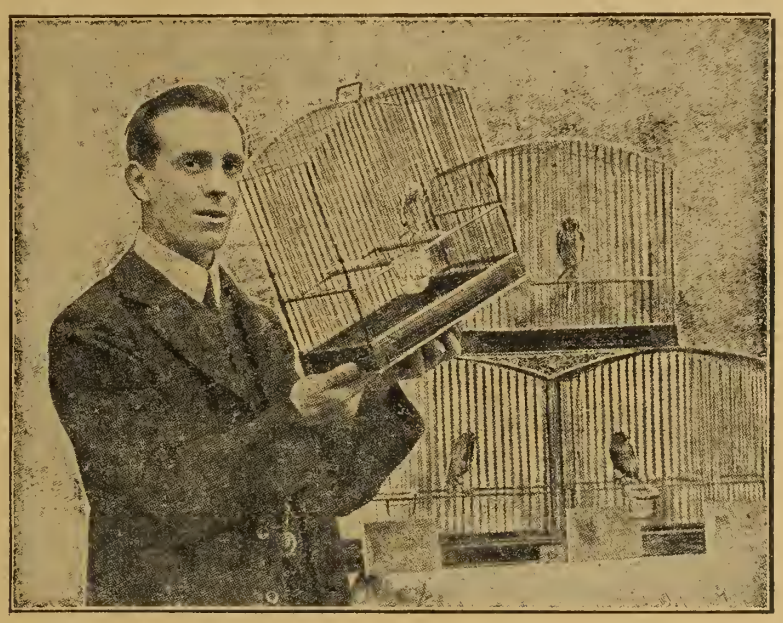
P.S.—I don't suppose you will consider this worth while publishing. I could not make any definite pronouncement without instructions, and anyhow, such an important statement would require some thought and more time than you have been able to give me.

Coming to problem No. 2: it is generally acknowledged that the chances of a cage-bird exhibition being a source of financial profit to the society promoting it are somewhat slender—that both ends meet is a satisfactory result—and should loss of entries owing to the present deadlock adversely affect societies (whether Union or non-Union) and end in monetary losses, then we may be permitted to express the opinion that it will be a deplorable state of affairs. To adopt an historic phrase we can only "wait and see." It is early yet to form an opinion, but as the Norwich Alliance All-England Show (now in progress) is the first big fixture to be held without the Union's patronage, we have obtained from the secretary, just as we go to press, a statement of the entry. Mr. Roll telegraphs:

"Grand entry, 850, all classes filled.—R. Roll, Secretary."

The schedule of Norwich Show comprises 61 classes, so that this gives an average of practically 14 birds per class. At last year's show (held under C.B.U. rules) the Norwich Society offered 70 classes and drew 875 entries, the average thus being 12½ per class.

The whole position teems with interest, and fanciers, we make no doubt, will follow the progress of events with absorbed attention. For ourselves, we can only express the sincere hope that there may be found some amicable way out of such difficulties as seem likely to eventuate, and that the Cage Bird Fancy may not suffer owing to the unfortunate situation which has arisen.



AN ENGLISH ADMIRER OF THE SCOTCH FANCY CANARY

Mr. W. Harvey, of Byker, Newcastle-on-Tyne, with four "birds 'o circle," of which breed he is an enthusiastic admirer. Mr. Harvey is lending a helping hand towards reviving interest in the Scotch Fancy Canary in the Newcastle district, and writes that he believes the efforts being made are steadily leading to success.

ENGLAND'S ONLY HUMMING BIRD

A Tiny Visitor from the Tropics reaches London.

One of the weecest mites of the bird world—a Humming Bird—reached London safely at the beginning of this week, and is the only living representative of its kind in Great Britain to-day we believe. It has been the ambition of many skilful aviculturists to bring these living jewels of the tropics to our shores, and of recent years, as will be known to readers of CAGE BIRDS, Captain Pam has succeeded in depositing several from time to time at the London Zoological Gardens, though, unluckily, they have not long survived. So difficult and uncertain did this gentleman find the task that we understand he is dubious about repeating the experiment.

The credit of landing the present Humming Bird belongs to Mr. Chas. Harris, of those well-known firms of dealers and importers, Messrs. De Von and Co., Bethnal Green Road, and Messrs. Willsons, Ltd., New Oxford Street. Mr. Harris in August started upon a trip to America and the West Indies, and has just returned, bringing with him a small, but choice collection of rare birds and animals. Our representative paid a "flying" visit to Bethnal Green Road and had the pleasure of a brief "interview" with the Humming Bird.

Sketch of the Humming Bird with tongue protruding seeking honey.

He found what may be described as a quite unconventional little creature awaiting him—unconventional in the sense that it scorned a cage, being housed in a small round plaited straw basket of native workmanship (very like a fish globe) lined outside with flannel, covered at top with gauze and fitted inside with a thin reed as perch. In this our little friend had voyaged from the West Indies. But he is perfectly fearless and tame, and seems to recognise both Mr. Harris and Mrs. Harris (who accompanied her husband), at sight of them calling loudly to be fed, and perching confidently on their fingers. He was deposited on the leaf of a table fern, where he fluttered his wings joyfully and with marvellous rapidity in the warm autumn sunshine, making a charming picture. The bird is in excellent plumage, and we took a rough sketch of him as he sat with tongue extended waiting for honey to sip, though as his tail (which was missing when Mr. Harris obtained him) is not grown fully, we could not be certain as to the shape of this appendage. It was a strange and pleasing experience to see a Humming Bird at liberty in a London drawing-room, and to feed it with honey, which it readily "licked" out of a split straw with quick darts of its long, slender tongue.

Mr. Harris informed us that this Humming Bird, a very young one, was offered him by a nigger boy just as he was about to leave Trinidad, and he determined to see if he could keep it alive until he reached home, though it necessitated his taking it to several of the other West Indian islands, which he was visiting before embarking for England. The bird had to be fed with honey (from a straw) every half-hour, yet by giving it very careful attention he had no real trouble until coming through the Bay of Biscay and up the English Channel, when the vessel ran into the heavy gale prevailing last Saturday and Sunday, when the weather turned very cold, and he was afraid the fragile little thing would succumb. But Mr. Harris, with the aid of his wife, succeeded in the difficult task he had set himself, and when we saw "England's only Humming Bird," it was looking very sprightly and well, and quite "at home" amongst the foliage of the fern in its new quarters. The bird had its liberty in Mr. Harris's berth for the greater part of the day during the voyage across the Atlantic.

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS.

Cause of Young Dying.

Novice, Croydon.—You give me no idea at all how the birds were fed and treated, so that I cannot really suggest any cause of the young dying. Your own suggestion that it might have been overfeeding would require a very large amount of proof. Quite the contrary; that they were not fed at all is much more likely to be the case. A very warm room, provided it was well ventilated, free from draughts, and the heat regular, may also be passed over as a probable cause of the loss, as in such a case as this it certainly would not cause the deaths. The insects you mention, if at all numerous, would have an injurious effect, but for them to cause death they would be very numerous indeed. The parents would doubtless be affected by the insects, but would probably not be rendered infectious with disease from the young dying, if that is what you mean. Wash out and overhaul the cage, as advised to several queries the last fortnight, and let the birds bathe freely, adding a few drops of essence of quassia to the bathing water occasionally, and they should be all right for breeding with next season. There is no necessity to isolate them. Get "Canary Breeding for Beginners," 7d. post free, from our manager, take up the parts of "Our Canaries," and read and digest all that is said on feeding and management during the next few months, and next season you should find these losses conspicuous by their absence.

Brevities.

Coming in Song (A.C.S.).—The young cocks should commence singing as soon as they are well through the moult, probably about end of this month, and should quickly be in good stout song, though they may continue to improve until next February or March. Some birds do not reach their full singing powers until the excitement of the approaching breeding season stirs them, but most may fairly be described as in full song about the middle of November. Your Goldfinch query should have been on a separate sheet of paper. See Mr. Weston's column for reply.

Roller Cock Husky (Mac.).—It is only the natural result of moulting. The huskiness will quickly disappear as the bird comes more fully into song, if you prevent it getting a chill or being exposed to draughts. You may give it a morsel of bread and milk with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it every second day for a week, and on the alternate days a pinch of a mixture of equal parts maw, gold of pleasure, and linseed. In the drinking water give 15 drops of glycerine and a small chlorate of potash lozenge every second day for a week.

Sleeps all Day (W.G.E.).—As the bird feeds all right, and apparently not too well, there is nothing to fear in his sleeping a good part of his time away. It is not quite unusual for the moult to have this effect on birds that are getting a little aged. Keep him in an equable and fairly warm place free from draughts and extreme fluctuations, but well ventilated, and add 20 drops of whiskey and six of tincture of gentian to his drinking water every second day for a week. This should be all that is necessary as long as the moult goes steadily forward to a finish. If putting him in a little warmer place causes the moult to progress more rapidly, so much the better.

Not Moulting (Scotia).—It is certainly very late for a bird not to have commenced moulting, but so long as it keeps in apparently perfect health and active I do not advise you to attempt any forcing method. The bird might have moulted late last season, and in that case may possibly not moult until towards spring this time. The most I would advise you to do is to keep in a fairly warm place, and cover the cage over for a week or two, but keep a sharp eye on it, as when covered over cages are very apt to be rapidly overrun with red-mites. Otherwise treat the bird as advised to "W.G.E."

Damaged Beak (B. K. G.).—As only one side of the mandible seems to be damaged, there should be no necessity to destroy the bird. In addition to the ordinary supply of canary and summer rape give a little soaked rape daily, also a small quantity of crushed plain biscuit, and a morsel of ripe banana. Give these extras daily until beak is quite recovered. Catch the bird and touch the damaged part each day with a drop of Friar's Balsam until nearly sound again. It would be advisable, if other birds are in the aviary, to remove this one to a separate cage until beak is well, as the other birds may prevent it spending sufficient time at the seed box to supply its needs.

Distinguishing Sex (Novice).—It is admittedly an extremely difficult thing for the novice to recognise sex of Canaries with any degree of certainty. The differences are all comparative. The cock is bolder, more dominant in appearance generally, has a bolder-looking eye, and a more defiant and ringing call note. The song is the surest indication of sex. Some few hens twitter an apology for a song, but in the cock it is flowing and unbroken, and well sustained, the throat throbbing and pulsating very distinctly whilst it is being rendered, all of which verve and "go" are lacking in the efforts of the hen. You should get "Canary Breeding for Beginners," 7d. post free, wherein the differences are fully described and illustrated. But what you really want is Part VI. of "Our Canaries." In this Part you will find a full page plate of a matched pair of Canaries, on which Mr. Norman has quite excelled himself, and "hit off" the external differences of sex in a most striking manner. You will learn more by studying this plate than from whole pages of print.

Protracted Moulting (A. Fraser).—Examine cage minutely, probing any likely joints with a pin to be quite sure the bird is not troubled with red mites, if any are found, eradicate them as described in several replies the last two weeks. Also see that the bird is kept quite free from draughts, extreme fluctuations of heat and cold, damp, dust (either in seed or air), and heated impure air, such as hanging near the ceiling, or a light burning in the evenings. Give a mixture of three parts canary to one part summer rape as a staple diet. Every second day for a month give half a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, teazle, millet, and maw, and on the alternate days for a fortnight, and twice a week during the second fortnight, give a similar quantity of crushed sponge cake, with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it, and sprinkled with gold of pleasure seed. Give plantain stalks or a morsel of ripe banana four times a week in place of green food. In the drinking water give six drops of tincture of gentian and four of tincture of steel every second day for a fortnight, or until feathers have ceased dropping.

A Correction.—In my reply last week to "Grass Green," under the heading "A Moulting Question," a printer's error occurs. The last sentence but one should read: "To obtain your first point concerning colour, the hen should be a buff green, bred from a broken green cock and a self-green hen, and for your second colour choice a clear buff hen bred off two clear dark-eyed parents will be most likely to give you the highest proportion of "yellows or buffs," if by this term you mean clears.

Spanish Juice Cure (O. C. Aid).—I am afraid you are doomed to disappointment if you expect great things of this "cure." In the case you refer to it struck me that the "cure" occurred spontaneously from the cause of the trouble being removed. However, if you wish to try it, ask for Spanish liquorice at any chemist's, and you will be supplied with the correct thing. It is in rather hard, tough sticks, of a black colour, which will dissolve readily in hot or cold water—hot for the quickest. Dissolve a piece half the size of a Canary's egg in two tablespoonfuls of water, and give in place of pure water for drinking. See that you remove the cause, cold draughts, impure heated air, extremes of heat and cold, and dusty seed. If the liquorice alone does not have the desired effect, add 20 drops of whisky, and two of eucalyptus oil, in addition, and shake well together. Give it every second day for a fortnight. Shall be glad to hear result.

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Feeding a Robin.

New Reader.—The Robin is an insectivorous bird, and if properly tended makes a nice pet. Sentiment, however, is all against caging them. I know people who keep them during the winter and let them free in the spring; perhaps you would care to do this. The best house cage is a box-pattern one about 18 inches long by 14 high by 9 or 10 wide, fitted with food, etc., vessels inside. Try this stock food: Powdered Osborne biscuit, six parts; best ants' egg, and dried flies, two parts each; powdered silkworm pupae, one part; meat meal, half part, by measure. Take the quantity required of this, and mix it just crumbly moist with grated raw carrot, or finely chopped lettuce, watercress, or chickweed (use young leaves only), or cold boiled potato, varying it frequently and adding a little water (but only a few spots) if necessary. "Bobbie," however, likes a few seeds—canary mostly—now and again. You could buy a good stock food, ready made up, from many advertisers using our columns (possibly at local bird shops, or bird food dealers), and add to it grated carrot (sufficient to just damp it), and now and again half a finely-minced hard boiled egg. That would make up a very fair dietary. You can add mealworms and black beetles when you can get them, and other suitable live foods. "Bobbie" likes a few ripe berries (such as elder-berries) and a little fruit, too. The packet Thrush or Blackbird foods I do not consider suitable for the smaller, delicate softbills.

Brevities.

Bullfinch "Wheezy" (R.N.S.T.).—Follow the advice given D. Davidson this week, and I think you will soon see the last of the "wheezy" symptoms.

Identity of Bird (W. Johnson).—Am sorry, but I cannot name the bird which flew in at your kitchen window. I do not know of a British bird with a beak such as you describe, and with that coloured plumage. I expect it is an escaped Foreign bird. Will have your letter sent to our Mr. Page, to see if he can identify the bird; look in his columns next week.

British Bird Querists should purchase our "British Bird Manual," published in two parts, "Hardbills" and "Softbills," price 1/- each, or in cloth cover together, 2/3 post free.

A Tonic Needed (F. J. F.).—Get one ounce of compound syrup of hypophosphites B. P., from a chemist, and for ten or twelve days stir four or five drops into two tablespoonfuls of drinking water (use a glass or pot drinker). This is a powerful tonic, and should soon dispel any after effects of the moult. Feed well, giving a little wild seeds daily.

What Bird? (E. G. Roberts).—The body sent is that of a male Wheatear in winter plumage. It is insectivorous, and needs feeding on the same lines as Redstarts, Nightingales and similar small Softhills (note the reply given "New Reader" this week). It is a common bird on open land (moors, downs, etc.), and often seen at the shows.

Goldfinch with Lung Trouble (D. Davidson).—Birds are very apt to get colds and the like during the moulting season. I advise you to try a course of the remedy recommended by our Mr. Yates, as follows:—Aromatic spirits of ammonia 3 drachms, tincture of calumba 3 drachms, tincture camphorae Co 2 drachms, syrup of prunes ½oz., and water up to 6ozs., giving one teaspoonful night and morning in about three tablespoonfuls of drinking water, or 15 drops by the beak. Keep the bird out of draughts, and give a tonic afterwards, as recommended "F. J. F." this week.

Concerning Wagtails (Shoer).—Wagtails can be caught by limed twigs, but the best way is by means of a spring net trap (such as is used for snaring Nightingales, etc.), baited with mealworms. These traps are advertised for sale in our columns. Wagtails are nice aviary birds, and require feeding on soft food and live foods, as indicated in the reply given "New Reader" this week. They will need a good supply of live food at first.

Drinking too Freely (Anxious).—Get half-an-ounce of crystals of citrate of iron and quinine from a chemist, and every day for a week or so dissolve a small pinch in the bird's drinking water—sufficient to colour it light red. This will tone up his system and put a stop to the undue consumption of water. There is nothing serious ailing him, or he would not be singing so well.

Rusty Wires (Ritn).—Your best plan is to wash the wires of your indoor aviary with hot water containing a little washing soda, afterwards drying them with a cloth; when quite dry, give a coat (or two) of a good quality white (or cream) enamel. You will then have no further trouble so far as rusty wires are concerned. The birds can be returned when the enamel has set hard; this does not take many hours.

About Goldies (W. Lee).—A six-year Goldfinch is not too old to breed, providing he comes into proper condition. Have known Mules bred from much older birds. (2) Greypates acquire the full colour (blaze) at the autumn moult of the year in which they are hatched. I have seen some of this year's birds which are already in colour.

Concerning a Bullfinch (A.T.A.).—I should advise you for two days to stir a teaspoonful of fluid magnesia into three tablespoonfuls of drinking water. Do you give the bird a fair allowance of ripe fruit and greenfood? Bullfinches need these things, and are very fond of berries (black, privet, etc.). If moulting, he would cease piping, of course. If you were to cover the cage with a white cloth at night after dusting a bird with insect powder, in the morning you would find red-mite adhering to the cloth were any pestering the bird. Let me know how the Bullie goes on.

Four Items (H. Bodley).—(1) Do not give niger (inga) as a substitute for charlock, and do not give the hemp quite so often. (2) Don't hang birds outside on cold days that are kept in a room when indoors. (3) I like a cobby shaped Goldfinch, personally. Put the couple together about the first week in April (they may fly together through the winter if you like). The Goldie is usually a late breeder, and you can't get good eggs, of course, until he is quite fit. (4) Yes, take the cock Goldie away all night when the hen is due to lay, and altogether when she is sitting. Pleased to answer your questions.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc.

Roseate Cockatoo with Parasites.

Bingo.—I should dust this bird with pyrethrum powder, and then the following day spray with quassia solution, and continue this twice a week till the parasites disappear. Exercise care not to get the pyrethrum powder into the bird's eyes. Give the bird a mixture of canary, white millet, hemp, oats, maize, paddy rice, and sunflower seeds; also plain biscuit, ripe fruit and nuts in variety (shelled walnuts are as good and economical as any). Keep a piece of clean cuttlefish hanging in the cage. It would be well to treat the cage with the same solution as before.

Wintering Birds Out of Doors.

Allison.—The secret of this is ample space for exercise, and while I think the birds you name ought to do well enough in your aviary, yet with the flight but four feet long, I hesitate to advise you to leave them outside; at any rate, the Cordon Bleu; I think the other two will be safe. Keep the Cordon in a roomy cage during the winter; the temperature of any ordinary living-room will be ample, but it must not be subjected to draughts. It is the wet and damp, of which we often get quite long spells, that tries the birds far more than severe dry cold, and to counteract this they need a roomy flight for exercise. Your shed would have been better at the other end, then the open area of your flight would have been S.W.

Re-stocking an Aviary.

Alfresco.—Procure birds from some out-door aviarist; you must stipulate for birds which have been outside most of the summer; otherwise you cannot put newly imported birds, or those which have been kept indoors, outside till spring. One or two Weavers would supply colour, say the Madagascar, Napoleon, Taha, and Half-masked, also a Paradise Whydah—these should be procurable at about 7/6 each. Do not include the Pintail Whydah, as it is very pugnacious. As regards others, you can keep the following: — Waxbills: Green Amaduvade, Common Amaduvade (Avadavat), Orange-cheek, Grey, St. Helena, and Sydney (12/6); Mannikins: Bronze, Magpie, White-bended, Black-headed, Bengalee, and Silverbills; Finches: Zebra, Ribbon, Bib, Spice, Yellow-rumped (12/6), Long-tailed Grass (15/-), Masked (15/-), Diamond (15/-), Striated, Parson (15/-), Ruficauda (12/6), Grey and White Java Sparrows (10/6). You have accommodation for about 40 birds. Except where otherwise marked, value varies from 3/6 to 7/6 per pair.

Foreign Bird Querists will find in our handbook, "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1/1, and "Burgerigars and Cockatiels," 6d. post free; a mine of information of use and interest.

Pintail Nonpariels.

Thank You.—Am convinced that for these birds paddy rice is almost a necessity, and even if you have to send to London for it, it is cheap, and the carriage very trifling. By all means supply oats, white millet, Canary, and also millet sprays as well, but let the supply of paddy rice be continuous. Pintails are very difficult birds to establish, but afterwards do fairly well. I should say the Crimson-crowned, but it is largely a matter of taste; all are beautiful, when in nuptial plumage. I cannot advise the Redstart with the other birds. The Superb Tanager is not short lived once it is established, and the same applies to the Silver-eared Mesias; the latter may be briefly described as a "glorified Pekin Robin." Both these latter should be kept in roomy cages, and not included with your Finches, etc.

Brevities.

Sprossers and their Song (V.A.G.).—They are alike in plumage, but the male has the more shapely head and is the paler yet richer hued bird of the two. The full flood of song is in the spring when they are seeking mates, but they should now soon commence to sing, or during the course of the next few weeks; but it has been many years since I kept one of these birds, in the days when I kept no notes; but I will look up details and insert a further reply in a near issue.

Breeding Waxbills (Dulwich).—Waxbills breed annually in large outdoor aviaries, but I don't think there is much prospect of their doing so in a cage, though this is by no means impossible. If the attempt be made to breed them, it will be necessary to put each pair into a roomy cage, and fix up in the most remote corner a rush bottle-shaped nest. Your diet is satisfactory, but I should keep a piece of clean cuttlebone hanging in the cage, and the cage tray well covered with gritty sand. Your Canary query is outside my province; you must repeat this to our Canary specialist.

Black-headed Mannikins (Nunn.).—These birds are natives of India, and I have successfully wintered them out of doors in the county of London; more than this, I cannot say, as "wooden aviary" is too vague, but unless your county is very Northern, and the aviary small, they should winter out of doors without suffering. The cock has a broad black stripe running longitudinally from the centre of chest, to and over the under tail-coverts; in the hen this stripe is almost obscured by brown. The bird you have with the dove-coloured head is a White-headed Mannikin (Nun). I cannot call to mind any case of young having been reared in this country, but there is no reason why they should not successfully breed.

Young African Grey Parrot (T. J. S.).—So long as this bird keeps fit, I should let well alone, but if it appears to mope at all, then give it a dose of Dinneford's magnesia—one part magnesia to two parts water, in lieu of the drinking water for the day, and afterwards put it on a course of Parrish's Chemical Food. I do not know that there is any age limit as regards commencing to talk; talk to it, make a fuss of it, as well as keeping it in your midst. The squawking will disappear as the bird matures. You make no mention of your dieting, but do not give tea, coffee, or milk sops, table scraps, or any kind of animal food whatever.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. And bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

Mrs. B. S. Chambers.—Pneumonia was responsible for death of Bullfinch.

Mrs. Jones.—Canary died of pneumonia, yet appeared to be in no way of a contagious character. It is not easy to trace the cause of this, for your feeding and the surroundings in which they are kept seem to be everything desired. I trust that by now your losses have ceased.

James Elliott.—The cock Canary appeared to have died from an influenzal or catarrhal disease; more correctly speaking, a catarrhal pneumonia. It is a febrile and contagious disease, the heightened temperature rapidly emaciating them. You might with advantage give to any affected 5 drops of liquor ammonii citratis night and morning in drinking water.

"Semper Eadem."—Enlargement of body, tenseness and soreness, accompanied with loose, watery, and sometimes greenish evacuations, are a few of the symptoms I suppose you refer to when you attribute your numerous losses to inflammation of the bowels. To the lay mind the symptoms most prominent are often looked up to as the actual cause, whereas distinction must be drawn between cause and effect. It is only occasionally that inflammation affecting any part of the bowels is a primary disease of birds, except of ptomaine and dietetic origin, and in this case it is more often secondary to other complaints. By treating the resulting symptoms the good effects, if any, produced are only temporary, and the treatment palliative, whilst the actual cause producing the symptoms is unobserved and is allowed to proceed unimpeded. After removing the plumage, the body of your bird was found to be very much distended, which was found on section to be due to the presence of the liver most abnormally enlarged; in fact, several times its normal calibre. Throughout its whole extent it was infiltrated with fat, decidedly yellow in colour and breaking down easily on the least pressure being applied. The bowels were certainly inflamed, as usually occurs when the liver undergoes degenerative changes; its secretions become minimised, and amongst these the biliary secretion. The latter is Nature's true intestinal antiseptic, destroying harmful organisms which are invariably present in this region. With its withdrawal these organisms produce their harmful effects, and inflammatory changes rapidly ensue. Ordinarily, when enteritis exists alone the enlarged and swollen condition of the body is due to tympanitis of the presence of gases within the intestines. In this case the liver occupied almost the whole of the body cavity at the expense of the other organs contained within it. The causes of this troublesome disease are dieting on foods too rich in fats and oils, the administration of certain drugs, and lastly organisms. The latter seems to be the most likely cause, and I am inclined to the belief that the disease has been carried on in this manner during the last two or three years. Try a regular course of Condy's fluid in the drinking water if you have not already done so, giving an occasional dose of sulphate of soda in the drinking water. Separate diseased from healthy birds, and disinfect any cages occupied by the deceased. It is not infectious, not carried by the medium of the air, but the excretions are a possible source of danger by contaminating the food of the healthy. What may appear as being affection at first, in time becomes most malignant by passage from bird to bird in this way, each passage rendering the offending organism more virulent and troublesome to overcome. As regards treatment for the affected, I am afraid there is not very much hope from remedial treatment, as they manifest the disease only when it is far advanced, treating it, however, as of specific origin. A course of citrate of iron and quinine given in the water to drink is worthy of trial.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

Dinna Forget (A. M. Firth).—We will certainly bear your words in mind.

Cuttings (P. L. Bartholomew, G. Holtby).—We thank you for your kindness.

Police Interference (J. Shelton).—We will deal with this matter in our next issue.

In Book Form (F. F. Lawson).—Thanks for the suggestion, which we will give our consideration and carry out if possible.

Coloured Plates (W. H. Fiddian).—We are pleased to note the interest you take in our paper. In what direction do you suggest that we should extend the series of plates? We have covered a deal of ground already, as you will doubtless know.

Holiday Competition, etc. (G. Bates). The result of this competition appeared on page 174 of our issue dated September 24th. Many thanks for your kindly efforts on our behalf. We are always glad to receive reports of club doings, whether concerts or otherwise.

Owing to severe pressure on our space, answers to several queries have unavoidably had to be held over until our next issue.

SHOW DATES FIXED.

In view of the publication this week of "Cage Birds" Guide to the Season's Shows, we have held over our usual "Show Dates Fixed" column until our next issue.

LATE SHOW ITEMS.

PETERBOROUGH.

Sixth annual show, held October 5th, in Corn Exchange, a capacious and well-lighted Hall, capable of accommodating a couple of thousand exhibits. We were sorry to find entries did not come up to the Committee's expectations, partly on account of Norwich and Wellingborough shows being held this week; but chiefly, no doubt, because very few birds are at present in show form, not having finished moulting. But the quality of the exhibits was in many instances first-class, especially in the Norwich, Yorkshire, and British bird classes. The president, Mr. Mays, with the vice-presidents, committee, and the joint secretaries, Messrs. Popple and Cocks, had everything in most excellent order. The secretaries in particular are to be congratulated. Mr. J. Robson judged the Canaries, Mules, and Foreigners, and Mr. R. J. Howe the Britishers.

The Critique.

NOR. CL. YELL. CK. Correspondence.

The Midland Counties Yorkshire C.C. Patronage.

SIR,—What has become of the secretary of the Midland Counties Yorkshire Canary Club, as I have written to him and can get no reply? I see in CAGE BIRDS that Crewe Show has got the club's patronage, but I have heard of no meeting to grant same, and it is getting time members knew where the patronage had gone to.

A MEMBER.

Birds Arrive Before Catalogues.

SIR,—I was an exhibitor at Burnley Show, and I sent for a catalogue, which must be going round by the Cape of Good Hope, as I have not received it yet. Exhibitors when they send for catalogues want to receive them before the birds arrive home, or they would not send for them. I would like to know the reason the catalogues have not been sent; and I trust those who send for catalogues next year will receive them.

E. C. DUNN.

Prize Money on the First Day of Show.

SIR,—I see that the Battersea Society claim to be the only society that pays prize money on the first day of its show. This is somewhat misleading, as the W.C.O.S. (Plymouth) paid their prize money last year, and have guaranteed to pay prize money for their show of October 18th and 19th next, on the first day of the fixture. Confirmation of this was given in your correspondence columns of last week in a letter from J. Smith, who then stated that he received his prize money from Plymouth before the show was over.

THOS. POPE, Hon. Sec., W.C.O.S.

The Scottish Metropolitan Open Derby O.A. Show.

SIR,—While thanking you very much for the good report you gave of our show in last week's issue, we have to call attention to some mistakes, which it is necessary to rectify. In classes 2, 4, and 8 two exhibitors cancelled their entries, but in lieu of these, entered birds in other classes. The instruction given to our printer was to delete the cancelled entries, with number opposite each entry, if he chose. This he did, but by error, altered all the succeeding numbers in these classes, with the result that they did not correspond, by one, with cage numbers sent to exhibitors. We pointed out this to your representative, our view being to keep him right with the judges' awards. In class 2 he has corrected this, but unfortunately classes 4 and 8 are wrong. There are also a few minor errors in the other classes, and I enclose you correct list.

J. R. MEIKLE, Hon. Sec.

Class 3: 2nd prize, substitute D. Black (Govan) for Beach. Class 4: 1st, D. Black (Govan) for Drysdale; 2nd, J. Munro (Edinburgh) for Laird; 3rd, J. H. Buchan (Portobello) for McEachern; 4th, J. McLennan (Piershill) for Buchan; 7th, J. Hendry (Leith) for King; 8th, A. Paterson (Edinburgh) for Fairington. Class 5: 4th, N. O'Donnell (Paisley) for Berwick. Class 6: 5th should read W. Thornton (Blackhall). Class 7: 7th, J. Dalgleish (Leith) for Hendry. Class 8: 1st, J. Munro (Edinburgh) for Hogg; 3rd, J. D. Maxwell (Falkirk) for Cook; 4th, D. Martin (Edinburgh) for Drysdale. Class 9: 6th, J. Greig (Aberdeen) for Philp.

The Cage Bird Union and the London Federation.

SIR,—Mr. Warley implies that he could not understand my former letter. I am very sorry, but really I am not responsible for his intelligence. He has a perfect right to speak for himself on the matter, but it is certainly presumptuous for him to speak for other readers of CAGE BIRDS. His grandmotherly clap-trap of one-man societies is indicative of a small mind, and need not be treated seriously. The real point at issue is not what my co-workers have said, but, did the London societies secede from the Cage Bird Union on account of the London Federation? He has stated publicly that they did, and although he has written two letters in his own defence, he has not advanced a single argument to warrant his making the statement; therefore I do not feel inclined to waste time in continuing this correspondence. He made a mistake, and it would have been far more becoming in him to have admitted it instead of trying to bluff it out.

R. L. CRISP.
Chairman of the London Fed. of C.B.S.

SIR,—I have followed with much interest each week the correspondence re the Cage Bird Union, and the London Federation, and one remark of Mr Warley's I was greatly struck with. He says, "Mr. Crisp, by his letters, seems to be the Federation of London." Precisely. There you have it, neat and unadulterated. Mr. Warley has hit the nail bang on the head, for that is the exact reason why one of the largest London societies, namely, the Leyton C.B.A., withdrew from the Federation. The members of the Leyton Society have a rooted objection to any hole-in-the-corner one-man business, and their delegates soon discovered that there was plenty of this at the Federation meetings. Any sensible idea or project brought forward by a delegate would be calmly appropriated, or, on the other hand, if not meeting with Mr. Crisp's approval, would be promptly sat on by him and his satellites. This kind of thing tending neither to the interests nor to the advancement of that large section of the Fancy that the London Federation is supposed to represent, the Leyton Society promptly withdrew, much to the chagrin of the Federation "bosses." I suppose, however, their concern was not so much for the withdrawing society, but rather for the levy they would lose.

UNAFFILIATED.

SIR,—I should like to know if any exhibitors have had their prize money from the late Camborne (Cornwall) Show since the last letter was published by Mr. Wills enquiring if it was a mistake with regard to his birds, as he had not received his prize money. As the reply was, all prize-money to be paid in a short time, and not having heard anything since, I think it nearly time something was done in the matter. Could anyone give information, if the society has finished with the matter, or intends to even return the entry fees back to those who have not been paid their prize money?

A FANCIER.

Non-fed Canary Classes at Shows.

SIR,—Will you allow me to support the very sensible and practical suggestion of Mr. D. Johnston in your issue of CAGE BIRDS, dated Oct. 1, with reference to the providing of non-fed classes at all of our shows? I am quite aware that, hitherto such classes have not received the support of fanciers that they ought to have received, partly because so few societies cater for the non-fed birds; consequently all, or nearly all, the best birds are colour-fed. But if, as Mr. Johnston suggests, a "non-fed club" could be formed, such club could then guarantee a number of classes at several of our leading shows, and thus help to popularise these particular classes. The craze for hot-fed birds is, to my mind, both expensive and senseless, and the expense connected with it prevents many a man with very limited means from indulging in our delightful hobby. Of course, the chief expense in feeding birds is not the pepper (although that of itself is considerable), but the eggs, as just at the time of the year when most are wanted they are often 2d. each. I have always been an opponent of colour-feeding birds on these grounds, and some twenty or thirty years ago persuaded our Cage Bird Committee at Chatteris, in Cambridgeshire (of which at that time I was a member), to exclude all colour-fed birds from competition, the result being that we had an entry of about 500 birds, and only two were passed as being colour-fed, while the show itself was a financial success. I hope, therefore, that something may be done in the matter, and that 'ere long we shall have a non-fed club in existence for all kinds of Canaries.

J. C. WILMOT.

SIR,—I am very glad to see someone raise the question of natural colour classes at Scotch shows, and Mr. D. Johnston deserves the thanks of all fanciers who prefer the real to the sham. Although only a novice I will do all I can to help the City of Glasgow in the non-fed classes. I cannot see where a bird crammed full of pepper is handsomer than one in Nature's true colours. Why, a few years ago was it not a non-fed bird that won the special for the best Plainhead in the Glasgow Show, also the McLean £10 challenge cup for best bird in the whole section of somewhere about 1,000 entries? Surely this should prove that one does not require to colour-feed to win, if one has the proper type of bird to show.

THE CAGE BIRD UNION AND ITS MEMBERS.

The Secretary, Mr. Lythgoe, issues a Remarkable Warning and an Appeal for Loyalty.

SIR,—Now that the show season may be said to be fairly opened, I think it well to again remind Cage Bird Union members that they can only show at Union shows. Lists of these will be duly advertised; one appears to-day. All should have the Union's show rules inserted in the schedules. If the members desire the Union to prosper, loyalty should be their motto, not only loyalty to the rules and decisions of the Union, but also to their fellow members, particularly by giving their heartiest support in the way of entries to those shows that have proved their loyalty by continuing in membership of the Union.

In reference to the query re the Dulwich show, the Union have been enquiring into this, but there is a difficulty in getting any information as to the officials. The secretaries have been written to, but the letters have been returned, and I cannot get to know their addresses. Can any reader supply me with a schedule of the show, and give any idea of the present whereabouts of the officials?

The affairs of the Union are in a very healthy state, in spite of the events of the early part of the year. With the exception of the London and Newcastle districts, the membership is much the same as last year, and it will be found, on referring to the lists of shows in your paper, that with these exceptions, practically all the shows are held under C.B.U. rules, and I am almost daily receiving fresh applications.

I am still in the dark as to why the societies comprising these two above-mentioned districts have not rejoined; no inkling of their particular trouble has been given, though they have been written to individually, and only a few gave any reply whatever. They have been invited to give their views through the Press, or hold a meeting amongst themselves to submit their grievances, and I also invited them to attend the recent delegates' meeting to give expression to their views, but not a single one responded. Presumably these societies have some grievance, and one would have thought they would have given expression to it in some form or another, if only for the benefit of the Fancy in general.

Secretary, Cage Bird Union. GEO. W. F. LYTHGOE.

Cage Bird Shows in Frome and District.

Novel Point Concerning the Cage Bird Union.

SIR,—Allow me through your valuable paper to express our gratitude to the joint secretaries of the "one and only cage bird society" in this district for explaining to "friends and fanciers generally" that they are not connected with the Frome and District Fanciers' Association; and we sincerely hope they will make it quite clear locally, especially to our subscribers. The letter in last week's CAGE BIRDS says, "otherwise known as the Frome Fanciers and Frome Poultry, Pigeon and Dog Association." Now, sir, it is hardly necessary for me to point out to West of England fanciers that the Frome Association has since its formation in 1896, always run shows for each section, and all the principal cage bird shows held in this town have been run by us. It has always been our desire to give a good classification and engage only the very best judges, such as Messrs. C. A. House, J. H. Payne, J. Robson, J. N. Harrison etc. We wish it to be known that now as ever this, the Frome Fanciers' Association, is a fanciers' association, run by fanciers for fanciers and not for the glorification of one or two of its members. Now for the sore place. I will try and explain why, according to our schedule, we decided to call ourselves the Frome Cage Bird Association (section of the Fanciers' Association). Most cage bird fanciers are aware that Rule 20 of the Cage Bird Union to which we are affiliated, runs as follows: "If the dates proposed for the shows of any two or more societies shall be the same or shall otherwise, in the opinion of the district committee, be likely to clash, preference shall, as between a purely cage bird society and a mixed society, be given to the purely cage bird society, etc." Now, this puts a very formidable weapon in the hands of any person having a grudge against an old established society, as by getting one or two "cronies" together and calling themselves a cage bird society, they are in a position to do considerable damage to existing clubs or associations, who cater for more than one branch of the Fancy. To prevent this, we registered our cage bird section as above. This section is run entirely by cage bird men, the Fanciers' Association guaranteeing the prize-money. I may say that just before our last show a similar letter was published in one of the local papers by "Hawk." We leave fanciers to guess the motive.

C. I. YOUNG,
Hon. Sec., Frome and Dis. F.A.

SIR,—May I crave your indulgence to reply to a letter in your last issue, above the names of Messrs. Minty and Tottle, anent our annual show. They state we are advertising in your columns as the "Frome Cage Bird Association." This is a glaring digression from the truth, and if these worthy secretaries spent their modest copper each week in the purchase of your valuable periodical they would there see that our show is advertised in your list of fixtures as "Frome F.A.," and we have already advertised "all prize money guaranteed by 'Frome Fanciers' Association" in our show advertisement, so that there can be no assumption that we are in any way connected with the "society" which they claim to be the only one in this town. We held cage bird shows in this town before the "bird of passage" arrived that started this vaunted society. This being our 12th annual show, I think we can safely advertise it as "Frome Cage Bird show," and no "society" necessary. I rather welcome this letter for this reason. I have received this week a complaint from a Bristol fancier of amalgamation of classes at Frome last year, and as we, the "Fromo show," do not amalgamate classes, it is safe to assume that he refers to this other "society's" show, where amalgamation was very rife. We are not the same show, and wish to take this opportunity to impress upon fanciers generally that we do not amalgamate classes, preferring to cancel if we think fit. I am sending you the original letter of complaint, by which you will see this is bona-fide, together with our last year's catalogue, and you will there see that we did not amalgamate at our show. In conclusion I may inform these "society" secretaries that we are the Frome Cage Bird Association, although we have not yet advertised as such, but it became necessary to register as purely a cage bird club in accordance with Rule 20 of the C.B.U. to prevent this mushroom society from claiming our show date at any time. The secretary of the C.B.U. advertised us as the Frome C.B.A., and we are holding a purely cage bird show, and hope to make it a successful event, even with this "one and only society" in opposition to us.

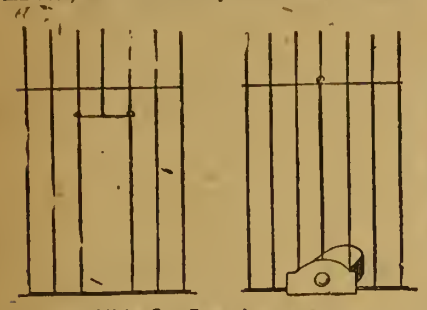
No. 450.

A Feeding Contrivance.

Sent by Mr. H. G. Sales, 4, Celia Road, Tufnell Park, London, N.

Here is a small contrivance I found very useful for giving my birds egg-food or any other tit-bit when necessary in an ordinary cage. It can be made and fixed to any cage in about 10 minutes, and will not spoil the look of same.



Slide for Egg-drawers.

A Training Cage.

Sent by Mr. A. Arthington, 206, Barrow Hill, Chesterfield.

I send a sketch of what I think will prove profitable to showers of Yorkshire and Lancashire Canaries—a training cage. Take 3 pieces of wood 10ins. by 8ins.; cut a circle out of each about 3ins. away from the top, and place a few wires to stop the bird from getting through, as shown in sketch. The size of the top is 8ins. by 14ins., and back 14ins. by 10ins. Two of the afore-mentioned pieces are used for sides, and one for partition. When the pieces are put together and the cage is made, a likely winner should be placed in each side. The birds will pull themselves up to look either in the nest cage or out of the other wire window. As the birds straighten up the perches should be lowered.—A. ARTHINGTON.

HAMILTON (Cadzow Oaks) O.S.

Meeting 1st October, Lesser Town Hall, vice-president, Mr. J. Braidwood, in the chair. Mr. Braidwood's motion to amend classification was withdrawn. The patronage of the Border Fancy Club was accepted. Mr. A. Watson was appointed collector, Mr. McClelland resigned. Mr. J. Sharp (Bathgate) was appointed judge of British bird show; subcommittee appointed.—A. CANT, Hon. Sec.

THE BIRD BOOKS OF THE CENTURY.

"OUR CANARIES"

The Practical Book !

By CLAUDE ST. JOHN, General Canary Expert to "Cage Birds," assisted by over 100 of our present-day Leading Breeders and Authorities.

PART 6 is now ready. Secure it at once.

Clear Yellow Scotch Fancy.

Price 6d.

Also two splendid art plates, many helpful and original illustrations, and 24 pages of most practical and absorbing reading matter ever issued to lovers of the Canary.

The remarkable value of part 6 cannot be fully grasped until it has been seen. It deals exhaustively with the ailments of canaries, also the best and most up to date method of their prevention and cure.

The author (who as "Cage Birds" canary expert has given such universal satisfaction), tells how the various canary ailments can be prevented, and when they do make their unwelcome appearance the best and quickest methods to cure them.

Mr. H. Norman has illustrated this number with numerous descriptive sketches, on such touchy points as to the right and wrong way of holding a bird when administering medicine, how to cut a bird's claws, and various other points of like nature.

Such information as this cannot be obtained elsewhere, and is of equal importance to "old hands" and beginners alike.

Parts 1 to 5 are of equal interest, and parts 7 to 16 will be even more so. Not a single iota of canary keeping will be missed, and we are perfectly assured that if you purchase any one part of "Our Canaries," you will immediately subscribe for the complete work. Don't take our word for it! Get a copy to-day, and you will be surprised at the value you get for your money.

Price 6d. per part from your newsagent or direct from us carefully packed in stiff card 7d. post free.

TO SAVE MONEY.

This work will be completed in 16 monthly parts, of which Parts 1 to 6 are now ready and can be supplied together, packed flat for 3/4, post free, or for 9/- prepaid we will supply the complete work in parts as published.

"CAGE-BIRD HYBRIDS"

Contains all that is known on the subject.

This most comprehensive and clever work is written by CHARLES HOULTON, an authority with a reputation extending over 25 years as a leading exhibitor and a leading expert and judge (associate editors, G. E. Weston and C. A. House) and is being published in 8 monthly parts, at 6d. each. Magnificently Illustrated by that great bird artist, Mr. H. Norman.

PART 6 is now ready. This part contains two magnificent coloured plates depicting Plate 1.—Goldfinch-Linnet Hybrid and Goldfinch-Greenfinch Hybrid.

,, 2.—Siskin-Greenfinch Hybrid.

Price 6d.

Two art plates of equal artistic merit, a large number of interesting illustrations, and reading matter which forms a positive encyclopædia of intensely practical information on the subject of hybrid breeding.

Do not run away with the impression that "Cage Birds Hybrids" is a work of pictures only. In no way is this so. The information given in this work to be fully grasped, has to be well illustrated. The artist, Mr. H. Norman, has combined specially in part six, with the author, Mr. C. Houlton, to show fully all those points which tell for or against a hybrid when it is put on the show bench. The illustrations of the various heads and tail markings, being quite unique, are of infinite value to the would-be successful exhibitor. This part also contains numerous hints on possible crosses of both hard and soft-billed British birds which have not yet been produced, beside a host of other matter of equal importance. Parts 1 to 5, which have already been published, are of equal interest and practicability, for all hybrid breeders, whether veterans or novices. Purchase one part and you will send your order for the complete work, as such value in specialist information has never before been offered.

TO SAVE MONEY.

Parts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 can now be supplied for 3/4 post paid; or for 4/6 prepaid, we will take orders to supply the complete work—in parts as published. Send your order at once, direct to us, with remittance.

ALWAYS USE OUR

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers In all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insistedupon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositur should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been affected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or, if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6 according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

My Self-Acting Net Traps

catch birds of every description without attention, price 1/6, larger size 2/-, carriage paid. I have received hundreds of testimonials stating they are A1 for catchers. Read two, and beware of imitations that are not worth the carriage.—"Sir,—Net trap to hand; it is honestly worth dozens of some nets advertised. I tried it this afternoon and caught more birds in two hours than I caught in other traps in two mouths."—George Matthews, 2, Lucas Street, Stockport. "Sir,—Trap arrived; it is far superior to all others. I have to-day caught fifteen Linnets, six Redpolls, four Chaffinches, three Greenfinches."—J. Scragg, Old Brewery, Armitage Road, Rugeley. Entirely self-acting and self setting trap cages, warranted to catch birds and reset without attention, 1s. 6d.; loose netting, strongest and finest obtainable, ½in. mesh, 7ft. deep, 5d. yard; ¾ mesh, 7ft. deep, 3d.; 10ft. deep, 4d. yard, post free; clap nets, ¾ or ½in. mesh netting, gesred all round and sent complete for catching; write for prices before buying elsewhere: Morris, 112, Cape Hill, Birmingham.

WHAT OTHER MAN

in the trade would make such an offer as I have made for years past, viz., have any of my appliances on approval, test them side by side with similar articles from elsewhere, and if mine or not better value at lower price, smash them up and I will refund the whole of your money. For several years this offer has been made, but never yet has one article been broken up, nor have I ever been told that anything of mine came out of the test second best. This fact alone should prove to you who is tha man to supply you with tip-top value at rock-bottom price. Clap nets made from ¾-inch mesh, genuine thread netting specially knitted for bird netting, 3 yards long, 5½ feet deep, 4 feet fly, 4/- pair; ditto, 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/-; 7 yards, 8/-; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. Pleasa note, thesa clap nets consist of two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed full measurement as stated, and are fitted up with staves, poles, pegs, hemp lines, and everything complete ready for immediate use; sparrow nets, fitted complete on 15 feet bamboo poles, 5/6; ditto, on 17 feet poles, 6/-; ditto on 19 feet poles, 6/6; Lark nets, 15 yards by 10 feet, 12/-; 18 yards, 15/-; 20 yards, 17/-; 25 yards, 21/-; 30 yards, 24/-; lined and geared ready for use. Real Italian hemp pull lines, specially spun, free from snarl or stretch, and strong as boat lines, 68 yards long, 1/4 each, post free. Loose netting, same as used in above clap nets, ¾-inch mesh, 7 feet deep, 3d. yard; ditto, 9 feet deep, 4d. yard; ditto, 12 feet deep, 5d. yard, post free. This netting must not be confused with the thick American cotton netting, which is often sold for bird netting; mine is made from 60s. 3-ply thread, is very fine but strong, and does not show on the ground. Lark netting, 1¼-inch mesh, 10 feet deep, 4d. yard, post free. The original Japanese birdlime, guaranteed strongest lime made, will hold any Hawk or Rook that flies, does not run in sun, will hold even in the rain, and leaves the feathers clean in all cases, ½-lb., 6d., ¼-lb. 10d., 1 lb. 1/6, sample 3d., all post free. Self-acting spring net traps, 24 inches long, 18 inches wide, 1/-; ditto, 18 inches long, 9d. each. These net traps are by far the largest and most effective traps on the market. They can be baited for Hardbills and Softbills at same time, call bird can be used inside them if desired, and will catch and hold uninjured any bird from Wren to Rook. Cannot get out of order, and so simple that any child can set them. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages, guaranteed to automatically resct immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each. Single trap cages, 6d. each; double ditto, 1/- each; treble ditto, 1/3 each; all with separate compartment for call bird. Round or square-topped call cages, all wire tops and wood bottoms, close wired, coloured green, and made by cage-makers, not navvies, 4d. each, 3/- dozen. Store cages and everything required by catchers always in stock. Send stamp for printed price list and hints on net making. All nets thoroughly tested before sent out, and sent on approval on the distinct understanding that you get all your money back if not perfectly satisfactory in every way. All goods are of same sterling quality as before, as I have not sacrificed quality for price. Remember that a useless pair of nets are dear at any price, but a good pair will catch their cost in an hour or so. See following letters and then judge for yourself:—"20, William-street, Witham Green, Boston, September 6th.—Sir, —Please send pair nets as follows. Two year ago I had a pair from ———, which were supposed to ba rot-proof, but now they are completely rotten.—Yours, H. French." "Press Wood, nr. Whitchurch, September 5th.—Sir,—Please send following. I was very pleased with your netting; it has made a good pair nets.—Yours, S. Gibbons." "2, Luke-street, Burslem.—Sir,—I am highly satisfied with clap nets and drinkers, so now please send following.—Yours, J. Dean." "53, Liverpeol-road, South Birkdale.—Sir,—Please send lb. lime. That I had from you last year was best I ever had. I have some from ———, but it is no use; I have missed over 70 in four days with it.—Yours, R. Makinsnn." "Mount Pleasant, Newburgh, Fife.—Sir,—I am again sending for bird-lime from you. I have got it the last three years, and it is best I ever had; no bother taking the birds off the twigs.—Yours, J. Pantan." "56a, Napierston-terrace, Jamestown.—Sir, Please send following goods. I had three net traps some time ago from elsewhere, but they are useless.—Yours, E. Bridgman." "Jessop-street, Codnor. Sir,—Please send following. The last nets I had from you worked a treat, and come over like a flash of lightning. Just the thing for sharp birds.—Yours, P. Watson." Send your orders to the man who knows what is required for successful catching, and you will not be disappointed. I supply the leading professional catchers throughout the world. These are men who get their living by catching, and must have best appliances; so surely if I can satisfy them I can satisfy you. Remember, all on approval, cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system. See British Bird column for further advertisement.

about my advts. is this: I am always most careful to correctly describe any birds I offer, and always understate rather than exaggerate their qualities and value. If you notice, I never call a bird a "massive giant," or "enormous monster," when in reality it is only an ordinary specimen; but I do say this—if a man sends to me for birds and expects to get birds just as advertised, then he always gets exactly what he expects. That is why I am always so willing to send on approval, and why birds are never returned to me as being misrepresented. I have a huge stock of genuine Worcestershire netted cock Goldfinches, all warranted in pink of health and condition, and well on seed, at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 6/-, twelve 12/-; specially selected larger cocks for moulting, for exhibition, or muling, and guaranteed now in song, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 17/-; few extra special clean moulted cocks in full colour and superb condition, with good broad skulls, square blaze, properly tanned and buttoned, etc., and fit for keenest competition, 3/-, 4/-, 6/-, each; hen Goldfinches, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; splendid lot cock Siskins, all clean moulted, and faultless condition, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 15/-; few large yellow exhibition specimens, with jet black cap, good hibs, and thigh lacing, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; hen Siskins 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; yellow hens, smothered with lacing, 1/6 each; splendid lot cock brown Linnets, all clean moulted, with rose red breasts, and nut brown backs, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, tweve 4/-; few larger picked birds, for muling or contest singing, and warranted now in song, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; exhibition specimens, exquisitely pencilled and correct type, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; cock Bullfinches 1/6 and 2/- each; exhibition specimens 3/- each; hen Bullfinches 1/- and 1/6 each; cock Greenfinches 6d. each, three 1/-; cock Chaffinches 8d. each, three 1/6; exhibition Greenfinches and Chaffinches 1/- each; Redpolls 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; cock Larks 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; hand-reared cock Larks, finger tame and singing well, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, and 7/0 each; young Canaries 2/0 couple, 12/- dozen; Roller cocks in full song, 5/6 and 6/6 each; handsome hand-reared cock Jay, finger-tame, chattering and whistling all day, sure to make a champion, 6/-; Linnet, Goldfinch, and Bullfinch cages, 6d. each, 4/6 dozen; Lark cages 6d. and 8d. each, 4/- and 6/- dozen; 1d. tin drinkers 6d. dozen; 3 dozen 1/3, gross 4/-; zinc ditto 9d. dozen, 3 dozen 2/-, 6/- gross; wholesale cage list on application. Kindly note, despite the many assertions of persons claiming to hold largest stocks of birds in Midland Counties, I emphatically assert that I have more British birds in stock at present time than any other three dealers in Midlands, and am willing to prove it at any time. All birds are guaranteed to be well on seed before sent out, and purchasers from me run no risk of being prosecuted for having fresh caught birds in their possession, as I have an arrangement with my catchers (who are stationed in various parts of Worcestershire) whereby they keep the birds in their charge until the necessary time has elapsed to enable the birds to be kept in any part of British Isles, without fear or favour. All are sent on approval, on receipt of cash, or deposit system of "Cage Birds," and if they fail to prove entirely satisfactory, they only have to be returned and back comes the whole of your money. See Appliance Column for further advt.

DO YOU WANT " " Crested Cock or Hen?
DO YOU WANT " " Crested Bred Cock or Hen?
DO YOU WANT .. .. Yorkshire Cock or Hen.
DO YOU WANT " " Lizard Cock or Hen?
DO YOU WANT .. .. any other variety?
DO YOU WANT an Exhibition Mule or Hybrid?

If so, write me for particulars, stating exactly your requirements, enclosing stamped envelope, when you will receive a quick and courteous reply.

AMATEURS, BREED YOUR OWN WINNERS.

If you will allow me, I can put you right in this, with either a pair of Norwich Plainheads, a pair of Yorkshires, or a pair of Lizards, at 12/6, 15/-, and 20/- per pair. I mean, that I will match them scientifically for this purpose personally, and just as though I was doing it for myself. Remember it is absolutely useless spending money on good birds if they are not matched in the correct and best possible way to get good results; hence, it is futile to go to people that know little or nothing about this important branch of the Fancy, whether they call themselves "practical" specialists, or whether they are "special copyists."

NOVICES SPECIAL BARGAINS.

I will match you Norwich or Yorkshires in the correct way; i.e., NOT two buffs, as the majority do when supplying the novice at a low price. All the birds I am offering here shall have cocks that have started to sing, and shall be selected as strong, hardy birds, likely to do all that you require of them, at 7/6, 8/6, and 10/6 per pair. I will also fit you up with a double breeding cage, with everything complete for use, for 3/6 extra; or a better cage, with sand-drawers, sanitary fittings, etc., for 5/- extra; this latter recommended; with the utmost confidence of satisfaction I offer these bargains.

Travelling cages 3d. extra in all cases.

Professional copyists have another fine opportunity to play at imitation.

A few specimen, unsolicited, up-to-date opinions here given, as examples of THOUSANDS received and open for inspection, bearing official post marks:—

A Beauty.

Wintonia, Britford Road, Salisbury, October, 1910.—The bird arrived quite safely, and I am very pleased indeed with it. It is a beauty. Thank you very much. A. J. Churcher to W. Rudd.

Splendid Value.

Kilmarnock, October, 1910.—Birds arrived all right, and are now doing well. Thanks very much for same, they are splendid value. D. McNeil to W. Rudd.

Highly Satisfactory.

1, Mount Street, Londonderry, October, 1910.—Bird received all right. Highly satisfied. D. McEldowing to W. Rudd.

Mr. Tom White (Hyde) is giving 7s. 6d. special for best Lancashire, and 7s. 6d. special for best Lizard, at the Rochdale Town Hall show, writes Mr. John Rukin, hon sec., of the Lancashire and Lizard F.A.

Schedules for Hartlepools Show I have posted to applicants, last year's entrants, and exhibitors in the north, writes Mr. E. Woodhead, the hon. sec. Will anyone overlooked please apply? We have specials for every class, and many extra specials, and we hope to have the tide with us this year.

The great cotton trade lock-out has happily been settled, writes a Lancashire correspondent, and trade should be brisker now, which is all the better for our hobby. Your readers may be interested to learn that the one-time famous "Lizard King" (Mr. F. W. Baker, of Shaw) played a very prominent part in this.

Any member not having paid his annual subscription on or before the next meeting night, will be debarred from competing for the cups and specials at the coming show, and any subscription sent with entries will not be accepted from any member after this notice, writes Mr. James Irlam, hon. sec., Sale Open C.B.S.

Mr. Jamieson, the sec. of the Border Fancy Club, wishes me to state that we have got a handsome medal for competition at our show, October 22, and that English members do not compete for same, writes Mr. J. Ford, sec. of the Kelty and Blairadam C.B.A. I have also received a few specials which will be competed for in their respective sections.

The Eastern Counties C.B.S. are holding a series of table shows this winter, the first to take place October 20, at 8 o'clock, at headquarters, Crown and Sceptre, High Street, Ipswich, writes Mr. W. Barritt, hon. sec. Classes: A.V. adult yell. Nor.; ditto young buff. Mr. W. Cook has kindly consented to officiate as judge. All bird lovers heartily welcome.

Kindly allow me to correct one or two slight errors in our schedule, writes Mr. Alex. Macdonald, sec. of the City of the Glasgow O.A. Judges for Mules, etc., should be Mr. R. Bald (Bathgate); special 19 should be David Kinlack (Glasgow); and special 139 should be "open" and not "members." Special arrangements have been made as to the care and despatch of birds from a distance.

"PEACE WITH HONOUR."

It affords us considerable pleasure to be able to announce this week that the prolonged misunderstanding between our paper and the London Cage Bird Association has now, thanks to the good offices of certain mutual friends, been satisfactorily adjusted without loss of prestige on either side. We shall therefore hope to accord to the London Cage Bird Association that same measure of recognition and support that we extended to them prior to the unfortunate disagreement that arose between us in the Autumn of 1907.

The Giant of British Finches.

The idea underlying the illustrations upon our front page this week is the contrasting of the views, so to speak, of the camera and two of our leading artists with regard to the appearance of that bulky and attractive British bird, the Hawfinch.

The attitude which has "caught the eye" of Mr. Keulemans will be a familiar one to those who have kept the bird in captivity. The points which have particularly impressed him are obviously the huge head and beak, and the most peculiar bill-hooked shaped wing-feathers characteristic of this species.

Mr. Norman, in portraying the hen Hawfinch which won first prize at the last Crystal Palace Show for Mr. S. Beaty, has given us the bold, fearless attitude taken up by the trained exhibition bird when undergoing inspection.

The camera has caught for us the noted Hawfinch exhibited a season or two ago by Mr. S. Hakes, which won numerous prizes and finished the season by heading a stiff class at the Crystal Palace. This photograph of the bird in its show-cage likewise puts before us the "correct" attitude of the exhibition specimen, and very clearly shows us the shape of bib most favoured by judges, and most sought after by lovers of this Giant of British Finches.

Our Back End show takes place on November 26, and we have secured the services of Messrs. W. Booth (Hyde) and S. R. Compston (Macclesfield), who have kindly consented to judge, writes Mr. Henry Wallworth, hon. sec., Macclesfield C.B.S.

"Cage Birds" Guide to the Shows

You have my name as secretary for Evesham. Mr. Geo. Witts, Evesham, is secretary.—(Miss) E. M. Burlingham (Evesham).

A slight error occurs in your Guide to the shows; T. Lindsay should be T. Findlay; also T. Penman should be F. Penman.—WM. GUTHRIE, Sec. Kilmarnock O.C.B.S.

Yorkshire County B.B. and M.C.

At the general meeting of the Yorkshire County B.B. and M.C., it was decided to offer for competition to members the following: For champion section prizes to value of 20s. for first, 10s. for second, and 5s. for third, as per Rule 16 in handbook. Members must put initials Y.C.B.B. and M.C. on entry form before points gained can be counted. Through the kindness of Mr. F. Carl (proprietor of CAGE BIRDS) we can offer for amateur section, first 20s., second 17s. 6d., third 15s. Professional section, first 20s., second 12s. 6d., 3rd 7s. 6d. as per conditions in rule books.—LANE AND JOWETT, hon. secs.

IS IT A BLOT ON THE YORKSHIRE UNION?

Do the Novices Get Fair Play with Their Birds?

We have received the following letter from an esteemed correspondent, and publish it as written, though we have been unable in the short time subsequent to its receipt and this issue going to press, to in anyway test the accuracy of the observations contained in it.—Editor.

SIR,—If the discussion which rages around the Cage Bird Union leaves you space, I should like to draw attention to a matter concerning a sister Union (an elder sister), viz., the Yorkshire Union of C.B.S.—a matter on which I have felt strongly for some time, and which events at the recent Bradford City Show have convinced me is a real grievance. But in some way or other the parties most concerned don't seem to see it in that light. I refer to the novices and their show birds. Now there is a rule of the Y.U. (No. 42) which limits the price of exhibits entered in the novice classes to £5 5s. It was proposed to abolish or amend this limit at the last annual business of the Y.U.; but the proposal got squashed by about 150 votes. This seems conclusive enough; but don't forget that only a percentage of the members—and not a high one—troubled to vote. And it seems to me that the novices, who outnumbered the champions by many, cannot surely realise how this rule cuts against themselves. Look at Bradford City report and note that the three chief prize-winners in big classes of 20 to 40 odd birds are claimed at the price limit of £5 5s. Your reporter describes one of these as "a topper," and all as real first-class Yorkies. "Well done, novices, this looks as thought you had some rare good birds," he adds. That's all very nice, but it strikes me, sir, that these are just the birds that the novices most want to keep for their own use, especially first-class hens. How are they to improve their stock if every time they breed and show a "topper" it is snatched from them by someone on the look-out for bargains, and who knows one when he sees one? Aren't they cheap, too, at £5 5s.! Why we all know that £10 to £15 is paid by many of the champions for show birds, to add to their teams, and bring fame to themselves and their "strain." Who, I wonder, picked up the bargains at Bradford City? What profit will they make on them? I have heard it said many a time that certain champions always go through the novice birds before looking at their own. No wonder; it pays, no doubt. But how long will the novices stand this kind of thing, being compelled to part with their most valuable birds for a few pounds—perhaps not half their real value. The whole thing is rotten, in my opinion. The men of the Y.U. speak of its being formed for the "advancement and protection of the interests of breeders and exhibitors"; well, the Union certainly has one rule which advances the interests of the champions, and the moneyed men. But why do the novices stand it? A price limit may be desirable from one point of view; but it is barefaced robbery, also, from my point of view. If the birds were put up for auction, and any surplus went to the novice owner it might anyway help him to get a fairer return for his skill in breeding. But it is ridiculous that he should work and struggle to the top for those to profit who already have both plenty of cash and birds.

A SYMPATHETIC CHAMPION.

Dulwich and Peckham C.B.S. show on Nov. 8 is to be at the Rendeer Hotel, Rye Lane, Mr. Robson is judging Canaries and Hybrids, Mr. Silver, the British and foreign birds, and Mr. Lester, the open competition for Roller Canaries.—H. W. Tomsett, show manager.

The 1910-11 handbook of the Northern Yorkshire C.C. has just been issued. It contains the club rules, etc., and the members' names and addresses. Information respecting the club may be had of Mr. T. C. Crawhall, the hon. sec., 121, St. George's Terrace, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

I was very much surprised on receiving Cage Birds, of October 1, to find on the front page the illustration of my Dutch Frill, 2nd at the Crystal Palace, writes Mr. W. J. Minty (Frome). I am pleased to say that I have bred one or two very promising youngsters this season, and a specially fine yellow.

Allow me to thank you for the reproduction of the picture of my outdoor bird-room in your issue of Oct. 1, writes Mr. W. Brooke (Smethwick). On opening my copy of Cage Birds on the Friday evening, it came as a pleasant surprise to me to see how well you had reproduced it. I may say that the birds are nearly through the moult now, and are coming on song well. Am pleased to hear that those of my brother fanciers I know have had a good season.

I notice I have won the 6th prize in the Holiday Competition, writes Mr. W. O. Brooke, the sec. of Bournemouth and Dis. C.B.A. This was in the nature of a surprise, as I did not consider I had any chance with many of the Northern and Midland fanciers, as although there are some 80,000 inhabitants in the county borough of Bournemouth, there is very little enthusiasm displayed with regard to our hobby. However, I hope those new readers of Cage Birds will continue as such for as many years, or longer, than I have myself—that is, since the commencement (most of the volumes I have by me still), and derive as much pleasure from the mine of information which Cage Birds always supplies, as I have.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Best (London, S.E.)

It is with great regret, write Messrs. Dibley and Meades, hon. secs. of the Plumstead and Woolwich C.B.S., that we have to report the death of Mr. Best, one of our vice-presidents, who passed way on October 5th, after a long illness. Mr. Best took a keen interest in the society, having filled the position of vice-chairman and chairman. He will be greatly missed by all our members, by whom he was highly esteemed.

Mr. WM BALD (Bathgate).

It is with regret I have to record the death of Mr. Bald, father of Mr. Robert Bald, the secretary of the Bathgate Cage Bird Society, writes Mr. J. Livingstone (Bathgate). Mr. Bald, although not a fancier, took a great interest in the local society, and in a great measure the success which attended his son Bob was due to the interest his father took in him. Mr. Bald, who had always been in the best of health, was taken suddenly ill a few weeks ago and passed away on September 26th. He was only 49 years of age, and leaves a widow and a grown-up family of four sons and three daughters. He was buried on the Thursday, and the local Territorials accorded him a military funeral, he having been over 30 years a volunteer. The local Masonic brethren held a funeral service at the grave, which was largely attended. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Bald and family in their sad bereavement.

Lancaster Show report gives my name as Soupe; it should be—Wm. Pape (Haltwhistle).

Peterborough show report credits Mr. Hall with winning first in class 6, with a buff hen, whereas it was we who won it.—Gill and Gee (Grassmoor).

My Goldie-Bullie Hybrid (1st St. Andrews, 1st Peterboro') I have sold to a prominent exhibitor across the Border, writes Mr. Wm. Sharp (Bathgate). Of the thirteen Hybrids I have reared, ten have gone to England and Wales.

Will intending exhibitors at Hucknall Show, October 28 and 29, kindly note that Mr. M. Norwood has been obliged to cancel his judging engagement. Mr. G. Marshall has kindly consented to officiate in his place.—E. Mellors, Sec.

Winners of cups at our show, writes Mr. R. Whitton, sec. of Broughty Ferry C.B.S., were: F. Ramsey (Scotch Fancies), and W. Reid (young Crest); of medals, R. Whitton (S.C.C.C.) and A. Robertson (B.F.C.C.); of Hyde's special, R. Whitton.

I have sent schedules out for our open show, writes Mr. F. Western, sec. of the Bradford West C.B.A. Will exhibitors wanting one write me? Members of the Yorkshire Union will find schedule in the Union book. Entries will be taken on note paper.

Judges for our show on November 26 are: for Norwich, Mr. Andrew Malcolmson (Glasgow); for Yorkshires, Mr. R. B. Gibb (Glasgow); and for British birds, Mr. Cochrane (Edinburgh), writes Mr. Jno. Kilpatrick, the sec. of Uddingston O.S.

As entries are coming in so badly, writes Mr. E. Marsden Targett, joint sec. of the King's Lynn and Dis. F. and F.S., we have decided to extend time for same until Sunday morning's (October 16) post. I have only received 53 entries for the 82 classes.

Please accept my best thanks for Cage Birds special, won at Liskeard show, which I consider a very good and suitable one, writes Mr. F. E. Faulkner (Redruth). I should like to thank the sec. of the show for the very prompt payment of prize money, which I received two days after show.

We are reluctantly compelled to extend our closing date for entries until last post October 15, write Messrs. King and Joiner, secretary of the Portsmouth C.B.S. We appeal to fanciers to support us with a few entries.

A mistake occurs in our schedule, writes Mr. C. C. Irwine, sec. of the Ayr and Dis. C.B.C. The Border Fancy judge is Mr. David Holden (Muirkirk), and not Mr. P. Holden. Schedules are now issued; will any exhibitor overlooked please drop me a P.C.?

Mr. Law, the secretary of the London and Provincial O.S. Show, held Nov. 2nd and 3rd, writes: Applications for schedules have been received from all over England, and I should like to point out that the show is confined to the County of London and to our own members. With our popular judges and fine hall, we hope metropolitan fanciers will help us make the fixture a huge success; everything possible will be done as regards the comfort and feeding of the birds.

At a special meeting of the Blaydon-on-Tyne C.B.S. held last Saturday night, there was a large turn out of members. After we had selected stewards, etc., for the annual show, we had several volunteers to watch the birds at night, etc., so that fanciers need have no fear as to the safety of their birds. The members hope that fanciers will try and second their efforts to make the show a huge success.—G. Havver, Hon. Sec.

Kindly allow me to appeal to the Yorkshire Canary fanciers of Scotland, through the medium of your valuable paper, for their support at Ayr show on October 29th, writes Mr. F. Bowman, sec. Y.C.C. of Scotland, owing to the splendid classification they are giving for the "bird of position." The Yorkshire is fast gaining ground at our Scottish shows, and all fanciers of this variety resident in Scotland would do well to join the club, and enter into competition for its splendid list of specials.

I am making the City of Glasgow show my last for exhibiting, as the claims of business are too strong for me to keep it up, but mean to wind up 16 years of very successful showing on the bench by turning out two real "good 'uns" at the City of Glasgow, writes Mr. Jas. Livingstone (Bathgate). Then the show bench will see me no more as an exhibitor from the "Dyeworks." I have to thank those societies who did me the honour of asking me to act as judge at their forthcoming shows; but owing to my increasing business, I bad very reluctantly to refuse them.

Changes of Addresses.

Notices of the following changes of addresses have been sent us:—

Mr. F. Martin, from Band Club, Wellingboro', to Blacksmith's Arms, Park Street, Luton—Mr. C. F. Bosworth, from Tartoris Road, Rushden, to 108, Regent Street, Kettering—Mr. W. Fairey, from Wellington Street, to Rose Cottage, Lower Duke Street, Kettering.

No Change in Sparrows!

The story goes that an old Scotch minister had a sermon which he preached on special occasions taken from the text, "Were not two Sparrows sold for a farthing?" John S——, who had been devoted church worker, was leaving the place, so he attended church on the Sunday before his departure, and once again heard the familiar sermon, "Were not two Sparrows sold for a farthing?" In the course of time John returned to his native place. He duly went to church on Sunday, and was not a little surprised to hear the same old text announced! After the service was over the minister beckoned John, and at once started conversing about the many changes that had occurred during his absence. —"There is one thing that has not changed, sir, I notice," said John.—"And what is that?" said the minister, half expecting to hear some complimentary remark about himself.—"The price of Sparrows," was the calm reply.

Morecambe Show.

Although a two-days' show, every exhibitor at the Morecambe show without exception had prize money posted first day of show, writes Mr. W. H. Pickles, the hon. sec. Also all birds were dispatched, and away from show at 6.10 p.m. Amongst the birds claimed was the winning yellow Norwich in the unflighted class, at catalogue price of £10 10s. This bird won in a class of 26 at the City of Bradford show on October 1. Money for claims were posted same night. Specials will be forwarded the early part of week. I had the pleasure of winning the silver cup (president's gift); it was open to all to nominate four birds and most points won. I also won special for best bird in show (the Blackthroated Tanager winning same). If other shows would follow our example in the payment of prize and claim money, and in the early dispatch of birds from show, exhibitors would greatly appreciate it. I might add that the show room, "Devonshire Hall," is simply perfect for the purpose.

Bird Trainer's Show on Fire.

Great excitement was caused in the closing moments of the Goose Fair at Nottingham on October 6th, by the appearance of flames leaping up from the roof of one of the shows in Queen Street, occupied by a travelling showman named Sidney Brawel. His stock-in-trade consisted of two large cages of Parrots, Cockatoos, Lovebirds, etc., with which he gave exhibitions of bird training. It was shortly after midnight that the place was seen to be in flames. The show, luckily, had been closed an hour earlier, and the proprietor and his family had gone to bed in a caravan near by. The men on duty at the special fire station which had been fixed up for the Fair under the Exchange, were summoned, and they and the police broke into the little show, and the birds were rescued none the worse, though their cages were hot. The showman and his son persisted in interfering whilst the firemen were at work, and as a consequence were ejected with more speed than dignity.

No. 452.
A Birdroom Mousetrap.
Sent by Mr. A. Darwin, 3, Kirkhams, Prestwick, Lancs.

Here is a useful mousetrap, suitable for a bird-room. Take an old biscuit tin lid, cut off the rim, so as to allow it to fit inside a biscuit tin; then measure off half of the lid, and solder two small pieces of cage wire to the edge at each side, so as to form a balance axle as shown in sketch. Then take the biscuit tin, measure off equal part of the rim, and file a little slot in, as shown, to allow the balance to fit in. Place a board up each side to allow the mice to run up. As soon as they get on the balance plate, it will upset, and the mice will drown. It may be regulated by a bait of seed which the mice are stealing.—A. Darwin.

No. 453.
A "Red-mite Perch."
Sent by Mr. A. Bailey, 14, West Street, Hucknall, Notts.

I send what I consider an improved perch, one that can be used for any kind of cage. Get an ordinary piece of perching an inch shorter than your cage is deep (from back to front): next get four pieces of wire about an inch long, and curl two of them as shown in sketch at B. Then knock A in at end of perch, and B in the other, but leave about a quarter of an inch out. All you have to do then is to fix as shown. When the perch is in use your birds will never be troubled with red mites. I use nothing else, and am free from them.—A. Bailey.

Wild-Bird Life.

Late Nesting.

The weather is exceedingly mild for October, and many trees have hardly shed a leaf. One result is that some of the feathered tribe are nesting later than ever. Several pairs of House Martins are still attending to their young ones, and only a few days ago the writer noticed some carrying mud from a pool in the road, with all the joyous twittering and activity of early spring. Such birds cannot possibly hope to rear another brood before obeying the natural impulse to depart for more sunny lands. No matter when these graceful birds depart these shores, they always leave behind them a few broods of youngsters to actually die of starvation. When one considers the strenuous fight birds will frequently put up in defence of their young ones, it certainly appears curious that they should so easily desert them to follow the impulse of migration. One would think that, after rearing, say, a couple of broods, the natural instinct for propagation would abate, and they would quietly wait for the end of summer and the migratory period.

The Martins are not the only birds guilty of this late nesting. Some of our Finches are equally as thoughtless. Young Greenbirds, just from the nest, can be heard "chipping" at the underwood, and a fine cock Linnet, resplendent in his summer dress of vivid crimson, was seen perched upon a thistle top singing lustily in the hot sunshine. He had evidently young ones still on hand. Such a sight is most pleasing and enjoyable to the rambler, and with a stray Skylark carolling overhead, and young Thrushes recording at the edge of the wood, it makes one think that the summer has not been such a bad one after all.

One frequently comes across the Robins indulging in their usual autumn battles for supremacy. Some of these combats are not easily settled, and will continue for days, until a bird is killed or else driven from the field. Although they quarrel at any time during the day, it appears the battles are of greater length towards evening.

Under the White Rose.

SHIPLEY O.S. held a very successful show on Saturday last. Entries came up well, and the birds were a fair representation of the high class usually put down here. We can now say that we are thoroughly into the competitions, the C.M.Y.C.C. and the N.G.M.Y.C.C. both opening their lists at this fixture, whilst it was the second one in the lists of the Y.C.C. So now things are going on in fine style, and moreover the whole lot of them promise some keen struggle. The novices also are going very strong; in both Yorkshires and Norwich sections several have been heard to say that they intend to be at the top at the end of the season. Well, if they are tryers there is always a chance to be somewhere near, if not absolutely at the top. There is only room for one at the very top, but there are also a few good places near it, and to have tried and lost is better than not to have tried at all.

THE C.M.Y.C.C. held a committee meeting at this fixture, to straighten up a few outstanding matters for the secretary, to enable him to proceed with the business of the club. A very interesting item also was brought forward in respect to the late secretary of the club, Mr. R. Garnett, a thorough good worker for the club during the last ten years, in various official capacities. He undertook the clerical work for the years 1904 to 1909 with great credit to himself, and gave absolute satisfaction to the members during that period, and received little monetary compensation, many times none at all, for his services. It was proposed on Saturday to open a testimonial amongst the members and friends of the club to try and repay him in a small measure for his good work on behalf of the society, and a committee was formed to carry the matter through. Let the reward be just. The list closes on December 17th, so there's no time to waste.

GREEN Canary breeders in Yorkshire will be disappointed to know that the Greens are to appear only at one show in the county, and then only the Yorkshire section (Halifax being the venue). This is a great pity, as the fanciers of the variety seem to be increasing year by year in the West Riding, and if a few more shows had catered or them, it would have increased still more. Green Canaries need only to be seen to be admired, and it is the hope of some of their adherents that, in the near future an organised attempt will be made to have the variety better catered for at Yorksbire shows.

"STRAIGHT 'UN."

The Young Naturalist.

Prizes of 1s. and two of 6d. each will be given weekly for the best three anecdotes about birds written on postcards. Competitors must be under sixteen years of age, and state whence stories are taken. Two stars indicate the Winning Contribution; one star the runners up.

*A Homing Greenfinch.

I have a nice cock Greenfinch in my aviary. I used to keep him in a cage out of doors, but one morning I found he had escaped. So I left the door open, hoping he would come back, and when I went to the cage in the evening I found him in there looking as well as ever.—Sent by Harold Tunbridge (age 14), Nethercott St. Marks, Cheltenham.

*The Robin.

Glad to see you, little bird,
'Twas your pretty chirp I heard.
What did you intend to say,
"Give me something this cold day"?

That I will, and plenty, too;
All these crumbs I saved for you.
Don't be frightened—here's a treat;
I will wait and see you eat.

So I will not try to know
What you did so long ago;
There's your breakfast—eat away,
Come and see me every day.

Copied and sent by John Ernest Williams, Lancashire House, Cerrig-y-druidion, near Corwen.

A Cunning Thrush.

A Thrush built her nest on the ledge of a rock at a quarry, where men were blasting. Whenever she heard the explosion she flew out of her nest to a place of safety till all was over. Then she flew back to her nest again. The Thrush noticed that before the explosion took place a bell was rung, and she soon learned, as soon as she heard the bell, to fly out of her nest. She perched herself at a safe distance till all danger was past, and then flew back to her nest. The men were quite taken by it. Whenever they wanted to let anybody see her, they just rang the bell and out came the bird, as usual. But she soon found she was being "done," and when she heard the bell rung she used to peep out and see if the men were still about, and then quietly drew in again.—James Dick, age 11, 9, Brodie Street, Falkirk.

Club Reports.

WEST OF SCOTLAND O.S.

Meeting in the Nelson Temperance Hotel, Oct. 1st, Mr. P. Thom presiding over a large turnout. Business chiefly consisted of arrangements for annual show, Nov. 26th. New British bird cup on view; it was greatly admired, and promises to give a decided blip to that section. Decided, to have a washing exhibition at next meeting. WM. HUTCHINSON, Hon. Sec.

OXFORD AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting at headquarters, St. Peter-le-Bailey Hall, New Inn Hall Street, Oct. 6th. There was a good attendance. Classification, etc., in connection with members' show, Nov. 3rd, were gone into. We are giving 26 classes. We hope fanciers in the district will become members, and thus enable us to have a good show. Particulars of membership from Secretary. C. F. HOLLIDAY, Sec., George Street, Oxford.

READING AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting held Palmer Hall, October 5, good attendance. Specials were allotted. We are in the happy position of having a grand lot; in fact, equal in value to those of any show held here for several years. Owing to the great expense incurred this year, we decided to increase the entry to 7d., the odd penny going to the society's funds. Splendid silver prizes have been given which, with 6 medals, ought to induce much competition. Next meeting, November 9, instead of November 2, final arrangements.—W. H. PYKE, Hon. Sec.

WALKER-ON-TYNE SOCIAL CLUB

On Oct. 8th, at Walker-on-Tyne Social Club, a cage bird show was held under the auspices of the Cottage Garden and Bird Fanciers, and proved a great success. Under the able committee, Messrs. Ronald, McGinn, Hopkinson, Moor, and Heatherington, forty birds were staged, many of them well forward and of good quality. Mr. J. M. Macdonald placed the honours, which gave every satisfaction. The novelty of such a show seemed to vastly interest many of the members, who had never seen birds of contour, or birds put up in so attractive a manner. Mr. Blackburn, the secretary for the club, had all the arrangements admirably carried out. Lunch was provided free, and the usual congratulations finished a most enjoyable evening and show. Prize winners: Messrs. McGinn, Moor, Ronald, Grimwell, Hopkinson, Heatherington, and Duffy.

BIRKENHEAD C.F.A.

Meeting September 20th, Abbett's Cafe Room, Market-street. Mr. Burns presided over a splendid attendance. After the business we started on a lecture of "Preparing and Staging Birds for Show." Mr. Burns went well into the subject, and dealt with the birds from the nest to the moult; then he gave us the points of staging the different varieties. The members thoroughly enjoyed the couple of hours spent. Our old friend Mr. S. Hadwin, of Liverpool, gave us his ideas on the same subject. He took us back to years gone by for the different birds on the show bench, and compared them with the birds we see to-day. He gave us also a bit of "How to Feed for the Bench." A great number of questions were put to Messrs. Burns and Hadwin, and everything was made clear for the forthcoming show season. Mr. Cave proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Hadwin and to Mr. Burns; Mr. Morton seconded, and this brought the business to a close. Next meeting is an open night—"Questions and Answers"; everyone invited.—A. E. LLOYD, Sec.

CHELTENHAM C.B.S.

Good attendance at meeting held October 5, to hear a lecture by Mr. G. Gwilliam (Gloucester), on "Hints to Exhibitors." Mr. Grant presided. Mr. Gwilliam commenced his hints from the time the young birds leave their parents and are put in the flight, and touched on feeding, watering, cleanliness (on which he laid special stress); and gave some good ideas for exterminating red mite. The training of birds to the show cage, he said, should be done without handling, and requires some patience, but it always pays in the long run. Many a good bird is passed by the judge owing to bad staging and want of training. Mr. Gwilliam is a great believer in training the young birds to bathe freely, which gets them in good condition and saves washing before shows. He said he always made a point of showing his birds, of whatever variety, in proper show cages, and urged the necessity for not only sending the birds out in the pink of condition, but also for seeing that the cages were properly painted, and also put in cases and not sent to a show in brown paper, which is both dangerous to the birds and a great trouble to stewards. Another point was to send entries early, thus making the work of the show secretaries easier. Also to get exhibits off in good time. Novices should visit shows and take notice of the type of birds winning. Do not be disheartened if your birds are out of the money, he added, but try and carry the type, etc., of the winning birds in your eye, and get the help of some more experienced fancier in pairing your birds. Several questions were asked, and a hearty vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Hands and seconded by Mr. Hayling, brought an instructive evening to a close.—A. S. TREASURE, Sec.

CITY AND SUBURBAN A.C.B.

Meeting at headquarters on September 26th, with Mr. A. W. Curtis in the chair. A letter was read from Mr. C. T. Maxwell accepting judging appointment over Foreign section at annual show. Mrs. A. M. Parry and Mr. R. P. Harper were elected members, and Mr. G. W. Copeland was nominated. Medals won at the recent wild seed competition were presented. The result of the draw for competing for the shield was: A.O.V. Canarics, not previously mentioned, with Hybrids as runners-up. It was suggested that a special prize he given to the member disposing of the most tickets for the A.S., and that sandwich men should patrol the neighbourhood. Special prizes were promised by G. Bryant, R. L. Crisp, A. W. Curtis, W. Page, T. C. Pickard, F. Knight, W. Prance, P. H. Harris, W. Shepherd, G. Pile, Miss Rose Shephard, Miss N. Wilson, Miss F. Simonds, and Miss L. V. Wilson. A judging competition in Norwich Plainheads then took place, with Mr. H. Bell as final judge. This consisted of two classes, with 15 in the Yellows A.V., and 20 in the Buffs, with four champions, six amateurs, and 17 novices taking part. The following members exhibited: F. Knight, T. Hart, R. Elgar, A. W. Curtis, H. Dickinson, G. Pile, J. Warwick, W. Clark, and V. Wynn. For making most entries Mr. F. Knight was presented with 2s. 6d. but returned the same for a special prize for the A.S. At the close Mr. Bell gave his reasons for the various awards made, afterwards giving an interesting account of his 30 years' breeding of Norwich Plainheads. By special request of Mr. Crisp, Mr. Bell gave his description of an ideal Norwich Plainhead. A hearty vote of thanks was then accorded to Mr. Bell for his services that evening. In replying, Mr. Bell said that this was the first occasion he had been asked to judge during a period of over 30 years, and if he had not quite given the satisfaction that was expected, they must overlook it, for he had done his best. It was heartbreaking to him (Mr. Bell) to visit the various shows and see fanciers congregated together discussing the merits or demerits of a bird, and through defective hearing not being able to take part in it.—V. WYNN, Hon. Sec.

ARDWICK AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Washing competition, held October 4, at Onward Hall. The Society offered a gold centre silver medal for best washed birds. Messrs. Hunt, Valentine, Hazard and Annison took part. Mr. W Robinson judged, and gave his award to Mr. J. Valentine. Afterwards Mr. Robinson gave us a washing exhibition.—J. SPENCER, Hon. Sec.

CHESTER C.B.F.A.

Meeting October 4, Nags Head Cocoa Rooms, Mr. Bracegirdle in chair. A circular letter was read from the secretary of the Cage Bird Union, giving result of delegates' meeting at Leicester 27th September; the compensation scheme met with approval. Decided, to hold annual show on boxing day; members please note. Classification judge and other particulars left over for settlement at November meeting.—J. SWINDLEY, Sec.

SOUTH MANCHESTER C.B.S.

Meeting, Headquarters, Oct. 6th, Mr. Fairhurst presiding. Decided, to have 16 open classes at annual show, Dec. 26th, under Cage Bird Union rules. Also decided, to hold washing competition (for novices only) at next meeting, Oct. 20th, when it is expected a good number will compete; entrance fee, 3d. per bird; winner to take all entry money. Mr. Myers will judge; admission free; commence 8.30.—F. WASHBOURNE, Sec.

UDDINGSTON O.S.

Meeting, Reading Rooms, Oct. 8th, when a washing exhibition was given by Mr. J. Brownlie (Hamilton). Mr. Brownlie explained the various methods of holding birds when washing them, and then washed two birds in a very able manner. Two or three of our members tried their hands and did well; some, however, feeling very nervous. At the close our Chairman (Mr. Prentice) thanked Mr. Brownlie and trusted the lesson would be of service to all. He added that there was no need for any great hurry in washing birds, as Mr. Brownlie took plenty of time and yet every bird was able at least to stand on its feet, and some got on to the spars in less than five minutes after washing. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Brownlie closed an enjoyable meeting.—JNO. KILPATRICK, Interim Sec.

FIFE & KINROSS NORWICH P.C.

Meeting 8th October, President (Mr. W. Spence) in chair. Correspondence received from Mr. J. W. Ramsden, granting medal to club; same will be competed for at Kelty, 22nd October. The Sec. reported five members joined since last meeting, making a total membership of 16 to date. Settled, that 8 medals be bought, 2 to be granted each of the 4 shows receiving patronage. Also agreed, that runner-up for cup, also 3rd in points competition, get prizes; also that Sandiford's medal be competed for at Bowhill, 17th December. Table show to be held on annual meeting night, 24th December; 2 classes—one for cocks, the other for hens. Entry, 3d. per bird. Secretary to write a gentleman re judging same. Agreed that Markinch get patronage, The four shows will be: Lochgelly, Kelty and Blairadam, Markinch, and Bowhill.—A. DICKSON, Sec.

NATIONAL BRITISH BIRD & M.C.

List of shows held under the Club patronage, season 1910-11:—Wellingborough, medals allotted: 1 silver, Oct. 7th and 8th; Clapham, 1 gold, 2 sil., Oct. 12th and 13th; Battersea, 1 sil., 1 bronze, Oct. 19th and 20th; Newcastle, 2 sil., Oct. 21st and 22nd; Manchester, 2 sil., Oct. 28th and 29th; Hastings United, 1 sil., Nov. 1st and 2nd; Swansea, 2 sil., Nov. 9th and 10th; Nottingham, 1 sil., Nov. 12th and 13th; Wimbledon, 1 sil., Nov. 15th and 16th; Bournemouth, 1 sil., Nov. 16th and 17th; Frome, 1 sil., 1 bronze, Nov. 17th; Cambridge, 1 sil., 1 bronze, Nov. 22nd and 23rd; N.B.B. and M.C. Club Show (held in conjunction with the L.C.B.A.), 3 gold, 6 sil., 3 bronze, Nov. 25th to 28th; Leicester, 1 gold, 2 sil., Dec. 2nd and 3rd; Gateshead, 2 sil., Dec. 9th and 10th; Plumstead and Woolwich, 1 sil., Jan. 12th; Crystal Palace, 1 gold, 2 sil., Feb. 4th to 8th; and such further shows as may be announced in the "Fancy Press." Members competing for the "Hardbill" cup at the above shows must nominate their birds as per rules 16 and 17. At the Club Show the £5 5s. Club Show "Hybrid" cup will be offered for competition. The conditions under which medals are allotted to above shows will be found in the respective societies' schedules.—PLUMBRIDGE AND CARR, Hon. Secs., 45, Overdale Road, South Ealing, W.

LEYTON AND DISTRICT C.B.A.

Meeting, Oct. 3rd, Constitutional Club, High Road. Very interesting and instructive washing competition held; over 60 members and friends present. Messrs. Burbidge, Parr, Teesdale, Stevens, and Wallace, competed in the novice section; Mr. Carr (champion) and Mr. Williamson (amateur) competed together. Mr. J. S. Clarke officiated as judge, and kindly gave an additional medal for runner up in novice section. In placing Mr. Burbidge first, the judge said he had the most complete control of his bird throughout; his bird was not distressed; rinsed thoroughly, leaving the neck exposed during the latter operation. Placing Mr. Parr second, the judge said he shaped well, and approved of his getting a nice soapy water in his first bowl before starting; he also rinsed cleverly. Two points the judge did not approve of were: he jabbed the flights with the brush on the side of the bowl, and when drying he put the bird's head round to meet the draught or any other foe. (Mr. Clarke prefers to have the birds head towards the fire when in the cloth.) Mr. Teesdale kept his thumb too lovingly round the bird's neck during rinsing, the result being that the soap was left there; otherwise he made a fairly good display. Mr. Stevens did his work thoroughly, and the bird, audience, and judge, realised he was in grim earnest. Mr. Wallace was just a bit nervous, and lacked control of his bird. In awarding Mr. Carr first place, the judge said it was unfortunate for Mr. Williamson that he should have such an old hand as Mr. Carr to compete against. He commended Mr. Williamson's work, however, and said that, although Mr. Carr had the advantage in handling the bird, there would be little to choose between the birds when dry. While the birds were drying an appeal was made for specials for annual show, Nov. 19th, when no less than twenty members present responded. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Clarke, to which he suitably responded. A vote of thanks to the chairman closed the meeting.—FORSE AND SON, Hon. Secs.

BRADFORD EAST O.S.

A very profitable and instructive debate was opened on October 4 by Mr. R. Halliday (Shipley), on the essential points of a Yorkshire. This marked the opening of the winter syllabus. A splendid turn up of members was recorded, and they greatly enjoyed the discussion upon many knotty questions. Messrs. Halliday and Cowgill had quite a passage-at-arms, which pleased the members very much, these two fanciers bringing into the debate many vital questions, which were taken up by several members. Mr. Cowgill was asked by Mr. Halliday what kind of birds he would buy for breeding typical Yorkshires, provided he had unlimited means to purchase same. The pros and cons of the case in all its phases were thoroughly thrashed out, and although there was a division of opinion on many of the ideas, Mr. Halliday convinced the members that the qualities he had described were the most essential factors in building up a strain of Yorkshires. An interesting question was put to the lecturer by Mr. G. R. Rushworth, viz., What is the proper way to measure the length of a Yorkshire? Ideas were freely expressed, and here again diversity of opinion was noticeable. Mr. Halliday said he could not lay down a hard and fast rule for measuring the length of birds, simply because he had never yet come across two men who measured a bird to the same length, no matter what means were adopted; and so long as the methods employed led to such confusion, he would not like to say how a bird should be measured. He thought the only feasible way to measure a bird's length was to do so while the bird stood in its natural position. The general opinion seemed to be that if a bird could be measured when standing in a natural position, say from the crown of the head to the tip of the tail, then something like the correct length could be obtained. Another question, asked by Mr. C. Walker, was, What constitutes the technical markings of a Yorkshire? This was answered in a masterly and satisfactory manner by Mr. Halliday, and as a picture postcard of a marked bird had been brought by the questioner, a clear idea could be had of this very difficult question, which has perplexed many breeders and exhibitors of the marked variety. Mr. Halliday very ably answered questions of interest. Mr. W. Blakey (vice-president) presided. Mr. Cowgill proposed, and Mr. J. Lightowlar seconded, a vote of thanks to Mr. Halliday, which was ably responded to. Arrangements for members' judging competition, October 18, were made, and Messrs. L. Briggs and W. Stables were elected as judges. Entrance for the competition free; two money prizes for the most successful competitors.—H. HILL, Sec.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

WELLINGBOROUGH.

Sixth annual show of the Wellingborough C.B.S., held Central Hall, October 7th and 8th. So far as quality is concerned, it was an unqualified success. We have seen better and larger shows of Britishers here (British this year appear to be very backward in getting into full bloom), but the champion Norwich classes were well patronised, and contained many of the gems of this notable variety; in fact, we don't remember seeing a finer lot at a Midland show, and some good classes must have given the judge considerable difficulty to separate. The Norwich were under the distinguished patronage of the N.P.C., and the British birds and Mules of the N.B.B. & M.C. The committee of management, with Mr. B. Beleher (chairman) and Messrs. W. H. Howe, Charlesworth, F. Smith, and the genial and indefatigable secretary, Mr. W. Howe, had everything in capital order, and are to be congratulated upon getting together such a fine lot of birds. The judges were Mr. H. W. Battye for Norwich, Mules and British, and Mr. F. Howe for Foreign and local classes.

The Critique.

CHAMP. CLASSES—NOR. CL., ETC., YELL. (11): 1, Gilbert, very neat, rich coloured, typical, feather like silk, gem; 2, Marlor Bros., larger bird, wonderful substance of body, some thought a bit too long for a show specimen; 3, Lingard, sweetly moulded, blaze of col., full of quality; 4, Trengove and Son, about best headed bird in class; vhc, Hunt; hc, Christian; c, Russell. BUFF (13): 1, Davies, very typical, put up in prime condition, very showy; 2, Sheldon, genuine all over; 3, Raynes, nicely moulded, full of quality, bird of good position; 4, Lingard, much admired, grand head, rare body; vhc, Sheldon, another excellent exhibit; hc, Williams; c, Allen. TKD., ETC., YELL. (10): 1, J. and J. Hopkins, lightly marked, blaze of col., very typical, grand position, teeming with quality; 2, Irons, just beaten in head, otherwise grand exhibit, lovely quality; 3, Cook, very compact, well made tkd. bird, very rich col., it has something the matter with its nostrils, we hope, however, it is nothing serious; 4, Seed, very smart, typical mkd. bird; vhc, Davies; hc, Hargreaves; c, Tyler. BUFF (12): 1, Seed, variegated, very rich quality, short and cobby, finished off with rare good head; 2, Vardy, very choice, tkd. head, wonderful substance, massive head; 3, Davies, mkd. wings and eyes, blaze of col., true Nor. shape, extra good head; 4, Trengove and Son, wonderful substance of body, trifle long in wings and tail; vhc, A. Keech, right stamp; hc, W. H. Howe; c, Hargreaves. YELL. HEN (8): 1, Cook, sweetly pretty, excellent mould, teeming with quality, very rich col.; 2, Vardy, equally smart, in fact very similar, must have been difficult to separate; 3, Seed, mkd., correct type; 4, Vardy, smart cl., good carriage, well made; vhc, Belcher; hc, Keech; No. 3, wrong class, would have been in the money in cock class. BUFF (8): 1, Marlor Bros., very smart and pretty, teeming with quality, correct type; 2, W. H. Howe, just a trifle larger, excellent quality, must have run close for premier honours; 3, J. and J. Hopkins, very nice, short, thick-set hen, just the kind to breed champions; 4, Howe, larger and longer, should also make rare stock bird; vhc, Trengove and Son; hc, Hargreaves; c, Williams. NOR., YELL., BRED 1910 (14): 1, Davies, nicely moulded, very rich col., in prime condition; 2, Allen, very rich quality of feather, nice bird; 3, Davies, another bird, charming quality, correct type; 4, Gibbins, smart and typical, much admired; vhc, Irons; hc, Fennell; c, Shore. SHIPLEY.

Shipley O.S. annual open show, held Oct. 8th, Central Schools, Saltaire Road, under rules of the Yorkshire Union, and the patronages of the Y.C.C., the C.M.Y.C.C., and the National Green Marked Y.C.C. Twenty-eight classes were provided; all the open were for Yorkshires. The entries numbered 429, from 130 exhibitors, the average per class being slightly over 15. Some really good birds were put down, and the quality all round was quite up to the standard of the district. Birds in the novice section were grand, there being several of very high merit. A better room could not be found; it is lofty, well lighted, perfectly free from draughts, and very central. Mr. H. Martin, the secretary, had matters well in hand, Mr. J. Robinson acting as his assistant; they were backed up by a strong committee of management, viz.:—Messrs. A. Tillotson (chairman), Bradshaw and Grange (vice-chairmen), L. Crossland (treasurer), Fieldhouse, Armstead, and Johnson (show stewards), Hudson, J. A. Taylor, Towers, and by others as general workers. Cards were up and the exhibition open to the public within three minutes of the last class being judged, and prize money was paid to the successful exhibitors present later in the afternoon. Mr. W. Cruise judged, Mr. R. Sutcliffe assisting, the former taking all open and the Yorkshire novice classes, the latter the selling and Norwich novice classes.

DUMFRIES.

This grand open show was held in the Drill Hall and Barracks Square, on 11th and 12th October. The hall is large and suitable in every way, being well lighted and ventilated, and the birds were placed in a good position down the centre. The staging was erected on the two-tier system, and all birds could be seen to the best advantage. The committee are all well-known fanciers. The Scotch Fancy classes contained some good specimens. Mr. W. Edgar won the championship cup with his well-known buff piebald. The Norwich Plainhead class filled well, and the Border Fancies made a grand display, but the greater number had not finished the moult. Mr. A. Walker's clear yellow cock won two specials, which it well deserved. Mules and British birds were a remarkably fine lot. The secretary, Mr. J. Mackechnie, had all his arrangements well in hand, and everything went like clockwork. The judging was in the capable hands of Mr. J. McLay (Kirkintilloch), and his awards were well received.

LOANHEAD.

Fourth annual show of the Loanhead C.B.S. held October 8th. Taken all over, it proved one of the best held by this society. Entries were much in excess of previous year's, the quality throughout being of the highest order, especially in the Norwich and Border Fancy classes. Scotch Fancies, although having ten classes provided for them, only mustered a total of 32; we would suggest that in future this society re-arrange these classes, so as to make better competition. Still, some fine birds were staged, especially Mr. J. King's winning bird. The Border Fancies made a show of themselves; an average of 25 in nine classes speaks volumes for the hold this variety has in the district. The foul buff cock (winner at Dalkeith) of Mr. J. Thomson, carried off the B.F.C.C. medal and other honours, and was hotly followed by Mr. J. Hamilton's yellow hen. The Norwich section had also some rare quality birds, Mr. Dunn's clear yellow winning the handsome silver cup and gold medal; it is one of the finest seen for a season or two for colour and quality. The society's worthy president (Mr. A. Jardine), who attended along with Mrs. Jardine, presented the cup and medals, and commended the hobby of bird-keeping as a recreation for one's leisure time. Mrs. Jardine was then presented with a handsome bird and cage as a memento. But as long as they retain the services of their hard-working secretary (Mr. Smart) there is no fear but the society will forge ahead. The show was well patronised by the general public. The judges officiating were: For Scotch Fancies, Norwich, etc., Mr. A. Thomson (Edinburgh) and for Borders Mr. Geo. Brown (Leith), and they gave satisfaction.

The Critique.

SCOT. FCY., YELL. HEN: 1, King, good size, nice reach, very stylish; 2, M. Adams, also good, rare top and drive; 3, Small, neat one, fine style. BUFF CK.: 1, 3, 5, Noble, real good trio, 1st well up in size, massive top, grand reach, 3rd fails in size and weight only to winner; 2, King, fine deptb across, rare size; 4, Small. HEN: 1, 3, Noble, 1st grandly made, fine and reachy, splendid drive, 3rd nice one, very free; 2, Fisher, grand mover, good hird. FOUL CK.: 1, King, graud one for style, rare depth across, good top; 2, Noble, not far behind, well up in size. HEN: 1, 2, Noble, leader good shape and style, prominent on top, 2nd very free pose, good shoulders. YELL. PIED, ETC., CK.: 1, King, good top end and reach, fine length of wing. HEN: 1, 2, King, nice size, gets head well down, well rounded on top, 2nd close up, free action, good mover. BUFF, CK.: 1, Small, plenty of size, very stylish, fine depth, nice action; 2, Yule, not far behind, good mover; 3, Noble, fine shape, good back. HEN: 1, King, prominent shoulders, fine depth throughout; 2, Gilchrist, lengthy bird, well placed; 3, Fisher, fine free action, nice style. BORD. FCY., CL., ETC., YELL. CK.: 1, 2, 7, Douglas, 1st grand feather, A1 finish, lovely wing carriage, finely drawn, 2nd not far behind, grand shape and feather; 3, Hamilton, close up, fails a little in back, but still a good one; 4, Smart; 5, Rowe; 6, Nelson. HEN: 1, 2, 3, Hamilton, trio of clinkers, hard to separate, 1st true Border, grand head, well filled back, rare front, 2nd close up, little to choose between, 3rd fails a little behind; 4, 5, Nelson; 6, Harper; 7, Smart. BUFF CK.: 1, Thomson, grandly moulded, splendid featber and wing carriage, easy win; 2 (no name), fails in colour to winner, but all there for type and quality; 3, Smart, nice front, well drawn; 4, Hamilton; 5, Rowe; 6, Douglas; 7, Harper. HEN: 1, 2, Hamilton, 1st wins, real nice one, fine weight, in grand bloom, 2nd very neat, rare wing carriage, beautifully drawn; 3, Nelson, close up, grand quality feather, neat front, well filled back; 4, Yule; 5, Stirling; 6, Thomson; 7 (no name). YELL. VARIEG: 1, M. Adam, grand col. and quality, staged to perfection; 2, Yule, lovely shape, neat head in rare order; 3, Pearson, good bird, and well put down; 4, Smart; 5, Harper; 6, Pearson; 7, Nelson. BUFF: 1, Douglas, good, shapely bird, fine head and front; 2, Stirling, grand feather and finish; 3, Emery, good all round, fine shape and style; 4, Pearson; 5, Masterton; 6, Harper; 7, Gilchrist. EVEN MKD.: 1, Nelson, neat eye marks, rare quality feather, well staged; 2, Hamilton, lovely col. markings, fails a trifle in condition to winner; 3, Smart, good type and feather. YELL. GREEN, ETC.: 1, 2, Thomson, couple of gems, grand grass green, plenty of work about them, well put down; 3, Pearson, very stylish, good col. and lacings; 4, Rowe; 5, Pearson; 6, Noble; 7 (no name). BUFF: 1, Thomson, grand depth of col., beauty for lacing, wins; 2, Yule, real good one; 3, Douglas, grand type and col., nice bloom; 4, Pearson; 5, Hamilton; 6, Douglas; 7, Emery. NOR. CL., ETC., YELL CK.: 1, Dunn, stormer for col. and quality, lovely shape, staged to perfection; 2, Noble, nice bird, well up. HEN: 1, Pearson, splendid shape and col., nicely rounded front; 2, Gardiner, nice front, grand style and wing carriage; 3, Dunn, as good as any, but scarcely in bloom yet; 4, Masterton; 5, Pearson. BUFF CK.: 1, 2, Gardiner, two beauties and no mistake, 1st fine, shapely head, grand front and back, 2nd nice feather, neat short wings and tail; 3, Gardiner, good feather, nice size; 4, 5, Dunn; 6, 7, Noble. HEN: 1, Noble, in grand order, nice size and substance; 2, Dunn, lovely feather and shape, in rare bloom; 3, Smart, good quality throughout, nicely staged; 4, Gardiner; 5, Dunn; 6, Noble; 7, Pearson. First Steps in Foreign Bird Keeping.

Advice on the housing and management of our most popular Foreign Birds.

By WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., &c.

The number of adherents to the fascinating hobby of Foreign Bird Keeping is ever on the increase, and a few remarks on the housing and treatment of foreign species in exile may not be amiss. Suitably housed and fed foreign birds soon become quite "at home" in captivity, and are happy, contented, cheery and vivacious; this they demonstrate beyond dispute by their song and general demeanour, and by the reproducing of their kind under the conditions of aviary life, and in some by no means uncommon instances even under the conditions of cage life; but this latter condition calls for much painstaking trouble and study of the birds' requirements to bring about.

The First Step.

None can dispute that our first step should be to acquaint ourselves fully with the requirements of the birds we contemplate keeping, and then to intelligently apply "general conditions or rules" to one's own particular case (having regard to the accommodation at one's disposal), so as to supply suitable housing for our prospective pets—whether they are to be kept in aviary, bird-room, or cage. Having got this far, we may safely procure the feathered gems from afar that are to adorn the aviary or cage, without any fear of cruelty, either from lack of knowledge or from want of thought.

Making Outdoor or Garden Aviary.

The outdoor or garden aviary is placed first in the list, because the most interesting and fascinating way of keeping Foreign birds in this country is in such an aviary; and again, because such an aviary is usually practicable to the "country house," "suburban garden," or even "back yard." There is really but one requirement, and that is, that the aviary be conceived and erected with common sense.

Give as much space as convenience permits, bearing in mind that a large aviary costs comparatively but little more than a small one. It matters not whether the structure be an elegant one in a gentleman's park, or a modest erection in the back yard constructed probably with second-hand materials, so long as hygiene is properly considered, and light, air and sun are allowed to play their part in the well-being of its inhabitants. But some shelter should be provided on the north and east.

Note: The pattern of the aviary is but the shell; it is the interior fittings and arrangement that tell; its form is after all a matter of taste. The only things to insist upon are, first, that in the case of the flight there is as little obstruction to light as possible; and secondly, that in the covered section and shelter shed there are no cracks or bad joints to admit draught and other evils which follow in its train. In a word, the aviary must be damp, draft, and fully weather proof, or it will prove a miserable failure. I think but little more need be said upon this topic. The plan I shall give, which can be modified to suit any conditions (materials and design can be left to the builder), will suffice to fully indicate main principles.

Furnishing the Flight.

Bearing in mind that there must be some open spaces, we cannot do better than keep before us as an example for our purpose, a bit of wild common land, with its clumps of gorse and tangle of creepers. To a greater or lesser degree every aviarist can attempt this. The more natural and wild we can make the outer flight, the better are breeding results likely to be, and the greater the amount of natural insect life to be found within the precincts of the aviary.

For the use of Grassfinches, Waxbills, and Quails, it is well to provide a bank in some position in the aviary, and to let the grasses, etc., grow wild, only to be cut down in autumn after they have seeded; but the flat grassed areas should be cut and swept periodically for hygienic reasons. It is also as well to construct the outside edge of the flight of two boards nailed together cornerwise, thus, ┐ This will supply much cover for nesting boxes and the like, and also night shelter during the warmer months. Provision should be made for a good bath; this should be shallow (1½ins. deep is ample) but large. Food hoppers should also be provided—with small shelters to protect their contents from rain, etc.

The covered flight should contain an abundance of natural branches, nesting receptacles, and the bulk of the food vessels. Some aviarists only let the birds into the open flight during the mid-portion of winter's genial days.

The shelter shed only calls for a like abundance of natural branches as roosting accommodation, and also nesting receptacles. The latter should be greatly in excess of the number of pairs of birds kept.

In the foregoing remarks I have only dealt with the self-contained aviary, but some aviarists having large accommodation adopt with much success the practice of housing all their birds in the bird-room (in large cages or flights) during the winter months, and turning them out into the natural outdoor aviary each spring. In such cases, of course, it is only necessary to net in a piece of ground, with either a part of it roofed in, or one or two rustic summer-houses placed inside the flight, according to the number of its inhabitants.

Plants, etc., for the Flight.

The following may be planted in the aviary: Firs in variety, acubas, laurels, evergreen and golden privet, box, euonymus, holly, willow, birch, hazel, hawthorn, etc.; creepers, wild clematis (Traveller's Joy), hops, Virginian creeper, ivy, rambler roses, brambles, everlasting peas, major nasturtiums, and the like. Sow the ground area between the plants and creepers with coarse grasses (meadow grass), groundsel, shepherd's purse, dandelion, sow thistle, chickweed, ragwort, rape, gold of pleasure, and the like.

An aviary constructed on some such lines as are indicated above, whatever its outward form, will be beautiful and an unending source of interest and pleasure.

Birdrooms and Cages.

Birdrooms are of varied character. In some instances the whole room is furnished and given up to the birds, with only a lobby just inside the door. This arrangement is most excellent, and a fine series of birds can be kept in such a room with a good measure of breeding success. Another method is to arrange suitable flights along one side of the room, and a tier of cages on the opposite side. This also is a good plan, and permits of a greater variety of birds being kept than is possible under the former conditions. The essentials in either case are: Abundance of light, air and ventilation, but the latter must be without draught. The furnishings of a birdroom will be similar to those advised for the outdoor aviary. Of course, growing plants can only be introduced in pots, and after a period indoors must be taken outside for a time to recover, while another set of plants take their place indoors; the most suitable are box, fir, euonymus, privet, and sweet bay.

OUR COLOURED PLATES

And Sheet of Useful Labels.

With this special number of CAGE BIRDS every reader should receive two coloured plates and a sheet of labels for use in the bird-room. The plates—of light and dark Siskin-Canary Hybrids and the Greenfinch-Bullfinch Hybrid—are examples of the magnificent paintings Mr. Norman has executed to illustrate the great standard work on hybrid-breeding which we are now publishing under the title, "Cage Bird Hybrids." The gummed labels are a novel departure, which we venture to think will prove acceptable and useful to the majority of bird-keepers.

The Siskin-Canary Hybrid.

What a charming and sprightly little customer is the Siskin-Canary hybrid! I have installed many fanciers in the ranks of hybrid breeders, Siskins and suitable Canaries being the birds they started with; and numbers of these friends have successfully manipulated their stock, and produced real good-class Siskin-Canary hybrids.

Young Siskin-Canary hybrids will pop out of the nest any time after they are ten days or so old if subjected to the slightest fright or disturbance. I have known this to happen where the young aspirant to honours in hybrid breeding has been inquisitive, and eager, every time he went near the cage, to see how the young hybrids were going on. Don't meddle with them at all so long as you see that the hen is feeding and attending to her maternal duties. Only when she is off the nest should you peep therein to see if the young birds appear all right.

These youngsters, again, are so small during the first ten days or so that it is an easy matter for a close-sitting hen to begin to "sweat" them. Care must be taken to have nests of the shallowest kind for them, so that the hen Canary does not cover the young birds too deep down; for they are not so strong and powerful as the larger kinds of young hybrids, and cannot, therefore, disturb their mother so easily when they get too hot and uncomfortable. She will soon stifle them, and they will often collapse, exhausted by becoming overheated, if you allow her to have a narrow deep nest box for such small youngsters.

Greenfinch-Bullfinch Hybrid.

Now that the common Greenfinch has a class to himself at shows, and has come to the front as a most popular British cage bird, there is every chance of securing the best standard specimens to put to use for hybrid breeding purposes. Get the largest and best-shaped cock Greenfinches you can procure, and the largest of hen Bullfinches. If the latter come from Siberia it doesn't matter, so long as they are large, young, and in good condition; they are Bullfinch hens just the same wherever they come from. You will, with such pairs at work, get size in the offspring, which is an indispensable feature of a standard hybrid. You may depend upon size and shape in the hybrids if you have size and shape in the parents. A good big yellow Greenfinch cock is preferable for use, as such a one is likely to implant a deeper tone of colour throughout in the hybrids bred by him.

Nothing comes amiss to the Greenfinch in the way of food, and what does for his wife will do very well for him. He will always be ready to mate by the time the hen is, and you can adopt the method, where breeding cages are used, of occasionally shutting him off from the hen for a time and allowing him to run with his mate when you enter the room to feed them and to attend to their wants. It often makes both birds keener, and it promotes more success in the way of fertile eggs than would otherwise be the case.

A strong, robust hen Canary should have the eggs from this pair given to her to sit on; she will also hatch and rear the young. They are strong and vigorous and will keep her busy attending to their large appetites. They are stronger, more vigorous and robust than any other Bullfinch hybrid, and constitutionally take a good deal after the Greenfinch (thus making them qualify as one of the most profitable hybrids to breed); they will stand years of exhibiting, as a rule.

The above paragraphs are extracts from Mr. Chas. Honlton's great work, entitled "Cage-Bird Hybrids," now being published by CAGE BIRDS in eight monthly parts, at 6d. each of all newsagents (or post free 7d). They will at least serve to show our readers how thoroughly practical and helpful is the advice Mr. Houlton gives, and how absolutely indispensible a work "Cage Bird Hybrids" is to every bird-lover.

COMMON, YET CHARMING, FOREIGN BIRDS.

Spice Birds, Black-headed Nun and Bronze Mannikins, photographed in the aviary of Mr. Geo. Deeth (Walthamstow).

The Roller Canary: How Feeding Effects the Song.

Mr. SCHLUTER: If a bird is stronger for feeding on a given seed, he will certainly sing out louder.

Mr. ROEHL: How is it, may I ask, that the Germans are so very fond of feeding their birds on oats? Have you ever heard a Yorkshire Canary that has been fed on Canary and hemp seeds exclusively sing a nice, melodious song? I admit, of course, that by feeding a Yorkshire on rape seed only you would not get the beautiful tours of the Roller.

Mr. LESTER: The statement is always being made in the German Fancy Press that the reason the Germans always use rape seed is because, on analysis, as I have explained, it contains all that is necessary for the bird's system; and the Germans never assert that they use it because it helps the birds to sing low and sweet.

The Opinion of a Scientist.

Mr. ROEHL: Dr. Wolffe, one of the most scientific men, not only in the breeding, but in the training and feeding of birds, stands to it that German rape is the staple food of the German Roller.

Mr. GLOECKNER, having repeated his former statement about the Germans' method of feeding, Mr. LESTER caused some merriment by remarking that if he were a bird he would miss the days on which rape seed alone was given.

Mr. ROEHL: Gentlemen, the question is, which is the best food for our Rollers? If the sample Mr. Lester showed us at the last meeting, which consisted mostly of Canary, hemp, etc., is beneficial to the vocal powers of the Roller family, how is it the Germans have used it for a century past? You may rest assured it has been tried. Then, if the same singing results can be produced with this mixture of seed, any breeder would be only too pleased to use it, as the feeding bill, which is always a big item, would only be half as much. We are breeding for a good, deep, melodious song, and for this the Germans have no doubt tried all sorts of seed, and have come to the conclusion that the German rape is the best staple food for our Rollers. I have known German breeders buy sufficient good rape seed to last them for one or two years, and pay double the price they would for either hemp or Canary. Why, then, are they so anxious to procure this good German rape?

Mr. GLOECKNER: They do so because they know they may not be able to obtain more of the same sort when they want it.

Mr. FISHER: And because they do not want to go on to a rape seed of an inferior quality to that to which their birds have been accustomed during their training.

Mr. LESTER: I have never known a bird to suffer in any way from being fed on Canary seed alone.

English Birds Better than German.

Mr. ROEHL expressed his opinion that British Roller fanciers were yet young in the Roller Fancy, and that they had succeeded far beyond their expectations. And he was sure, he added, that a good many birds bred in this country could compete with a great many bred by fanciers in Germany, not only for deepness of tours, but for variety of song also. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. SCHLUTER: You would not, I think, win with a German bird at an English show, or with an English-bred bird in Germany.

Mr. GLOECKNER having stated that the Germans allowed four points for a Glucke note,

Mr. LESTER said they might take all the principal show reports (in the "Allgemeine Kanarien Zeitung") between the present time and next June, and not find any points given to either the Glucke note or the Water Roll; or, to allow a little margin, more than, say, one in every five shows.

Mr. FISHER: You must remember that our standard is variety, whilst that of the German is purity.

Mr. SCHLUTER: The Germans argue that if you get a Glucke bird you are also sure to get a fault.

Mr. GLOECKNER: In Germany they are only too pleased to get variety. They are not so anxious as they were to have Seifert birds.

Mr. LESTER: Then I suppose they will start using Canary seed shortly? (Laughter.)

The CHAIRMAN having proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Lester for trying the experiment to which reference was made during the former part of the evening, Mr. Schluter seconded, and it was carried unanimously, Mr. Lester suitably replying. Another vote of thanks to Mr. Fisher for presiding, proposed by Mr. W. Watson and seconded by Mr. Gloeckner, brought the meeting to a close.

Bird Seeds.

Sesame seed, liko niger, should only be used as a tit-bit. It is somewhat of the character of rape and maw soed—yielding a bland fixed oil. It is grown in India and Africa. Tho oil abstracted is said to have better keeping properties than any of the other seed-giving oils.

Lettuce seed, for its cooling and cleansing properties, can well bo afforded a placo at the tail end of your seed bill.

A Good Seed for Winter Use.

Sunflower seed, again, is a useful seed, and can be used with advantago during the winter months, containing a big amount of fat-forming oil. Our British Finches, such as the Hawfinch, Chaffinch, Bramble, and Greenfinch, are very fond of it, as also are many species of Foreigners. For moulting out Finches, hang a green head in the cage or flight, and see how the birds relish it. It imparts a wonderful gloss to their feathers. Tho best variety to buy is the small striped grey, this being a plump, full seed.

The Components of Seeds.

As I mentioned in the early part, all bird seeds contain water, albumonoids, fats or oils, carbo-hydrates, ash or mineral matter to a bigger or lesser degree.

Water is of necessity in all seeds. It enables assimilation. Albumenoids are the flesh-forming properties, including the gelatine; they convey the building-up tissues required, without which our feathered friends would soon cease to exist. Fat or oils are, naturally, the properties which assist the process of respiration, being fat-formers and heat-givers. Carbo-hydrates are the starch and sugar, digestible fibre, cellulose, etc. These properties are move directly carried into the system for heat and energy, and to form fat in the body..

Ash, or mineral matter, consists of salts of potash, soda, magnesia, and phosphates of lime, etc., which go to form the bone and blood, and effect solution and the changes necessary for assimilation of the other constituents of the food.

It remains, therefore, for us to study to a certain extent the suitable seeds which contain the necessary life and health-giving properties. Our birds, like ourselves, must have variety, or we shall not be doing justice to our captives.

With regard to Parrot seeds or foods, it is by far better to buy one of the known packet mixtures as a well balanced food. I hope I have not bored you, gentlemen, and beg to thank you for the attention you have given me in listening to my humble effort to entertain you. I shall be pleased to answer any questions.

Mr. Mortlock asked: Does Mr. Lugg agree with the use of niger seed?—Yes, certainly; but given with discretion, as I said previously, for Canaries, but I believe in a free use of it for Britishers.

Mr. Couzens said he did not think niger seed prevented egg binding.

Mr. Crabb said he had not been troubled in this respect for years. He gave his birds niger seed from January 1st till putting his birds together for breeding.

Mr. Mortlock also agreed, remarking that he had seven or eight hens in an outdoor aviary, and he firmly agreed with its use.

Mr. Crabb said that extra cold weather might upset the hens, and cauge egg binding.

Mr. Cooper said he had never used niger, but so far had been free from egg binding.

Mr. Cooper: What does Mr. Lugg consider a good mixture for Canaries?—The ground basis canary seed; then rape seed and the oily seeds given in smaller quantities, according to the time of year.

Mr. Crabb: Do you prefer niger and linseed to hemp?—Yes, I do; and on no consideration do I like crushed hemp, unless one cares to abstract all the husks.

Mr. Dobson said he preferred rape to hemp, mixed with egg food; and gave some experiences he had in procuring good rape seed.

Mr. Mortlock: What is the cause of the dark red matter sometimes found in the husks of hemp?—Unripeness, and the plant being attacked by a small insect which eats the kernel away, so that when you crush it it is simply a powder.

Mr. Cooper: Do you agree with crushing or grinding hemp?—I don't believe in crusned or bruised hemp at all. By doing so you release the poison it contains.

Mr. Couzens: Why use sunflower?—For its oily and fattening nature. I came across one fancier in the north who crushes it and mixes it with his egg food, with good results.

Mr. Crabb: Do you favour mixed seeds? I do not hold with them on account of waste. —I agree with the use of an evenly-balanced food as a change; then it gets picked over, particularly the seeds the individual bird is fond of.

Mr. Crabb said he agreed with tho remarks concerning teazle seed, and that more teazle and maw ought to bo used.

Mr. Lugg: There is no doubt about the medicinal and stimulating properties these seeds contain.

Mr. Couzens: What is sesame seed?—Very much like a flattened millet seed; it also has the appearance of a largo cress seed, but is of a whiter colour; also of a very oily nature. It wants very careful use.

After several other questions and answers, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Lugg for the able way he had handled his subject; this was proposed by Mr. Moutlock, and seconded by Mr. Silver. Mr. Lugg replied, saying it had given him very great pleasure to address this old Society, especially as this was their first meeting in the new headquarters.

Notes on the Exhibiting of British Birds.

ROBERT BLINCOE (Rochdale).

One of the very first things a tyro in the art of exhibiting British birds must learn is: That in mixed classes, certain species under some judges usually get preference. As, for instance, in the Goldfinch and the Bullfinch class; one of the former, if it is a really good bird, will be 1st, and the owner of a Bullfinch in such a class may safely reckon that 2nd place is the best he can hope for, even with the best of Bullies. This is not so in theory, I know; but it is what actually occurs. It would, of course, take up too much time to indicate all the species of exhibition British birds, but the illustration given above is sufficient to show the novice on what lines his enquiries should be made.

Where Rarity Has It.

Another important point to remember is that a great amount of favour is shown to rarity. So that if the novice intends showing in a mixed class, it will generally be found better to enter one of the rarer species, provided it is in good condition, than a specimen of the commoner kinds, no matter how good a one it is.

And here it may not be out of place to suggest, that the scale of points adopted by the National British Bird and Mule Club should be looked over again by that august body, with a view to making it more useful as a whole in these mixed classes, which form 90 per cent. of the British bird classifications in the provinces. As an illustration of what I mean, take the following: A Chaffinch gets as many poiuts for steadiness as a Bullfinch gets for having almost all the leading qualities required. Of course, I well know that a poorly coloured Chaffinch would never beat a good Bullfinch, but what I want to point out is that if a suitable scale were adopted, judges could judge more according to scale, which would tend to do away at shows with many objectionable features.

I also think that such things as unsteadiness, obvious lack of condition, etc., in birds, should be regarded as disqualifications, and birds having them should be marked "disqualified," and the reason given.

Room for Improvement.

Now, I do not offer these remarks in a carping spirit, but as an enthusiastic fancier, and as such, I am anxious to see an improvement in these matters, for surely there is no branch of our hobby which is so suitable for the average man with but little time on his hands, and but a limited income. We have no hairbreadth differences that it takes a life's experience to detect; and anyone may cheaply buy, or possibly catch, a winner or two, and the natural songs, brilliant colours, and beautiful markings appeal to everyone, and do not require an acquired taste to be undorstood; while the varying habits and natural foods of the birds keep up a constant interest in their study and often lead to further interest in other branches of knowledgo, such as botany, entomology, etc. And many a trip into the country is enlivened by the search for all these natural foods, etc. I feel convinced that, with all these advantages, it only remains now to do away with the tendency to run in a groove, and to see that all exhibitors in a class, no matter what their exhibits, have equal chances of coming out with a 1st. We shall thus ensure a marked improvement in the exhibition of British birds until we are sufficiently advanced to be able to depend on a capital support in the case of a good classification.

Three Suggestions.

I would like to offer the following suggestions, which may have the effect of stimulating the showing of the commoner kinds of British birds, which is, in my opinion, the only way to secure plenty of entries at a given show.

First I would suggest that, in the absence of any alteration in the present scale of the N.B.B. and M.C., a general scale for use in mixed classes only should be drawn up, by which points should be allowed for those qualities which are common to all species, such as size, substance, purity of colour, clearness of marking, etc. Secondly, I propose that where only a few classes are arranged for, all birds should be divided into three main groups, viz., common, rare, and very rare, the last-mentioned to contain all doubtful rarities; and all birds in the N.B.B. and M.C. list should have definite places assigned to them, just as they are now arranged, as resident, summer, or winter migrants, etc. Thirdly, I suggest that these groups be sub-divided into "brilliantly" or plainly coloured birds, etc.

There may, of course, be much that is impracticable in the foregoing suggestions, but at the same time there is much to be said for any scheme that will do away with the objections that are debarring a large number of fanciers from showing, for I am convinced that not one in twenty of those who keep British birds goes in for showing them, for any length of time.

Beginners will do well to note that any softbill, as a rule, beats a hardbill, just as a rarity beats a commoner species. Then again, none of the waders, etc., should be shown, for, although the secretary will accept your entry fee, and the judge may possibly even give a vhc card to your bird, the fact that it is not considered a cage bird will always weigh heavily against it, no matter if it has every quality a bird could have, save the one saving grace of sitting on a perch.

If the novice will extend his studies in this direction, it will, I think, be better for himself, and better for the Fancy, for he will then know when to show and what birds to exhibit, and he will not be so likely to retire in disgust, after finding that he has been spending money trying to win prizes that any old hand at the game could have told him he could not possibly hope for. I trust these rather rambling remarks may induce some abler fancier to take up the subject and effect some improvement in the matters referred to.

A SUCCESSFUL NOVICE NORWICH PLAINHEAD.

The property of Mr. F. A. Hargreave (Stockport), and winner of first and special best novice bird at Sale, first at Birmingham and second at Pendleton and Salford Shows.

The Soaring Woodlark.

The Woodlark when singing frequently ascends in circles, and sometimes attains to a greater height than the Skylark.

Late Nest of Greenfinches.

Young Greenfinches were seeen as late as the end of August on a farm in the south of England.

To Approach Wild Birds.

Wild birds may be easily approached if the intruder will remember to keep the sun behind him, especially in the evening.

Early and Late Cuckoo's Eggs.

Cuckoos' eggs were found in the extreme south, in the nest of a Robin and Hedge-Sparrow, as early as May 12, and one was seen in Epping Forest as late as July 4. The latter was in the nest of a Bunting. Both these dates are rather outside the average. In the early part of the summer it is not unusual to find the Cuckoo placing her egg in an empty newly built nest, or in one containing a single egg of the rightful owner.

Young Birds' Enemies.

Rooks and Jackdaws will kill and eat young birds during the summer if they can manage to catch them. No doubt many a promising brood of Skylarks has been "done to death" by these birds. One often sees a rush of Rooks to one spot to share in a find, which may possibly be a clutch of eggs or young birds.

Sparrows and Whitethroats.

That the House Sparrow is responsible for many of our less common birds deserting our gardens is well known. The following incident is only a confirmation of this fact. A pair of Whitethroats built in a suburban garden and were apparently nesting quietly, when one morning the nest was seen to be disturbed and two broken eggs lay on the ground. Later on a pair of Sparrows attacked the nest. They were driven off by the owners, but quickly returned with reinforcements, and pulling the nest to pieces drove the Whitethroats away.

Red Lorikeet Bred.

It may interest many readers to know that a young Red-collared Lorikeet has been reared in one of the large cages in the Zoo Parrot House, writes Mr. W. T. Page, CAGE BIRDS' foreign bird advisory expert. This is the first time that this species has been bred in this country, though Hybrids have been reared between this species and the Swainson. The young Red-collar resembles its parents in plumage, but has a blackish beak, and its plumage lacks the refulgence of the adult bird.

Nests of Birds, Poultry, etc., should be regularly sprinkled with KEATING'S POWDER, especially when hens are sitting. Don't forget to do this just previous to the eggs hatching, to destroy the Red Mite. It kills all insects, harmless to everything else.

The Management & Breeding of the Crested Canary.

G. M. DAVEY (Plymouth).

Although a breeder of birds of only a few years' standing, I should like, notwithstanding, to say a little in regard to the management and keeping of Crested and Crest-bred Canaries for the benefit of the beginner. This is undoubtedly one of the best of Fancies, but to get the real thing in the way of birds is a very expensive matter. Therefore, my advice to the young beginner is: make sure you are quite prepared for a hobby that has plenty of work attached to it; also well consider what amount of patience you have, as you may be sure that to be a success your hobby requires plenty of both work and patience.

First, the Birdroom.

Anyone intending to enter upon this beautiful hobby should first consider the birdroom. This should, if possible, face south, or south-east, where the birds have plenty of sun and light. Above all things the room should be well ventilated and perfectly free from draughts, as I think most fanciers will agree with me when I say that Crested Canaries are about the most delicate of all birds. They require good ventilation, plenty of light and sunshine, and proper feeding; and if these matters are not perfectly studied, it were far better for the beginner to keep his cash in his pocket.

Regarding the cages, I consider that the box kind is far and away the best. I also prefer them to have the movable wire front, which can be easily taken out for cleaning purposes.

The cages should be large and roomy without any ornaments whatever attached to them, as such are only harbours for insects and dust. The Crest being a large bird requires plenty of room for exercise, otherwise it soon becomes too fat. I prefer cages that are 24 inches long, 14 or 15 inches high, and 11 inches wide or deep. The perches should be about half an inch square, with the edge slightly levelled off, so that the birds can grip and roost on them with comfort; and they should not be fixed higher than five inches from the bottom of the cages, or else in flying up the birds will often knock their heads on them, and we never know what it will lead to; it is my firm belief that this is very much responsible for a good many birds going blind so early in life, as they do. Another advantage in keeping the perches low is that the birds, when put into the show cage, are far more "at home." All seed and water vessels should be fixed outside the cage; I like the "portholes" to be an inch square instead of round as a great many are; with square ones the birds do not damage the crests and feathers nearly so much.

The Advantages of White Enamel.

The water vessels should be either of glass or white glazed earthenware, as they are easily kept clean. I consider the insides of the cages too are far better for being enamelled white than any other colour. I find that the old birds can see to feed their young in the breeding season a good deal later in the evenings than if the prevailing colour is any other. I also enamel the cages black outside. The cages are then easily washed outside as well as inside, and can be kept thoroughly clean.

I use pine sawdust for the bottoms of my cages until the breeding season, when I use nice gritty sand. I also use freely plenty of Keeting's insect powder on the bottoms, as I consider this does a good deal towards keeping the insects down; and while using sawdust I give, hung inside of wire front, zinc drinkers full of gritty and shelly sand. Of course, all breeders know, or should know, that sand greatly aids digestion.

I make it a rule to thoroughly clean my cages out twice a week; by so doing my room is always nice and sweet.

The room and cages now being fitted up, the beginner's next thought will be how to feed and manage his birds so as to keep them healthy. Nothing but the best seeds should be used; this is far cheaper in the end. I always use the best Spanish bold Canary, which, if of first-class quality, should be short, full, and shiny in appearance. The German rape should be small, round, and of a reddish colour. The hemp should be grey, not green, as such will cause diarrhœa. It should taste sweet and nutty. And all seeds should be sifted before being used, as this gets rid of the dust which causes the birds a great deal of trouble, besides giving rise to a risk of lung trouble.

Twice a week I give my birds egg-food; every second day I supply a little rape, and twice a week mixed seeds. For green-food I give chickweed, flowery tops of groundsel, also a little lettuce; and in winter I give twice a week a little watercress, which I always buy the day before using and keep standing in water in a warm room or kitchen some time before supplying to the birds. By so doing, should any frost be in it when it is purchased, it will all be cleared off before the cress is given to the birds.

The Question of Artificial Heat.

Now with regard to breeding. This depends on the weather and the condition the birds are in. If artificial heat is used and the birdroom is properly ventilated, the birds will come into condition much quicker than without such preparations. I have tried them both without and with artificial heat. Some breeders say they do not like it, but if they only tried hot water circulation I think most would agree with me. Of course, if they use a lamp (which a good many may do), there is bound to be a certain amount of smell, which obviously does the birds more harm than good, and they are undoubtedly far better without it; but with a boiler and hot water circulation (which can be regulated as required), there is nothing can be desired better, as the room can be kept at one regular temperature. And the more even we can keep the temperature the more healthy we shall find our Crested beauties.

Selecting the Birds.

I prepare my birds as follows:—I first choose a bird that has a real good crest both as regards size, shape, and quality—a bird that has been bred from a Crest-bred hen. I then pick out a good Crest-bred cock, which has been bred from a good Crested cock. The cock should have plenty of feather all over its body and head; the head should be well cushioned, and the skull broad. The body of the bird should be as near the Bullfinch shape as possible.

Double-Cresting is alright, if it is not carried too far. Otherwise it is best left alone, as all the Crests will turn out rough and faulty.

Preparing the Pairs.

Having picked out my birds which I intend pairing up together, I cut the crests off so that the birds can see what is going on, and of the Crest-bred I trim off the lashings, and also trim well around the vents. For a couple or three days the birds which you intend pairing should be separated by a wire partition, and when you see the cock feeding the hen through the wires, withdraw the partition and let them go together. If the parting wire is not used, and you put the pair of birds straight into the cage together, you will find very often that the cock will serve the hen badly; this is due to one or the other being more forward than its mate.

After a few days I put the nest pan into their cage, with a little building material. I hang the pans (which are the sanitary nest pans and linings) about an inch above the perches, and I always stick the linings to the pans with a little paste; otherwise the birds will be found to pull them out. If you use the linings it does not matter much if the nests are not built exactly as shapely as they should be, because they are very warm, which is the chief thing.

Incubation.

As soon as the hens have laid their first egg, I take it away and replace it with a dummy; I repeat the performance when the next egg is laid, and when they have laid their third, I well powder the nest with Keating's insect powder, after taking out the dummies. I then replace the bird's own eggs and set her.

And How I Got There.

Mr. John M'Lay (Kirkintilloch).

Mr. John M'Lay might well be called "the Crested man of Scotland." Not that he possesses any extraordinary growth of a Crest bird of his own, but his birds have gained for him that fame on the show bench that has made his name a household word. This position he has attained only by his very great enthusiasm, combined with hard work and study. His show prize cards, mostly firsts, seconds and thirds, have saved his children the expense of buying wall paper for their little outhouse in which they keep rabbits and other pets.

Glancing at Mr. M'Lay's outdoor aviary, few people would be aware of the purpose the structure serves. It is, however, a really substantial aviary, and holds within it a most valuable stock of birds. On guard outside is a fierce Irish terrier. The aviary is built of wood, and leans against a wall; it has a sloping roof, and faces south-west. Its measurements are: twelve feet by eight feet ground space, nine feet high at back, and six feet high in front. The floor is of cement. A skylight runs the whole length of the roof, one of the glasses of which is made to open outwards, and so acts as a ventilator as well. There is also a small window on the same side of the entrance; this faces east. The walls of the aviary are built of two layers, so to speak, of wood, having a partition of about three inches in between, into which are stuffed several hundredweights of slag wool; this, Mr. M'Lay informed me, is a damp proof, fire proof, rat proof—in fact, any kind of proof—material.

His cages are arranged in rows, one above the other, on the wall side, and on the side opposite the entrance is a large flight. The cages used are of the all-wire pattern, measuring 22½ins. by 14ins. by 10ins., and have what are known as detachable tops. Mr. M'Lay prefers these cages to those of the box form, as he finds he is never troubled with red mite, also the detachable wire tops enable him to clean the bottoms of cages having hens that may be sitting, by simply removing the top part of cage and replacing it on a clean bottom.

During the cold months the aviary is heated with the aid of hot water pipes, which in turn are heated by a fire outside.

"Is the heating of the bird-room really essential, Mr. M'Lay?"

"Oh, yes! I couldn't moult my Crests without heat. I couldn't get length of feather. The cold snaps we get in September would check the growth."

"How do you feed?"

"Oh, just a plain diet; no fancy feeding for me. During the moult I give the birds a little more careful attention. I generally put my Crests' eggs under feeders. Directly the hens have laid I turn them into a flight by themselves for at least a fortnight before I put them with the cocks again to prepare for another nest. I do not allow any of my show stock to rear their own young, as it has a tendency to 'kill' them, as it were, for show purposes."

"How do you put birds up for breeding?"

"I usually put up a Crest with a Crest-bred."

"Never two Crests together?"

"Yes, sometimes; these produce excellent stock birds, but very rarely show specimens."

"What kind of Crest-breds are best for Crest breeding?"

Mr. John M'Lay.

"Dome-skulled birds, with plenty of length of feather; square-headed birds are no good for Crest breeding."

"How about your young ones?"

"Directly they are of age to leave the old birds, I turn them into a flight, and just when they are about to moult I put them up singly in cages."

"Do you brush the birds' crests at all"

"Oh, yes; I use a camel hair brush, and start brushing them down directly the birds stop moulting.

"Just before you leave," added Mr. M'Lay, "here is a remedy for red mite which was given me by a very old weaver who used to inhabit the town, and which I am of opinion may be one of the reasons I am not troubled with the pest. His advice was just this: to allow the growth of two or three spiders' webs in the aviary."

Two Hens to One Nest.

Two hen birds have been known to build and lay in the same nest. These curious partnerships have occurred more frequently among Greenfinches and Tits than among other species.

Young Rearing Young.

The common Water Hen has two, sometimes three, broods of young during the summer. All these may be seen swimming together on the same sheet of water. The first bird will frequently take compassion on the latest arrivals and assist the parent birds in rearing them.

Ingenious Magpies.

Near a wood in a remote part of Kent a pair of Magpies were frequently seen last winter. When the spring came they did not nest in the wood, but chose a site in a cottager's garden close by. This was a thick gooseberry bush, which they made much thicker and quite impregnable by the addition of quantities of thorny twigs and branches from the adjoining bushes.

Beautiful Migrants.

It is impossible to get human beings to see eye to eye with each other where form and colour are under consideration. All our summer birds are graceful if not bright in plumage, and even the little brown birds are beautiful when surrounded with nature's greenery. For pride of place in form and colour, the Grey and Yellow Wagtails are hard to beat; and if they are beaten at all, it is by the male Redstart. At first glance, his beauty does not arrest the attention in quite the same as the Wagtails, but look at him carefully; he is exquisitely moulded, rich almost to gaudiness in colouring, and as bright and alert as any of our feathered favourites.

Is it Love or Fear?

The Rook and the House Sparrow have in common a profound suspicion of man, and a great taste for his neighbourhood. Possibly they like, but distrust, us.

Colour of Birds' Eggs.

It is said that the varied tints of birds' eggs are due to some half dozen coloured substances. These are soluble in alcohol, but not in water. As far as present information goes, eggs laid by the same bird in successive seasons are of the same colour and pattern.

Prolonged Nest Building.

Hedge Sparrows are among the earliest and latest to build. The writer has found this bird's charming nest in the month of February, and one with fresh eggs in it as late as the end of September, and yet the species does not apparently increase in numbers.

White-headed Goldfinch.

We hear that Mr. Lambert, of Sligo, has a fine cock Goldfinch which has moulted out with a white head and shoulders. The bird stood fourth at the Sligo show last year. This will, of course, debar it from competing in the usual Goldfinch classes.

Concerning Corn Buntings.

One of our most interesting resident birds is the Corn Bunting. It is little known and seldom seen by the ordinary bird lover. It favours rough uncultivated ground, quite as much as the borders of fields. Its favourite nesting places are the common lands, where patches of gorse and bramble give secure sites for its somewhat clovenly built nest, which is fairly well hidden, and seldom constructed until the end of June. The eggs have the usual Bunting characteristics, and are exceedingly handsome.

Great Show at Norwich.

Much Improved Display by the Amateurs.

Our recollections of the Norwich Alliance C.B.A. go back for a quarter of a century, with the time when Norwich Show was the one great event of the year outside the Crystal Palace, and when it was the mecca of scores of would-be aspirants for fame. Many have been the vicissitudes of fortune the Association has experienced during the intervening years, but now it seems once more to be in a healthy and flourishing condition. Last year's show was a good one, but that held in the Corn Hall on October 6th and 7th was better. Nine classes less were scheduled, yet the entry was only just over a score less than in 1909, thus the average rose from 12½ to 14 per class. The quality, too, was splendid, especially in the amateur and breeders' classes, in which the birds were of higher merit than anything we have seen in the Eastern City for the last 7 years. Progress on the lines which are now being followed should lead to Norwich once more asserting itself as the fountain head and great storehouse of the breed which is named after it.

In the champion classes the Plainheads were remarkably good, although a number of the exhibits are not yet quite through the moult. Mr. W. Morris sent down a splendid team, and he had the gratification of netting a quartette of firsts, besides other prizes and honours, and well they deserved them. Amongst the local breeders Messrs. Howard and Son, J. J. Smith, W. W. Freestone, and A. H. Smith were the most successful. Whilst the Plainheads were of higher quality and more average merit than last year, the Crests were hardly so good, due, no doubt, to the show being held some five weeks earlier. Many of those shown were very "penny" about the head, and a few weeks may perhaps alter the relative positions of many which caught the judge's eye last week. The Yellows were better than usual, and the exhibits of Messrs. Howard and Son, Brooks, and Shearman were all of such character as to make their owners feel proud in possession. We particularly liked Mr. Shearman's wing and tail marked bird. The clear bodies were not great, but the A.O.V.'s were splendid. The Crest-breds were of lovely shape and quality, but taking them as a whole they were lacking in substance.

Amateurs to the Fore.

"Splendid indeed" was a verdict to which the amateur section was well entitled. The eleven champion classes produced 93, but the same number in the amateurs had the grand total of 226, over twenty per class, and amongst them were a number of birds which could have gone across to the champion side and wrested the honours. We have not space to eulogise the birds individually, or to make invidious comparisons, but we may say that great credit is due to Messrs. Schofield, Bartram, Ebbage, Mattock, A. E. Smith, Leamon, Moore, Pattingale, T. F. Smith, Harl, Freeman, Barton, Wright, Turner, E. W. Smith, Shearing, Pill, Goulder, Carlton, A. Thompson, Linder, Cooke, Holmes, Bagshaw, Page, Gabriel, and Harvey, all of whom staged birds of very high quality. The Greens were only moderate. Cinnamons, however, were good, and more like they used to be in the golden days of Norwich show.

The young birds of the year made a splendid display, both Crests and Plainheads. Messrs. Payne and Son staged one of the best finished Crests we have seen for a long time, and it was quickly claimed at four guineas, at which figure it was dirt cheap, a gift in fact. We have seen some feathery Crest-breds in our time, but we are quite willing to give the cake to Mr. Woollard's bird. Never have we seen such a mass of feather, and if its head was only in keeping with its coat nothing could ever stop it. The five classes for 1910 Plainheads contained 106, and a grand lot they were, too. Mr. Morris's yellow cock and buff hen were of especial merit, the type of the birds from this stud calling for the heartiest commendation. The yellow hen staged by the veteran Irons was a comely damsel indeed. Other choice exhibits were those of Messrs. Howard and Son, Nichols, Bates, J. J. Smith, Page, E. J. Rippon, and George. Even-marks came up well in numbers, and some good birds were shown. How the value of these handsome members of the Canary family has fallen! The winner here was only catalogued at 30s., whilst £9 would have bought the first four. We remember one show at Norwich at which £45 was paid for two.

Making Money.

The four breeders' classes averaged just over 21 per class, and the quality was splendid. The exhibits in this section are limited to 20s. value. This figure is rather too low. The committee's intention, no doubt, is to ensure that the exhibits are really those of the breeders, but 20s. is so low that it does not give the breeder of an exceptionally good bird a chance of securing due reward for his success in breeding, and the men who get the great benefit are those who, eagerly watching for bargains, snap them up. Quite a number of these birds were bought by the local dealers, and in one case the exhibit claimed at catalogue price was turned over in a few moments at an increase of 400 per cent. by the astute Jimmy Howard. The Mules, British and Foreign sections were far behind previous displays we have seen at Norwich.

Sales were numerous, but nothing of high price changed hands. The total which came into the coffers of the Association amounted to about £80. A most peculiar feature of the show was the extremely low prices at which many of the winning exhibits were catalogued. Mr. "Jimmy" Howard had quite a field day buying and selling. We have referred above to his purchase of Mr. Freeman's buff hen in the breeders' section; in the amateurs' he claimed Mr. A. Pattingale's 1st ticked yellow Plainhead at £3, and shortly after handed it on to Mr. Hodder, of London, for £5. Another snip which he had was Mr. Linder's buff Crest, which he claimed at £5 15s., and sold directly for 20s. profit.

The competition amongst the local Canary Clubs for the Denchar Challenge Cup led to an exciting fight between the Hand-in-Hand and the South Heigham societies, the former scoring 190 points and the latter 187. The Record came 3rd with 73, followed closely by City of Norwich 72, Anchor of Hope 66, Westwick 64, Golden Dog 55, United 27, the whipper-in being Perseverance with 26. This is the second time the Hand-in-Hand has secured this handsome trophy; one more win, and it is their own. The struggle in 1911 should be a great one.

The show was opened by the Lord Mayor of Norwich, who said it was a pleasure to think of the fact that the produce of Norwich breeders was sent to all quarters of the habitable globe, travelling far and wide, and doing credit to the good old city.

We have so often eulogised the management of Norwich Show that our supply of adjectives has run short; therefore, we will say that it was up to Norwich form, and that those responsible for it were Messrs. W. W. Freestone, the popular chairman; J. Parsons, F. Cullington, J. A. Alpe, E. Clarke, H. Peggin, H. Bales, J. Carlton, J. Cutmore, J. C. Engleton, A. E. Ebbage, J. W. Fulcher, E. T. Gilbert, P. W. Pill, R. Tulford, E. Revill, S. Roberts, A. W. Russell, F. Schulen, J. J. and T. F. Smith, S. Thompson, and W. W. Whitlock. Mr. R. Roll once again acted as secretary, and there is no manner of doubt that in him the Norwich Alliance have an officer to whom much of its success is due. Mr. Roll is to the manner born, and his tact, suavity, keenness, and attention to detail are above the average. In Mr. J. Freeman he had an assistant who gave him invaluable assistance. The judges were: Messrs. W. E. Greeves, Crests and Crest-breds; J. Robson, Norwich, Greens, Cinnamons, Mules, British, and Foreign; J. Sturk, Amateurs and Breeders.

Champion Classes.

NOR. YELL. (11): 1, sp, E. J. Rippon, fine bouncing bird, lovely quality of feather, nice level colour, good head, chest and back, a most pleasing exhibit; 2, Irons, much smaller, very hot and level in colour, wonderful quality, nice shape, short wings and tail; 3, Harper, grand quality and colour, beautiful body feather, rare depth of chest, not quite finished and in quill on head; 4, Claxton, a Norwich all over, splendid type, grand wings and tail, full of quality, a bird we liked much; vhc, A. H. Smith; hc, Calver; c, Howard and Son. BUFF (9): 1, sp, J. J. Smith, very short and cobby, rich sound colour, lovely quality of feather, beautifully mealed and shown in fine form; 2, Morris, wonderful meal, surmounting a rich level undercolour, grand type, not quite tightened up in front; 3, Harper, big bouncing fellow of grand type, capital feather, hardly so level in colour; 4, hc, Howard and Son, rich colour, nice feather; vhc, Wright and Son; c, Claxton. TKD. YELL. (10): 1, sp, Morris, tkd. head, wonderful colour and quality of feather, stout compact body, neat wings and tail, nicely finished; 2, Freestone, thigh tkd., a gem for colour and quality, very level and full of sheen, capital shape and very stylish; 3, Roberts, again full of sheen and colour, nice soft silky feathered, neat wings and tail, well finished; 4, Claxton, very pretty wing mkd., rare quality, shape and style, nice colour; vhc, J. J. Smith; hc, Schulen, also takes Miles' special; c, Howard and Son. BUFF (4): 1, sp, Morris, cap mkd., a real picture, very neat and compact wings and tail, short chubby body, wide deep chest, good shoulders, lovely colour and quality of feather; 2, and Miles' sp., Freestone, wing mkd., beautiful colour and feather, capital style, good wings and tail; 3, Irons, thigh tkd., a little gem, wonderful colour and quality, very neat wings and tail, grandly shown; 4, E. J. Rippon, thigh tkd., more chubby than 2nd and 3rd, very similar to the winner, a bonnie bird; vhc, hc, Howard and Son; c, A. H. Smith. HEN, YELL. (6): 1, A. H. Smith, capital shape, nice level col., neat wings and tail; 2, 4, sp, Howard and Son, cl. and tkd. wing, nice colour and style, longer build; 3, Wright and Son, close feathered, chubby, heavily mkd.; vhc, Revell; hc, Cullington. BUFF (16): 1, c, sp, Howard, lovely little bird, short and thick, neat wings and tail, beautiful undercolour, nicely mealed; 2, Irons, paler in colour, but exquisite feather and sheen, nice type, very neat wings; 3, J. J. Smith, grand bodied, close feathered, hardly finished on cheeks; 4, Revell, big, fine variegated, nicely feathered; vhc, Morris; hc, Freestone.

CREST YELL. ROCHESTER.

Show this year held on Oct. 6 and 7 in the Castle Hall, where there is every accommodation, a good light, and comfortable staging. The society enjoys influential patronage, has an excellent reputation for management, and is guided by a committee of real fanciers, led by a thoroughly energetic and practical secretary in Mr. W. Hurdman. Mr. H. J. Bond is chairman of committee, and Mr. J. Giles vice-chairman; while the committee, one and all, worked with a will; they are: Messrs. E. Bentley, W. Day, H. Gordon, A. R. J. Creasey, A. R. Lark, C. Skinner, L. Tennant, J. G. Wade, J. Warner, and G. A. Acland. The stewards in the cage bird section were Messrs. G. A. Acland and J. G. Wade; and Mr. Casemore rendered valuable assistance. The quality of the exhibits was excellent, seeing the show is such an early one. Norwich were a fine lot, and Yorkshires came up wonderfully well, both in numbers and merit. British birds were a nice lot, the members' cup and reserve for same falling to this section, the winner being Mr. G. R. Acland's grand Hawfinch. Mr. H. E. Taylor won special for best Norwich, and also best Yorkshire. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged, and cards were up and catalogues out early.

"Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

SELKIRK.

The Selkirkshire O.S. held their 22nd annual exhibition, Union Hall, October 8, in beautiful weather. The hall is an ideal one; it is lofty and free from draughts. We were pleased to see the Messrs. Thomson (president and vice-president) in attendance, giving a helping hand. The secretaries, Messrs. Robertson and Hill, worked hard, and were always to be found in their right place, having every item at their finger tips. They were well supported by a hard-working committee of cage bird fanciers in Messrs. Reid, Rodger, Linton, Phillip, Watson, Mark, and others, and not a single hitch occurred under their guidance. Entries in the Border Fancy section were splendid, and the competition exceptionally keen, many charmers having to stand down, being beaten in condition and quality by the leaders in every class. As usual, many good ones were not finished, but will be hard nuts to crack shortly. A nice bird in the evenly marked class had to be wrong classed for one small feather in head, an oversight on the part of the exhibitor. Mr. P. McKenzie (Kelso) won the B.F.C.C. medal. His was closely pressed by a little gem of a Buff hen exhibited by Mr. H. Bennet. Novice medal, Mr. Purves, the runner up being Mr. Phillip, whose bird won the confined cup. A few birds were claimed at catalogue price. This section was without doubt the feature of the show, and came in for great admiration. Visitors fairly packed the hall at night. Mr. J. Patterson (Chirnside) judged Borders, and his awards were well received. The Norwich, Mule, British and Foreign bird sections, although short in numbers, contained some really tip-top specimens. Mr. A. Hay (Berwick) judged here, and placed the cards to the satisfaction of all.

Mr. Patterson's Classes.

MORECAMBE.

Morecambe C.B.S. annual open show, under C.B.U. rules and under patronage of the Opeu Norwich P.C., held Oct. 7th and 8th in the Devonshire Hall, Parliament Street. The room is an excellent one for a cage bird exhibition, being well lighted and free from draughts. We were sorry to see the whole of the Yorkshire and Border classes cancelled, but were glad such a good collection of Norwich and British birds was obtained, these sections being exceptionally strong. The following were "special" winners: Sandiford's medal, Mr. T. Pepper; best bird, Mr. W. H. Pickles (Blackthroat Tanager); Hyde's, also spl. for best Norwich, Mr. Mennards; President's Cup (for most points gained by four nominated birds), Mr. Pickles; Ireland Challenge Cup (for best bird bred by a member), Dr. Herd; and silver rose bowl (presented by Mr. A. Ambler for most points gained by a novice member), Mr. W. Walker. The attendance, we regret to say, was only moderate, but we were pleased to learn the society expect, when everything comes to be balanced up, that the show will be a success. The officials, namely, Mr. Alderman J. Snowden (president), Dr. Asbton (vice-president), Mr. A. Brailsford (chairman), Mr. A. Ambler (treasurer), and the able and courteous secretary (Mr. W. H. Pickles), were most obliging, and left no room for complaint as regards the management. We were pleased to see that all the birds were packed and sent off in very good time, so that the long-distance birds would reach home on the Saturday night. The judges were Messrs. J. Trengove (Rishton), and J. Walsh (Blackburn), and their awards gave every satisfaction.

Nests of Birds, Poultry, etc., should be regularly sprinkled with KEATING'S POWDER, especially when hens are sitting. Don't forget to do this just previous to the eggs hatching, to destroy the Red Mite. It kills all insects, harmless to everything else.

KILBARCHAN, N.B.

First annual show held in the Good Templars' Hall, Steeple Square, October 8. There were six classes for cage birds. The light was good. The show was a decided success. President, Mr. Robert Semple; vice-president, Mr. A. Deans; secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. Finnie. Committee: Messrs. G. Kidd, J. Richardson, W. Anderson, A. Scott, T. Kernan, J. Millar, D. McDonald, J. Taylor, H. Blair, J. Ritchie, J. Deans, A. Currie, J. Currie, M. Currie, Hume Bros. Mr. Finnie (sec.), who is courteous and obliging, was backed up by a hard-working committee, and had every arrangement made to ensure a complete success in every way. Results were very encouraging, breeders and visitors turned out in goodly numbers for best young bird in hall. In the cage bird section, Mr. S. Morrison's well-known Thrush won 1 and sp in the British bird class, the latter being for best bird in hall. Judge: Mr. A. M. Baird (Paisley), whose awards seemed to give entire satisfaction.

BROUGHTY FERRY.

Broughty Ferry C.H.S. sixth annual show, held Oct. 8th. Taken all over, the show was a good one, but entries were down about 100 on last year. Scotch Fancies were forward in good numbers, and some really nice ones were on view, the cup-winning Yell. Pied cock being an outstanding specimen. Hens were good, strong classes. Messrs. Ingleish and Fotheringham judged this section, and their careful awards left little to be desired. Crests and Crest-breds were a choice collection, and the winners were difficult to separate. Cup for best youngster was won by Mr. Reid, and the trophy now becomes his own property. His winning Crest was greatly admired and the award was a popular one. Crest-breds were good all over; Plainheads were strong in numbers, and extra fine in quality. Mr. J. Young judged these varieties, and gave every satisfaction. Borders were well forward, and the winners excelled in condition and finish. Where were all the Green and Cinnamon breeders? The executive had unfortunately to cancel their classes. Mr. Heslop judged in his usual painstaking manner and his awards were well received. Mules and British birds were down in numbers. The outstanding bird was Mr. Malcolmson's well known "Prince Charlie," a grand Jonque uneven Greenie-Canary Mule. The best British classes were the Linnet and the Siskin, Redpoll, or Twite classes, the winners here being hard to separate. Foreigners were a really nice display. These, and the Mules and British, were under the eye of Mr. Pettigrew, who left nothing to be desired. The management—as usual at this show—is par excellence, the lady stewards again assisting the judges. The Good Templar Hall and the arrangements therein were extra good. Everything was under the jurisdiction of the esteemed and honoured secretary, Mr. Whitton, who had things in apple-pie order. The show was well patronised, and we hope that in future exhibitors will keep their eye on Broughty, as their wants are well catered for, and their exhibits comfortably looked after.

CHOPWELL (Co. Durham).

First annual show of this society held Oct. 7th and 8th in the Workmen's Club Hall. It was in every way a decided success. Entries came up well, totalling nearly 400, and the exhibits on the whole made a really grand show. Borders came up well, averaging just 15 per class. Yorkshires were, however, the feature of the show, and this could only be expected, seeing that this was the first of the patronage shows of the Northern Yorkshire C.C. This section averaged just over ten per class. The British and Foreign bird classes were under the patronage of the Northern B.B.M. and F.B.C., and here again the advantage of having the patronage of the specialist clubs could be seen, several of the classes being exceedingly well supported, notably the Linnet class, which contained 14 entries, and the class for Siskin, Redpoll, or Twite with 21 entries, both classes having birds of real merit. The show hall is admirably adapted for the purpose of holding a cage bird show, being lofty, and having plenty of light. The exhibits were staged in rows two tiers high, so that the birds could be seen without any difficulty. In Mr. Joseph Brown the society have a hard-working secretary, most courteous and obliging to everyone, and no doubt a great measure of the success of the venture is due to the energetic secretary. He was ably supported in his duties by a hard-working body of fanciers, consisting of the chairman (Mr. H. Griffiths) and Messrs. John Brown, W. Tomlinson, E. W. Christer, M. Simpson, R. Moore, Jos. Taylor, W. Carr, F. Laines, T. Christer, W. Duke, T. Betton, T. Wilkinson, E. Brown, G. Bainbridge, R. Forster, J. Perkins, J. T. Scott, T. Franks, G. G. Gibson, and G. Charlton. The catalogues, unfortunately, contained no awards; this is certainly unusual for a two days' fixture, but we understand that this was through no fault of the society. Exhibits from a distance were packed up and despatched by early trains. Grand weather favoured the show, which was patronised by a large number of visitors, amongst whom we recognised many well-known Northern fanciers. In one or two of the British bird classes we could find no commended cards, and upon making enquiries were informed that in these cases the judge had only awarded six prizes instead of seven. The judges were Messrs. A. Brown (Gateshead) and J. R. Slack (Wallsend), the former taking Canaries and the latter British, Mule, and Foreign birds.

SIR,—In reply to "A Fancier" in your last issue, I would reply that it is the intention of the Society to pay all prize money in full; if anyone has not received same, will he kindly communicate with the Secretary?

CHARLES J. ALLEN, Hon. Sec.,
13, Trelowarren-st., Camborne.

To Members of the Yorkshire Canary Club.

SIR,—With your permission I should like to direct the attention of members of the club to the following irregularities by which they forfeit all points made in the different competitions:—Points gained before subscription is paid; some members are marking all their entries Y.C.C.A.; this also is wrong—a member may show as many birds as he chooses, but only three can count, any member making "more than three entries" must mark his competing birds "Y.C.C.A."—three only—or such member will be considered not competing. Again, "open novice" members are competing at patronage shows in the novice classes; all such must compete in the open classes or points gained will not be counted.

JOHN GREAVES, Sec.

Prize Money on the First Day of Show.

SIR,—Battersea Society and Plymouth (Western Counties O.S.) have stated in your columns that they pay prize money on the first day of show. There is a Society in "Gallant Little Wales" (the Swansea and Dis. C.B.A.) that did the same last year. Our late Secretary received letters of thanks from numerous exhibitors stating that they had received their prize money before their birds reached home. The Swansea Society are going to pay out again this year, and thus keep up the reputation we have won.

S. H. GEORGE, Hon. Sec.

SIR,—I must apologise for my error. I did not know Plymouth paid prize-money first day of show. Well done, W.C.O.S. However, I see that other societies are paying prize-money during the shows. The good principle we adopted four years ago, and intend to continue, is being followed by other societies. I suppose all will give credit to the Battersea Society for such a grand innovation.

Judges at Scottish Shows.

SIR,—Mr. Alexander Bryden's letter anent judges at Scottish shows is written from a very weak-kneed standpoint. Mr. Bryden speaks of "a hobby" in his letter. Did it ever strike Mr. B. that a hobby and business are two quite different things? A bird dealer is not a bird fancier. When a man's bread and butter depend on his dealing in birds that party has, in my opinion, forfeited the right of being designated a fancier. Here are just two cases of "dealer and exhibitor." An exhibitor bought six show cages from a well-known dealer, and all his exhibits were in the tickets under this party, and that was the only success that this fancier met with during that season, although his birds were out very often. The same dealer buttonholed a judge at a show held not 100 miles from the Tay Bridge, asking him to put well in a certain bird that he had sold. Of course his appeal did not come off, but had the dealer been judging, the exhibitor would have been, to use a sporting phrase, "on velvet." I could fill columns of your popular weekly with tricks resorted to by dealers. I wish CAGE BIRDS every success.

A SCOTCH JUDGE.

SIR,—I notice a letter from Mr. Alex Bryden, who appears to be a stout advocate of the "dealer judge." It may not be generally known that the dealer has always on hand what's required; and in this category I place Alex. Bryden. For his enlightment I may state a case. A well-known Bathgate exhibitor bought a hen Hybrid from a well-known dealer; the exhibitor showed the bird under the "dealer judge" and won first prize. Did Mr. Bryden ever see a hen Hybrid fit to beat male birds?

J. SINCLAIR.

SIR,—On receiving my copy of CAGE BIRDS of October 8 (I have been a constant reader for five years), I was delighted with the frontispiece, especially with the picture of the yellow hen, which, to my idea, is quite a model, and just the type which I have been working hard to gain. I would that some judges would carry such a bird impressed on their mind when judging. But what does it profit a man to breed and exhibit a really good bird, so long as a dealer-judge can sell a half bred Norwich Lancashire at a long price along with a guarantee to award it the highest merit?

A. CONNON.

Cure Wanted for Bald Bullfinch Hen.

SIR,—I see that a querist requires a remedy for a hen Bullfinch suffering from scurvy, so I have taken the trouble to copy from Vales' book on Canary Diseases, the enclosed advice, and I may say I have cured a very bad case in a Yellow Norwich for a friend (which he considered hopeless) with the remedies here mentioned:—Symptoms: Roughness and whiteness or redness of the skin. Causes: Feeding with food which contains more earthy matter than can be got rid of by the kidneys, disorganisation of the kidneys, parasites. Treatment: Feed with egg, scalded rape seed and acid fruits, and occasionally wet the affected parts of the skin, if rough and white, with the juice of a fresh lemon. If the skin is red, apply a little violet powder; search for parasites, and, if found, exterminate them.

R. J. ELLEBY.

A Silver Challenge Bowl for Leith O.S. Show.

SIR,—I am sending you a photo of a silver cup, for reproduction in your esteemed paper, CAGE BIRDS. The cup has been presented by Malcolm Smith, Esq., Provost of Leith, for annual competition at the Leith Ornithological

The Provost Smith Challenge Bowl.

Society's Show on October 22. The cup is to go for best young Scotch Fancy, bred by a member. The cup is styled "Provost Smith Challenge Cup," with the Burgh coat-of-arms underneath; and on the other side is a good model of a Scotch Fancy Canary.

GEO. BROWN, Sec.

The City of Glasgow Show and the Belgian Canary.

SIR,—I note with pleasure the name of the gentleman deputed to judge the Belgian Canaries at the above show. From what I know of him he has both the knowledge of what the true type of Belgian is, and the courage to place them where they ought to be, no matter to whom they belong. This is as it should be, and gives exhibitors of the pure bred bird a chance to win in the classes meant for them. It is the craze for big Belgians that has caused judges to ignore the pure bird for crosses. It is time this was stopped if the classes are to be maintained. Let our Belgian judges show exhibitors that they know a Belgian when they meet one by passing all crosses and putting to the front the smaller, but pure-bred, bird. I am satisfied that the entries will go up by leaps and bounds, once breeders and exhibitors of the pure article know that they will get justice meted out to them. I know many who keep the pure Belgian at home, knowing that they have no chance against the larger cross bird. Belgian breeders and exhibitors will watch the City of Glasgow result with interest.

YELLOW BELGIAN.

Goldfinches Bred in Captivity.

Could the Law Touch Them?

SIR,—Having read the report of the police-court case of the Nottingham bird-catcher and fresh canght Finches, I would like your opinion on this, supposing it happened. I have bred some young Goldfinches in the aviary illustrated in CAGE BIRDS sometime back. If one of the inspectors of the R.S.P.C.A. saw them, could he bring a case against me? Or, if I sent them away, say, to a friend in England, I wonder what they would do? If they want proof that it is not cruel to keep birds in cages, surely this should answer. The Goldfinches (which I have yet) were put out in March in a fairly large cage into the aviary, and about a week after I opened the cage door and let them out among the rest of the birds, but they went back into the cage and built a nest, although they had any amount of other places. The nest, cage and all can be seen by anyone who doubts my word.

[The Act applies only to wild birds, and Goldfinches bred in captivity would be outside its scope.—Editor.]

The Cage Bird Union and Its Future.

SIR,—In my letter published last week (in reply to yours), a small error has crept in. In the paragraph commencing "The great majority of shows that have withdrawn," the words "definite districts" should appear instead of "different districts." This word has an important bearing on the paragraph following, my intention being to point out that the shows held outside the Union are in certain defined areas or districts, these districts having, with one exception, no Union societies in their midst, so that the non-Union shows in these districts might possibly have quite as many entries without the aid of Cage Bird Union members, as before. The Norwich Show, which you mention, is a case in point, there being only two Union societies in the whole area east and south of Northants; thus Norwich have had practically the same range to get their entries from as they had last year when they were members of the Union, and there is nothing extraordinary in their getting as good an entry as last year.

GEO. W. F. LYTHGOE, Sec. C.B.U.

SIR,—Some few months ago you had occasion to publish an editorial on the affairs of the C.B.U., and no doubt your timely remarks brought about a decided improvement in the affairs of that body. You would now appear to feel constrained to draw attention to the possibilities of the situation which may arise in the near future owing to the deflection of several important societies from the Union. That a divided interest in the Fancy cannot be for the general welfare goes without saying, and we must hope that the worst fears you mention are not realised. The position is no doubt one of concern, but there is no need for a "scare," and in the best interests of those societies who have show dates fixed, whether affiliated or not, it is to be sincerely hoped that your remarks will not be taken in any way as a "call to arms." Rule 22 remains unchanged, and we can, I think, take it for granted that the seceding societies gave this their consideration when withdrawing, although it is probable that they did not fully realise the danger which would now appear imminent. Rule 22 is the Union's self-preservation, and in my humble opinion an excellent rule, in spite of its being so frequently termed "coercive." Whatever there would appear coercive about it, is only so in respect to the members themselves, and the prominence which it has been given, and the frequency with which it has come under discussion should leave little doubt as to its being thoroughly understood by those concerned, and by the same line of reasoning we may assume that those societies comprising the Union will loyally observe the rule. It is pleasing to see that almost daily applications are being received by the secretary from societies wishing to hold their shows under C.B.U. rules. Here, sir, we have the solution of the problem, and it only remains for those societies who are in doubt of the ill-effects which may follow their abstention, to send in their applications for affiliation, and so avoid a state of affairs in the Fancy which it is far from pleasant to contemplate. In the meantime let the members of the Union show that loyalty which it is their duty to give, and delegates carry out their duties fearlessly, no matter how unpleasant, that the C.B.U. may earn the respect of opponents as well as of friends.

T. ATKINSON.

SIR,—Referring to the last clause of the C.B.U. Secretary's letter on page 216, I may say that our reasons for leaving the Union were fully set out in a letter from me in your issue of May 7th last. What is the good of the Union secretary reiterating his invitations to societies "to give their views through the Press, etc.," when as far as we are concerned that has been done long ago, and not a word has been written in reply? It seems to confirm the oft-repeated charge (which I for long tried to disbelieve) that the Union will only see that which they want to, and nothing else. Our reasons may be briefly repeated as (a) Rule 22, (b) Rule 20, under which our subscription would be accepted by the Union, and then the benefits for which we had paid be denied to us, a process of treatment which, if meted out to the officials of the Union in their commercial life, would be termed theft. (This rule is at present causing quite unnecessary trouble at Frome.) I further indicated the direction in which I believed the Union might proceed in order to gain strength and success, namely, by adopting the principles of constitution, and methods of the Poultry Club, the strongest governing body of the ordinary live stock Fancies. I wonder how many Cage Bird fanciers have ever seen the Poultry Club Year Book. Very few, I am afraid, and I warrant an hour spent over it would prove a liberal education to the vast majority. The annual report, recently issued, states that during the year 1909-10 the new members elected total 255; 31 additional societies have also been associated. "This goodly number, with the 59 associated in 1909, and 71 in 1908, shows the strong hold the club is obtaining over poultry shows, etc. During the year seven cups have been added to the 19 already owned by the club, and 57 silver medals, 34 bronze medals, and 68 associated bronze medals have been granted." Cage bird men, all this is done without the fatuous bondage of such rules as No. 22 and No. 20 of the C.B.U. Let the C.B.U. abandon their insensate policy of coercion, and collecting subscriptions for benefits denied. The Union would then, I believe, find fanciers and societies ready to support them. Until then, I strongly advise exhibitors to show where they like, that is to say, where they know their pets will be well cared for, and their prize money secure. "Who would be free themselves must strike the blow." Fanciers, strike now, and a new, a real, and a truly helpful Union of fanciers may quickly be the outcome.

G. T. H. MAGGS,
Sec., Bristol F.A.

SIR,—At the outset I shall define my position. I am not a member of the Cage Bird Union. I sympathise strongly with its principles and objects as embodied in its rules. At the same time I cannot approve of the C.B.U.'s management. Mr. Raynes nearly killed it, and the last balance-sheet showed that in one year he spent about £80 of money drawn from the Fancy; and I fail to see what benefit the Fancy got for that £80. If Mr. Raynes or anyone else will show me what benefit the Fancy got, I am willing to listen. Mr. Lythgoe has pluckily taken the reins again, and is, I believe, improving the position, but a little prodding from me will do him no harm. Mr. Lythgoe seems to think that by keeping Rule 22 as it is and by having opened the Y.U. shows to C.B.U. members the societies at present outside should be glad to come in; but I think he would do well to look round the position more. The said societies were driven to the extreme measure of resigning last year, and they naturally want to see some considerable improvement before reversing their action; and they are probably inclined to "wait and see." You, sir, by writing Mr. Lythgoe in terms as published in your issue of October 8, have done the Fancy and the C.B.U. a good service, and I am sorry that Mr. Lythgoe's reply amounts to no more than patting himself on the back because he has a considerable number of societies within the fold. But if he is a wise shepherd he will go out and seek those societies outside the fold. There are still a considerable number of "bell-wethers" and others outside, and he does not have anything like ninety and nine within. Could not Mr. Lythgoe take a missionary journey to the disaffected districts and talk over matters with the committees of the societies he wants to bring in? Or, if that is inconvenient, perhaps he could get one of the executive to take his place. Mr. Rhodes, who is a man of great influence, might be persuaded to work in a journey on behalf of the C.B.U. with other business; or, if that is inconvenient, could Mr. Lythgoe not find someone in the London district and someone in the Newcastle district who could put the C.B.U. point of view forcibly before the committees of the various societies in these districts? The Dulwich O.S. case is the first one of those cases the C.B.U. was formed to tackle, and I am sorry that at this time of day Mr. Lythgoe shows such supineness on the part of the C.B.U. as to have to ask the Fancy for a schedule. The greater fault may be Mr. Raynes', but surely the C.B.U. had the desired particulars in hand before authorising the show, which they did about twelve months ago. How can Mr. Lythgoe expect any society to rejoin until at least this matter has been pushed to a finish, and the prize money all paid? Personally I feel that unbusinesslike methods are still dogging the steps of the C.B.U., and I am surprised that the recent meeting of delegates in Leicester did not see the propriety under present circumstances of suspending Rule 22 for this season and thereby stooping to conquer. You, sir, draw attention to the possibility of some of the societies outside the C.B.U. feeling the effect of the present position financially; and surely it is not good policy on the part of the C.B.U. to be blamed for such a possible result, when they could easily have improved the position by temporarily suspending their rule. You were kind enough to insert a letter I wrote you some months ago: no one took any notice of that letter except your "One Who Knows Very Little" friend, W. Reid, but I still think it would be well if Mr. Lythgoe and the members of the executive were to carefully consider various points in that letter.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Several letters on this subject unavoidably held over.

Kindly thank all who replied to my advertisement in CAGE BIRDS of Sept. 10th. I had so many replies I could not answer all. I had seven letters first post on the Saturday's date of issue. This speaks well for your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS. I must say I look forward to getting it Friday, mid-day.—W. H. CRIDDEVORD (Honiton)

Mr. McQuiston and the Scottish Shows.

SIR,—A few fanciers here would like to know how it is that Peter McQuiston, of Ayr, is allowed to still show his birds, and to win at all shows that he has exhibited at this season, when he was last season denounced and debarred for faking from showing and judging for ever. No doubt, sir, you remember the case about the faked Bullfinch. A long account of it appeared in CAGE BIRDS last year. Mr. McQuiston was found guilty and debarred, along with another Glasgow fancier. Such actions done by men who are looked upon as true fanciers are a disgrace. Therefore, I hope that some abler fancier than I will take this matter up at once, and stop these men from keeping straight and true fanciers from exhibiting where such men are allowed to exhibit. Secretaries would do well to return their entries when they send them. I know for certain that if Mr. McQuiston sends his entries to the City of Glasgow show on October 21st and 22nd they will be returned. There are no fakers allowed there.

H. THOMSON.

(We publish Mr. Thomson's letter, but it is only fair to Mr. McQuiston to point out that while it is true that he was suspended for alleged faking by the Scottish British Bird and Mule Club, and debarred from exhibiting at all shows held under the Club's patronage (not at ALL shows, as our correspondent's letter implies, which, of course, it was beyond the power of the S.B.B. and M.C. to enact), it is equally true that on the case being tried by the National British Bird and Mule Club, Mr. McQuiston was exonerated from the charge of having faked the bird in question. While there is room for such divided opinion in two specialist clubs, it seems to us hardly surprising that other societies and fanciers should accord Mr. McQuiston the benefit of the doubt to which, under the circumstances, he would appear to be clearly entitled. —Editor.)

Local Birds at the City of Glasgow Show.

SIR,—I observe from your most valuable paper that the City of Glasgow show takes place on 21st inst. I would like to call the attention of the officials to a grievance that the exhibitors have on the Friday morning. A considerable number bring their exhibits a little before 8 a.m., fully expecting to be able to get them staged, before leaving for the day's business, some requiring to be there a few minutes after 8 a.m. Now, if the management would only arrange for one or two of the committee to come on duty at, say, 7.30 a.m., they being free from duty on the Thursday night, this would save many unpleasant words, and go a long way to smooth the way for exhibitors, as they can rest safe that their exhibits are correctly staged, and not handed over to someone to perform that part for them. I am fully confident that this only requires to be brought to notice, when from what I personally know of the management, it will at once be put right. I would ask intending exhibitors to make their entries as early as possible, and as large as possible, as friend Macdonald, being the only secretary for all classes, his work will be pressing on him.

AN EXHIBITOR.

The Cage Bird Union and the London Federation.

SIR,—We notice in the last issue a letter signed "Unaffiliated," the writer of which makes very free use of the good name of the Leyton and District C.B.A., against which we, as secretaries, do most strongly protest, and in doing so we feel sure that we are voicing the feelings of our committee. The real reason that the Leyton and District C.B.A. withdrew from the London Federation was, as stated at the time, because no benefits were being derived from affiliation to that body, and apparently were not likely to be so far as the Leyton C.B.A. were concerned; at least, that was the conclusion arrived at by our committee, and which we duly communicated to the Federation. We feel sure that our committee does not wish to be antagonistic to the Federation, and have no doubt that if it becomes apparent that some benefit can be derived from affiliation to the Federation, our committee will be progressive enough to apply for reaffiliation. Some such statement as "Unaffiliated" makes may have been made to our committee, but that does not justify him in assuming that they were accepted as facts

FORSE AND SON,
Hon. Secs. Leyton and District C.B.S.

SIR,—It would not be becoming in me to discuss the affairs of the Federation with "Unaffiliated," seeing that he is not a member, and what is more, I consider it would be a waste of your valuable space and of my time to do so with one who prefers to whine from behind a nom de plume, rather than make any specific charge over his own name. There is obviously no pleasing a man in the state of mind in which "Unaffiliated" writes. If I give my support to a motion he calls it appropriating it; if on the other hand I oppose a motion, he accuses me of sitting on it and squashing it. One thing is certain: he need not be the least apprehensive about his own brains being appropriated, that is quite impossible. His spiteful, slanderous and untruthful railings I can afford to smile at, knowing as I do it must be the hallucinations of an ill-balanced mind fired by jealousy, and for the public safety I would suggest he should consult a veterinary surgeon.

QUERIES.

Feeding a Yellowhammer.

Miss Evans.—Yes, it is true that most British seed-eaters are not so tame at first as foreign seed-eaters; your bird will get "kinder" in time. All the Buntings feed very much alike. The only "stock mixture" you need is plain Canary seed. Few Yellow Buntings will eat any quantity of other seeds, though small oats, wild seed mixture, rape, cracked hemp, coarse oatmeal, maw, and one or two other seeds, will be picked over, and a few eaten, while some get to like crusbed sunflower, and safflower. To make a little variety in the diet, it is best to give a feed of soaked ants' eggs frequently, and live insect food (mealworms, flies, scoured gentles, small beetles, and grubs generally), according to season. Fresh (live) ants' eggs are relished exceedingly. "Shop" ants' eggs (get the best quality only) are well liked if soaked in a little new milk, drained on a cloth, and then given the birds. It is well to mix a sprinkling of a good insectivorous food among the ants' eggs, gradually increasing the quantity. Green food these birds are not keen on, but you can always offer a little of whatever you may happen to have in the place.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. And bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

Gyp.—Canary died of encephalitis or inflammation of the brain. I suspect your dieting is somewhere at fault. The irresponsible movements you refer to, such as shaking the head, etc., are in keeping with the post-mortem appearances. Give your birds at the earliest moment each a course of sulpbate of magnesia in the drinking water daily until the voidings become relaxed. To the sick bird, if still allve, give two grains of potassium bromide dissolved in its drinking water night and morning for three days.

I. I.—Inflammation of the bowels complicated with disease of the liver I find is the result of my examination. It is part of a contagious disease spread by means of the excrement. Use every cleanliness, destroy all cage refuse, and clean out frequently. Give Condy's Fluid in the drinking water daily.

W. Preece.—The bowels were badly inflamed. Examine your seed thoroughly and procure a fresh stock if necessary. There is evidently some irritant setting up the inflammation, as all the other organs were perfectly healthy. It appears as a primary disease unassociated with contagion. Give occasionally milk sop, dusting over same a little bismuth, which you may procure from your chemist. It will also be advisable to give Condy's in the drinking water for a time.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

A Double Nest (S. Radcliffe).—Many thanks for this interesting photograph, which we will reproduce in the near future.

Bird-Catching (W. B.).—1. The use of bird lime is not illegal. 2. Bird catching is barred by law in all the outlying suburbs of London, we believe. 3. A copy of the Wild Bird Protection Act applying to any district or county can be obtained post free for two stamps from Messrs. Wymans, Ltd., printers, Fetter Lane, London, E.C.

A Dealer's Whereabouts (A. Steel).—It is several years ago since the dealer in question had a shop in a turning off the Euston Road, and we have no knowledge whatever as to his present whereabouts. We do not think he is in business in London.

Bramblefinch-Chaffinch Hybrid, etc. (Grateful One).—A really good cock Bramblefinch-Chaffinch Hybrid is worth at least four or five pounds, and an extra good one might fetch more when in show condition, so that you will see the cross is well worth attempting. Thanks for the cutting which you enclose.

Catching Linnets, Bullfinches, Thrushes, Blackbirds, Starlings, etc. (Amateur, Kendal).—We should have to fill two or three pages to helpfully answer all your questions, and this, of course, is beyond us. Our publisher can supply you with back numbers containing an article on bird-catching, if these would suit your purpose. One of our advertisers of appliances (see the advertisement columns) also offers books on catching, best baits, etc.

fine Greenlu-Bullie, capital shape and size, dense cap; 2, Lamb, lovely Linnet-Bullie, nice shape and col. A.O.V. HYB. (8): 1, hc, Walsh, 1st, topping Redpoll-Goldie, nice size and shape, well marked, full of col. and quality; 2, Coffey, grand Bramble-Chaffinch, rare size and col., lovely condition; 3, vhc, Cooper, 3rd, good Greenfinch-Linnet, nice size and shape; c, Maxwell.

CAGES: Judges, Messrs. Robson and Swaysland. HOUSEHOLD OR FANCY (9): 1, 2, vhc, Newley; 2, Palmer and Sons. SHOW (11): 1, vhc, hc, 3, Palmer and Sons; 2, 3, c, Newley. STOCK OR BREEDING (9): 1, 3, Palmer and Sons; 2, vhc, hc, Newley.

The British and Foreign Birds.

The very liberal classification of nineteen classes was provided in this section, and although it did not meet with quite the support which might have been expected, there were 189 birds on view. GOLDFINCH (11): 1, absent (Marshall); 1, Graham, very clear win, a beautiful and typical Britisher, just a bit on the small side, but of lovely quality, well shaped blaze of good colour, moons beautifully distinct, will improve with steadying; 2, Arnold, would be a clinker if his blaze were deeper in col., wonderfully steady and plumage like satin, shows himself well; 3, Wickham, another good one, larger than either of those above him, and better in col. of blaze than the 2nd; vhc, Wickham, nice bird indeed; vbc, Maxwell, looks as though he will make a good one; hc, Prior; c, Cooper. BULLFINCH (9): 1, Walsh and Son, rattling big bird, in fine plumage, excels particularly in widtb of cap behind; 2, Bousfield, another large one, nice cap and bib, loses to winner in tightness of breast plumage; 3, Francis, a very typical Britisher, with which it is difficult to find a fault, perhaps the only defect is a somewhat indefinite outline of under-edge of bib. LINNET (17): 1, Walsh, marvellous steadiness gained him the position, for several others will show better later in the season, a good, big, finely coloured and marked bird, in very forward condition, shows himself wonderfully; 2, Ford and Son, larger than the winner, but not so deep in brown of back colour, nice breast markings and very steady; 3, Marley, another steady one of fine shape and col., carries himself well, there was little to choose between any of three leaders, tbey all bad the fault of light throat markings; vhc, Longden, quite close up with the prize winners, big one; hc, Francis; c, Prior. SISKIN, ETC. (12): 1, Prior, beautiful Siskin, lovely colour and perfect flank markings, would hold its own anywhere; 2, Walsh, fine Twite, wonderfully steady for these lively birds, especially well laced on back; 3, Howe, extra good mealy Redpoll, fine size and beautifully marked, and well defined bib, unfortunately badly "trousered"; vhc, Coffey, nice Siskin; bc, Grabame, good Twite; c, Sandy. LESSER REDPOLL (17): An extraordinarily good class: 1, 3, Marley, two beautiful birds, nothing better could be desired, botb as near perfection as could be; 2, Prior, deservedly split tbe two above mentioned, a nice slim bird, well marked and steady to a degree for these lively little chaps; vhc, Longden, good bird; hc, Grahame; c, Owen; a number of the unnoticed birds in this class good enough to win almost anywhere. CHAFFINCH (18): A fine class in which the first two stood out well from the rest: 1, Francis, beautiful big bird, nicely steady and well forward in col. for the season, fine even breast col., good wing markings and tight as wax in plumage; 2, Marley, very little, if any, behind the leader, not quite as steady, and perhaps tbis did it, a fine bird indeed; 3, Prior, a beautiful Chaffinch of quite a different character of col. to the two above him, without a fault; vhc, Sexton; hc, Coffey; c, Longden; some out of tbe cards will be heard of later, notably No. 3, Hurst, 4, Grahame. BRAMBLEFINCH (16): 1, Hurst, nice Bramble, deep in col., will be in better plumage later; 2, Coffey, well marked, more forward; 3, Francis, hard to find fault with, lovely; vhc, Hakes, worthy bis card; hc, Marley; c, Longden. GREENFINCH (10): 1, Howe, fine big bird, good col. and beautiful plumage; 2, Coffey, anotber really good one, ran the winner very closely; 3, Hurst, good bird, a bit smaller, but very fine one; vhc, Sharp, good; hc, Marley; c, Sexton. HAWFINCH (6): 1, Maxwell, fine, steady Hawfinch, in wonderful gloss of plumage, only wants a little more col. on the head and neck to be a real good one; 2, Raven, beautiful bird of same type as tbe winner, quite as steady and better in head col., bit flat on skull; 3, Gray, wonderful size and perfection of plumage, beautifully even in contour of bib, grand colour all over; vhc, c, Marley; bc, Acland, all good. YELLOW BUNTING (10): 1, Prior, extraordinarily good 'Hammer, looks like doing some wiuniug during the season; 2, Walsh, good markings, but unsteady; 3, Francis, uot so distinct in breast and flank markings as those above bim; vhc, Longden, beautifully marked; hc, Prior, a good one, seemed to have knocked out some flight feathers; c, Botting. A.O.S. BUNTINGS (6): 1, Francis, nice Lapland Bunting, in fine feather; 2, Askew, exceedingly good Corn, nothing could be better, only loses to wiuner in point of rarity; 3, Maxwell, fine Cirl, wants steadying; vhc, Prior, good Reed; hc, c, Francis, Snow and Corn respectively. SEED-EATING HEN (all species) (16): A most interesting class: 1, 3, Prior, the leader a nice Hawfinch and the other a Lapland Bunting; 2, Coffey, a pretty Siskin; vhc, Longden, beautiful Bramblefinch; hc, Cooper, good Greenfinch; c, Askew, Chaffinch; Siskin hen, Francis, unnoticed, with most beautiful flank markings we have ever seen in a bird of the species, cock or hen. SONG THRUSH, ETC. (11): 1, hc, Howe, winner, beautifully mkd. Thrush, other, a fine Blackbird, both staged in true Wellingborough condition; 2, c, Prior, an exceedingly good Blackbird, and a Song Thrush; 3, Lott, beautifully spangled Starling, somewhat pass the days of its youth, but able yet to do a lot more winning; vhc, Askew, very nice Thrush, in fine plumage. NIGHTINGALE, ETC. (8): 1, Jackson, a Nightingale, beautiful back col., nevertheless a bit lucky, we thought, to beat 2, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, one of the best Nightingales we have seen on the show bench for perfection of plumage, grace of carriage, and steadiness, this beautiful bird stands preeminent; 3, Vale, another nice 'Gale, fit to win almost anywbere; vhc, Vale, a perfect Blackcap, unlucky to have to compete with the three Nightingales mentioned; hc, Frostick, good Blackcap; c, Mrs. Bourke, another very nice Nightingale. LARK OR PIPIT (8): 1, Botting, very steady Pipit, in fine plumage; 2, 3, Frostick, Shore Lark and Pipit; vhc, Grahame, nice Pipit; hc, c, Lott, Pipit, and Shore Lark. MAGPIE, ETC. (1): 1, Maxwell, noted Chough, no opposition. A.O.S. SMALL INSECTIV. (7): 1, vhc, Frostick, the winner a beautiful Dartford Warbler, the first of its species ever exhibited, although one of its kind was entered by the same exhibitor at this show last year; vhc, Lesser Whitethroat in perfect condition; 2, Maxwell, sweet little Jenny Wren, shown in well-known style; 3, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, very perfect Wheatear; hc, Botting, good Redstart, but has a frayed tail. LARGE INSECTIV. (1): 1 and 2 withheld; 3, Francis, Missel Thrush. FIED ETC.: 1, Ninness, fine White Blackbird, in exceptionally perfect feather; 2, very perfect White House-Sparrow; 3, Hakes, a beautiful White Blackbird, larger than the winner, but unfortunately with broken tips to its flight feathers; vhc, Lamb, Cinnamon Redpoll, an old friend, just now a bit slack in plumage.

The foreign section numbered only 31 birds in 4 classes, but among them were many worth a long journey to see, some making a first appearance for their species on the show bench. PARROTS (6): 1, 2, vhc, Maxwell, beautiful team, fine pair rare Brown's Parrakeets, the now well-known elegant Grass Parrakeet, as beautiful as ever, and an exceedingly rare, we believe, unique Mitchell's Lorikeet; 3, Rev. Rayner, our old friend, the Meyer's Parrot, must now be approaching twenty years of age, still good; hc, Birt; c, Askew. MANNIKINS, ETC. (7): 1, Maxwell, Scarlet-rumped Weaver, a first appearance of the species on the bench, more rare than beautiful, with a Shrike-like head, the head, neck, breast, and underparts being white, the back, wings, and tail brownish, and the rump scarlet, hence its name; 2, Botting, a pretty pair of Rufous-backed Mannikins; 3, c, Williams, an Oryx Weaver, in beautiful plumage, and a Melanistic Orange Bishop; vhc, Watts, pair of beautiful Golden-breasted Waxbills; hc, Frostick, nice Crimson Bishop. A.O.S. SEED-EATING (12): 1, Watts, beautiful Queen Whydah, in perfect plumage; 2, vhc, hc, c, Maxwell, a pretty lot, comprising a fine pair of Painted Finches, a pair of Cubas, a Parrot Finch, perhaps the best of its kind ever seen, absolute perfection, and the pretty little Quail Finch, now well-known; 3, Miss Bousfield, good pair of Tri-coloured Parrot Finches. A.O.S. INSECTIV. (6): 1, 2, 3, vhc, Maxwell, a wonderful team, three of which are first appearances—respectively, a Crested Ground Partridge, a "Banana Quit" or Black and Yellow Creeper, the Black-throated Tanager, now familiar as an old friend, and a unique Purple Sugar-bird.

EXETER & DEVON F.A

21st annual show held Oct. 12th in Lower Market, Cage birds were strong, although some classes had to be cancelled. Yorkshire and Norwich were strongest and contained excellent birds; while the Crests, although few, were grand. A snug corner of the hall was allotted to cage birds, and the committee are to be congratulated on the excellent way the birds were staged. The red drapings completed an attractive display. The secretarial duties were ably carried out by Mr. W. A. Cornish, and both he and his committee were most courteous and obliging. Mr. T. Heath judged.

NOR. YELL. (10): 1, spl., Redwood, variegated, good size and col., splendid quality; 2, Redwood, good head and neck, grand feather; 3, Mitchell, neat feather properties; vhc, Middleton; bc, Lashbrook and Son; c, Rowden. BUFF (11): 1, Redwood, variegated, stout and shapely, good col. and quality, stylish; 2, Rowden, splendid condition, grand size; 3, Collings, smaller than 1st and 2nd, but a gem and well shown, true Nor. HEN (12): 1, Smith, cl. yell., wonderful col. and condition, stands well away from others; 2, Redwood, neat buff, very stylish, full of quality; 3, Spillman, large upstanding yell., good feather; vhc, Collings; hc, Turner; c, Mrs. Southcombe. CREST, CL. BDY. ((4): 1, Evins Bros., grey Crest of good formation, well up in size; 2, Evins Bros., smaller than 1st, but extra neat, dk crest, lovely quality; 3, Cockram, very large, good feather, grizzle crest of nice shape; vhc, Miss Finch. CREST MKD., ETC.: 1, 2 spls., Evins Bros., large bird, wealth of feather, grand leafy crest, truly the best bird in show; 2, Evins Bos., variegated, good bird, splendid feather properties; 3, Bale, green, most lovely drooping crest of excellent quality; vhc, Finch; bc, Bale; c, Williams. C.-B. (4): 1, spl, Bale, nice one, in good condition; 2, Bale, variegated, nice size, grand lashing, stormer; 3, Evins Bros., cl. yell. of wonderful quality and condition; vhc, Williams. Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS.

Queries will be answered under the following Conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in Ink (or typewritten) on one side only of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist, or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who require letters of complaints written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Children's Dinner Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. Only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc. of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his question for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES.

How to Start.

W. Briggs.—Your idea of waiting until the Palace Show, and there requesting the judge to select a suitable pair of birds for you to start breeding good exhibition birds with is certainly better than trusting to your own unaided judgment, but it is not the best course to adopt, inasmuch as the judge will have nothing but the external characteristics to found an opinion upon, and will know nothing as to how the birds have been bred, and what aptitude they probably possess for perpetuating either good or undesirable points in their progeny. These things are known only to the careful breeder who keeps the pedigree of his birds year after year, and is always able to go to this record to enable him to judge finally whether a pair of birds that appear on the outside well suited to each other are really so or not. They may be, or they may not—the pedigree register has to decide the question. Therefore, it will be obvious to you that your best plan is to put yourself in the hand of a good reliable breeder, tell him what you want to breed, and the amount you are willing to spend (or give him a free hand as to cost), and ask him to select a pair of birds most likely to attain your objects. As regards the price, I cannot fix it. This, of course, is a matter for the breeder. But do not expect the birds you require properly selected for a few shillings. They may cost anything from 20s. a head upwards.

Fluttering about Cage Floor.

W. H. Johnson.—It would be a mercy to chloroform this bird, as it is extremely doubtful if it will ever be any better. I say this notwithstanding the fact that you omit all particulars of your dietary and management, which would have helped me to give a more useful reply. Have you noticed whether the bird's toes are deformed? This may be the cause of its awkwardness. If you wish to try treatment, first look to the condition of its toes, and if deformed write again and explain in what way they are affected. Meantime, give it rather wide flat perches, placed low down, on which it can stand or lie rather than perch. Give a staple diet of three parts canary to one part summer rape. Twice a week add a morsel of bread and milk with three drops of cod liver emulsion on it, and sprinkled with maw seed. On two other days give a pinch of mixture of linseed, millet, and split groats, and a morsel of banana, and on each of the remaining days a little green food. Keep a piece of cuttlefish in the wires, and the cage floor well strewn with clean gritty sand. In the drinking water give 6 drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much sulphate of soda as will cover a sixpence, for two days. After this give 6 drops of tincture of gentian and 4 of aromatic sulphuric acid every second day for a week, and on the alternate days 20 drops of Chemical Food, continuing latter for a fortnight. Shall be glad to hear result at end of that time.

A Tall Order.

Even Marks.—Sorry, but it is quite impossible to reply fully to your questions in the space available here. That concerning building up a strain of even marks alone would require whole pages to deal with it. Be well advised, and take "Our Canaries," where this and every other question will in due course be dealt with by "those who have done it" and know how. Briefly: Borders do not require materially different treatment as to feeding from other breeds. A little slackness of plumage is natural during the moult. When this is over the birds, if healthy, will soon tighten up. Lustrous plumage also depends largely upon robust health. Give a little egg food or bread and milk twice a week, and on two other days a pinch of a mixture of equal parts of gold of pleasure, linseed, hemp and broken sunflower seeds for a few weeks, and add six drops of tincture of gentian and a crystal of sulphate of iron the size of a large hemp seed to the water twice a week for a month. See reply to "W. Briggs" re starting strain. You cannot do better than adopt the same course. Even so, you must not expect to breed even-marks by the dozen. It is always, so to speak, a matter of luck or chance to breed one approaching perfection. For the cold or wheezing, first remove cause, then add 20 drops of whisky, 10 of oxymel of squills, and 2 of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together, to the water every second day for a week.

Making a Start.

A. W. Webb.—You do not say what object you have in starting to breed, which rather handicaps me in replying. If you have no particular object save breeding a few birds for pleasure or song, your idea of keeping them in an aviary might answer well enough, but if you wish to go in for breeding pure bred birds true to type, then small cages (within reason, of course), or, rather, keeping each pair in a separate cage is by far the best method. Large cages with movable partitions such as you suggest are quite feasible, but they have serious drawbacks in being so much less portable and manageable if they require overhauling to clear them of insect or other pests. You would find this question very fully dealt with in the early numbers of "Our Canaries," now publishing. On the whole, it is much better to stick to large flight cages for winter use and the accommodation of the young birds as they get old enough to do for themselves, and either single or double breeding cages for the breeding pairs. Each compartment of the latter should measure 20in. by 16in. by 10in. "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages," 2s. 3d., post free, from our manager, would be a great help to you in making your own cages. As regards obtaining the necessary stock to start with, see reply to "W. Briggs."

Young Cracking Seed.

T.D. (Liverpool).—The young have doubtless some digestive trouble. Keep them in a good size cage, or a flight, and keep the floor well strewn with clean gritty sand. In the seed box give a regular supply of a mixture of three-parts canary to one part summer rape, allowing only two small teaspoonfuls daily. In addition, give a small piece of bread and milk sprinkled with soft sugar daily for a week, and every second day for another fortnight. Twice each week give half a teaspoonful of mixture of hemp and teazle (equal parts); on two other days give the same quantity of maw seed; and on each of the remaining days give either a few leaves of dandelion or a morsel of ripe banana. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence, every second day for a week, and during the following week give four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid, every second day. At the end of the first week, when you begin to withdraw the bread and milk, you must, of course, increase the seed supply in proportion. By that time the birds should have ceased cracking it in waste. If they have not, stick a small cube of hard common salt, and a piece of cuttlefish in the wires for them to peck at.

Sending Birds Abroad.

N. G. Peche.—Sorry, we do not export birds. You will doubtless get a copy of the paper 'ere this, and your best course is to look through the advertisements and choose a good firm of dealers who seem to have what you want, and write them direct, as to birds and cages. If you select a firm of good standing they will be fully up in the best methods of exporting and packing both birds and cages, and would be able to land them in all probability in the best of condition. If, however, you desire to get the birds direct from a breeder, you, or he, should make arrangements with a ship's butcher to attend to the birds en route for a consideration, to whom must be handed a sufficiency of suitable food to last during the voyage. A good sized cage provided with food box inside, and a zinc drinker, should be used for packing. A spare drinker might also be sent along. As regards cost of birds, you give no idea what breed you wish to go in for, so I can only say that you may get decent birds of popular types, such as Norwich and Yorkshires, for 20s. per bird, upwards; whilst high-class breeds, such as Crests, may start from £5 per bird, upwards. To this must be added cost of export, which may be several pounds. It would scarcely pay you to import cages. The cost of sending them out would be several times their original cost. If the least bit handy with tools, you might easily make them with the aid of the book "Aviaries, Birdrooms, and Cages," which our manager could send you for 2s. plus foreign book rate postage.

Brevities.

Rollers (C.W.C.).—Sorry previous advice was too late to save your bird. I do not attach any value whatever to the term you mention, which, in my opinion, is purely a trade colloquialism. Seifert and Trute Rollers come in the same category, but have more to be said in their favour in that they are now generally understood to describe fairly representative types of song—the former having more variety or "changes" in its repertoire, and the latter being trained more exclusively in popular rolls. The Seifert is more likely to give satisfaction to the average lay person, a really good trute bird being sometimes considered monotonous, and requiring the ear of a connoisseur to always appreciate its merits.

Wheezing Norwich (Novice, D.W.).—You must see that the birds are quite free from draughts and extreme fluctuations of heat. Feed them for a month the same as advised to "Sacul," except the seed mixture; and instead of this, give half a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, linseed, and teazle, twice a week. Give also the same rhubarb and salts mixture in water for one day only, and after this give twenty drops of whisky, six each of glycerine and oxymel of squills, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken in the water two days in every three for a week, and every second day for another week afterwards.

Leg Weakness (Sacul).—Your diet might have been more generous with advantage. In addition to the staple of canary seed, give half a teaspoonful of summer rape every second day, and on the alternate days give a piece of bread and milk the size of a hazel nut, with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with maw seed. Twice a week give a pinch of a mixture of equal parts hemp, linseed, teazle, millet, and broken groats. Give a little green food or ripe banana four times a week. Continue this treatment for a month. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence, for three days, and afterwards six drops of tincture of gentain and four each of tincture of calumba and aromatic sulphuric acid every second day for a week. A fairly warm equable temperature, with an occasional few drops of whisky and blades of saffron in the water is as good as anything to keep the moult progressing with sufficient rapidity.

Evil Communications (Beginner).—If the Roller is a trained songster it will almost certainly depreciate in song by being kept continually in the same room as a Norwich. This will be more particularly the case after the moult, when the birds are recommencing to sing, when the Roller will probably pick up many undesirable notes from the Norwich, and also probably be induced to become a "screecher." If the Norwich is a young bird its song might be improved, but it would still be at the expense of the song of the Roller. The latter, when trained, sings an artificial melody much more difficult to perform than its own natural notes, so that when associated with a bird singing the natural song the inducement to revert to similar strains is very great.

Seed Samples, Etc. (C.H.D.).—(1) The sample of canary seed is very small, none too well flavoured, and contains a lot of dirt of weed seeds. Altogether a poor sample. The price is quite enough for the quality. I should prefer a better seed, if it cost more to buy. (2) The rape is a very nice sample, but new. It would be all the better for twelve months' good storage. Therefore, if you have convenience for properly storing it, it is well worth buying at the price named. (3) A Norwich Canary is probably quite full grown at three months old, in the sense that it is, or should be, as big then as it ever will be. This does not mean, however, that its organs will not continue to develop and mature for some time—probably until the end of its second moult, before it is at its fullest maturity. (4) Yes, you will still get a small proportion of ticked birds from the yellow cock if you mate him with a clear buff next season. The percentage may be small, but will depend upon the hen's parentage.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc.

Aviary Queries.

P. O'Connor.—(1) For breeding three pairs only, the quantity you have been advised to keep in it is too absurd for words, even of small Waxbills. At the most keep 18 birds in your aviary, and they will then be too crowded for breeding. (2) Budgerigars would sooner or later maim or kill off the Finches, etc., and also nibble at their nests and so scare them off. (3) If you wish the hen Canaries to cross with the British Finches you must remove the cock Canary. (4) You will fill the aviary with Canaries only at this rate. (5) The birds will do, if you can exclude damp, draught, and keep the temperature fairly even. (6) Three interesting species for such an aviary would be: Zebra Finches, Cutthroats, and White Java Sparrows. (7) Cannot name individual advertisers. (8) Supply Canary, white millet, millet sprays, paddy rice, with green-food, grit, and cuttlefish. If the foreigners take a few seeds provided for the other birds they will take no hurt therefrom. You should get "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1/1, post free, from our manager.

Wintering Birds Out of Doors.

C. F. P.—If the birds are strong and fit they will not suffer at all if kept out of doors through the winter, but if any are ailing, or out of tone, they will feel it, and the first spell of really severe weather would carry them off—birds are the same as humans in this respect—and you must let this rule guide you as to what you leave out. With the exception of Cordon Bleus, I have kept all the species you name out of doors all the year round in the county of London, in a good garden aviary, S. aspect, open netting front and top only. Again, you must let the birds guide you; their demeanour will soon tell you whether they are comfortable or not; if you see any of them looking unhappy or humped up for longish periods, then bring that bird in. If any are affected by the cold it will be Cordon Bleu, Orange-cheek, Grey and St. Helena Waxbills; the others should be all right out of doors; but much depends on the situation of the aviary; if any side is much exposed it is a good plan to tack roofing felt over this for the winter months. I am doubtful about the Bullfinch; the others will be all right.

Cockatoo in Moult.

R.H.—Unless the temperature of the room is irregular, that is, changing from warm to cold and back again, the temperature of the room is not responsible for the moult—unless the bird is picking them out, those pen feathers would be constantly progressing towards maturity. But I certainly consider the bird is in a heated and irritated condition from irregular dieting. I gather from details sent, that though it has not had meat or bones, it has had table scraps, and possibly tea, coffee, and milk sops; if so, these must be stopped at once. Give it twice a week a dose of Dinneford's magnesia from a quill—8 to 10 drops—and well colour the drinking water with Parrish's chemical food, and continue this for some time. Also, spray the bird weekly with quassia solution. Diet: Seed mixture—maize, paddy rice, oats, hemp, sunflower, canary and millet seeds in about equal parts. A little boiled maize can be given daily if the bird has any taste for it; in such case add to the maize 10 drops of the chemical food after all water has been drained away. Ripe fruit, plain biscuit, and nuts in variety can be given, and keep a nice piece of clean cuttlefish within its reach. It is good practice to put a pinch of grit in the tin with the seed mixture. Treat as above for two or three weeks, and then report progress with full details.

Sulphur-Crested Cockatoo.

F. E. Thorne.—I have really nothing to go upon, you give me no details as to diet, nor do you state whether it has come on suddenly, or gradually; all I can say is that the details you do give, point to some injury, and I certainly advise you either to let a properly qualified vet. examine it, or ask some experienced local fancier to have a look at it. In the meantime it will be well to bathe the bird's feet with hot (not hot enough to discomfort) water, and after drying, brush with whisky (using a camel hair mop brush). Keep the bowels gently moving by occasional doses of Dinneford's Magnesia—5 drops from a quill—and well colour the drinking water with Parrish's chemical food. If you can supply me with additional information, I shall be pleased to try and help you further.

Brevities.

What Bird? (W. Johnson).—Am of the opinion that the bird which took refuge in your kitchen is not a British species, but an Indigo Bunting, out of colour, which has escaped from some cage or aviary. It might mate with one of the English Buntings, but even when mated with their own species, they are but shy breeders in captivity, and if any young were hatched, you would need to keep up an almost constant supply of live food for them to be reared. Diet: Canary, white and spray millet, green food, little ripe fruit, and some live insects, mealworms, or what spiders, beetles, etc., you can capture for it.

A Squealing Parrot (Springburn).—You must persevere with the treatment advised; a habit is not broken in a day; apart from this, all you can do is by kindness and petting to thoroughly gain its confidence, and do not unnecessarily handle it, etc., till this comes about. Again, being a young bird, if it is more a sort of squawk than a scream, it will grown out of it largely, as it becomes thoroughly tame, and as it is already a good talker, I assume that this will be the case.

Blue Mountain Lorikeet, etc. (Parrot Lover).—(1) About 30/- to 40/-, according to condition. It all depends what it is competing against, but yes, unless something much rarer and in equally good condition was entered in the same class, and this is merely a sporting risk. (2) Yes, I believe the black longtitudinal stripe through the centre of abdomen and over the tail coverts to be constant with all black-headed Mannikin males. I really cannot say if yours are a pair, two hens will agree as you describe providing no male is present. Unless your birds are immature they would appear to be two hens. (3) You have some other species. The grey Singing Finch has not a red tail. I always fancy a show cage enamelled palo sage-green inside, with the wires and exterior black.

What Kind of Cage (Blace-faced).—Almost any kind of cage suits the Black-faced Lovebird, either all wire or of the box type; but the one I consider best adapted for them is one which gives them ample space to move about in without fraying tail or wing feathers, and which has the front and half the open wire-work, the wires being rounded off at the top.

Wintering Birds Out of Doors (Allison).—So far as I remember, your previous query referred to wintering Cordon Bleu, Blackheaded Nun, and Zebra Finches outside. I do not think lining the shed with lino. would help much—it would be far better to line with roofing felt, and then covering the felt with thin boards would be far warmer, and but little more costly. As I said before, it was the somewhat circumscribed space of your flight that caused me to hesitate to advise you to keep it outside. I think you can do so, but if you see bird looking at all unhappy, and appearing to feel the cold, then bring it indoors, and in any fairly roomy cage it will winter happily in the temperature of any ordinary sitting-room.

Tanagers with Other Birds (Thank You).—I do not keep queries by me from week to week, and I cannot call to mind all the circumstances, but if the space is at all circumscribed, Tanagers are not safe company for birds smaller or weaker than themselves, though I have kept in a 12 by 10 by 6 ft. high garden aviary, which was over-stocked, Blue, Scarlet, Maroon, Superb, and Tricolour Tanagers. The three first-named are the most hardy, and I have successfully wintered them out of doors in the County of London. All those named have refulgent plumage, and are tropical hued birds, any or all of which would meet all the conditions you named, with the proviso given above. Do not include the Australian Crimson Finch, many individuals of this species are simply murderous. The male Indigos in nuptial plumage are shining azure blue, and are, as you state, very fond of bathing and insects of almost all kinds.

Too Late (R.C.).—I am sorry our reply came too late to assist you in saving the Amazon; with ailing birds aid should be sought at once if treatment is to be of any avail. After reading the details of your diet and treatment, I am of the opinion that the bird had the germs of the trouble in its body when it came to you, and I should certainly advise you not to leave its cage either near your living bird, or to use it for another bird till it has been well sterilised. First scald with boiling water, then paint with crude carbolic acid, afterwards well swill with cold water, and leave in open for a few days, sun and air to complete the operation. All crevices must be well permeated with the carbolic.

Managing a Chaffinch.

Pink-Pink.—Chaffinches are not at all difficult, as a rule, to get on to hard seed. Crack the sunflower seed at first; and give him a mealworm now and again if he will eat it. Use the following stock mixture: Canary and teazle, two pints each; summer rape, charlock and linseed half a pint each. To this a half-pint of sunflower could be added; or give the sunflower in a separate dish, say a heaped-up teaspoonful daily. Wild seed mixture and some good maker's special packet Finch mixture can be occasionally offered for a change, while sunflower heads (gathered from the garden), full of seed, thistle, and hardheads, seeding chickweed, groundsel and shepherd's purse should be freely given as in season. An occasional mealworm, flies, etc., are relished by most Chaffinches and are very good for them. My own birds, too, are very fond of a teaspoonful of insectile mixture (such as I prepare for my small soft-billed birds) now and again. This is specially good during the moult (and especially so if a few live ants' eggs are mixed with it), helping to bring them out in fine condition and "bloom."

A Crossbill.

Curious.—If a big, steady bird, of a nice deep colour, and good in plumage (condition) a Crossbill stands a fair chance on the show bench. There are a great number about this year in the bird shops. Your bird should be given for seed, sunflower, hemp, and canary seed, and for animal food three or four mealworms daily, with any other live insects you can get, according to season. A few berries (haw, privet, black, and so on) also the core and pips of apples, smashed nuts of various kinds (walnuts, crack nuts, etc.), and fruit are relished. Offer him any of the other seeds or seed mixtures in general use now and again; also small maize, dari, wheat, and the like. Sometimes he will eat a little, and variety is good. The Crossbill has no standard show cage. A box pattern one, about 14ins. long by 12 to 13 high, by 8 wide, would answer admirably, enamelled inside, and wires cream colour or a very pale blue. The food and water vessels should be inside, and the wires should be one inch wide. Any up-to-date cage maker (see our advertisement columns) would supply you with a cage in every way suitable.

LATE SHOW ITEMS.

CLAPHAM.

From small things to great has the Clapham and District Cage Bird Society gone in the short space of a few years, and at its third show, held in the Avondale Hall on October 12th and 13th, it secured the magnificent entry of 821, made up of 406 Canaries, 189 British Birds, 49 Hybrids, 31 Foreign Birds, 117 Members', and 29 Cages. This splendid result is due no doubt to the most excellent manner in which the society's two previous fixtures have been managed, and the experience gained in the past was well utilised at the show under notice. The show committee responsible for the general arrangements were Messrs. S. Baker, J. Gooch, T. J. Hose, A. W. Masters, R. A. Newley, A. L. Priest, and A. J. Wildbore, whilst the stewards in the different sections were: Canaries, Messrs. W. J. Honeysett, A. W. Masters, A. L. Priest, G. J. Warley, and H. Yeoman; British Birds, Messrs. W. H. Vale, S. A. Sandy, W. Francis, and J. Brighty; Hybrids, Messrs. W. H. Vale and E. Sexton; Foreign Birds, Messrs. C. T. Maxwell and J. Frostick. With such earnest and enthusiastic workers it is needless to say that the work was well and truly done. The multifarious duties of the secretary were in charge of Mr. A. C. Askew, who discharged them with a tact, urbanity, and zeal that secured for him much commendation. A word of praise is due to Mrs. Askew and Mr. Baker, who rendered Mr. Askew most invaluable assistance. The Clapham Society has some good officials, and the fanciers who entrusted them with their exhibits had the satisfaction of knowing that everything was done that possibly could be done to ensure their comfort and well-being.

Norwich made a capital display both in numbers and quality, although many of the exhibits were obviously not fit. Yorkshires were a remarkably strong section, totalling 163 in the twelve classes. Twenty-six birds faced the judge, and made the largest class in the show, even as it was one of the best in quality; so close were the exhibits that one could easily have picked three sets of winners. Amongst the Hybrids the best class was that for the Light Goldfinch Mules. Mr. Shellam's clear Goldfinch-Canary is one of the best we have seen for some time. Britishers were a grand collection, and the competition very close in most classes, the bird of the section being Mr. Frostick's Dartford Warbler, which was shown in the pink of condition and health. Foreign birds were only few in number, but contained several rarities, and the section was remarkable for the excellent manner in which the birds were staged. Mr. Maxwell staged a magnificent team, and secured the bulk of the prizes. The only drawback to a most excellently managed show was the late arrival of catalogues, none being obtainable until 8.30.

The judges were: British and Foreign, Mr. W. Swaysland; Borders, Mr. R. Brownlie; Yorkshires, Mr. C. A. House; and Mr. J. Robson the remainder. It rained continuously throughout the day, and as a result the light was very bad, rendering the judge's task most difficult, and also affecting the gate. The show was opened by the Mayoress of Wandsworth (Mrs. Dawnay), who was accompanied by the Mayor, the latter congratulating the committee upon the progress the society is making, and the general excellence of the exhibits.

Yorkshires FOR ALL.

I sell the winners instead of showing them, that makes all the difference. Have on approval, make a comparison with quality and price combined with others got from just where you like—that is the favour, and only one I ask of all that read this. Remember, I keep all colours in stock. Few prices here given. Cocks, 4/6, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-; hens, 2/6, 3/6, 4/6, 5/6, 7/6, 10/6, 15/-; pairs for breeding, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-. Cages, 3d. extra.

Read one opinion, as bearing out my statements.

Bank Lane, Tenby, South Wales, October, 1910,—The pair of Yorkshires arrived safe, and in grand condition. I am more than satisfied. They are far beyond my expectations at the price. I shall not hesitate for a moment to recommend you to anyone wanting good birds. I can truthfully say that I have been honestly dealt with. G. Morgan to W. Rudd.

PARROT PROBLEM

solved. For full proofs send postcard at once for my large book, "Parrot Prattle," now containing 168 pages. This is the most wonderful book ever offered free of all charge to all Parrot fanciers. (This "Parrot Prattle" is registered copyright, and all infringers and imitators will be proceeded against). It contains hundreds of testimonials from all parts with full names and addresses, many interesting facts, and gives valuable advice and hints to all Parrot buyers. Full details of our original system of selling Parrots on four weeks' trial, at our risk, which we were the first to introduce. We sell Parrots of all descriptions on four weeks' trial, at our risk, before settlement. Cheapest and best in the Kingdom, and any Parrot sold by us and not giving full satisfaction, will be exchanged any time within twelve months. Remember we lead and others try to follow. Write to other dealers as well as us, and judge for yourselves. Lists of Parrots for sale and above book post free on receipt of postcard. Telephone No. 40 Morecambe.

BOOKLET FREE.

Finest Talking Parrots. I only deal in Parrots that will make first-class talkers; no rubbish. I am willing at all time to send my Parrots on four week's trial and three months' talking guarantee. Why? Because all my Parrots are young, strong, and reliable. My lifetime has been spent among Grey Parrots, both at home and abroad. I guarantee every customer every satisfaction. Grey Parrots are my special fancy. I have trained them, know their wants, and can give every purchaser a bird that will please him in every way. I can supply grey talkers, not thinkers, that will say almost anything, at reasonable prices. Before you purchase a grey or green Parrot, send for my Booklet, entitled "Talking Parrots." All my birds are sent on four weeks' trial, at my risk. Send postcard for catalogue.—Mrs. Forster, Princes Park Aviaries, Violet Street, Liverpool.

BOOKS THAT BIRD KEEPERS MUST HAVE.

"CAGE-BIRD HYBRIDS"

This brilliant standard work is written by CHARLES HOULTON, an authority with a reputation extending over 25 years as a leading exhibitor, expert, and judge (associate editors, G. E. Weston and C. A. House), and is being published in 8 monthly parts, at 6d. each. Magnificently illustrated in colour, and black and white by that great bird artist, Mr. H. Norman.

Out to-day. PART VII. Get it now.

2.—Redpoll-Goldfinch and Goldfinch-Siskin.

Price 6d.

Two art plates showing "The influence of the hen on shapo" and "A study in Marked Hybrids" and a budget of intensely practical information which no hybrid breeder can afford to do without.

In Chapter 31 the author explains in the fullest possible manner that highly essential point for would-be prizewinners—namely, the washing of hybrids for exhibition. Every detail is clearly explained, and the whole chapter being illustrated with numerous helpful sketches, showing how to handle the bird during the various processes of the bath, cannot fail to be of the utmost value to all.

This part also contains chapters on "Hints upon exhibiting," "The classification at shows," and an appendix on "The feeding of insectivorous birds for hybrid breeding."

The appendix alone is worth the price charged for the whole part, as the hints and instructions it contains are of a nature never before published.

Purchase this copy to-day, and we are certain when you have read it, if you are in any way interested in hybrid breeding, you will at once order the whole work, of which Parts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 are now ready.

OUR SPECIAL OFFER.

Parts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 can now be supplied for 3/10 post paid; or for 4/6 prepaid we will take orders to supply the complete work in parts as published. Send your order at once, direct to us, with remittance.

"OUR CANARIES"

The Canary Keeper's Enquire Within.

By CLAUDE ST. JOHN, General Canary Expert to "Cage Birds," assisted by over 100 of our present day Leading Breeders and Authorities. Associate Editors, C. A. HOUSE and G. E. WESTON.

PART 6 is now ready. Have you seen it?

Clear Cap Gold Lizard and Clear Yellow Scotch Fancy.

Price 6d.

Also two splendid art plates, of "Canaries of the Past" and "A Well-Matched Pair of Norwich," many helpful and original illustrations, and 24 pages of most practical and absorbing reading matter ever issued to lovers of the Canary.

The practical utility of Part 6 will be at once grasped by all canary keepers, as it contains information that they are always in need of. The birds of every breeder and keeper, whether large or small, are constantly getting out of sorts, and the author in this part explains fully and concisely the various ailments that canaries are subject to, and the best means by which they can be prevented and cured. Besides giving his own directions, Mr. St. John gives a few detailed notes on the commoner ailments of canaries and their treatment by that well-known specialist, Dr. T. A. Bowes. The fancier will find these of more than ordinary interest, the notes on wheeziness being of especially instructive nature.

Chapter 7, which commences in this part, deals with the all-important subject of Breeding, and here again, the author, when giving the time to pair up the stock birds, adds to it the experiences of that well-known and popular Scotch breeder, Mr. R. G. Joliffe, of Glasgow.

This work is of absorbing interest to all canary keepers, and now that the season has commenced, all who have not done so would be well advised for their own benefit to purchase Parts 1 to 6, which are now ready.

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers In all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insistedupon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or, if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6 according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

UNDISPLAYED.—6d. for the first eighteen words. One Halfpenny per Word for each word over eighteen. MINIMUM, 18 words 6d.

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the Advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

WHAT OTHER MAN

In the trade would make such an offer as I have made for years past, viz., have any of my appliances on approval, test them side by side with similar articles from elsewhere, and if mine or not better value at lower price, smash them up and I will refund the whole of your money. For several years this offer has been made, but never yet has one article been broken up, nor have I ever been told that anything of mine came out of the test second best. This fact alone should prove to you who is the man to supply you with tip-top value at rock-bottom price. Clap nets made from ¾-inch mesh, genuine thread netting specially knitted for bird netting, 3 yards long, 5½ feet deep, 4 feet fly, 4/- pair; ditto, 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/-; 7 yards, 8/-; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. Please note, these clap nets consist of two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed full measurement as stated, and are fitted up with stavos, poles, pegs, hemp lines, and everything complete ready for immediate use; sparrow nets, fitted complete on 15 feet bamboo poles, 5/6; ditto, on 17 feet poles, 6/-; ditto on 19 feet poles, 6/6; Lark nets, 15 yards by 10 feet, 12/-; 18 yards, 15/-; 20 yards, 17/-; 25 yards, 21/-; 30 yards, 24/-; lined and geared ready for use. Real Italian hemp pull lines, specially spun, free from snarl or stretch, and strong as boat lines, 68 yards long, 1/4 each, post free. Loose netting, same as used in above clap nets, ¾-inch mesh, 7 feet deep, 3d. yard; ditto, 9 feet deep, 4d. yard; ditto, 12 feet deep, 5d. yard, post free. This netting must not be confused with the thick American cotton netting, which is often sold for bird netting; mine is made from 60s. 3-ply thread, is very fine but strong, and does not show on the ground. Lark netting, 1¼-inch mesh, 10 feet deep, 4d. yard, post free. The original Japanese bird-lime, guaranteed strongest lime made, will hold any Hawk or Rook that flies, does not run in sun, will hold even in the rain, and leaves the feathers clean in all cases, ¼-lb. 6d., ½-lb. 10d., 1 lb. 1/6, sample 3d., all post free. Self-acting spring net traps, 24 inches long, 18 inches wide, 1/-; ditto, 18 inches long, 9d. each. These net traps are by far the largest and most effective traps on the market. They can be baited for Hardbills and Softbills at same time, call bird can be used inside them if desired, and will catch and hold uninjured any bird from Wren to Rook. Cannot get out of order, and so simple that any child can set them. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages, guaranteed to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each. Single trap cages, 6d. each; double ditto, 1/- each; treble ditto, 1/3 each; all with separate compartment for call bird. Round or square-topped call cages, all wire tops and wood bottoms, close wired, coloured green, and made by cage-makers, not navvies, 4d. each, 3/- dozen. Store cages and everything required by catchers always in stock. Send stamp for printed price list and hints on net making. All nets thoroughly tested before sent out, and sent on approval on the distinct understanding that you get all your money back if not perfectly satisfactory in every way. All goods are of same sterling quality as before, as I have not sacrificed quality for price. Remember that a useless pair of nets are dear at any price, but a good pair will catch their cost in an hour or so. See following letters and then judge for yourself: "20, Williamstreet, Witham Green, Boston, September 6th.—Sir, —Please send pair nets as follows. Two year ago I had a pair from ———, which were supposed to be rot-proof, but now they are completely rotten.—Yours, H. French." "Press Wood, nr. Whitchurch, September 5th.—Sir,—Please send following. I was very pleased with your netting; it has made a good pair nets.—Yours, S. Gibbons." "2, Lake-street, Barsiem.—Sir,—I am highly satisfied with clap nets and drinkers, so now please send following.—Yours, J. Dean." "53, Liverpool-road, South Birkdale.—Sir,—Please send 1b. lime. That I had from you last year was best I ever had. I have some from ———, but it is no use; I have missed over 70 in four days with it.—Yours, R. Makinson." "Mount Pleasant, Newburgh, Fife.—Sir,—I am again sending for bird-lime from you. I have got it the last three years, and it is best I ever had; no bother taking the birds off the twigs.—Yours, J. Panton." "56a, Napierston-terrace, Jamestown. Sir, Please send following goods. I had three net traps some time ago from elsewhere, but they are useless. Yours, E. Bridgman." "Jessop-street, Codnor. Sir,—Please send following. The last nets I had from you worked a treat, and come over like a flash of lightning. Just the thing for sharp birds.—Yours, P. Watson." Send your orders to the man who knows what is required for successful catching, and you will not be disappointed. I supply the leading professional catchers throughout the world. These are men who get their living by catching, and must have best appliances; so surely if I can satisfy them I can satisfy you. Remember, all on approval, cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system. See British Bird column for further advertisement.

FREEMAN'S TONIC DROPS.

The grandest general medicine ever introduced for all cage birds, British or Foreign. Simply add to their drinking-water. Suit all sizes from the Tit to the Parrot. In tuberculosis or Canary plague, consumption, or going light, congestion of the liver, general weakness, and disposition to mope, and for helping through the moult, Freeman's Tonic Drops are unequalled. They are sold by most respectable fanciers' supply stores in 6d., 1/-, and 2/6 bottles. If you cannot get them close at hand, send direct to us, and we will forward any size post free: Freemans' Veterinary Chemists, Icknield-st., Birmingham. Refuse all substitutes and insist on having

THESE ARE NOT CURE-ALLS!

"ASTHMARINE" positively cures asthma and all affections of the lungs, 9d. and 2/6 per bottle. Read one opinion:—

Cannot Speak Too Highly.

"Willowdene," Sherfield Road, Grays, Essex, October 16th, 1910,—Will you please send to above address one bottle of "Asthmarine"? I cannot speak too highly of it. You will find amount enclosed. F. W. Pollock to W. Rudd.

NORWICH TONIC DROP is the grandest pick-me-up the Fancy ever knew, and used before and after showing is invaluable, also for birds at all out of condition; but it will not cure coughs (funny if it did!), 9d. and 2/5 per bottle. Read one opinion:—

23, Garton Street, Regent Street, London, W., October 16th, 1910,—Will you please send another bottle of Tonic Drops, it puts fresh life into the bird. I have enclosed stamps to the amount, 9d. Miss C. Burton to W. Rudd.

about my advts. is this: I am always most careful to correctly describe any birds I offer, and always understate rather than exaggerate their qualities and value. If you notice, I never call a bird a "massive giant," or "enormous monster," when in reality it is only an ordinary specimen; but I do say this—if a man sends to me for birds and expects to get birds just as advertised, then he always gets exactly what he expects. That is why I am always so willing to send on approval, and why birds are never returned to me as being misrepresented. I have a huge stock of genuine Worcestershire netted cock Goldfinches, all warranted in pink of health and condition, and well on seed, at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-; specially selected larger cocks for moulting, for exhibition, or muling, and guaranteed now in song, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 17/-; few extra special clean moulted cocks in full colour and superb condition, with good broad skulls, square blaze, properly tanned and buttoned, etc., and fit for keenest competition, 3/-, 4/-, 5/-, each; hen Goldfinches, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/0, twelve 6/-; splendid lot cock Siskins, all clean moulted, and faultless condition, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 15/-; few large yellow exhibition specimens, with jet black cap, good bibs, and thigh lacing, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; hen Siskins 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/0, twelve 6/-; yellow hens, smothered with lacing, 1/6 each; splendid lot cock brown Linnets, all clean moulted, with rose rod breasts, and nut brown backs, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; few larger picked birds, for muling or contest singing, and warranted now in song, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; exhibition specimens, exquisitely pencilled and correct type, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; cock Bullfinches 1/6 and 2/- each; exhibition specimens 3/- each; hen Bullfinches 1/- and 1/6 each; cock Greenfinches 6d. each, three 1/-; cock Chaffinches 8d. each, three 1/6; exhibition Greenfinches and Chaffinches 1/- each; Redpolls 0d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; cock Larks 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; hand-reared cock Larks, finger tame and singing well, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, and 7/6 each; young Canaries 2/6 couple, 12/- dozen; Roller cocks in full song, 5/6 and 6/6 each; handsome hand-reared cock Jay, finger-tame, chattering and whistling all day, sure to make a champion, 6/-; Linnet, Goldfinch, and Bullfinch cages, 6d. each, 4/6 dozen; Lark cages 6d. and 8d. each, 4/- and 6/- dozen; 1d. tin drinkers 6d. dozen; 3 dozen 1/3, gross 4/-; zinc ditto 9d. dozen, 3 dozen 2/-, 6/- gross; wholesale cage list on application. Kindly note, despite the many assertions of persons claiming to hold largest stocks of birds in Midland Counties, I emphatically assert that I have more British birds in stock at present time than any other three dealers in Midlands, and am willing to prove it at any time. All birds are guaranteed to be well on seed before sent out, and purchasers from me run no risk of being prosecuted for having fresh caught birds in their possession, as I have an arrangement with my catchers (who are stationed in various parts of Worcestershire) whereby they keep the birds in their charge until the necessary time has elapsed to enable the birds to be kept in any part of British Isles, without fear or favour. All are sent on approval, on receipt of cash, or deposit system of "Cage Birds," and if they fail to prove entirely satisfactory, they only have to be returned and back comes the whole of your money. See Appliance Column for further advt.

The following will bear repeating this week.

DO YOU WANT a Stock or Exhibition Plainheaded Norwich Cock or Hen?
DO YOU WANT a Stock or Exhibition Crested Cock or Hen?
DO YOU WANT a Stock or Exhibition Crested Bred Cock or Hen?
DO YOU WANT a Stock or Exhibition Yorkshire Cock or Hen?
DO YOU WANT a Stock or Exhibition Lizard Cock or Hen?
DO YOU WANT a Stock or Exhibition any other Variety?
DO YOU WANT an Exhibition Mule or Hybrid?

If so, write me for particulars, stating exactly your requirements, enclosing stamped envelope, when you will receive a quick and courteous reply.

Amateurs, Breed your own Winners!

If you will allow me, I can put you right in this, with either a pair of Norwich Plainheads, a pair of Yorkshires, or a pair of Lizards, at 12/6, 15/-, and 20/- per pair. I mean, that I will match them scientifically for this purpose personally, and just as though I was doing it for myself. Remember it is absolutely useless spending money on good birds if they are not matched in the correct and best possible way to get good results; hence, it is futile to go to people that know little or nothing about this important branch of the Fancy, whether they call themselves "practical" specialists, or whether they are "special copyists."

NOVICES SPECIAL BARGAINS.

I will match you Norwich or Yorkshires in the correct way; i.e., NOT two buffs, as the majority do when supplying the novice at a low price. All the birds I am offering here shall have cocks that have started to sing, and shall be selected as strong, hardy birds, likely to do all that you require of them, at 7/6, 8/6, and 10/6 per pair. I will also fit you up with a double breeding cage, with everything complete for use, for 3/6 extra; or a better cage, with sand-drawers, sanitary fittings, etc., for 5/- extra; this latter recommended; with the utmost confidence of satisfaction I offer these bargains.

Preston Contest Rollers

are always one price, 10/- only, and every bird a bargain, on 14 days' trial at our risk; deposit your money; trust no one; no fancy prices here. You can't beat our celebrated Preston Contest Rollers, at double the price elsewhere. Full particulars and catalogue post free: Bairstow's Aviaries, Preston.

HAVE YOU MISSED

my advert. from this column? The reason I have not advertised Rollers before this is because they were not in full song, and I think everyone will agree with me that it is far better to wait a few weeks and have birds thoroughly trained and in full song than to purchase half trained birds just coming in song. I now have a huge stock of the genuine Leipzig Rollers, all 1910 bred birds, and now in full song day and gaslight, with long hollow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, bell, harp, flute, and gong notes and jug-jug of Nightingale, and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh notes whatever, price 6/- to 7/- each; Roller hens, 3/6 couple. I also have a big stock of loud, free singing Hartz cocks, in full, vigorous song, price 4/6 each, seven for 26s. 3d. Hartz hens, 2/6 couple, 12/- dozen. All Rollers are imported direct from Leipzig, are stamped on wing, and guaranteed exactly same strain as have been sold by me with such remarkable success for years past, and as I am the sole importer of these Leipzig Rollers, no other dealer can sell one feather of these birds unless he first purchases from me. All are safely and warmly packed free of extra cost, and sent on a full week's trial either on receipt of cash or CAGE BIRDS' deposit system, and money refunded in full if every satisfaction is not given. See British Bird and Appliance columns for further adverts.

Exhibition and Stock Birds.

Just one testimonial out of scores similar received during past week:—11, Kyme Street, York, October 16th, 1910,—I am simply delighted with the exhibition Yorkshire cock you sent me, and is the best I ever had from any fancier. Shall be sending you more orders on later. H. Sayles to J. Taylor. Grand selection now ready, and all clean moulted, healthy, and cold-room bred and kept. Colour fed to perfection, and natural colour. If you wish to win, then place your order with the old, reliable firm, who supplied over 100 winners last season to customers, and avoid disappointment. Please state your wants. Grand yellow Yorkshire cocks at 8/-, 7/-, 8/8, 10/8, 12/6, 15/- each. Buff cocks, at 5/-, 6/-, 7/-, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each. All on full soug and seven inches long. In clears, ticked, marked, and cinnamon marked, pairs, carefully matched to breed winners, at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/- per pair. Champion racy, stylish hens, yellows and buffs, at 3/-, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, 7/-, 8/6, 10/6 each. Exhibition cocks and hens, that can win at members' and local shows, at 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. (Worth double the prices.) Also some that can win in keen competition at very reasonable prices. Please state wants; correspondence a pleasure. Send for my new illustrated price list, post free. Travelling cages 3d. extra. Seven days' approval, at my risk. Distance no object. Export orders a speciality.

Dykes' Yorkshires.

My birds have won scores of prizes during the last few weeks in keenest competition. See show reports at Coventry, Crewe, Laisterdyke, Frome, etc., etc. in this issue. If you want Yorkshires for show or stock birds, or a songster, I shall be only too pleased to send you same on approval; deposit your money with Editor, and if not entirely satisfied, return it, and I will pay carriage back. I do this, well knowing I can give you satisfaction, as I sent scores of birds on this system during last season, and never a single deposit to return (Editor holds proof). My birds are all cold-room bred and kept, healthy, clean, tight feathered, and possess that bit of breed so much admired in a true Yorkshire, and the prices suit all pockets.

Long, slim, typical, yellow Yorkshire cocks at 6/-, 8/6, 10/6, 12/8, 15/-, 20/- each; extra good buff cocks at 6/-, 6/8, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/- each, all on full song and seven inches long (some over), fine feathered, racy yellow hens at 4/-, 5/-, 6/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6. Buff hens at 3/6, 4/6, 6/6, 8/6, 10/6 each. Pairs, cock and hen, sex guaranteed, and selected to breed winners at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/- per pair upwards, in Clears, Ticked, and Varlegated; also few Even Marked, Colour-fed to perfection, or Natural Colour. Neat travelling cages, 3d. extra.

Exhibition cocks and hens, including some that have won prizes at recent shows, at reasonable prices; also some good cocks and hens, that can win at small shows, at 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. Specially selected songsters at 6/6, 8/6, 10/6 each; also some large, high-class Norwich and Crests. Easy payments arranged with genuine fanciers. State wants. All birds sent on seven days' approval, at my risk. Inspection invited at any time, or on receipt of post card I will send you my new price list (together with copies of hundreds of testimonials from all parts), post free.

solved. For full proofs send postcard at once for my large book, "Parrot Prattle," now containing 168 pages. This is the most wonderful book ever offered free of all charge to all Parrot fanciers. (This "Parrot Prattle" is registered copyright, and all infringers and imitators will be proceeded against). It contains hundreds of testimonials from all parts with full names and addresses, many interesting facts, and gives valuable advice and hints to all Parrot buyers. Full details of our original system of selling Parrots on four weeks' trial, at our risk, which we were the first to introduce. We sell Parrots of all descriptions on four weeks' trial, at our risk, before settlement. Cheapest and best in the Kingdom, and any Parrot sold by us and not giving full satisfaction, will be exchanged any time within twelve months. Remember we lead and others try to follow. Write to other dealers as well as us, and judge for yourselves. Lists of Parrots for sale and above book post free on receipt of postcard. Telephone No. 40 Morecambe.

Finest Talking Parrots. I only deal in Parrots that will make first-class talkers; no rubbish. I am willing at all time to send my Parrots on four week's trial and three months' talking guarantee. Why? Because all my Parrots are young, strong, and reliable. My lifetime has been spent among Grey Parrots, both at home and abroad. I guarantee every customer every satisfaction. Grey Parrots are my special fancy. I have trained them, know their wants, and can give every purchaser a bird that will please him in every way. I can supply grey talkers, not thinkers, that will say almost anything, at reasonable prices. Before you purchase a grey or green Parrot, send for my Booklet, entitled "Talking Parrots." All my birds are sent on four weeks' trial, at my risk. Send postcard for catalogue.—Mrs. Forster. Princes Park Aviaries, Violet Street, Liverpool.

GLASGOW (West End) C.B.C.

Meeting held in Clarendon Hall October 14, Mr. A. Miller presiding over a very good attendance. One new member was enrolled, Mr. John Aitken. Three trophies have been very kindly presented to the club for competition. These were brought for the members to view, and were greatly admired. Interest in their competition at the forthcoming show promised to be very keen. They are: (1) A very handsome silver challenge rose bowl, presented by our Hon. President, Douglas Pearson, Esq., for best young bird in Crest and Norwich Plainhead sections. (2) A beautiful silver challenge cup, presented by one of our esteemed members, W. Gibb Macnab, Esq., for best young bird in Border Fancy and Yorkshire sections. (3) A splendid silver cup, presented by "Glasgow School of Massage," given to the secretary, the conditions of competition being left with him. It was allotted to the best young bird in the Mule and Hybrid sections. Above trophies are to be competed for annually, and to be won three times (not necessarily in succession) before becoming the property of the exhibitor. On the motion of the President (Mr. A. Miller), seconded by Mr. A. Crawford, "That this club accords many thanks to each of the donors of these very handsome trophies," it was taken up by the whole meeting and accorded enthusiastically. The members were then entertained to a fine lecture on the "Management of British Softbills," by Mr. Edmund Taylor, one of our most noted and experienced fanciers. At all the leading shows he has always a splendid team out, staged to perfection. Softbills, I may say, are Mr. Taylor's special study. In his opening remarks, he said he had a very wide and difficult subject to deal with, as there were between 60 and 70 different species of Softbills, large and small. Of this number he had kept considerably over one half at one time and another, and he would give the members the benefit of his experience. The smaller and more delicate Softbills had always been his favourites, as they were more interesting to study than the larger ones. He also keeps a few Hardbills. Mr. Taylor dealt with the cages suitable for Softbills. He advises the box pattern with sand trays of zinc, size of cage 12 inches high and 10 from back to front. An all-wire cage would be unsuitable, as it would be the cause of them losing their claws. The foods Mr. Taylor uses, among others, are Trowers' "Cecto" and Galloways' "Life." His mode of feeding during winter is dried ants' eggs, silkworms, pupae, and dried flies; the latter he puts great faith in. Mr. Taylor dealt with what Softbill birds would be best for a beginner, and mentioned Wheatear, Wagtail, or a Blackcap. Mr. Taylor now turned to the showing, and was eloquent on the opinion of Scottish judges; they invariably wanted colour, rarity being a secondary consideration with them, while the more delicate ones were barely ever noticed. In his opinion, the keeping of some of these rare birds, such as a Gold Crest, Tree Creeper, or Crested Tit, cannot be greatly indulged in, or some more favourable consideration would be shown to the fancier who took a pride in keeping them and delighted in his success in getting them into show condition. Among the most desirable Softbills for showing are the Redstart, Grey Wagtail, and Bearded Tit, although Mr. Taylor inclines to favour the Redstart, as he is such an attractive little bird, the Blackbird, Mavis, and Starling. Mr. Taylor hopes societies in Scotland will soon see their way to allocate classes for them as so many fanciers keep them. As to singing, he advises all fanciers to show their Softbill birds in suitable cages; this makes all the difference. This interesting lecture being concluded, Mr. Taylor was asked a great many questions, which he very ably answered. A very hearty vote of thanks being accorded to the lecturer and to the chairman brought one of the club's largest and most enjoyable evenings to a close.

Prize money won at our cage bird show has been paid, and specials will follow as soon as possible, writes Mr. A. G. King, sec. of the Frome F.A.

Clapham show report gives Mr. Wright as 3rd in the unflighted novice Yorkshires; it should be credited to me.—Miss HALL (London, S.W.).

Entries are slow coming in, writes Mr. W. J. Davies, sec. of the Tredharris F.S.; we have only 8 entries in 15 classes. I hope exhibitors will help us.

I have been elected to judge the Alnwick Ornithological Cage Bird section on November 5, writes Mr. E. Floyd (Ashington).

Kindly note that I have resigned my position as hon. sec. to the Larne and Dis. C.B.A., writes Mr. Wm. Geddis. I now have no connection whatever with that society.

Mr. F. C. Sims, sec. of the Barnsley Cage Bird Society, writes to thank the gentlemen who have applied for schedules, and to state that same will be sent in due course.

Chopwell show report in the Redpoll, Siskin, or Twite class, only credits me with being third. I was 2nd and 3rd. It credits Widdowfield with 2nd.—GEO. TAYLOR (Newcastle-on-Tyne).

Schedules of the Swansea and Dis. C.B.S. have been posted to all last year's exhibitors; will those who have not received them kindly let me know, writes Mr. S. H. George, the sec.

All prize money has been paid for the Clapham show, except specials, which will be sent later; will anyone not having received their prize money please notify me?—A. C. ASKEW, sec.

Mr. T. Yates, of Reading, is judging the members' show on November 3, of the Oxford and Dis. C.B.S., and we have over £3 for specials, prizes, writes Mr. C. F. Holliday, the hon. sec.

Messrs. T. Heath (Canaries), H. Norman (British), and C. T. Maxwell (foreign), are the judges for our annual show on November 18 and 19, writes Mr. V. Wynn, hon. sec., City and Suburban A.C.B.

We have received a postcard for schedule from South Bank, Yorkshire, with no name and address attached, so cannot send until hearing again, write Messrs Abbott and Austen, secs. of Dover show.

Any member not having paid his annual contributions on or before October 29 will be debarred from exhibiting at the annual show on November 7, writes Mr. B. Bailey, sec. of the Rotherham C.B.S.

Will fanciers kindly note that entries will be extended until Tuesday, October 25; so don't forget Wolverhampton, and send up a "bumper," writes Mr. J. Gibbons, hon. sec., Wolverhampton C.B.S.

I have been appointed secretary pro tem, and Mr. Joseph Rogan, assistant secretary pro tem, of the Larne and Dis. C.B.A., in succession to Mr. W. Geddis, resigned, writes Mr. Wm. Kane, jun., 3, Mill Street, Larne.

The Chesterfield and Dis. C.B.S. will be closed for membership after November 10. It is now open to a radius of 8 miles, and we have over 20 classes for members in our schedule.—C. H. NAYLOR, hon. sec.

We are expecting to have 1,000 schedules out by this week-end; will any fancier whom we may happen to miss, please send word, and we will forward him a schedule?—G. HAVVER, sec. of the Blaydon-on-Tyne C.B.S.

Kindly accept my thanks for the grand report in CAGE BIRDS of our show, writes Mr. Jos. Brown, sec. of the Chopwell and Dis. F.S. All prize money was paid on October 15; if any were overlooked, will they kindly write me?

Will members of the City of Wakefield O.S. kindly note, write Messrs. Parker and Parkes, the hon. secs., that entries for the members' show must be at headquarters by first post on the day of show, birds to be staged at 3 o'clock?

There has been a splendid application for schedules of our show on October 26 and 27, writes Mr. J. C. Bell, sec. Border City (Carlisle) O.S. If those overlooked will send on their entries by first post Monday, I will be pleased to classify.

We had a good number of visitors at our members' show on October 15, writes Mr. J. Cope, sec. of the Oldham and Dis. C.B.S. I must thank our late sec., Mr. Steeple, for his most valuable assistance during the show. According to the catalogue, Mr. Hampshire is credited with winning the cup, but after looking the awards through I find that Mr. Addison equals Mr. Hampshire in points, but draws more prize money from birds nominated for the cup, so that Mr. Addison wins cup.

Will secretaries of societies catering for the Border Fancy please forward schedules? writes Mr. F. Wardleworth (Rosencath, Willis Road, Adswood, Stockport).

Open Roller competition, guaranteed prize money, 22s. each class, by J. Norris, Esq., secretary, B.R.C.C., Dulwich and Peckham members' show, November 8. Schedules, Tomsett and Richardson, 34, Endwell Road, Brockley.—(Advt.)

Our schedules are ready, and the show is confined to members of any workmen's club in the county of Durham, writes Mr. J. H. E'well, sec., Old Shildon Workmen's Club C.B.S. Mr J. Stanger is judge. I will send schedules out to anyone in want of same.

The Tunbridge Wells and Dis. F.A.'s members' show will be held in the Friendly Societies' Hall, on October 26, when there is expected to be a good show of cage birds in the seven classes provided. The show will be open at 6.30 p.m.—H. G. WHIBLEY, hon. sec.

Will members of the Selston and Dis. F.S. kindly note, write Messrs. Parker and Parkes, due, and that all must be paid on or before October 28? writes Mr. F. Maltby, the hon. sec. I have asked the society to get someone else to take my position after December 3.

Intending exhibitors at Hartlepools' show on October 29 are requested to note the correction in this week's show advt., writes Mr. E. Woodhead, the hon. sec. Up to the time of writing we have not received a single entry for the open classes. I sincerely trust that fancier friends will rally round us and help make the show a success. Anyone not having received a schedule may send me particulars of entry, and I will classify.

There are two or three errors in our schedule, writes Mr. A. S. Treasure, hon. sec. of the Cheltenham C.B.S. The specials given by the Crested Canary Club are confined to members of the club. The two 10-guinea bowls in the Crest section are not for competition at Cheltenham, and there is only our 21s. special, not nine as stated. The particulars re prize money, etc., at the bottom of page 3 should be at the top of page 5.

The Plumstead and Woolwich C.B.S. will have on view at their show on Saturday next, October 22, at Holy Trinity Schools, Beresford Street, Woolwich, the Goldfinch Mule which was bred from the hen Goldie Mule and a cock Canary, write Messrs. Dibley and Meades, the secs. Also the pair from which it was bred. We think this is the first time such a cross has been on the show bench. This is the bird that was written about in CAGE BIRDS some time back by the breeder, Mr. Mallett.

We hear that the judges at the Brussels International Exhibition have awarded three grand prizes and two diplomas of honour to Messrs. Spratt's Patent Limited, for the superior excellence of their world-renowned dog, poultry, and cage-bird foods. During the 50 years of their existence, Messrs. Spratt's have had many honours showered upon them, among the most recent being the grand prizes gained by them at the Franco-British and Japan-British Exhibitions, a fact which speaks volumes for the deserved confidence placed in their manufactures.

Now that the winter season is approaching, we commend to the notice of bird-keepers a booklet entitled "Pure Heat," which has just been issued by the makers of the famous Clark's Syphon Stoves. While most economical both in cost and gas consumed, these stoves have acquired a world-wide reputation for efficiency and reliability, while the principle of construction makes them absolutely hygienic and healthful. As a means of supplying pure heat in birdrooms and aviaries, they cannot be surpassed; there is no possible danger, and the heat can be regulated to a nicety. That well-known fancier, Mr. H. J. Fulljames, has sent Messrs. Clark's a testimonial expressing his high satisfaction with these Syphon Stoves when used in his birdroom. Readers should write for a copy of "Pure Heat" to Clark's Syphon Stove Co., Ltd., 132, Queen Victoria St., London, E.C.; mention CAGE BIRDS when applying.

Grand Entry at Newcastle.

"Entries have come up splendidly; grand total 1,600.—T. C. Crawhall." We receive this telegram just as we go to Press from the secretary of Newcastle-on-Tyne show, which, as readers will remember, is not held under Cage Bird Union rules.

Cinnamon-marked Y.C.C.

I should like to draw the attention of members of our club to the following rules, viz., "that members must have been enrolled one month before they can compete for club's special prizes"; also "that all subscriptions are due on April 1st in each year"; also "junior novices who are competing for their novice medal in Y.U. may show as many birds as they choose, but only three entries may count for junior novice special prizes; all members making more than three entries must star the 3 birds and mark same C.M.C. Competition; otherwise such member will be considered not competing."—GRAYSHON AND ALLEN, hon. secs.

Gateshead's New Secretary.

Owing to change in business arrangements I shall not have the time at my disposal necessary to work a large society like ours, and have therefore resigned the secretaryship, writes Mr. T. Taylor, of the Gateshead and Dis. C.B.S. I am glad to inform you that the committee have been successful in obtaining in my place two well-known and respected fanciers to act as joint secretaries, viz., Messrs. A. Holden (present assist. sec.), and W. Curry (late joint sec., Newcastle), 35, Rodsley Avenue, Gateshead. I feel sure all members will give them their cordial support; and intending exhibitors at our forthcoming show may have every confidence that their interests will be well safeguarded.

FALSE SENTIMENT.

Birds in Pies or Birds in Cages: Which?

Mr. Ernest Bell, the editor of the "Animals' Friend," is again on the warpath attacking birdkeepers. He says we must try to place ourselves in the position of the subject of the practice. Now how in the name of magic can we convert ourselves into birds or realise with a bird's brain the state of intelligent domestication? I don't know how Mr. Bell converts his mind into that of a bird's, but it certainly seems questionable as to whether it is that of a well-balanced human being. He has, with misguided zeal, circulated letters amongst the Press attacking our hobby, with the object, no doubt, of bolstering up the funds of the society and the magazine he is connected with and obtaining advertisements on the cheap. If he directed his attention to the thousands of Larks and Thrushes that are slaughtered annually for poulterers' purposes, he would be spending his time more profitably, and with truer humanitarianism. As a matter of fact, the efforts of such cranks as Bell have caused an alteration in the view taken of the Wild Birds' Protection Act, with the consequence that now, whereas it is penal to bring a single Lark alive into the County of Middlesex with the object of housing him comfortably, feeding him attentively, and making a pet of him, it is permissible to bring in Larks with their necks wrung by the score to make pies for sham sentimentalists. I have before me at this moment the advertisement of a Surrey fishmonger asking for 1,000 dead Larks and Thrushes every week! What has Mr. Bell to say to that?

WANTED.—1,000 BLACKBIRDS and THRUSHES EVERY WEEK.
O. A. CRITCHLEY, Fishmonger, Poulterer and Game Dealer, Duke Street, Henley-on-Thames.

Mr. Bell says that caging birds is opposed to all that is natural, and therefore must be wrong. It is natural for birds to perish miserably in myriads from frost and hunger and the assaults of other birds and animals. It is natural for them to peck their weaker brothers and sisters to death. It is natural for them to impale insects on thorns. It is natural for them to destroy grain and fruit until they have ruined the farmer. It is natural for them to multiply to such an extent that they become a curse instead of a blessing. Does Mr. Bell still contend that because all these things are natural, they are necessarily RIGHT?

Man's whole life is a constant fight against nature, and in caging birds intelligently within reasonable limits and looking studiously after their wants, he obeys one of the best instincts of his nature. Let us give the best reply we can to him and his kind by showing how comfortably sleek, well-fed, and happy our pets can be when not exposed to the assaults of that ruthless Dame Nature whom Mr. Bell exalts beyond her due.

It is not the principle of bird-keeping that deserves attack, but the abuse and tyranny of careless and brutal folk who keep birds and traffic in them wantonly without understanding or sympathy.

Crested Canary Club.

The Crested Canary Club full support does not include the two £10 10s. bowls at each show. These are offered once only in each show season; this year at the L.C.B.A. show held at the Horticultural Hall.—J. S. CLARKE, hon. sec.

Deserved Old Age Pensions.

A pair of Wrynecks, presumably the same, came back for sixty years to the same nesting-hole, Mr. E. Thompson Seton tells the readers of the "Girls Own Paper"; we are afraid, however, that Mr. Seton is carrying the presumption too far.

Hybrids in Australia.

I have had the good luck, writes Mr. A. Geo. Boardman (North Fitzroy, Australia), to rear another couple of Hybrids this season between a Zebra Finch and a Diamond Sparrow. They are a pair of little beauties. The cock bird has the Diamond build, but instead of having the black band on the chest he is striped like the Zebra, with a pink tail barred with white.

"Raising the Wind."

A member of the Wood Green F. and F.S. presented a cake to the club under novel circumstances, writes a correspondent. It was open for anybody to pick up the cake and guess its weight, the nearest approach to have same as a prize. The entrance fee was 2d. each. The cake was won by Mr. Heinze; weight of cake was 11lbs. 9ozs., and five entrants gave 11lbs. 8ozs., so we drew the winner from the hat. 105 entrants at 2d. each; result, 17s. 6d. realised.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

BUCKHAVEN.

Buckhaven and Dist. C.B.S. held their third annual show, Oct. 15th, in the Free Gardeners Hall, where they received the total entry of 300, this being about 30 more than last year; and considering the fact that another show of the same kind was being held at Lochgelly, only a few miles distant, the management were satisfied with the support they received. Office bearers: President, Mr. A. Peters; vice-president, Mr. T. Brown; treasurer, Mr. R. Davidson; secretary, Mr. W. Forster, who, with their committee, had every detail attended to in an admirable manner. A few classes had, unfortunately, to be cancelled in the various sections, including the whole of the Scotch Fancies, owing to lack of support; but the quality of the exhibits all throughout was of a high standard. The hall is really ideal, as there is any amount of floor space; the roof is high, and well lighted, and as the doors leading to the hall were kept always shut, there was no fear of draughts. The Border section took pride of place; it contained some gems of real merit. Mr. T. Arnott (Kirkcaldy) had the handling of this section. This was his first turn-out as a judge. His awards were subjected to severe criticism; but as there was an entire absence of grumbling Mr. Arnott has to be congratulated on his successful debut. The other sections were in the capable hands of Messrs. Allan Chalmers (Kirkintilloch) for Norwich, etc., and P. Pettigrew (Glasgow) for British; and their awards also were well received.

DENTON.

Denton and Dis. C.B.S. was initiated in the Fancy on October 8th, when they made a bold debut. The society is connected with the Brotherhood ("D.B.") of the town, who have very nice club rooms, which are the headquarters of the society. The gate receipts and exhibits were sufficient to guarantee success. Dr. Duigenan (president) performed the opening ceremony, and spoke of the knowledge to be gained by institutions of this kind, and wished them every success in their venture. A vote of thanks was passed to him by Mr. Blease, seconded by Mr. Stansfield. The secretary (Mr. W. Hopwood) and stewards (Messrs. J. Harrison, Stansfield, Foden, and Blease) are to be congratulated upon the way in which they attended to the comforts of exhibitors and spectators. Judging was in the capable hands of Mr. W. Booth (Hyde), who gave every satisfaction. Extra specials were received by Messrs. Hopwood Bros., Gatley, Holden, and J. Harrison. Points specials: Messrs. Hopwood Bros. (48), Holden (32), Blease and Son (31), Midgley (22), Ridgard (21), Solway (16), Oliver (16), Gatley (13), Stansfield (12), J. Harrison (12), Gregory (11), Gavin and Broadhurst (11), Pixton (10), J. W. Harrison (7), Higgs (6), Diggins (5), Foden (1). Messrs. Marlor Bros. cancelled their entries through a bereavement.

COVENTRY (Godiva).

The Coventry Godiva C.B.S. fourth annual show held at Chequers Hotel, Little Park street, on October 15th. The show was held under Cage Bird Union Rules. The entry was a good one, and the quality was above the average, some very fine specimens putting in an appearance. The arrangements were well carried out by Mr. W. H. Bray, the hard-working and indefatigable secretary, whose heart is in his work. He was ably assisted by Mr. H. Ward, the assistant secretary, and by the stewards, Messrs. J. Symonds, A. Symonds, J. Blackshaw, J. Ingram, A. Wright, T. A. Conke, Mann, W. Wilberley, H. Wilght, W. H. Watson, M. Gentry, A. J. Lucas, S. Coxlell, and M. McDoodle. The president and treasurer is Mr. J. Busby, the chairman show manager Mr. H. Saunders (who is the right man in the right place), and the vice-chairman Mr. E. Boycroft. Mr. J. Robson judged.

PELTON FELL (co. Durham)

First annual open show, held in conjunction with their fifth members' show, Oct. 15th. The show was held in the Old Institute Hall, a really grand place for the purpose, being large and roomy, with plenty of top light, and quite free from draughts. Entries came up well, totalling about 300. The foremost classes being those for Norwich, Yorkshire, Borders, Linnets, and Mules. The exhibits were a very level lot, and every class contained birds of real merit. In the Mule class Mr. J. Maddison swept the deck, his noted light Linnet Mule trading. In Mr. Lance Hall the society possess a secretary who evidently has the interests of the society at heart, and he gets through his work in a most satisfactory manner, and is most courteous and obliging. He is ably backed up by a most hard working committee, all fanciers, consisting of the genial chairman (Mr. J. Stanger), vice-chairman (Mr. W. Davidson), treasurer (Mr. W. Forster), and Messrs. R. W. Boyd, W. Adam, J. H. Elliott, T. Elliott, A. Forster, G. Elliott, G. Peachey, and T. Richardson. The "Armstrong" special for most points with six nominated birds was won by Mr. J. Stanger. Fine weather prevailed, and we were pleased to see a good attendance of visitors. The judges were Messrs. J. Hands (Ryton), and J. Shepherd (Newcastle), the former taking Canaries and the latter British, Mules, and Foreign.

Nests of Birds, Poultry, etc., should be regularly sprinkled with KEATING'S POWDER, especially when hens are sitting. Don't forget to do this just previous to the eggs hatching, to destroy the Red Mite. It kills all insects, harmless to everything else.

LEEDS.

Twentieth annual exhibition of the Leeds C.B.S., held October 15th. A spacious room connected with the St. George's Schools was utilised. The entry proved a great success, 500 specimens being on view. Norwich were the feature of the show, some magnificent birds being present. Yorkshires also were a grand collection, and the British birds added greatly to the attraction of the carnival. President F. Somers, Esq., M.R.C.V.S.; committee of management, Messrs. P. Whiteley (chairman), F. Farrar (vice), G. Hallet, A. Chew, J. Owen, C. E. Hall, Seth Fowler, D. McMillan, jun., W. Hornby, Leo Smith, Hy. Smith, E. Norton, and W. H. Horton, all of whom are to be complimented on very valuable services rendered; treasurer, Mr. J. P. Moir. The hon. secretary is Mr. J. Chambers, and his assistant Mr. J. W. Medley, both proving themselves most capable officials, working like Trojans, nothing being too much for them. Leeds are happy in having such gentlemen to steer matters. Stewards, Messrs. Morton, Moir, Whiteley, Mennard, W. A. Wilson, and D. McMillan, each and all did much to help things along in the way they should go. Staging was of a neat description, and every bird could be seen at a glance. Judges, Messrs. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield), and J. Bailey (Bradford), both of whom got through their work in good time, and appeared happy in their selections.

LAISTERDYKE.

Laisterdyke B.F.A. show, the third of the Yorkshire Union series, held October 15th, in the Council school, Lilac Grove Street, an excellent room with plenty of space, fresh air, and light. The show was under the patronage of the Y.C.C., the C.M.Y.C.C., and the N.G.M.Y.C.C., which accounts for the keenness of the competition. Absolutely the best were on view, the judge having in several cases to separate the winners. Mr. J. E. Hudson, the secretary, had charge of affairs, and everything worked smoothly under his able guidance, he being ably assisted by Mr. J. Pownall (assistant sec.), Mr. Padgett (chairman), Messrs. Casey, Coates and Dennison (show stewards), Messrs. Oddy, Robson, Palfreman, Wharton Bros., Taylor, Duckworth, Swaine, Parker, and Griffith. The 26 classes provided contained no less than 430 birds, an average of over 16 per class, these being sent by 129 different exhibitors, truly a very satisfactory state of things, considering another show was being held not many miles away. The Society are to be congratulated on the success of their venture. Mr. A. Hirst (Accrington) was the official judge; he took all the open Yorkshire and the Norwich novice classes, his assistant (Mr. A. Bottomley) taking the rest.

MORPETH.

Morpeth and Dis. C.B.S. held their third annual show in the Town Hall, Oct. 15th. This society have an up-to-date management, very obliging and all pulling the same oar to success, from president down to the committee. The duties of secretary, assistant-secretary, and treasurer and chairman have fallen on capable shoulders in Messrs. E. Cowling, Willis, and Marshall. They are, without doubt, the right men in the right places. Last year the entries exceeded the first year's, and now we are pleased to state that the record is again broken this year. Not only was there quantity but also quality, and this year's show should prove the greatest success of the lot. The hall was well filled with the public when we left in the afternoon; we came across such well known fanciers as Brown (Gateshead), Smart (Berwick), Miller (Alnwick), Seely (Choppington), etc. The hall is a nice one for a show, and everything passed off without a hitch. Judging was on in good time, and a hard task it was for the judges to separate the winners. Mr. G. Harland (Hull) judged Norwich, Yorkshire, Variety, and Mules, and Mr. A. Hay (Berwick) the remainder, and their awards seemed to be well received. The birds were all despatched in good time at night.

CREWE.

Held Oct. 14 and 15. Again, after a few years wherein members' shows only have been held, the Crewe and Dis. O.S. have come "out of their shell" and held an open show. And didn't they come out with a vengeance! It was a magnificent show—736 entries. The committee and officials are all hard-working men, and right royally do they carry out the duties devolving upon them. Messrs. Hancocks and Henton, as joint secretaries, work harmoniously together and carry out their work admirably. All did well, and the show arrangements were in apple-pie order. The Assembly Hall, Heath-street, is in a somewhat obscure position, but, once in the hall, everything is suitable for the holding a good show. The birds were all staged in good time, and the judging commenced soon after nine in the morning by Mr. Chas. Houlton, who took Classes 1 to 10 and 42 to 58. Mr. Roe taking Classes 11 to 41. The show had the patronage of the N.P.C., the Clun. C.C., the Midland Counties Y.C.C., the E. and W.B.F.C.C., and the G.C.A.; and a big number of specials, in addition to these club's specials were up for competition. All sections received good entries. Yorkshires were a fine lot, and some stiff competition resulted. Norwich were excellent for quality all round. The Amateur Norwich were big classes. Cinnamons mustered 40 in four classes, and were birds of the highest merit. The Greens came up in strong force and gave promise of keen competition whilst it was a treat to see such an array of Green Borders. Cinnamon Borders were also good. The other Border Fancy classes had a very fine entry. A round dozen Hybrids were in one class. Britishers were well represented, and there was a nice little class of choice Foreigners.

A CURIOSITY OF NATURE.

Pure White Sparrow, the property of Mr. A. Porteous (Pollockshields, Glasgow).

ADMIRAL DUNCAN (Nottingham) O.S.

The "Admiral Duncan" (Nottingham) O.S. 31st annual show held in the "Admiral Duncan" Hotel on Oct. 8. Entries came up splendidly—50 more than have ever been obtained at this show. Quality throughout was A1, and in many classes competition was very keen. The arrangements were carried out splendidly. The birds were grandly staged, and all could be seen at a glance. The British bird classes were excellent, and the birds quite a treat to see. Many very rare specimens were on view. Mr. W. Vardy judged, and his awards gave satisfaction.

BOLTON.

Bolton and District O.S. held their annual function Oct. 14 and 15. The Co-operative Hall, in which the exhibits were benched, is a most excellent venue, being wonderfully well lighted, lofty and spacious, absolutely void of draughts, and extremely well situated. Entries proved a great success, upwards of 500 facing the adjudicators. Splendid light was in evidence during judging. President, Mr. J. Gerrard; vice-president, Mr. J. R. Mitchell; treasurer, Mr. R. Hollis, a trio of capital officials. The committee are a band of willing workers, and praise is due to every one for the manner in which they manipulated affairs. The stewards, Messrs. Gostling, Mitchell, T. H. Cooper, B. Butler (Southport), J. Douglas (Hale), all worked well, and are worthy of the highest praise. Mr. H. Parkinson, the secretary, is the right man in the right place, having the correct workings of an open show at his finger-tips. He makes a capital secretary. Mr. J. H. Cooper acts as his understudy, and puts his "shoulder to the wheel" properly. Everything went well and smoothly. No hitch whatever did we hear of. Staging was very neat, and every bird could be seen at a glance. Not a class had to be cancelled, and the entry was in excess of last year's. Messrs. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield) and J. Walsh (Blackburn) judged, the former taking the Canaries, the latter the Mules, British, Foreign, and selling.

FROME (Somerset).

The Frome C.B.A. (a branch of Frome F.A.) held annual show (under Cage Bird Union Rules) in the Central Mart on October 13. We can but congratulate the worthy and hard-working secretary, Mr. A. G. King, and his colleagues, on the admirable way matters were arranged, and the attractive manner of staging the exhibits. The cards were above the ordinary. The Yorkshires especially were a hard lot, many good specimens standing cardless. Norwich, too were in good numbers. Entries numbered over 400, and in the children's drawing competitions there were 66 entries. The President is Mr. C. T. Foxcroft. The Chairman is Dr. P. Cockey; vice-chairman, Mr. C. I. Young, of whom we feel sure the hard-working committee feel proud. The committee consists of the following gentlemen: Messrs. E. Austen, W. Dodge, P. Edwards, W. S. Fricker, F. Hillier, J. Kelly, H. Pickford, G. Pinnell, R. Pinnell, E. Sheppard, F. Showers, W. Singer, R. Wells, H. Yeo, and J. Yeo. Treasurer, Mr. H. H. Coombes, who will surely have a bulky exchequer, judging by appearances. Mr. J. Robson judged.

The Critique.

NOTTINGHAM (Permanent).

Annual show held under Cage Bird Union Rules at Grapes Inn, October 15th, and a very nice show it was, too. Entries came up just about as usual. Crests made a grand show. Norwich were also very good. British birds were also well represented, and many perfect specimens were on view. The arrangements were carried out splendidly, and the birds nicely staged. This society have a capital secretary in Mr. J. Walmsley, who has everything at his finger-tips. Mr. J. Richards judged.

Face Value versus Pedigree.

A paper on the mating of birds read by Mr. Frank Cole before the Dulwich and Peckham C.B.S. on October 8th.

At the monthly meeting of the Dulwich and Peckham C.B.S., held at headquarters, on Oct. 8th, with Mr. H. E. Trugham in the chair, among those present we noticed Messrs. Hodson, Cole, Richardson, Hazel, Cranfield, Norris, Cracknell, Goodwin, Austin, Hollands, Carpenter, Reeks, Farmer, Groombridge, Ridge, Wells, Morgan, Cornish, Kirkham, Hocking, Steed, Mr. and Mrs. Tonnsett, Mr. and Mrs. Mazzoni, Mr. and Mrs. Bracker, Madame Madewell, and others. The Chairman in introducing Mr. Cole said he did not think it necessary to do so, as Mr. Cole was one of themselves. He would remind them that the discussion was arranged in consequence of certain correspondence in the Fancy Press some few months ago, Mr. Cole wrote over the name "Little Jim." He much regretted that his able apponents in the Press were unable to be with them that evening. They, however, could not help that. He would, therefore, now call on Mr. Cole to open the discussion on "Selection or Systematic Breeding."

An Interesting Subject.

Mr. Cole, who received a very cordial reception, said:

It was with much pleasure, yet with a certain amount of misgiving, that I consented rather to lead a friendly discussion than to give you a lecture this evening. I am not at all certain, even now, that our secretary was not trying to "pull my leg," but I will at least give him credit for selecting what may prove an interesting subject for discussion. I do not come with anything new. There is nothing new in life; and it is for each of us, therefore, if we would be successful in our hobby, to study the rules of life, or of Nature. It is with tho hope, then, that I may cause some of you to put on the "thinking cap," that I venture to address you. But please do not put this on too tightly this evening, or I am afraid you will be like the Parrot of which the old woman said, "It's me and Jim as does the talking; the Parrot, well, he only thinks."

It has been—rightly or wrongly—said that "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread," and although I am perfectly convinced that in the minds of some of our members I myself come under the first category, I will not attempt to gainsay it, but hope that ere I have finished, my critics will at least have come to the conclusion that there is method even in my madness, and that although they cannot quite swallow all my views, there is much that needs careful thought, and, perhaps, some little truth in many of my arguments. It has always been my aim, whether writing or speaking, to hit hard, and I am quite prepared to take back blow for blow. To my mind, the stronger the wordy warfare the more lasting the impression made, and the greater the consequent benefit. I shall, therefore, speak very plainly, but I trust that those who cannot see eye to eye with me will try and remember that it is no fault of mine that our opinions are divergent, nor do I wish to persuade them against their own.

To enable us the better to understand our subject, we must ask ourselves: "What is this thing we call Nature?" What is this mighty atom we call life? We can find no satisfactory answer, so must study its effect, and, having learned something of it, we may some day know what it is. The first thing that strikes us when we begin to study Nature is that everything, whether bird beast, fish, or plant, is governed by the one great law of reproduction, and in all branches of life the method is the same, through sexual connection, each one producing after its kind. The beginning of all life, whether of plant or beast, is the same, therefore, and the end is the same—through decay. The life and death (or decay of the fleshy life) provide in themselves food for the vegetable life; and that vegetable life in turn becomes food for other forms of life. And who shall say where one life begins and the other ends; or that they are not all one? This is what we call Nature. Our predecessors noted this, and, desiring to know more of the laws of life, took to themselves certain specimens of that life. Having, to an extent, changed their environment, they produced a cultivated life. Any slight variation or sport from the natural order was immediately apparent, and was no cause for surprise. Desiring next to fix that variation in colour, or form, they selected the best material they had at hand, which they took care to see, however, was related by blood. If we give those predecessors of ours any credit at all, we must agree that they would keep an account of their breeding, and this account we call pedigree.

In this way our hobby first "saw the light," and we have now what we call—rightly or wrongly—a cultivated life. Our predecessors must have found it difficult to fix this variation in colour, or form, and must have been struck, as you (who have given but little thought to your hobby) must have been struck with another law, viz., the law of reversion.

A Battle with Nature.

The production of a cultivated life is one great battle with Nature. And this is not to be wondered at. We have taken of her life; we have fed it on unnatural foods; and we have kept it in an unnatural environment. We have violated all Nature's laws. Take the wild plant, and it is always the same; the cultivated one always reversing, unless fertilised through man's agency. Take the finest Norwich Plainheads, and in a short time, if you allow natural selection, and give a natural environment, not only will even good Norwich be conspicuous by their absence, but your birds will slowly, but none the less surely, begin going back to their original type.

This is a natural law. Now, put into a similar aviary natural bird life; feed the birds on Nature's food, and you will find "like producing like." There is no reversion here, because there has been no progression.

Training Young Roller Canaries to Sing.

Translation from "Kanaria" (Leipzig). Read before the members of the Leeds Roller C.C. by Mr. T. W. Walton.

The time is approaching to educate and improve the song of the young Roller, and I should like to give you a few hints on the same. You may divide the life of the young Roller into three parts during his first year, i.e., the time in the breeding cage, the time in the flight cage, and the time in the song box. You take the youngsters out of the breeding cage when they are able to feed themselves, and can eat the rape seed without difficulty—when they are no more obliged, that is, to depend on the feeding from their parents. With sound youngsters you can do this when they reach the age of about four weeks. Of course, bodily development will only terminate in the flight cage.

There is a difference of opinion amongst breeders as to when to take the young birds out of the flight cage. For instance, you may be compelled to do so for the following reasons: One bird may get poorly, another one may be a feather-plucker, or another one may get plucked too much, and perhaps another may bring too offensive notes sooner or later.

Avoiding Faults.

We may say that the breeder expects in the flight cage the bodily as well as the song development of his youngsters. The cocks in the flight want great attention. Birds who are ruined by dissipation in song are seldom improved in the song-box, and we seldom get them off from the faulty tours they are accustomed to. But not all the faulty notes originate in the flight. The youngsters bring them from the breeding cage, too, and they are partly in the strain already. It is, therefore, wrong to think about the education of young Rollers in autumn. Anyone who wants to breed and rear good songsters has to start by pairing up good stock birds, and as soon as any youngsters are hatched, he has to start to develop their song and not wait till the autumn. The first quality (high class) breeder warrants his success by choosing faultless breeding stock and takes up all his spare time in watching his birds; and should he hear a faulty one this is taken out at once from the breeding cage as well as from the flight. By doing so he secures a certain foundation for the finishing up of the training in the song-box, and success should then be assured.

It has always been said that every breeder should help to improve the song, but breeders generally expect to breed "ideal" birds (prize winners) from a poor strain of stock birds, and only a few, of course, succeed. It may happen to improve the song in some way, but to get good birds from a poor stock is a difficult job and troublesome; and success depends on the presence of certain conditions which are not always available by all breeders. Therefore, it is the best and shortest way to success for every breeder to procure as good stock birds as his pocket will allow him. If good stock birds are used and the fancier has been satisfied with breeding results and does not let his birds get faulty in the flight cage, then the finishing up of their education in the song-box will be easier, because the song will be pure, and is only awaiting improvement concerning the length of tours, rounding of same, and the ability of the bird to deliver a faultless song.

The best method of securing this is to keep the birds in a quiet place where they will not be disturbed and will hear only first-class schoolmasters.

Should a fancier be obliged to start afresh, for instance, and his pocket does not allow him to procure good stock birds, then I would recommend him not to introduce too many different faults, because if the one stock cock should bring a flat bell and a broad schwirre, the other one a sharp bell, hard Aufzug, and sharp flute, the third one nasal flute and nasal tours, the fourth will not come out from call notes, and will bring a Schnatter; all four perhaps are favoured with different call notes, too, and then the very best master would not be able to do anything with them. Therefore, if you choose stock birds with faults—and there may be several—then take birds with similar faults, but which have some good tours as well, especially deep-toned tours, and birds that have a good quality and variety.

The fancier has to try, if possible, when the birds are already in the breeding cage, to get rid of one faulty tour, otherwise this will have to be done in the flight cage. The fancier must be careful to choose judiciously. Perhaps the breeder dislikes Aufzug and sharp whistle, but he finds he has no bird that is without this tour. He must let it remain and console himself with the fact that other breeders could not succeed either all their lifetime.

Purity and Variety.

To remove the broad, flat tones is especially desirable, and you will find that not all the youngsters bring the flat bell tours of their father. If you do not lose some good tours, for instance, hollow roll, deep hass, etc., in your strain by discarding all youngsters with flat bell, then remove them from the good ones, and you may moderate the Aufzug, the hard Schwirre, the sharp Flute, etc.; that is, if you bring the had-toned birds out of hearing of the better class. In this way you continue the following year; and after a time you will get the pure birds without losing variety of song.

Of course, you have to act with cool deliberation. If the strain is plentiful in good tours, the breeder has the more allowance to make, and with good disposition he will the sooner get to his goal. Therefore, if you start with faulty strain, try to improve a variation of good tours in the same as long as the youngsters are in the flight; you have to purify their song step by step. If the youngsters are in the song-box then you have to act at once.

Furthermore, I should not be at all surprised if the readers of these lines have a disagreeable feeling at the very mention of the word "sort" or "sift," because we often hear much abusive language about them; but no breeder can do without these remedies; and should it be even the very best breeder, by no other means are we able to remove the objectionable tours out of the strain, if they are only handled rightly.

But not unduly blamed is the too regardless "sifting out." There has been a period when the contest birds have been too monotonous. But what else can you expect, when you are told by the highest authorities that you have to commence at the bottom of the ladder to be able to help to improve the song? Otherwise only pure singers are wanted. But it is not so easy to work oneself up, especially for a novice, until one has pure birds which have been mercilessly sifted out. We get them, it is true, but as mentioned before they only become monotonous. I wish it to be remembered that we have to stick to sifting, and to remember the proverb "No fineness without purity."

To beginners in the Roller Canary Fancy we should not recommend "self help," because they are not accustomed to it; it has been printed many times, that it is best to buy a good strain to start with. To acquire better-class, breeding stock should be encouraged, and when the breeder has acquired the desired knowledge, the pursuit of breeding a good strain can only end profitably. It should be noted that only the breeder who brings his strain up to the required standard deserves the right to gain honour. The beginner should get instructions from the more experienced fancier.

Keeping the Beak closed.

Everyone has to gain intelligence before he is able to produce something fairly good. You may take it for granted that the percentage of singers-to-perfection is not high. The temperament and talent of the birds, as well as the guidance you give them, have a good deal to do with it. Birds with a too brisk disposition, who are always playing and flying about, and are on the move continuously, have no endurance and seldom bring a good song. If they open the beak whilst singing, then you cannot expect much of them, and it is therefore better to take them away from the better ones or else they will spoil them too.

You may place such birds in the bottom row of cages and keep them dark. Besides the usual seed give them maw seed, and you may find one or the other getting better after about a fortnight's treatment; if not, you had better bring them away from the rest of the youngsters and watch closely their development of song.

Lazy singers you should bring into the brightest place in the room where they may have plenty of light; curtail their egg-food and give them more Canary seed and groats till they become more vigilant. You may make your judgment by the tendency of the beak. All the good tones will be performed with nearly closed beak.

You have to cage off the youngsters which have restless indulgence, also feather pluckers, etc., as we said before, but steady and promising good singers you can leave longer in the flight cage.

THE COMMONER DISEASES OF BIRDS:

THEIR SYMPTOMS AND TREATMENT.

G. YATES, M.R.C.V.S.

Any predisposing influences, such as atmospheric fluctuations, cold damp weather, the presence of easterly or north-easterly winds, play an important part by depressing the whole system, the reproductive organs included, interfering with their functional activity, resulting in an imperfect deposition of the salts necessary to the construction of the shell. Again, imperfect assimilation of calcium salts is an important factor, and, lastly, the withholding of, or inability to procure, same must be considered.

Each of the above is looked upon as a primary and independent cause, but it is possible that either one or two of these coexist. With poultry, the giving of lime in the form of shell (oyster shell particularly) occasionally will remedy the evil, but in a large proportion of cases it is unproductive of any good result; in those instances where one or two hens are addicted to this trouble, and the others remain normal, the cause has to be sought other than in lime deficiency, and is often due to ovarian weakness. Fowls kept in a confined space, in limited runs, lay eggs whose shell is exceedingly thin.

During assimilation, calcium salts necessarily undergo a metamorphosis or change from the form in which they were when taken, and it is possible that all the salts of calcium are not capable of being deposited in shell form. I believe that green foods largely contain the necessary elements for egg formation, and that such should not be withheld, or be given in too restricted quantities. In the case of small cage birds, the weather conditions play a most important part, so that good housing and warmth will obviate much of the loss accruing from this troublesome complaint.

Ovarian Disease.

The ovary participates in diseased changes accompanying many of the specific diseases, and sometimes takes on inflammatory lesions independently of these, in the breeding season especially, when the parts are highly vascular and in an active state, and the process of egg formation rapid. The existence of inclement weather (cold rather than damp) sets up inflammatory changes which are serious in their import.

It is rapid in its onset. The bird is noticed suddenly ill, remains motionless, any attempt at movement producing great pain. Again in this case there are no diagnostic symptoms marking off this disease from many others affecting the organs or reproduction, but it may be distinguished from metro-peritonitis by the absence of the swollen condition of the abdomen; it appears, instead, collapsed. Great depression is seen throughout its course, which often lasts but twenty-four hours, sometimes less, and often birds are found dead of this complaint.

Should this affection be suspected, removal at once to a warm corner, and the administration of from 2 to 5 drops of tincture of opium should be carried out. If the bird begins to show signs of recovery, and is inclined to partake of food, then a little bread and milk might be given sprinkled with a small quantity of seed; and the employment of saline laxatives, as sulphate of soda or Epsom salts, in the drinking water is advisable.

Unusual Food for Swallows.

Swallows and Martins have been observed to alight on a lawn and feed upon small worms and insects.

Untamable Birds.

The Rook and the Sparrow have a common suspicion of man, and yet a great taste for his neighbourhood. Both these birds are difficult to tame. Especially is this so with regard to an old Sparrow which scarcely, if ever, settles down to a caged existence.

Where Birds Congregate.

There are always more birds just outside a wood than inside it, so that after leaving a meadow with Blackbirds, Thrushes, and Finches merry in the hedges, the wood seems quite silent and deserted save for a few of the larger birds, or a solitary Robin.

A Robin-Like Redstart.

The Black Redstart is a winter visitor only to these shores, but occurs pretty regularly. It is chiefly found in Central and Southern Europe. It is more Robinlike in its ways than the common Redstart, frequenting the neighbourhood of houses and gardens. It builds in holes in walls, in sheds and summer houses, and under the eaves of houses.

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS.

Queries will be answered under the following Conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side only of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist, or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who require letters of complaints written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Children's Dinner Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. Only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc. of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his question for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES.

Hen Out of Condition.

Edmonton.—Candidly, I doubt whether the hen will ever be of any more use. Once they are allowed to get into the condition your hen is in, the chances of recovery, sufficiently to be of any more practical use, are rather remote. Still, you can try. Keep her in a box cage in a fairly comfortable place, but not overheated, where she will be perfectly free from draughts and serious fluctuations. Do not hang near or over lights burning in the evenings, nor near a fire. A cold room that is cosy and equable will suit her better than one with a fire. Keep cage strewn with clean, gritty sand, and see that it is quite free from red mites. Feed on a staple of plain canary seed only. Twice each week give half a teaspoonful of summer rape, and on two other days a similar quantity of a mixture of maw, gold of pleasure, teazle, and linseed. Give a little green food when obtainable in good condition three times a week. Every second day for the next fortnight give half a teaspoonful of crushed stale sponge cake, with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion and four of sherry mixed in it. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of buckthorn for two days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, and six each of oxymel of squills, paregoric, and syrup of tolu, every second day for a fortnight, then miss a week, and give it again for another fortnight, if necessary.

Information Wanted.

Stone.—Always a pleasure to help and advise when in difficulty. I do not advise you to keep your room window open six inches day and night all through winter. When the weather becomes severe 2 or 3 inches will be quite sufficient for an hour or two—more or less according to the severity of weather, wind, and other prevailing influences; and then it should be closed at night. From now onwards it is only during exceptionally mild weather you should leave it open at all after roosting time. There is no real necessity to heat room at all, especially if it abuts on, or is over one, in which a fire is kept. In the latter case I would strongly advise you not to heat it. But if you do, the heat should be regular, and as equable as possible day and night; not merely a little fire in the evenings; that would be worse than none at all. The hens will do much better in the flights until next spring, to get the advantage of the additional exercise. I certainly do not advise you to build cages as you suggest. By all means do the thing in a better and more convenient style, by making a rack with shelves and fill with either single or double breeding cages. See what is said in the early parts of "Our Canaries" on this subject, which work you should get complete. For general management you might also read "Canary Breeding for Beginners," 7d., or House's "Canary Manual," 1/2, both post free from our manager. The Mule query should have been written on a separate paper. See Mr. Weston's column for reply next week.

Requires a Pick-me-up.

Teazle.—Your query leaves me in doubt as to what your staple food consists of. There is something radically wrong with your management, and probably the birds have hitherto been exposed to draughts or very great fluctuations of heat and cold. First attend to these points, and see all your birds are free from draughts. (1) Keep young birds in a fairly warm place, as equable as possible, and cages and perches perfectly clean and free from insect pests. Give a staple of plain Canary in unlimited quantities. Each day give in addition a small teaspoonful of egg and colour-food, with a good sprinkling of maw seed added. Twice a week give half a teaspoonful of summer rape, and on two other days a similar quantity of a mixture of linseed, teazle, hemp, and millet, in equal parts. Allow them to bathe, if they desire, in mild weather only. In drinking water give for three days 6 drops syrup of rhubarb and as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence, and afterwards 20 drops whisky, 5 of syrup of saffron, and 8 of tincture of gentian, in the water every second day for a week. (2) This hen is, I fear, beyond help. Feed and treat same as above, but stop colour-food if using it, and give instead half a teaspoonful of crushed stale sponge cake with 2 drops of cod liver oil emulsion, and 4 of sherry well mixed in it, daily for a week, and every second day for a fortnight after give salts and rhubarb, as above, in water, for 3 days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, 6 each of oxymel of squills, and tincture of lobelia, and 2 of eucalyptus oil well shaken together, every second day for a fortnight. Do not allow this hen to bathe.

Mate for Border (Janitor).—It is probable the breeding of the cock this season rendered him an unsuitable mate. Next season mate her with a clear yellow cock, with light underflue, bred either from two clears (which are related to a marked strain), or one clear and a very lightly cinnamon-marked bird. The clear in each case should be pink-eyed.

A Report (A. Jackson). Sorry to hear you have lost the bird. It was certainly a mistake to give it a warm bath, as it needed no inducement at all to bathe, but rather the reverse. When you get another pet get a copy of the nutshell booklet on "The Roller Canary," which our manager will send you post free for 2½d. This will tell you how to treat it generally in order to avoid the condition seen in your late pet.

Distinguishing Sex (B. Hardcastle).—You will find the differences fully described and illustrated in the book sent you. Also see a reply in last issue on this subject, and front page of last week's paper, all of which might help you to recognise the subtle distinctions. It might be an advantage to get Part VI. of "Our Canaries," in which the original of the frontispiece last week appears, which shows the differences much more clearly. The necessity for speedy printing of the weekly paper unavoidably causes some loss of distinctness.

Make Clucking Noise (Jas. Wallace).—You would do well to look closely into the matter of draught, as the chances are they are either in a draughty position or one exposed to great fluctuations of heat and cold. Having removed these causes, give birds each a piece of bread and milk the size of a hazel nut, with 2 drops of cod liver oil emulsion dropped on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar, every day for a week, and a pinch of equal parts linseed, maw, and gold of pleasure seeds every second day during the time. In the drinking water give 20 drops of whisky, 10 each of oxymel of squills, and glycerine, and 2 of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together, two days in every three for a week. Glad to hear previous advice was successful.

Yorkshire Cock Ill (H. Anson).—See reply to "Edmonton." You should make yourself satisfied draughts and fluctuations are really non-existent, and see that the bird does not hang over or near burning lights. Only allow it to bathe in nice, mild weather. Continue present staple diet, but give in addition half a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, teazle, and inga twice a week, and every second day for a month a similar quantity of crushed stale sponge cake with 2 drops of cod liver oil emulsion and 4 of sherry mixed in it, and sprinkled with maw seed. In drinking water give 6 drops syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, 10 each of oxymel of squills, and glycerine, and 2 of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together, every second day for a fortnight.

Yorkshire and Rollers (J.G.M.).—(1) You should have carefully examined the condition of the eyes of the former and described them. If he really cannot see properly, it is possible he may be going blind. If the eyes have a kind of milky-white appearance in the centre, it is cataract, and you can do nothing to remedy it. If they appear bright and clear, you might ask a chemist to mix you 10 grains sulphate of zinc and 20 minims of tincture of opium in an ounce of rose water, and drop one drop of this in each eye twice a day. Hold bird in a suitable position for the drop to work its way well about each eye and under eye lids. (2) As a staple give a mixture of two parts Canary to one part summer rape. Twice a week give half a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, teazle, millet, and maw, and once or twice a morsel of bread and milk or sponge cake. A morsel of sweet fruit, banana, or raw carrot may be given occasionally when green food cannot be obtained in fit condition. (3) See Mr. Weston's column for reply to Siskin query, which should have been written on a separate sheet.

Birds With Diarrhœa (Movs.).—Hope I've deciphered nom-de-plume correctly. Keep cages well strewn with sawdust whilst this trouble lasts, and remove it frequently and burn it at once. For staple diet give a mixture of two parts Canary to one part summer rape. Every second day give half a teaspoonful of hemp and a morsel of ripe banana, and on the alternate days a third of a teaspoonful of maw, and a little crushed plain biscuit, given dry; give no greenstuff until quite well. In the water give a pinch of Epsom salts for one day, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky and five each of tincture of gentian, and tincture of opium, until the looseness is stopped. The seeds you sent are quite good, so far as can be judged from such minute samples. The Canary is a very good sample. The rape appeared to be so, but was almost non est on arrival. The hemp is just moderately good. It contains a rather large proportion of unripe grains.

Moulting and Not Singing (W. Swettenham).—The former causes the latter. The bird will not sing out until the moulting has ceased. Keep it in a box cage, and see it is free from insect pests. Do not hang it too near a fire, nor near or over burning lights. At same time let it be fairly warm, with the least possible variation between day and night temperature. Keep cage strewn with clean, gritty sand, and let bird bathe 3 times a week in fine weather. Feed on a staple of three parts Canary to one part summer rape. Twice a week give a small teaspoonful of crushed stale sponge cake with 2 drops cod liver oil emulsion and 4 of sherry mixed in it, and sprinkled with gold of pleasure seed; on two other days give half a teaspoonful of hemp; and on each of the other days a morsel of ripe banana, and a pinch of maw seed, with a few grains only of linseed. In drinking water give a pinch of Epsom salts and 10 drops lemon juice for one day, and afterwards 4 drops each tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid, every second day for a fortnight.

What Class? (H.).—If the bird has gone through a complete moult this autumn, it will have lost its colour-fed plumage, and will be quite eligible to compete in a class for natural colour birds.

Making a Noise (M. W. S.).—The reason is not far to seek. It is the outcome of exposure to cold draughts in the vast majority of cases, and in the small minority to a variety of forms of mismanagement generally, embodying extremes of heat and cold, badly ventilated and stuffy, damp places. Keep the bird in a nice bright position, well ventilated, cosy, but not overheated, and quite free from draughts and vitiated air. Keep cage quite clean and free from insect pests. Give a mixture of three parts Canary to one part summer rape as staple diet. Every second day for a month give a third of a teaspoonful of maw, and each day for a week give a morsel of bread and milk with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar. Stop this at end of first week, and give instead half a teaspoonful of crushed stale sponge cake with the oil and 4 drops of sherry mixed in it, every second day for a fortnight. In the drinking water give the same medicines as advised to "Teazle," No. 2, for a fortnight, then miss a week and repeat for another fortnight.

Birds for Outdoors (Redcap).—Do I understand you correctly that the roof of the shed consists of felt only, or is felt laid on the top of a wooden roof? If the former, there should certainly be a roof of wood underneath, and as the walls are rather thin it would also be an advantage to line it with felt throughout, or, better still, if the walls are not tongued and grooved, line it with thin boards and fill the space between the two walls with wool waste or sawdust. See there is good top ventilation. Given these conditions, and due precautions to get only birds which have been bred and reared in a normal temperature, there is no reason why any breed should not succeed well through the winter in the place. But in stocking such a place at this season, it is most important that the stock be quite hardy to begin with. Common Rollers, Norwich, or Borders would be very suitable breeds to begin with.

Answered by G. E. WESTON.

Plucked Wing-butts (C. A. S.).—Touch the raw place with Friars Balsam (obtainable at any chemist's), holding the bird in the hand until it has dried on. You are feeding fairly well, but most certainly should give hemp.

Weeds and a Chaffinch (Novice).—It is too early yet for the Chaffinch to be singing; he has not recovered sufficiently from the moult. In a state of Nature they do not commence to sing until the approach of the breeding season. I only know the red-coloured weed which is persicaria; the ripe seeds are liked by many seed-eating birds.

A Question of Identity (Bird Lover).—The birds you have are Great Tits, often termed Ox-eye Tits, or Blackcaps. The true Blackcap (the Blackcap Warbler) does not eat seed. I cannot advise you to keep Great Tits with birds of similar size (Goldies, Linnets, etc.); they often attack and kill weaker birds, and I have known many cases of serious slaughter for which they have been responsible. Some aviary-keepers seem to find them harmless; but I only speak of them in the light of my own experience.

Death of a Bullfinch (A. E. N.).—The leakage of air was due to some rupture of the lung tissue. What brought this rupture about only a post mortem examination could hope to reveal. You need not fear any further loss from the same cause (i.e., it is not "catching"). No treatment would have been of the slightest avail. These things have to be borne with resignation. Birds are very like human beings in that they differ constitutionally; some are "stronger" than others.

Bramblefinch-Chaffinch Hybrids (Fritz).—(1) A box cage (wired at front only, that is), 30 inches long by 16 high, by 14 to 16 deep, would be splendid to keep a Bramblefinch-Chaffinch couple in; the larger the cage (within reason, of course) the better your chance. (2) Yes; the menu advised 'Pink-pink' last week would be correct for them. Get them used to eating a little soft food (insectile mixture of good make). (3) I should advise the quietest room, whichever that may be; and do not hang the cage too low down. Let the birds be fairly steady, and used to cage life.

In An Aviary (Inexperienced).—If by 3ft. by 1ft. you mean length and width, then this cannot fairly be called an "aviary"; it is only the size of one of my breeding cages, which I devote to a single pair of birds. You would never get breeding results with three different kinds of Finches and three hen Canaries in it. For one thing, they would fight like blazes in the spring. You should read a good book on Mule breeding. If divided at the centre with a sliding (or fixed) partition, a hen Canary might be kept in each half with every chance of success. Such birds are not like mice; they will not breed in colonies. Make arrangements to allow each couple a home "on their own," and you will be on the way to success. In a really large aviary (outdoor or indoor) it would, of course, be different.

Skylark's "Skin Trouble" (Willy Bramley).—Many Lark fanciers favour the kind of food you say you use (mainly oatmeal, peameal, and dripping), but I think it too "heating," and likely to set up skin and feather trouble. Further, Larks want vegetable food in addition (grated carrot or chopped lettuce and the like). Lots of fanciers have written me similar letters to yours in the years I have been answering these queries, and almost without exception they have been regular users of dripping, or lard, peameal, etc. Let your bird have a heap of road-dust (or half this and half sand) to dust himself in, and mix with it a fair quantity of powdered sulphur; and mix a good saltspoonful of flowers of sulphur into his food daily for a week. I am accepting your word that no insects trouble the bird. If you are skilled at hand-washing, a "tub" with mild carbolic soap would no doubt be beneficial.

Blackcap Warblers (Enquirer).—Only the male has the black cap; in the female it is a rusty brown. The stock food must be a good insectile mixture, designed for the use of delicate softbills; many good ones are advertised in our columns. For one bird it is not worth while making up one's own stock food. Moisten it with grated carrot, or minced lettuce, etc. Give live foods according to season (flies, spiders, caterpillars, mealworms, etc.), and ripe soft fruit, such as banana, sweet orange, pear, peeled grapes, raspberries, and the like. Remember that the Blackcap is a great lover of fruit; mine were fond of soft figs and dates, too.

British Bird Querists should purchase our "British Bird Manual," published in two parts, "Hardbills" and "Softbills," price 1/- each, or in cloth cover together, 2/3 post free.

A Linnet Mule (F. Yardley).—The bringing-up of food on to the perch, or foot, is a trait of many birds, more especially during the breeding season, and certainly indicates nothing detrimental. I have a Goldfinch now which is practically always doing this kind of thing. You are feeding the Linnet Mule very well, and must remember that it is early yet for birds to be on full song. Give it a teaspoonful of good hemp seed every other day.

Impatient (A. Jackson).—To answer you quite candidly, I think it was foolish to interfere with the bird at all. The Mule will sing again all in good time; but you cannot expect song until the moult is quite over, and the bird recovered from its depressing effects. The head and neck are always the last parts to moult. Painting with glycerine would only serve to make the bird a sticky, uncomfortable object; and I never knew that tincture of iron had any virtue for outward application. Who told you to use these things? Do you mean tincture of iodine? If so, you have been fortunate not to injure the bird's sight. Iodine is for painting swollen joints, and swellings generally.

Mainly about Mule-breeding (Seamus).—1. Siberian Goldies are the best because they throw larger mules; but they are not such reliable breeders as English Goldfinches. 2. Sib-bred means in-bred, indicating the pairing of related birds (such as father to niece, etc.), which is supposed to help towards the production of light mules. If from a genuine light muling strain they are, of course, the "proper kind." 3. A "yellow" Greenfinch indicates an extra rich-coloured one; in the same way that we speak of yellow and buff Canaries. If steady, a Greenfinch caught now should mule next spring. 4. All-wire cages are not good for mule-breeding: use box cages.

Muling and Other Matters (M. L.).—Why not buy the part of "Cage Bird Hybrids" which contains a coloured plate of an exhibition dark Goldfinch Mule? It would be very helpful. Any white feathers (except in the region of the vent, where they are always light) disqualify a mule for the Dark Mule Class; a "pea-throat," too, if pronounced. The wing-lights mostly cross a little at the tips; but if badly crossed it constitutes a fault. There is no "minimum" length; all may compete, but the biggest birds naturally have the advantage. The getting of large Linnets, Greenfinches, and Siskins is a matter of selection; any dealer who has quantities of these birds can pick them out. It is not so much a matter of district; one can find small and large in any county or country either. English Linnets and Greenfinches are equal to any said to come from the Continent.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc.

An Ailing Budgerigar.

C. Heal.—You give me practically no details to go upon. Even a hardy Budgerigar must be brought indoors. Give it in the first instance three drops of Dinneford's Magnesia direct to the beak from a quill. I do not really fully comprehend your letter; you had better repeat query at once. If the bird has a bad mouth then put a little honey and borax (from a chemist) on its tongue twice daily till it is better. If it is a cold, get the following mixture: Ipecacuanha wine, oxymel of squills and glycerine in equal parts; take a small portion of the mixture and dilute with double the bulk of water and give the bird a few drops of this from a quill two or three times daily till relief is given. I cannot advise mixing other species with the Lovebirds in a cage, but advise you, if cage be large enough, to have one pair each Green and Yellow Budgerigars therein; this will give a pleasing variety of colour.

Young Budgerigars.

R. R.—The signs you mention would indicate the sexes, but these birds have been bred to such an extent, and there is so much precocity among the young, that such signs would not be constant, and though a practised eye could pick them out at quite a young age, the infallible sign for the novice is a blue cere for the male and a brown one for the female when in breeding condition; when out of breeding condition the ceres of some adult hens are almost as blue as the ceres of the cocks, especially as the ceres of the latter lose somewhat in intensity at this period. Both sexes certainly warble (chatter), though individuals vary in extent. In cold chilly weather hen Zebra Finches and almost every other species are liable to egg-binding, but a continuous supply of lime rubbish and cuttlebone reduces the risk to a minimum. Ro Javas, when adult the beak of the female is narrow at the base and more tapering than that of the male—this is most distinct when viewed in profile; I know of no other outward sexual distinction.

Grey Parrot.

W. Foulis.—Spray bird weekly with quassia solution, choosing as warm and genial a day as possible, and keeping strictly out of draught till dry. A few doses of Dinneford's Magnesia—dilute the magnesia as required for use with double its bulk of water—with three day intervals between the doses will be beneficial. Keep this up for a month unless the voidings become watery; then you must stop for a time. On other days well colour the drinking water with Parrish's Chemical Food. Half the entire bulk of the seed mixture should consist of Canary and white millet seeds, the other half to be equal parts of hemp, paddy rice, oats, and sunflower seeds—the whole to be well mixed. Also give ripe fruit, nuts in variety, and plain biscuit. Put a pinch of grit among the daily supply of seed mixture, keep a piece of clean cuttlefish hanging in the cage and do not give any tea, coffee, or milk sops, table scraps, or any kind of animal food.

Foreign and British.

Bird Lover.—The Yellow Buntings, Chaffinches, and Greenfinches are rather liable to "run amok," and in such case damage would probably result to the smaller fry; but this risk should not be unduly great if you have an abundance of cover, in the form of twiggy branches above the back and ends. You can indulge your fancy with any of the Waxbills; the lovely little Golden-breast is the smallest, and also the most enduring out of doors. Java Sparrows may also be included, as also may Bronze and Magpie Mannikins, Zebra Finches, Benigalese, Long-tailed and Rufous-tailed Grassfinches, with a pair of the charming and diminutive Diamond Doves and Chinese Painted Quails. This would give you a charming variety. As regards Britishers, the following I have found quite safe with small foreigners: Goldfinches, Linnet, Siskin, Redpoll, and Twite. You would find "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1/1 post free from our manager, very helpful.

What Bird?

M. E. Mason. You are quite right; it is an escaped foreign bird—in fact, a Scarlet Tanager, and I am rather surprised it has lived for a week on Canary seed and bread. Diet: Soft food (several good mixtures are advertised in CAGE BIRDS), ripe fruit ad lib, milk sop, and two or three mealworms daily. Thus treated the bird should thrive and do well. At the present time supply such fruit as banana, orange, and sweet water grapes. On receipt of this, while you are procuring the other foods, pour some hot milk over a little crumbled sponge cake, and supply to the bird as soon as cool. It should have a cage not less than 18 x 11 x 16 inches high, and the box type is the best. It is not a delicate species, and properly fed should live long. Keep it in a light and airy, but not draughty position. The soft food must be made crumbly moist, not a sticky mass, with boiling water.

Various Queries.

M. G. L.—1. Either a cock or hen Bullfinch would agree in a cage with a Canary of the opposite sex, but I very much doubt a pair being so with an odd Canary. A pair of each should do so, as your cage is roomy, and not interfere either with the Waxbills and small ornamental Finches. I must, however, warn you that in the breeding season some individuals (Bullfinches) are apt to be very spiteful, whether mated or not, and others are quite amiable. 2. The best is an airtight box, and a few drops of chloroform on a sponge, according to the size of box. 3. Before I attempt to give a definite prescription, I must ask you to send the next body for P.M. examination, as it would be most unwise for me to advise on so vague a description moreover, you do this for your own protection, as it is very probably contagious. An ailing bird, if treated at once, is often saved from some serious illness, and a weak laxative (Dinneford's magnesia) often works wonders when given in time.

Reason of Feather Pulling (Polly).—We will try and give you the reason when you inform me how you have been treating and feeding the bird; also the period of trouble. Quassia solution; spraying with this is a good means of getting rid of minute or other parasites, and I should imagine your bird is troubled with these. In the meantime, give Dinneford's Magnesia and Parrish's Chemical Food on the same lines as advised to Pritchard in this issue.

What Parrot? (Constant Reader). — It is an Alexandrine Parrakeet, though it might possibly be a female Ring-neck, but I do not think so, as the ring is generally faintly indicated by being slightly lighter than the general plumage; the distinct ring on the neck indicates the male. There are quite a number of local races and species very closely allied, ranging over the regions you name, but I think you can rest assured your bird is an Alexandrine.

What Bird, Etc. (Parrot Lover).—(1) The bird you describe is evidently a Lavender Finch, which is not very often a satisfactory liver in captivity. Treat it as a Waxbill. Your treatment is correct. (2) Hope you'll have luck with the Parrot. Your experience with the Canaries should help you much in your treatment of the foreigners, which you will find very fascinating. Always pleased to assist our readers.

Wintering Out of Doors (T. B. Miller).—You are pretty far north and also have a great deal of glass attached to your aviary. You must not make the place dark, or exclude the sun, but it would be an advantage to cover up as much of this as possible for the wiuter months. If you can conveniently apply artificial heat, so as to maintain a fairly equable temperature of 45 degrees F., this would be the better plan, otherwise cover up as above and keep the Orange-cheeks and Black-heads in the house for the winter. All the others will, I think, winter safely out of doors, if they are thoroughly fit to start the winter with, but any bird that looks ailing at any period during the winter must be brought in at once—this is often necessary with individuals, even of the hardiest species. All the birds you name live out of doors all the year round, and thrive in London and the Midlands.

Parrot Losing Feathers (H. Lane).—If this is not an ordinary moult, and I rather suspect it is not, then it will be rather troublesome to check this annoying habit. However, I cannot assist you till you inform me length of time this has been going on, how it has been fed and treated, and length of time it has been in your possession. In the meantime, spray with quassia solution, and administer Dinneford's Magnesia and Chemical Food on the same lines as advised to 'Pritchard" in this issue.

Treatment of Hangnest (A. H. Chorlton).—Your bird is certainly a Hangnest of some sort, but they are so numerous and all mostly an arrangement of orange and black, so that it is impossible for me to say which species without a detailed description. Diet: Soft-food (several good mixtures are advertised in our pages), ripe fruit, ad. lib., milk sop, and some live insects, mealworms, beetles, spiders, etc. They are restless birds, yet become very tame when once they get to know you, and a fly round the room occasionally will be very beneficial. There is usually no difficulty in getting them back to their cage; a mealworm will usually draw them there at once, for they can never resist such bait.

Parrot in Moult (Pritchard).—You give me no details as to how you are treating this bird, nor yet say what kind of Parrot it is, and yet you expect me to assist you! All I can say is: Keep it out of draught, yet where it will get light and air. Spray it once a week with quassia solution. Confine its diet to seed mixture, ripe fruit, plain biscuits, and a few nuts. Keep a piece of clean cuttlefish, hung in the cage, and do not give tea, coffee, or milk sops, table scraps, or any kind of animal food whatever. Keep the bowels moving freely, not watery loose, with an occasional dose of Dinneford's Magnesia—one teaspoonful to each ounce of the drinking water—with an interval of two or three days between each dose. On other days well colour the drinking water with Parrish's Chemical Food.

What Parrot (Farrington).—It is a Roseate (Rose-breasted) Cockatoo, a hardy Australian species. Some individuals talk more or less, others only whistle and mimic various sounds. From the readiness with which yours has become tame, I should say it would talk, at any rate a little, if you pet it, talk to it, and keep it where it can hear plenty of conversation. Keep it in some light, airy position, but out of draught. During the moulting period an occasional dose of Dinneford's Magnesia and Chemical Food in the drinking water is helpful. See our reply to "Pritchard" in this issue. Diet: A seed mixture of canary, white millet, oats, maize, hemp, paddy rice, and sunflower seeds in about equal parts; well mix, and keep a supply in the cage. Also supply such ripe fruit as it will eat, plain biscuits, and a few nuts—also grit, cuttlebone. Do not give any slops, table scraps, or any kind of animal food.

Three Species in One Cage (D.R.).—Odd birds (all males) usually agree well enough together, but there is so much individualism among members of the Parrot tribe, that it is impossible to give a definite opinion as to whether a King, Yellow-naped, and Rosella Parrakeet would agree together in a cage with a base of 36 by 22 inches. I am inclined to give a provisionally favourable reply, but consider you have only space for two birds in the cage; however, in any case, the birds should become thoroughly acquainted with each other by being kept side by side in separate cages for some time before being kept together, and an experiment or two made first with the birds loose in the room before putting them together in the small space of the cage. Their demeanour under the above circumstance should be a fairly safe guide to their behaviour when all caged together.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. And bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's

Mrs. Sproston—Enlargement and induration of the liver. This trouble was of some standing, and had been in existence a long time prior to evidence of illness. The body was very much swollen, which perhaps you may have noticed, and was very palpable on removal of the plumage over this region, the swelling being due to this very enlarged organ pressing on the body walls. Its origin is dietetic—from the intaking with the food at some time of irritants or bacteria, probably the latter. Try disinfection of cages, isolation of affected birds, and the administration of Condy's fluid in the drinking water. The disease is propagable from bird to bird by means of excreta contaminating the food of the healthy.

Seed.—Pneumonia of both lungs. The recent spell of cold, windy, and damp weather is the cause. It is not necessary it should affect all alike. Single out those more predisposed. It is not always easy to prevent such fatalities, but due regard must be given to warmth during such trying periods. If noticed ill, bringing at once into warm surroundings, placing near the fire, or near hot water pipes, will often resuscitate them, but in this case you were quite powerless to act, death occurring so rapidly.

G. K.—Necrotic pneumonia, one lung being totally dead tissue, due to the invasion into the respiratory system of the bacillus necrosis. It is a contagious disease, and one of a very malignant character. Cages must be thoroughly disinfected; at least, those that have been in occupation by the deceased birds; frequently remove and destroy all excreta, and remove at once from the healthy birds any showing signs of illness. There is nothing irregular in your feeding; this has no connection with the ailment. Give ammoniated tincture of quinine in doses of 5 drops in the drinking water night and morning to each of your birds, whilst giving close attention to disinfection and segregation.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

A Suggestion (Justice).—Many thanks; we will endeavour to give effect to your suggestion.

A Wish (F. Simms).—We are afraid it is not possible to always arrange matters in accordance with your wish, otherwise we should be happy to do so.

An Article (T. W. Walton).—Accept our thanks for your kindness.

Talking Parrot and Canaries (W. Barton).—The mocking by your Parrot of the song of your Canaries will not prove in any way injurious to the singing of the latter birds.

Illustrated Ideas (Folkestone).—Just think of the thousands of readers who are not in the happy position of being able to see upon French cages the particular idea you mention! We are afraid that we can hardly hope to hit upon any method which will ensure every idea being absolutely new to everybody—would that we could!

Birds on Approval (A. M. Palmer).—Taking a cold, legal view of the matter, you were unquestionably in the wrong. When a term of approval is agreed upon, this must be adhered to, unless the seller consents (in writing) to extend it. If you break the conditions of sale, then you clearly have no legal claim in the matter. We strongly think, however, that as you erred purely through goodness of heart, you were entitled to more consideration than was (judging by your letter) extended to you.

Club Reports.

LANCASHIRE C.A.

Meeting held Duke of Edinburgh, Oldham, Mr. Adams in the chair. We had a very good turn-up, and got through a fine lot of business. Seeing the show season is on us, we hope members will show as many birds as they can, and let fanciers see there are a few good Lancashires left. A hearty vote of thanks to our worthy chairman ended a most enjoyable meeting.—C. WHITEHEAD, Hon. Sec.

SHEFFIELD C.B.S.

Meeting held Oct. 6th, Wentworth Cafe, Mr. Bradshaw (president) in the chair. Several items of correspondence were dealt with. The secretary explained terms on which Mr. Coltan was giving his specials. Messrs. Bradshaw, Oxley and Walsh also promised specials for open show. Stewards elected for open show: W. Bingham and J. Woolhouse. Result of the judging competition: 1, Crapper; 2, Elliott; 3, Webster. With regard to show on Oct. 22nd, at the Friends' School, Leeds Road, members will be able to take birds there on the Friday night from seven to ten o'clock, or Saturday morning up to nine o'clock.—J. WOOLHOUSE.

CITY AND SUBURBAN A.C.B.

Meeting at headquarters, 60, Paddington-street, on October 10th, with Mr. A. W. Curtis in the chair. Mr. G. W. Copeland was elected a member, and Messrs. H. Brumbridge and J. Ludlam were nominated. Letters were read from Mrs. Barker, A. Silver, Mrs. Parry, P. H. Harris, and W. Sanders. Arising out of the above, the secretary was instructed to convey an expression of thanks to Mr. Harris for his welcome gift of silver-plated cup for best Linnet, and to Mr. Sanders. Members expressed regret for their inadvertence in failing to give him assistance with the staging in connection with the recent judging competition. Result of Norwich Plainhead Judging Competition:—Champion, W. Prance, 20 points; Amat., E. C. Offord, 29; and Nov., E. Clements, 24 points. Silver medals were presented to the winners, the quarterly statement of accounts showing a cash balance of £27 1s. 2½d., was read and confirmed, the secretary remarking that 10s. 5d. in the expenses was the membership fees of 123 members to the London Federation. A washing exhibition by Mr. F. J. Martin then took place. Having suggested certain methods which, in Mr. Martin's opinion, were likely to produce satisfactory results, and having shown the meeting how to wash a bird for show, and demonstrated the principle of his own unique collapsible drying cage, the association's electric drying cage was used for the purpose of drying. At the close questions were asked by Messrs. J. Chard, W. Knight, J. Abrams, C. T. Ayres, W. Styles, E. C. Offord, A. W. Curtis, and V. Wynn, and were duly answered, both the answers and the demonstration being highly appreciated. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Martin, and in a crisp reply he announced his intention of presenting (in addition to the association's annual medals), 5s. for the 1st, 3s. 2nd, and 2s. for the third best bird washed, and if a novice won the first prize he would, as a memento, present him with a fully engraved silver medal in addition. The members' expression of gratitude was unmistakable. A vote of thanks to the chairman closed the meeting.—VICTOR WYNN.

SUNDERLAND C.B.A.

Fortnightly meeting held Fawcett Street Cafe Oct. 15th. Mr. J. Farrar presiding over a good attendance. Correspondence read relating to forthcoming members' show, and secretary was instructed to order printing, etc. A letter was received from "A Friend" offering to provide cash prizes for British birds, such offer being gratefully accepted, the thanks of the Association to be given to the donor. Further matters in respect to show were discussed and agreed to. Secretary asked to write holders of various cups asking for their return. I shall be glad to receive subscriptions, now overdue.—J. JEFFREY, Sec.

STRATFORD & E. LONDON F.A.

Meeting October 13th. New members elected: Messrs. T. P. Grisdale (Billericay), A. Skinner (Stratford), A. Wallis (Forest Gate), J. Bromley (St. George's, E.), Mrs. E. E. Girling (Wickford). Several other members were proposed for election at next meeting. Schedules, show bills, etc., were distributed, after which volunteers were called for to give help on show day and the night before show. Several promised to attend and help. Since the meeting the secretary has been informed that the hall has been let for the day before the show and will not be vacant until 9 p.m. So we hope and trust there will be a good muster of members at the hall by 9 p.m. Please "do not be backward in coming forward."—W. MAXEY, Hon. Sec.

BOURNEMOUTH & DIS. C.B.A.

Meeting held headquarters Oct. 12th, programme for evening being an exhibition in washing Canaries for show. Mr. G. W. Jones occupied the chair. It turned out an unsuitable night, the rain coming down in torrents, which prevented many members being present. Mr. C. Howard braved the elements, and brought a Canary, which Mr. H. Goodland proceeded to operate upon in a very masterly style. He explained during the process the different points which should be carefully observed, and the drying and dressing was fully carried out. The new members especially appeared very interesting, and listened attentively; so it is hoped a profitable as well as an entertaining evening was spent. A vote of thanks to Messrs. Goodland, Howard, and the Chairman closed the evening.—W. O. BROOKE, Hon. Sec.

EDINBURGH N.C. and M.B.S.

Meeting held The Sons of Temperance Hall, High Street, Oct. 6, Mr. Welsh (President) in chair. A large attendance of members and friends turned up to see Mr. J. F. Dewar give a washing exhibition. Mr. Dewar brought two birds, which were the dirtiest he could find in his shop. With Castile soap (in a liquid form) and three separate dishes of water Mr. Dewar gave a very instructive and interesting exhibition, drying the birds with the hand thoroughly before putting them into a small wooden cage (which he preferred to a wire one, as it did not take on the same heat). At the same time he answered all questions put to him. The birds were handed round for inspection, exactly half an hour being taken to do the job. Mr. Welsh in a few words thanked Mr. Dewar for his kindness, and Mr. Dewar replied, stating that he was always willing to do what he could to instruct young fanciers.—A FANCIER.

CINNAMON-MARKED YORKS. C.C

Committee meeting held Prince of Wales Hotel, Shipley, Oct. 8th, Mr. J. Hartley presiding. Considerable discussion ensued upon Rule 6, several new members having overlooked it. Secretary instructed to write all who have been admitted during last four weeks. Following gentlemen admitted members: Messrs. J. Wilcock, jun. (Eccleshill), R. Ellis (Liversedge), T. Smith (Bradford), H. Bryan (Bolton Hall-road), and Messrs. Langley and Thornton (Otley). Several accounts presented for payment. Proposition, "That Mr. R. Garnett, of Windhill, be presented with a testimonial for services rendered during his 10 years as secretary." No fancier of the Cinnamon marked variety of the Yorkshire Canary is better known than Mr. Garnett, acknowledged by all as a true fancier. During his years of service he has spared neither time nor labour to advance the interests of his club. It is hoped members will show their appreciation of the good work done by assisting their committee financially, so that the testimonial may be substantial and one that can be looked upon in future years with pleasure. Following nominated as a committee for the arrangements: Messrs. S. Dean (Great Horton), E. B. Denton (Shipley), W. T. Hall (Dewsbury), L. Hodgson (Dudley Hill), A. Cooper (Girlington), J. Hartley (Bingley), H. Simonette (Bradford), F. Armstrong (Halifax), W. Gledhill (Huddersfield), and T. Bentley (Cleckheaton); also secretaries will gratefully acknowledge any subs. fowarded.—GRAYSHON AND ALLEN, Secs.

Proposed New Cage Bird Club for Clydebank and District.

SIR,—A meeting will be held in Shipyard Dining Halls, near Bon Accord, on Saturday, October 29th, at 5.30 p.m., with a view to forming the above-suggested club. Those interested in the Fancy are asked to attend.

Prize Money on the First Day of Show.

SIR,—Mr. Easterling seems to think that the paying of prize money on the first day of the show is quite an innovation, and that to his society is due all the credit of such. I have no wish to throw cold water on Mr. Easterling's ardour, or to depreciate his masterly activity, but I would like to say that up in the North the Lancashire and Yorkshire secretaries have been paying prize money on the first day of the show for thirty years to my knowledge. Verily, there is nothing new under the sun!

A Skylark Which Lays Eggs and yet Sings.

SIR,—I am very fond of birds and have four good Skylarks. One in particular I purchased from a dealer about eight months ago as a house-moulted cock; it had been caged over twelve months. It turned out a very nice singer, the best I had, and I could have sold it as a cock several times. This past week-end, when I took the cage down to clean it out, I found an egg in the cage-bottom. Have you ever heard of a similar experience? The bird is singing as well as ever by day and gaslight. I have the egg yet and have not broken it. I am a great lover of your paper, CAGE BIRDS. I have taken it for about two years, and always eager to get it, and I wish it every success.

Birds as Excess Luggage.

Suggested Petition to Railway Companies

SIR,—On Saturday last a great number of fanciers in Manchester paid a visit to Bolton Show, for which they paid railway fare, 1s. 6d. return, and then had to pay 6d. excess for the birds being brought back by them. Now, if these fanciers had not gone to the show, and the birds had been returned by passenger train, the railway company would have had to deliver the birds in Manchester, within the usual free delivery boundary, for 9d., which would mean a saving of 1s. 3d. to the fancier and a loss of 1s. 3d. in each case to the railway company. My opinion is that fanciers in going to shows get a lot of knowledge as to what the judges require, and if the railway companies were to do away with this excess charge, and put excursions on the same as is done for football matches, etc., they would find more people would travel to bird shows, and so they, too, would benefit by it. I propose that each society draws a petition up and its members sign same, and the whole be placed before the railway companies of England. I hope to see someone take this matter up.

The Cage Bird Union and Its Future.

SIR,—Mr. Maggs in his letter last week writes asking why I reiterate my invitation to societies to give their views through the Press. Well, because I am anxious to know them. This referred to the Newcastle and London Districts, who have not responded to the invitation. I read and noted his previous letter, where he gives the reason of his (Bristol F.A.) Society's secession, but he is mistaken in saying that not a word has been written in reply. If Mr. Maggs will look up your issue of July 2 he will find I wrote in reference to the Poultry Club: "I do not know when this Club was formed, but I think it has taken a considerable number of years to attain its present position; and no doubt other stronger influences were at work than obtain in the Cage Bird Fancy. I contend that the C.B.U. attained in twelve months a position that would have taken as many years of labour and struggling against criticism and prejudice without such a rule (22), even if it had not followed the early fate of the other Unions through lack of support." I now find that the Poultry Club was formed in 1877, so it has taken 33 years to attain its present high position. Then Mr. Maggs' statement of the 26 cups and 150 medals which they offer is a proof of my remark that stronger influences were at work in its formation. Mr. Maggs asked: "Is it not possible to have a ruling body in the C.B. Fancy similarly based on the freedom and goodwill of membership?" I replied that I doubted this, as witness the previous attempts to form Cage Bird Unions without a restrictive rule. I venture to think the position of the Poultry Fancy in being able to offer substantial cups and medals had more to do with the success of their club than "freedom and goodwill" of membership. No doubt, could the Union have offered similar inducements, they might have flourished without the vexed rule. I further pointed out to Mr. Maggs that the C.B.U. does practically all the Poultry Club does; the objects, principles and constitution are practically the same. Referring to the letter from "One Who Knows," I am afraid his suggestion to send out a "missionary" is out of the question. I don't suppose anyone could be found to spare the time, but I believe any of the present council would attend, and have attended, meetings in their districts to put the case of the Union before Societies. In regard to the Dulwich case, Societies and their shows are authorised long before the show time comes round, and before schedules are thought of. Possibly a schedule of this show was sent to Mr. Raynes (though not many shows do send them to the Union Secretary), but I cannot get hold of one, and I am advised that nothing can be done without one. I can assure "One Who Knows" that his last letter did receive notice. I have carefully marked all the salient points for consideration.

GEO. W. F. LYTHGOE,
Sec. C.B.U.

SIR,—What do my fellow fanciers think of the tail trying to wag the dog? Just cast your eyes on page 210 of last week's CAGE BIRDS and count up the number of starred shows; you will find then that it is only the hairy tuft at the end of the tail that is going to try to wag the remainder of the body at its bidding! It strikes me very forcibly that the Union is on the right line to get fatally hurt, and the verdict will be suicide, "felo de se." Rule 22 may be a grand rule, and one that would do a lot of good if the Union were in a position to enforce it, but they are certainly not strong enough to make even a show. I will tell you what they are going to do—that is, bring trouble and dissension into every society that is connected with the Union. There will soon be heaps of fanciers eligible for suspension, because any sensible man connected with the C.B.U., who does not wish to ruin his exhibiting season, will show where he chooses; others will resign from their societies to save bother; and those who remain loyal to the Union will be helping the outsiders to have easier wins, and those who run the shows to have a financial deficiency to face! Truly we are in for things this season if the Union do not delete the offending portion of Rule 22. Give all members the opportunity to show where they desire, and tackle some of the useful reforms that they are strong enough to do; try to be a real help to all societies and fanciers, then I believe there will be a long, honourable, and useful life before the Cage Bird Union. You have got your coats off, so cry the old impossible job off, and tackle a new one; but make a careful selection this time. Then some day you may be strong enough to carry the entire rule; but you are not to-day, so let it go.

W. DOWNING.

SIR,—When I wrote to you some months ago suggesting that your correspondent, "One Who Knows," should add "very little" to his nom-de-plume, it must have been a very bitter pill for him to swallow, and the fact that the suggestion was a sensible one probably made it very unpalatable indeed. Hence his referring to it in his last letter. It is rather difficult to understand what your correspondent really wants, for in his previous letter he was in favour of Rule 22, and it was simply owing to his scurrilous remarks concerning those who opposed the rule that I replied to him, otherwise, as I said at the time, I would not have done so, for those who, under cover of a nom-de-plume, make such remarks about people who do not happen to be of the same opinion as themselves, are not worthy of a reply. According to his last letter, however, he is evidently now of the same opinion as myself concerning Rule 22, and wishes it to be done away with, at least for a time. No doubt your readers will gather from this that your correspondent, apart from knowing very little, evidently does not even know his own mind, and he can scarcely wonder that none of the officials of the C.B.U. have taken any notice of his letters. Let your correspondent write something sensible, without being vindictive, and then probably Mr. Lythgoe and others of the Executive Council of the C.B.U. will take some notice of him. For my own part, I do not intend to take any further part in this discussion, for I have neither the time nor inclination to do so.

Railway Damages Birds.

SIR,—I am sorry to have to inform you that our travelling case got broken and Yorkshire cock killed, also hen lost; besides two others huddled up in bottom of cages, on returning from Frome Show. Birds were on line nearly 12 hours to reach Sidmouth. We intend to sue company for full value if C.B. Union think it worth trying for.

LASHBROOK AND SONS.

Proposed Cage Bird Society for Thatto Heath and District.

SIR,—This district ought to be able to boast a good cage bird society to cater for the needs of fanciers, and there ought to be one to stimulate interest in our hobby. I know several fanciers who wish to join, but there must be many bird lovers whom I have not as yet had the pleasure of meeting. If all those desirous of becoming members (ladies included, of course) will please communicate with me, and get their friends to do likewise, we might be able to set a cage bird society going.

A Foreign Bird Problem.

What is a Cage Bird?

SIR,—What is a cage bird? Surely CAGE BIRDS or many of its readers can answer this question. I am prompted to seek enlightenment on reading your report of Clapham Show foreign bird section, insectivorous, 1st prize, a 'Crested Ground Partridge." Surely judges when awarding premier honours in a competition for cage birds should use discretion, and although the bird in question may be beautiful and rare, it should remain cardless or wrong classed, when equally interesting and attractive genuine cage birds are present. What may we expect to see next in the classes of our cage bird shows? If a Ground Partridge is admitted as eligible to compete, then why not a Jungle Fowl, or Foreign Guinea Fowl, nay, we may not rest content even at that, but soon may expect to see adorning the show bench some Peacock or Adjutant bird. There is the dividing line, and judges should see that, though the line may be toed, it must not be crossed. We are at the commencement of another show season; many fanciers are keenly anxious to exhibit, but such competition is most unlooked for, and is certainly sufficient to cool the ardour of the most enthusiastic lover of birds, who may be desirous of seeing at some early future date the coveted card of honour attached to the cage containing one of their pets. May I solicit a referendum of exhibiting fanciers of true cage birds as to their feelings on this unexpected state of affairs?

WHAT IS A CAGE BIRD?

Non-fed Canary Classes at the Shows.

SIR,—I am very much interested in this "non-fed" question, and was pleased when I read Mr. Wilmot's and Mr. Farqurson's letters in last week's CAGE BIRDS. The club to which I belong (Ayr C.B.C.) have included in this year's show, two Norwich classes and one Yorkshire for non-fed birds. It was on my suggestion, along with two other members, that these were added as an experiment. If supported I intend to move that a few more classes be added when our next year's schedule is being made up. So I hope that fanciers who are in sympathy with my views will see that they fill.

R. MCKAY.

SIR,—I am pleased to see that the above question is raised. I think it is about time something was done to keep the Norwich Plainhead, as it was known in years gone by. If this craze for colour-fed birds goes much further, we shall not know what a Norwich Canary is like. When you visit a show you will see as a rule the best type of bird in the class at the tail-end of the tickets, and when you enquire of the judge, you are told that it is the best of the lot, "but it is back in colour." Now, I don't think the bird that is true to type should have to take a back seat for a bird that has nothing to recommend it as a Norwich, but colour-feed. When you look at the birds in the non-fed class you find that it is the Norwich, "as it should be," that is winning; the judge has type and quality only to go for. I will be only too pleased to help if a "non-fed club" can be formed to further advance the exhibiting of non-fed birds, and I will make entries where I can get shows to give at least four classes for non-feds. At the City of Glasgow we had four, but as they were not supported as they should be, we were to lose two. But a working man fancier guaranteed the four. All who want to see non-fed classes increase should support shows that give a good classification. And when societies see those well patronised, others will adopt them.

A. MALCOLMSON.

The Cage Bird Union and the London Federation.

SIR,—Mr. Crisp still seems very sarcastic in his remarks about me, and this is uncalled for. He seems to have got tired, and has nothing to say about the two items in his first letter. He seems anxious to know my opinion, he and the Fancy at large, that the Federation was formed to do away with the C.B.U., as certain prominent London fanciers thought they could manage for London and district. I was chosen for a delegate of the C.B.U. by the Wimbledon Society; then the Federation was formed, and I was asked by the above society to be a delegate to the Federation, which I refused, as I could not serve on two. I do not think that the C.B.U. has had a fair chance, but I wish it success.

G. J. WARLEY.

SIR,—I was greatly surprised to read the letter in a recent issue, under the above heading, signed "Unaffiliated," who has made a very grave and unfounded attack upon one of our best fanciers, and I should like to make a few remarks through your valuable columns, as "Unaffiliated's" letter may be misleading to some who do not know Mr. Crisp. Firstly, I do not think Mr. Crisp either suggested or proposed the Federation, but being voted upon the Council, he has undoubtedly done his duty without any hole-in-the-corner, one-man business. This, I know, he would greatly ignore, for should he bring any matter forward at any meeting, it would be just the same to him whether it was carried or not. Again, is he not always ready to impart to others what his experience and study have taught him? What possessed unaffiliated to write as he did I do not know. Can he give us any instances where Mr. Crisp has done as he says? I say, certainly not. As "Unaffiliated" writes under a cloak, I must do the same.

FAIR PLAY.

Ten Guineas Paid for a Young Canary.

SIR,—Breeders and exhibitors of Canaries will be pleased to hear of the success that has been attained by a member of the York C.B.S., Mr. A. Humphries. He is a keen and experienced fancier of the Norwich Plainhead variety, and has this season reached the height of his ambition by being able to breed a clear yellow cock Canary, a real champion. Being bred in May, it is therefore only six months old. He has only exhibited the bird twice, once on October 1st at Bradford City Show, where it secured first prize in a very large class, and again on October 8th, at Morecambe Show, when it again secured first—a very smart performance for so young a bird. It was catalogued at ten guineas, at which price it was claimed by a well-known and enthusiastic Halifax fancier. Mr. Humphries has had a very successful year with his birds, having reared well over sixty this season, and they are not only good in numbers, but excellent in size, shape and quality. At Bradford and Morecambe he also secured three firsts, two seconds, and one fourth, which speaks volumes for the time and trouble this fancier spends with his birds. The members of the York C.B.S. wish him every success; but feel very sorry, along with the late owner, that such a good specimen should have been bred in York, and then so early in the show season have been claimed and taken out of the old city.

A. RICHARDSON.

The Dulwich O.S. 1910 Prize Money.

SIR,—Being a member of the Dulwich O.S. I have read with much interest the letters of your correspondents, Messrs. H. H. Towers and J. Smith. I suppose the society exists, as I have not heard of its death. Notwithstanding I live close to Dulwich, I cannot get any particulars respecting the society. At their last show I was awarded 4 firsts and 2 specials (the perpetual trophy and 10s. 6d. for best Norwich in show), promised and advertised in schedule by Mr. Woolhouse, which I have never received. Mr. Woolhouse said he would send them on in the early part of the year. If he should see this, it may revive his memory. As an exhibitor and member, I should not mind so much about losing the cash, but what I object to is that we as members cannot get to know how the society was managed. No balance-sheet was published to inform us where all the cash went to. Can a committee, a secretary, or a show manager expect to get sympathy when he keeps his mouth closed as to what cash has been received and spent? I say no. And such officials don't deserve to, when they ignore letters they receive from successful exhibitors. No committee or society can be sure of making a show a success, as we have weather, etc., to contend with, factors which result in a poor "gate," and sometimes a financial failure; but a committee, or secretary, can and ought to let the people and exhibitors know how they stand. I feel sure there would then not be such a cry against the promoters of the show.

C. YOUNG.

Blackbirds and Thrushes Slaughtered for Food.

Wanted, 1,000 Weekly.

SIR,—I am sending you cutting from our local paper. It reads: Wauted.—1,000 Blackbirds and Thrushes every week.—O. A. Critchley, Fishmonger, Poulterer and Game Dealer, Duke Street, Henley-on-Thames. This, I think, "takes the cake." Here is a man who requires 1,000 Thrushes and Blackbirds; and what for? Why, to make up into a "dainty dish," for the ladies and gentlemen who are determined to put down the "destruction of and cruelty to" our wild birds. These very men and women would be rent to their very hearts' strings if they saw a man had a few Linnets or Goldfinches, over which he would spend hours catering for their wants. What right has a working man's hobby to be set against the inner cravings of the rich man? Whenever do we hear of the R.S.P.C.A. bringing a case to the front of half-killed rabbits that have just strength to get back to their little homes in the earth or the Pheasant that gets half its wing blown off? This is sport, not cruelty! These men talk about the "poor" brace bird; why I have had the pleasure of seeing them on the stick, and they appeared to be enjoying it. How often we have heard the man who has had the misfortune to lose his brace bird say, "I would not have had that happen for a sovereign." That in itself proves they look after their birds. We men who have British birds as pets to please our eyes and cheer our hearts with their song, and look after them, should still have the privilege of catching, keeping and selling. Let the rich buy and eat; let the fancier keep and let live.

F. HUGHES.

Do Novice Birds Get Fair Play in the Yorkshire Union?

SIR,—In perusing CAGE BIRDS on Friday last my attention was drawn to a correspondent who, under the nom-de-plume "A Sympathetic Champion," was ventilating his outraged feelings and opinions on the rules of the Yorkshire Union, as framed for the safety and welfare of its large section of novice members. At the outset may I beg leave to make myself perfectly clear on the question at issue? My entire sympathy is with the novices in entering into this correspondence, and I might go further and say that those who were responsible for bringing the rule in existence, which limits the novice classes to £5 5s., had the same sympathy for their (the novices') welfare in fixing this limit for the sole purpose of doing away with the fraudulent practices which were alleged, and did exist, of lending and borrowing birds for exhibition in these particular classes as then constituted. Also, if a sympathetic champion had the courage to take upon himself the attitude of a martyr in dealing with this great question, I, for one, should have appreciated it far more than I have if he had signed his name at the bottom and let the Fancy in general know who their benefactor was. I am drawn into this correspondence much against my mind, sir, I admit, as I have a firm belief that many of the discussions end in personalities and mud-throwing to an alarming extent, and as I am one of those individuals often termed a little "hot-blooded," I find it far better to refrain from entering into this class of business. The Yorkshire Union includes in its membership about 900 novices and 300 champions, and if your correspondent will just refer to the first portion of his letter (in which he admits that the parties most concerned don't see it in that light), and then compare the figures as quoted above, he will find the solution to that most indifferent feeling which exists amongst the "back-bone of the Fancy" against this so-called grievance. Fortunately, each member of the Yorkshire Union has the opportunity of voting by ballot each year for or against any rule that is operating harshly on any section of its members, and I feel sure that under such fair conditions as these even your correspondent will admit the majority always does, and will, rule. Had the Union been otherwise constituted, or had its members been debarred of this great privilege, then I, for one, should have let this matter go unchallenged; but under the fair conditions prevailing I feel compelled to tell him that the position he has taken up is illogical all the way through, and the proof of my statement is clear. Then another question: Is it not a fact that many novices have purchased birds to win in the novice classes with from champion exhibitors? I don't say it was so in the case of these claims at Bradford City, but I do know a large number of exhibitors who have done so, and who would be making a nice profit on their transactions if the birds were claimed at limit prices, so that the question applies both ways. I should be the last person in the world to say that tip-toppers have not occasionally been picked out from the novice classes, but some of the birds thus purchased have been lost to the show bench for ever when they have changed hands, and convinced not one, but many, that the word "novice" was only a misnomer as sometimes applied. Your correspondent then goes on to say that Rule 42 advances the interests of the champions and moneyed men, and had it not been for the seriousness of the accusation I should certainly have treated the same with utter contempt. I maintain that this accusation is a slur on the intelligence of the members comprising the Yorkshire Union, and it is the first time throughout my whole experience that I have heard such an unwarranted remark as this, and the only fit epithet I can conscientiously place anent it is to repeat the short sentence, with slight omissions, that your correspondent uses, viz., the whole thing "is rotten." There is no Union in existence which tries to work more for the advancement and protection of its members than the Yorkshire Union, and I defy him or anyone else to name such, and if, in his opinion, the novices are not fairly dealt with, let him place the matter before his society and ask for it to be placed on the ballot paper another year, and let the novices reply to his opinion. They will do this in no unmistakable fashion, and soon prove that they are quite capable of defending their rights against any so-called "sympathetic champion," for they know wherein lies the whole crux of the question at issue. Do the novices get fair play? I say unmistakably "Yes," for they have the happy privilege of being in a majority to pass what modification they like to any existing evil. Therefore, where comes the question, "Is it a blot on the Yorkshire Union"? Pardon me, Mr. Editor, for trespassing on your valuable space; but I promise that it shall not occur again on this question, as this is the first and last from my pen at any rate.

H. HILL,
Hon. Sec. Yorkshire Union of C.B.S.

SIR,—I was very pleased indeed, as an old fancier, to read in last week's CAGE BIRDS the letter over the signature of one who subscribes himself "A Sympathetic Champion." What lent additional interest to the letter is the fact that evidently the writer is not pleading for his own section as a brother champion! This may or may not be due to the fact that he thinks the champions quite able and competent to look well after their own special interests without invoking the aid of either the Yorkshire Union or the pages of the public press. No one, I opine, be he champion or novice, will for even a single moment doubt the accuracy of this, as up to the present time the champions cannot be charged with being careless or negligent in anything which is likely to prejudice their own interests. Again, they cannot be charged with being slow in taking advantage of one of the Yorkshire Union rules, which puts an embargo, in the shape of a limit catalogue price of 5 guineas on the novice exhibition birds in all shows held under their rules and patronage. As everyone now knows, the champions, or at least a section of such, have taken full advantage of the opportunity afforded them by this Union rule. Hence these classes have for too long a period been their happy hunting ground in their endeavours to find more suitable material for strengthening their own position for a purpose which most fanciers will be able to define. No one will doubt the right of any person doing his best to enhance his own position as an exhibitor for any purpose he may think fit, and no one, I assume, will deny the right of an exhibitor to make a purchase when and where he desires to do so, as he has a perfect right, as everyone else has, to exhibit a bird or birds of his own, whether procured by purchase or own breeding, so long as it (or they) is his own property for the time being. So far as I have been able to judge, the object of "A Sympathetic Champion" is not to take away the right of any man to do what he likes with his own property, but rather the reverse, as all his pleadings are in defence of a person doing as he likes with his own; and, further, he condemns the authority, which he deems guilty—that is, the Yorkshire Union—for denying to grant to the novice section of its members the same right that it accords to the champions, who, to say the least of it, are to-day to an extent "reaping a harvest," though it may be a partial one, that, honestly and honourably, belongs to another. In all probability the person who owns the bird (or birds) which is claimed at the restrictive price of 5 guineas would either have got an enhanced price, or, as it often happens, he is for that season deprived of winning the novice medal, which he covets and values, perhaps, as much as does the champion who wins a more expensive prize or trophy. The rule, or regulation, which compels a novice exhibitor to restrict his price to 5 guineas, but allowe those who exhibit in the open classes to select their own prices for being catalogued, in logic means that a novice is either incapable of breeding a specimen of larger value than 5 guineas, or, if he is capable and benches it for competition, he must give the surplus value to the claimant, who gets what in all conscience is due to the owner and exhibitor, who has earned it honestly and honourably. Let us just for the sake of argument imagine what would be the result if a restrictive price had to be placed on birds exhibited in the open classes, even if considerably more than what now obtains in the novice classes. Well, to say the least of it, the result would be a tangle as well as a disappointment, not to mention the fact that in all probability it would be the beginning of the end to the Fancy and everyone connected with it, as those who possessed the means in the greatest degree would be entire masters, even to a much greater extent than they are to-day. I could, if time and space permitted, cite abundant proof that would, I feel sure, convince even the most sceptical that the greater freedom and encouragement which is being, and has been, given to the novice section of exhibitors has in the main resulted in the improvement of both societies and societies' shows, financially and otherwise; but for the moment I will content myself by giving one simple illustration. I note that at last Saturday's Yorkshire Union Show, held at Laisterdyke, there were given 13 open Yorkshire classes, and 8 novice Yorkshire classes. The former aggregate entry was 153, or an average of a little under 12 per class. In the latter 8 novice Yorkshire classes there was an aggregate entry of 177, or an average of a little over 22 per class. This result is by no means an exceptional one, as everyone knows who has taken any interest in the Union Shows. These results alone, not to mention the fact that probably three-fourths of the Yorkshire Union members are novices, is a sufficient justification for the removal of every obstacle that is at all likely to prejudice their chances of attaining the highest honour possible to be reached by a novice exhibitor, viz., possession of the gold medal, until such time arrives when he has cash sufficient to warrant even a sporting chance of gaining higher honours.

JONAS KNIGHT.

SIR,—I should like to give my opinion as to the question "Is it a Blot on the Yorkshire Union?" I say yes, it is a very serious one, and the sooner the novices wake up and have it removed, the better. They have it in their power by a large majority to do so. I always thought that the object of the Yorkshire Union was to protect the Fancy, but I am sorry to say that it does not—only the moneyed and deck-sweeping ones. Some of them have been heard to say that £5 5s. is a good price for a novice bird. It is; but which would the owner rather have, the gold or his feathered pet? In nine cases out of ten he would choose his bird, especially if a true fancier, though poor. Give the novice a chance of keeping what really belongs to him: (1) his birds; (2) the honour of breeding them; and (3) the honour of winning with them, because we know that he himself can seldom buy them. If the professional or deck-sweeper did the same he would no longer be a deck-sweeper. I should like to make a suggestion that no novice bird can be claimed except with the consent of the exhibitor, and also by being put up to auction, the exhibitor to have all that is realised above £5 5s., the show management only to receive its present percentage on the £5 5s., as rule now stands. The reason I suggest an auction is because I know, and other fanciers know as well, the clever way the professional or moneyed fancier has in claiming a bird, just doing his work so that nobody else can claim it. Rather amusing at times to see them watching clocks and watches for claiming time. I am an old fancier, and wish the novice every success.

A Handy Circular Door.

Sent by Mr. F. Willhelm Hudd, 3, Kensal Road, Victoria Park, Bristol.

I send you sketch of an idea for circular doors. By having the hinges a little longer than usual and fastened near the edge, you get the door away from cage when opened, so that when transferring birds from one cage to another you can get the cages flush together, thus avoiding risk of birds escaping. You will find the doors give way a little where they meet. This does away with detaching same.—F. WILLHELM HUDD.

Support for Long Perches.

Sent by Mrs. Edwards, 433, Grafton Street, Dingle, Liverpool.

Take a strong hair pin, about two inches long and with pliers open it out wide. Then turn down with pliers about one inch at the rounded end, as shown. Then make two small holes at the side of cage, and pass the two pointed ends through, leaving about a quarter of an inch inside, between side of cage and rounded end. Turn down the points flat to the outside of cage, and place perch in position.—MRS. EDWARDS.

OBITUARY.

Mr. H. GREENWOOD (Bradford).

It is with great regret, writes Mr. H. Chuhh, hon. secretary of the Gt. Horton Good Intent O.S., that I have to report the death of one of our members on October 16th—Mr. Harry Greenwood, of Albion Terrace, Wyke, Bradford—after a very short illness at the age of 28 years. I am voicing the opinion of our members in extending the deepest sympathy of the society to Mrs. Greenwood in her sad hereavement.

Mr. G. WHALEY (Brunswick).

It is with deep regret that I write to inform you of the sad death of one of the most respected members of the North Suburban Canary Improvement Society, Mr. George Whaley, of Albert Street, Brunswick, who died suddenly on August 15, of heart failure, writes Mr. A. Geo. Boardman (North Fitzroy, Australia). The Fancy has lost in him one of its most ardent members, who spared neither trouble nor expense in trying to give help and advice in whatever form it was required, especially to novices. His kind and genial disposition made him many friends. The funeral took place on August 17 to the Falkiner cemetery, and a large concourse of people showed how well liked and respected he was. Many members of the Canary Society headed the funeral. To his sorrowing wife and child the N.S.C.I.S. fanciers wish to extend their heartfelt sympathy, for truly he was one of the best.

In the Courts.

"IN POSSESSION."

R. Taylor, of Kenyon Street, Leicester, was summoned for having Goldfinches in his possession on October 9.—Supt. Holland stated that on Sunday he was at the railway station, and saw defendant with a hamper on front of his bicycle. He examined it, and found all the apparatus for trapping wild birds. Defendant had decoy birds in one cage and two Goldfinches recently caught in another. He gave witness his name as Arthur W. Williams, and a false address, and it was only the previous night he had discovered his correct name and address. He (witness) left the brace on one bird, which had died, to show the Bench the cruelty practised in catching them.—Mr. Rowlatt asked for forfeiture of all the apparatus.—Defendant: The superintendent knew my name.—Supt. Holland: I am glad you remind me. You were up here for a similar offence two years ago, and you got off.—Defendant: You can catch them in Northamptonshire—and I caught these there.—Mr. Rowlatt: You are charged with having them in your possession.—A fine of 10s., with 10s. costs, and forfeiture of the nets, was imposed.

Under the White Rose.

A SERIOUS misfortune befell one of the Leeds exhibitors, Mr. D. Hunter, of Scarboro. He entered four birds and sent them off alright on the Friday night. He was greatly surprised, however, to receive them back at Scarboro on the Saturday morning, due to some great blunder on the part of the railway company's officials. This, I expect, is what we pay the extra 50 per cent. charges on the carriage for, and if the railway company act as they usually do in such matters, it means a wait of some few months to receive the information "that they are not responsible." Shall we call it a "no-ball"?

LAISTERDYKE Show took place on Saturday last, and was very well patronised. Entries in all classes came up very well indeed, and the quality throughout was of exceptionally high merit, many of the previous week's winners having to take a back seat. Competition for the various trophies is very keen, and, as far as high prices are concerned, the season promises to be a record one.

IS it a blot on the Yorkshire Union? The letter in last week's issue of CAGE BIRDS under this heading caused a little surprise amongst fanciers generally. It was usually supposed that this knotty question had been amicably settled. The matter has been on the hallot-paper of the Y.U. more than once, and the novices, being in the majority, have the rule entirely in their own hands; and through this column I have always pointed out to them the why and the wherefore of the rule, during such time as the hallot-papers were in their hands, so that they should not be "in the dark" on the subject. However, it must be kept in mind that the rule was originally framed to protect the novice from the wiles of unscrupulous fanciers, to keep the novice classes for the true novice only, and to keep out the birds of those who were not entitled to show there, but who did so under the name of some misguided novice. As one who likes to give both sides of the question, I must admit that if a novice breeds a real topping bird, he should by all means have some say as to what price he shall sell at, and even here he to a great extent has the matter in his own hands; he knows before he enters the bird what the limit of price is, and should act accordingly. What would fanciers say if someone entered a bird in a selling class, and then, if claimed, cried out about it? The only disadvantage seems to be that should a novice have a real tip-top bird, worth more than the limit price of £5 5s., he cannot show it to assist him to win his medal, without the fear of someone claiming it at the price; but he does know now that the bird cannot be shown against him by a competitor.

The Cage Bird Union and Newcastle Show.

SIR,—I do not know what you think about this, which is a copy of a letter I got with several entries. I have withheld the name, because I have not had time to write for permission to use it.

T. C. CRAWHALL.

Copy: "I hope you will get a bumping entry. It's a fact the secretary of the Cage Bird Union wrote to the Yorkshire Union secretary to get the entries withheld from Newcastle, but I hear he got a warm reply."

A LONGTON BIRD SPECIALIST.

How a Huge Business was Built Up.

When at the recent Longton show, our representative was invited to look over the new shop and warehouses recently opened by that enterprising fanciers' specialist, Mr. Enoch Tams, of Church Street, Longton. He writes: "Mr. Tams kindly conducted me over his new premises, shop, store rooms, and warehouse. I was surprised at the enormous size of the establishment. The shop is a double-fronted one, with a frontage of nearly forty feet. The windows contained an attractive display of all kinds of seeds, requisites for the bird-room, show cages, etc. There are two spacious rooms, one where Mr. Tams transacts business over the counter, the other a splendid place, light and lofty, admirably fitted up with numberless cages, on an up-to-date principle. I was very much struck with the cleanliness of the establishment; everywhere was spotlessly clean. The whole premises are fitted with electric light. Several storerooms which we inspected were literally packed with bird-room appliances, show cages, breeding cages, nest pans, wire baths, sprays, loose fronts, white earthenware pottery, and packet seeds, for which Mr. Tams has a large sale, especially his Linnet Mixture, Finch Mixture, etc. Several rooms were set apart for various British birds, Goldfinches, Linnets, Redpolls, Bullfinches, etc., and a grand lot they were, looking in the best of health. We did not see a sickly looking bird on the premises. Another room contained a fine lot of Norwich Canaries. The warehouse is a large and commodious building, one large room on the ground floor containing an immense number of sacks of very fine bird seeds of all kinds. Adjoining this is the packing room. The upper rooms were filled with stock cages and show cages of all sorts—hundreds of them, all ready to be sent out. The business is an old-established one, being founded by Mr. Henry Tams, of Cinnamon fame, some thirty years ago. His son, Mr. Enoch Tams, some four years ago took over the business, and during that short time it has increased six-fold. This enormous increase of trade Mr. Tams said he attributed solely to CAGE BIRDS, from the fact that CAGE BIRDS is absolutely the only journal in which he advertises. It was very gratifying to him, for he had been compelled to look round for larger premises. Judging from the immense number of railway consignment notes on the file (which were handed to me for inspection) for birds alone during the past month, I was able to form some idea of the enormous extent of the business. Mr. Tams strikes you as being a keen business man, full of energy and tact, and quite alive to the present-day requirements of the Fancy. He is, too, the fortunate possessor of a wife of unusual ability, having a thorough practical knowledge of the business, a valuable partner to a worthy husband.

ANOTHER RECORD AT PLYMOUTH.

Wonderful Display of Yorkshires and Norwich.—A Sensation amongst the Mules.

Flushed with the success attending its Jahilee Show last year, that well-managed society, the W.C.O.S. has gone one better on the present occasion, and its show held in the Corn Exchange, Plymouth, on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, had the splendid entry of 850, whilst the quality right through the show was very high class. There was a good attendance of visitors, and the gate looked likely to be a worthy accompaniment to the entry.

Yorkshires, which opened the show, were under the patronage of the S.Y.C.C., and had the magnificent entry of 139 in seven classes, which fell only a few short of doubling the average of last year. Space forbids our saying all we would like to say about them, but we cannot refrain from eulogising the splendid exhibits of Messrs. Renule, Pool, Fox, Pattrick, Rorks, Elsmore, and Jewell, the first named repeating his Clapham success, and the last securing the members' cup, which now becomes his owa property. Messrs. Fox, who won in each of the clear classes, had labelled their birds wrongly, and had to thank the sportsmanship of the executive for a lucky win. Norwich, under S.N.P.C. patronage, like Yorkshires had also a wonderful display, totalling 240 in twelve classes, and, needless to say, the quality equalled the entry. One always sees good Norwich at Plymouth. The home product is great, and outside breeders seem to enjoy crossing swords with the redoubtable breeders of the "Three Towns." In many districts the Fancy has changed repeatedly during the last generation, but not so with our Western friends. Thirty years ago they had the credit of producing some of the best Norwich in the country, and they still do it, even as they have all through the intervening years. The local breeders were in strong force this year, and worthily held their own from such doughty oatsliders as Messrs. Hodder, Baker, Morris, Midgley. Birds which deserve special notice were Messrs. Gill and Pethick's yellow, quite the best we have seen this season; the ticks of Messrs. Morris and Spillman; Mr. Godfrey's unflg. huff, which stood at the head of a marvellous class of 31, and a class which all who saw it said it was the finest they had ever heheld. The Devon men won all three of the hen classes, and real service lasses they were. Mr. Spillman won the members' cup with his unflg. hen, and a beauty sho is. The yellow hens were a wonderfully level lot, and very little separated the first and the last in the class. Many of the Norwich were not fit, and the damp, dull dny made them hang their feathers; a week or fortnight hence many of the placings will doubtless be altered.

A Good Young Crest.

Crests were hardly up to Plymoutb form in point of namhers, hut the quality was all there. Still it was very evident that the cold, damp summer has seriously affected the hopes and aspirations of Crest breeders, and we beard several most doleful stories of the experiences of the past season. Of the hirds staged bere we much liked Mr. Martin's youngster, which won the special for the best bird in tho sbow. In the opinion of Messrs. Heath and House it is a phenomenal bird, and the fact that they placed it over Mr. Taylor's famous King Edward is proof of their appreciation of its great merit. Mr. Martin also staged some wonderful birds in the novice class. Mr. Bale's famous Crest-bred, lookiug much hetter than it did last season, headed a strong class, and its brother won easily in a good class of 1910 birds. Mr. Taylor's team caased the men of the West to stand and gaze in admiration at tbeir beauty. Plymoutb men know a good Crest, and know bow to appreciate it wben they see it, irrespective of its ownership.

Cinnamons are not what tbey used to be down West, and the display was mediocre. Borders, classified last year for tbe first time, were a nice little lot of half a score of stylish, nice-feathered specimens. In a neighbonrhood where the old English variety used to be so popular tbe Border should find adherents, and we hope Mr. Dart, the popular chairman of tbe W.C.O.S., will succeed in enlisting other recruits. Belgians bad two classes and mustered a score—not had in these days, but far from what we used to see at Plymouth in the palmy days of tbe breed. The average merit of the exhibits was of a very high standard, especially in the young classes. Two out of the three Mule classes were cancelled, as were the Foreign classes, and one of tbe British. Why, it is hard to say; in a district like Plymontb British and Foreign hoth ougbt to be very popular. The sensation of the show was the passing hy Mr. Cheney of Mr. Shellam's clear Greenfinch Male on the ground that it was not a Mule.

Plymoath plays second fiddle to no society in the excellence of its arrangements for the comfort and well-being of the exhibits, which are year hy year entrusted to the care of the W.C.O.S. Tradition is strong in Plymouth, and is wortbily upheld hy the present executive, which has amongst its members such thorough sportsmen and fanciers as Messrs. C. Dart (chairman), W. French (vice-chairman), W. Spillman, C. Reed, C. Hoar, C. Garland, J. Ryder, F. G. Snell, W. W. Smale, C. Jewell, E. Lott, J. E. Rowe, L. S. B. Clarke, G. Pridham, G. Haskell, C. Large, Davey, and F. Wills—a body of enthusiasts who know their work and do it witb energy and method. Of the two secretaries, Messrs. Thomas Pope and W. A. Dyer, we need only say that they are most worthy followers of the good and true men who have gone hefore, and the W.C.O.S. has had some of the best. Higher praise cannot he given them. Mr. H. W. Pope rendered them valued assistance.

The judges were Messrs. C. A. House (Yorks., Nor., Belg.), A. E. Cheney (Mules, Brit., and For.), and T. Heath (the remainder).

LOCHGELLY (N.B).

First annual show held Oct. 15th. It proved a great success, the executive being rewarded with a handsome return of over 600 entries, containing some of the cream of the Fancy. Scotch Fancies were good, and were very uniform in type and size. They were carefully adjudicated upon by the well-known exponent of the bird of circle, Mr. J. McLennan, his awards being well received. Borders were also good. Every class was keenly contested, especially the clears. The typo throughout was very level, while the finish and condition of the winners were all that could be desired. The awards, which were given by the well-known Whitburn breeder, Mr. R. Lamble, were well received. Yorkshires were a fine collection; these seem to be making rapid strides in "the land of cakes." Mr. McLennan judged these, and the awards were again well received. Crests and Crest-breds were nice, and the classes keenly contested. The feature of the show, however, was the grand collection of Norwich Plainheads; every class had good specimens, but the unlighted classes were "stormers." The judge, Mr. Smeaton, adjudicated in his usual painstaking manner. Cup for best in show went to a bird in this section. Mules and British were grand; they were the best show seen this year. These classes were judged by Mr. G. Marlin, who left very little to be desired. The splendid array of specials no doubt helped to draw the good entry. The hall is an ideal one, and the committee a hard working one. Fanciers should note in future and "keep their eye on" Lochgelly. The society are fortunate in having good talent among their executive. The worthy secretary had everything well in hand, and was ably assisted by the hon treasurer; between them they worked the show in an excellent manner. The society also hoasts a membership of 83, and we heard that the genial president accounted for no less than 60 of these. One notable feature of the show was the opening, which was done to the strain of Scotland's music—a grand pipe band; note: the band was outside, as there was plenty of music inside. Another feature was the closing of show one hour before the time stated in schedule, to allow exhibitors to get birds home same night. The show was well patronised, and we are pleased to hear the funds are good.

EDINBURGH (Combined).

The combined show of the Edinburgh O.S. and the Edinburgh Western O.S. was held on the Grindlay Street Artillery Hall on Oct. 8. It was the sixty-third annual exhibition of the former society, and the twenty-fifth of the latter society. The show proved a great success from every point of view. And no wonder, with two such secretaries as Messrs. Andrew Stavert (of the Edinburgh O.S.) and Robert Lile (of the Edinburgh Western) at the helm. They were business-like and efficient, hesides being courteous and obliging, and great praise is due to both. Praise is also due to the president of the Edinhurgh O.S. and to the vice-president, Messrs. W. Allan and T. Dalgleish, respectively, and to the committee of management, Messrs. Duff, Paterson, Hendry, and Thornton; also to the president and vice-president of the Edinburgh Western Society, Messrs. W. Whitefield and George Stewart, respectively. The judges were: For the Edinburgh Western, Messrs. J. Watson, J. Hamilton, H. Bennet, and J. Scaife; and for the Edinburgh O.S., Messrs. Carson, Carlow, and J. F. Dewar. The awards appeared to give every satisfaction.

The Edinburgh O.S.

This show was a great success. No fewer than 250 birds were staged, all of a very high class. The membership of the club has, we understand, been doubled this year, owing to the splendid recruiting work of the president, Mr. Allan, and of the committee. Best bird in show was Mr. Dalgleish's yellow cock bird, the runner-up being Mr. Thornton's yellow green hen; hoth hirds are of exceptional merit. The former bird was the winner of the Glasgow and Edinburgh Derbies.

OLDHAM.

Oldham and Dis. C.B.S. members' show held October 15th, in George-street School, and was a success. Room tastefully decorated with plants in hloom, and birds staged suitably for admiration. The entries exceeded all expectations (the date heing considered too early), and numbered 150. All went smoothly along without a hitch, thanks to the admirable attention paid by the stewards, Messrs. Steeple and Sherrington, and secretary, Mr. Cope, whilst the level-headedness of Mr. Sharples (president) added grist to the mill. Specials were given to each class and were fairly well distributed, whilst extra specials were won by Mr. Hampshire for most entries, best Lizard in show, and best Silver Lizard; Mr. Sharples, for second most entries and hottest col. bird; Mr. Holmes, for best bird in show; Mr. Ackroyd, for best in Classes 30, 31, and 33. The cup (competed for by four nominated birds), won by Mr. Addison, 26 points. Mr. Hampshire scored the same number of points, but the winner had preference, having the advantage in prize money. Section specials for most points: Messrs. Hampshire, Addison, and Sharples. Mr. R. Barrass (Rochdale) judged.

DARLINGTON.

Darlington C. and B.B.F.A. Oct. 15th, in Corn Exchange, a large room, well adapted for a cage bird show; the lights from the roof showed up the exhibits well, and every bird could be seen without handling. The staging was good. Mr. R. S. Black, the hon. sec., had everything in fine order, and we are sure exhibitors and visitors will give him and his committee every praise for the attention they bestowed on the birds, and the able manner in which they worked the show. The working committee were as follows: Messrs. H. C. Carter (chairman), J. Cuthbertson, H. Hawkins, P. Wilcock, J. Wildsmith, J. Lawson, J. G. Stephenson, R. Hildon, W. Cartwright, H. Robinson, J. Reynolds, J. Baker, A. Richmond. Mr. T. Clemlnson won the Sandiford special. The rose bowl, which had to be won three times before becoming winner's own property, was won outright by Mr. J. Cuthbertson; we congratulate him upon the win, for he has won it three times out of the four years it has been in competition. Mr. W. Mundell (Bradford) judged the Canary classes and Mr. F. Marwood (Thornaby) the Mules, and British and Foreign birds.

JOHNSTONE, N.B.

Johnstone Cage Bird, etc., Show held Town Hall, 15th Oct. There were 8 classes for cage birds. The Secretary, Mr. A. Laird, and his members of committee, were capable men for their task, which was not a small one; every credit is due to them. There was a grand turn-out of exhibits, and the turn-out of visitors and breeders kept the hall crowded all day. The cage bird judge was Mr. H. Menzies.

LEAMINGTON SPA.

Leamington Spa F.A. seventh annual show held in Drill Hall, Oct. 18th. This hall is an admirable one for a show. We were sorry to see our section did not come up quite so well as we should have liked. Each section had its own secretary. Mr. G. Hall acted as secretary—and a very capable one, too—to the cage bird section, with Messrs. A. H. Chambers, A. and C. Bull, A. J. Soden, and W. H. Stilgoe as stewards, to whom credit must be given for the way they managed things, cards being put up immediately the classes were judged. Mr. G. H. Billett judged, but owing to his having to judge other sections the cage birds were late in being judged. Why cage birds should always come at the tail end, and be looked upon as of little importance in a mixed show, we don't know.

KING'S LYNN.

This fixture, held October 19th, was favoured with nice weather, and blessed with good management, although the late arrival of pens hampered the general arrangements somewhat. Considering the show was subject to a £5 limit the entry was somewhat disappointing in cage birds, and several classes were in consequence cancelled. This is to be regretted, as the committee deserve a better result than a balance on the wrong side. The secretary, Mr. B. M. Targett, worked hard and well, and deserves every praise; he was ably assisted by capable stewards, who looked well after the needs of the exhibits. Mr. J. Howard judged.

NORTHAMPTON (Good Intent).

The 39th annual exhibition of the Northampton Good Intent was held Oct. 19th and 20th. The Corn Exchange was suited for the function. Northampton fanciers no doubt consider themselves lucky in being able to command such an ideal place. President, Mr. H. Manfield; chairman, Mr. G. Barrett; vice-chairman, Mr. J. King; treasurer, Mr. F. Cox. These make a quartette of very courteous and capable officials. Committee, Messrs. T. Butler, W. Smart, S. Smart, J. Mason, and C. Gayton; each and all deserve praise for the manner in which they assisted. Mr. G. M. Larkman, the esteemed secretary, carried things through masterfully, and is the society's right hand man without doubt. Stewards: Messrs. E. W. Isom and J. King; these gentlemen got through their duties in most admirable style, displaying cards promptly as each class was adjudicated upon, and attending to every other detail in a businesslike manner. Special winners: Best in Nor. Limit, Mr. F. Rayner; ditto, open Nor., Mr. G. Ette; ditto, Nat. col., Mr. T. Irons; ditto, Brit., Mr. H. Belcher; hottest fed (cruet by Mr. J. W. Ramsden), Mr. A. Towers; medal (by Mr. J. Mason for hottest fed opposite colour), Mr. G. Ette; silver medal for most points, classes 137 and 138, Mr. G. Hobbs. The judge was Mr. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield), and his awards were well received.

BATTERSEA.

Held Oct. 19 and 20. In selecting the Latchmere Baths for the fifth open show, the officials of the Battersea C.B.A. made a wise choice. The hall is commodious and well lighted—a splendid room to hold the seven hundred birds sent in. They were nicely staged in three tiers, allowing plenty of space for visitors, of whom there was a good muster during the afternoon and evening. The Yorkshies were the chief attraction, some grand birds being staged by well-known exhibitors. Mr. Cook's clear yell, and Mr. Wheeler's buff getting a good deal of attention. The unlighted class was a very strong one, and it looks as though this might with advantage be split into buffs and yellow, and still get plenty of support. The same remark applies to the Norwich unlighted class, which numbered thirty-three good specimens. The champion Norwich were a hot lot, the "pluma" being fairly well distributed between Messrs. Richardson, Young, Hodder, Lee, Lovegrove, etc. Some good Borders were shown in the two classes provided for the "wee gems." In the British section, Judge, Mr. Robson, only 115 entries turned up in the 12 classes provided; not many for such a classification, but quality, if not quantity, was well represented in the majority of the birds. In the Foreign section, Judge, Mr. Watts, there were 25 birds in the four classes provided, but there were some very good ones among them. The management was, as usual, thoroughly up-to-date, being in the hands of Mr. F. Easterling, who makes a capital and most painstaking secretary. He was ably assisted by Messrs. Fown, C. Mabey, Dewhurst, Luff, and other members of a good hard-working committee. The judges were Messrs. Robson, Norman, Pattrick, and Watts, who gave general satisfaction.

EDINBURGH (Southern).

Nineteenth annual show of the Edinburgh Southern O.S. held in Central Halls, Edinburgh, 15th October. Entries were about the same as last year, and the quality was good throughout. The hall was comfortable, and the exhibits were neatly arranged. Special prizes were nicely displayed at the end of the hall. The president (Mr. Drysdale), well known in Canary circles, was in attendance, and made everybody welcome. The secretary and treasurer, Mr. Hewitt, had a thorough grasp of the business, and the success of tbe exhibition was due to his satisfactory arrangements. The judges, Messrs. Cook (Cowdenbeath) and McLay (Kirkintilloch) placed the birds, and their awards were generally well received.

Kindly correct the "Twittering" I sent you last week, in regard to the medal of the Border Fancy Club, writes Mr. John Ford, sec. of the Kelty and Blairadam show. I stated that English members were not to compete, but Mr. Jamieson, sec. of the club, drew my attention to the mistake. The medal is for competition amongst all members of the B.F.C.

We have a fine list of specials, which we hope will draw a big entry for our contest on November 3 and 4, writes Mr. J. H. Willows, sec. of the Midland Roller C.C. The British R.C.C. points' competition starts at our show, both for the special trophies and the club cup. Schedules will be sent to members of the B.R.C.C., P.R.C.C., and all known Roller fanciers; others desiring to exhibit please apply to me at Lindum House, Wednesbury.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers In all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insistedupon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or, if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting questions of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6 according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

in the trade would make such an offer as I have made for years past, viz., have any of my appliances on approval, test them side by side with similar articles from elsewhere, and if mine or not better value at lower price, smash them up and I will refund the whole of your money. For several years this offer has been made, but never yet has one article been broken up, nor have I ever been told that anything of mine came out of the test second best. This fact alone should prove to you who is the man to supply you with tip-top value at rock-bottom price. Clap nets made from ¾-inch mesh, genuine thread netting specially knitted for bird netting, 3 yards long, 5½ feet deep, 4 feet fly, 4/- pair; ditto, 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/-; 7 yards, 8/-; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. Please note, these clap nets consist of two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed full measurement as stated, and are fitted up with staves, poles, pegs, hemp lines, and everything complete ready for immediate use; sparrow nets, fitted complete on 15 feet bamboo poles, 5/6; ditto, on 17 feet poles, 6/-; ditto on 19 feet poles, 6/6; Lark nets, 15 yards by 10 feet, 12/-; 18 yards, 15/-; 20 yards, 17/-; 25 yards, 21/-; 30 yards, 24/-; lined and geared ready for use. Real Italian hemp pull lines, specially spun, free from snarl or stretch, and strong as boat lines, 68 yards long, 1/4 each, post free. Loose netting, same as used in above clap nets, ¾-inch mesh, 7 feet deep, 3d. yard; ditto, 9 feet deep, 4d. yard; ditto, 12 feet deep, 5d. yard, post free. This netting must not be confused with the thick American cotton netting, which is often sold for bird netting; mine is made from 60s. 3-ply thread, is very fine but strong, and does not show on the ground. Lark netting, 1½-inch mesh, 10 feet deep, 4d. yard, post free. The original Japanese birdlime, guaranteed strongest lime made, will hold any Hawk or Rook that flies, does not run in sun, will hold even in the rain, and leaves the feathers clean in all cases, ½-lb. 6d., ½-lb. 10d., 1 lb. 1/6, sample 3d., all post free. Self-acting spring net traps, 24 inches long, 18 inches wide, 1/-; ditto, 18 inches long, 9d. each. These net traps are by far the largest and most effective traps on the market. They can be baited for Hardbills and Softbills at same time, call bird can be used inside them if desired, and will catch and hold uninjured any bird from Wren to Rook. Cannot get out of order, and so simple that any child can set them. Patent self-setting and self-acting trap cages, guaranteed to automatically reset immediately each bird is caught, 1/6 each. Single trap cages, 6d. each; double ditto, 1/- each; treble ditto, 1/3 each; all with separate compartment for call bird. Round or square-topped call cages, all wire tops and wood bottoms, close wired, coloured green, and made by cage-makers, not navvies, 4d. each, 3/- dozen. Store cages and everything required by catchers always in stock. Send stamp for printed price list and hints on net making. All nets thoroughly tested before sent out, and sent on approval on the distinct understanding that you get all your money back if not perfectly satisfactory in every way. All goods are of same sterling quality as before, as I have not sacrificed quality for price. Remember that a useless pair of nets are dear at any price, but a good pair will catch their cost in an hour or so. See following letters and then judge for yourself:—"20, William-street, Witham Green, Boston, September 6th.—Sir,—Please send pair nets as follows. Two year ago I had a pair from ———, which were supposed to be rot-proof, but now they are completely rotten.—Yours, H. French." "Press Wood, nr. Whitchurch, September 5th.—Sir,—Please send following. I was very pleased with your netting; it has made a good pair nets.—Yours, S. Gibbons." "2, Luke-street, Bursiem.—Sir,—I am highly satisfied with clap nets and drinkers, so now please send following. Yours, J. Dean." "53, Liverpool-road, South Birkdale.—Sir,—Please send lb. lime. That I had from you last year was best I ever had. I have some from ———, but it is no use; I have missed over 70 in four days with it.—Yours, R. Mukinson." "Mount Pleasant, Newburgh, Fife.—Sir,—I am again sending for bird-lime from you. I have got it the last three years, and it is best I ever had; no bother taking the birds off the twigs.—Yours, J. Panton." "66a, Napierston terrace, Jamestown.—Sir, Please send following goods. I find three net traps some time ago from elsewhere, but they are useless.—Yours, E. Bridgman." "Jessop-street, Codnor.—Sir,—Please send following. The last nets I had from you worked a treat, and come over like a flash of lightning. Just the thing for sharp birds.—Yours, P. Watson." Send your orders to the men who knows what is required for successful catching, and you will not be disappointed. I supply the leading men who get their living by catching, and must have best appliances; so surely if I can satisfy them I can satisfy you. Remember, all on approval, cash or "Cage Birds" deposit system. See British Bird column for further advertisement.

ANOTHER NOVELTY

about my advts. is this: I am always most careful to correctly describe any birds I offer, and always understate rather than exaggerate their qualities and value. If you notice, I never call a bird a "massive giant," or "enormous monster," when in reality it is only an ordinary specimen; but I do say this—If a man sends to me for birds and expects to get birds just as advertised, then he always gets exactly what he expects. That is why I am always so willing to send on approval, and why birds are never returned to me as being misrepresented. I have a huge stock of genuine Worcestershire netted cock Goldfinches, all warranted in pink of health and condition, and well on seed, at 1/6 each, three 4/-, six 7/-, twelve 12/-; specially selected larger cocks for moulting, for exhibition, or muling, and guaranteed now in song, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 17/-; few extra special clean moulted cocks in full colour and superb condition, with good broad skulls, square blaze, properly tanned and buttoned, etc., and fit for keenest competition, 3/-, 4/-, 5/-, each; hen Goldfinches, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; splendid lot cock Siskins, all clean moulted, and faultless condition, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 8/6, twelve 15/-; few large yellow exhibition specimens, with jet black cap, good bibs, and thigh lacing, 3/-, 4/-, and 5/- each; hen Siskins 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; yellow hens, smothered with lacing, 1/6 each; splendid lot cock brown Linnets, all clean moulted, with rose red breasts, and nut brown backs, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-; few larger picked birds, for muling or contest singing, and warranted now in song, 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-; exhibition specimens, exquisitely pencilled and correct type, 1/6, 2/-, and 2/6 each; cock Bullfinches 1/6 and 2/- each; exhibition specimens 3/- each; hen Bullfinches 1/- and 1/6 each; cock Greenfinches 6d. each, three 1/-; cock Chaffinches 8d. each, three 1/6; exhibition Greenfinches and Chaffinches 1/- each; Redpolls 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; cock Larks 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-; hand-reared cock Larks, finger tame and singing well, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, and 7/6 each; young Canaries 2/6 couple, 12/- dozen; Roller cocks in full song, 5/6 and 6/6 each; handsome hand-reared cock Jay, finger-tame, chattering and whistling all day, sure to make a champion, 6/-; Linnet, Goldfinch, and Bullfinch cages, 6d. each, 4/6 dozen; Lark cages 6d. and 8d. each, 4/- and 6/- dozen; 1d. tin drinkers 6d. dozen; 3 dozen 1/3, gross 4/-; zinc ditto 9d. dozen, 3 dozen 2/-, 6/- gross; wholesale cage list on application. Kindly note, despite the many assertions of persons claiming to hold largest stocks of birds in Midland Counties, I emphatically assert that I have more British birds in stock at present time than any other three dealers in Midlands, and am willing to prove it at any time. All birds are guaranteed to be well on seed before sent out, and purchasers from me run no risk of being prosecuted for having fresh caught birds in their possession, as I have an arrangement with my catchers (who are stationed in various parts of Worcestershire) whereby they keep the birds in their charge until the necessary time has elapsed to enable the birds to be kept in any part of British Isles, without fear or favour. All are sent on approval, on receipt of cash, or deposit system of "Cage Birds," and if they fail to prove entirely satisfactory, they only have to be returned and back comes the whole of your money. See Appliance Column for further advt

I guarantee strictly honourable trading and satisfaction to all.—Varney, sole proprietor and importer of this remarkable Roller Canary. Twenty years' advertiser.—Varney, Stratford, London.

HAVE YOU MISSED

my advert. from this column? The reason I have not advertised Rollers before this is because they were not in full song, and I think everyone will agree with me that it is far better to wait a few weeks and have birds thoroughly trained and in full song than to purchase half-trained birds just coming in song. I now have a huge stock of the genuine Leipzig Rollers, all 1910 bred birds, and now in full song day and gaslight, with long hollow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, bell, harp, flute, and gong notes and jug-jug of Nightingale, and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh notes whatever, price 6/- to 7/- each; Roller hens, 3/6 couple. I also have a big stock of loud, free singing Hartz cocks, in full, vigorous song, price 4/6 each, seven for 26s. 3d. Hartz hens, 2/6 couple, 12/- dozen. All Rollers are imported direct from Leipzig, are stamped on wing, and guaranteed exactly same strain as have been sold by me with such remarkable success for years past, and as I am the sole importer of these Leipzig Rollers, no other dealer can sell one feather of these birds unless he first purchases from me. All are safely and warmly packed free of extra cost, and sent on a full week's trial either on receipt of cash or CAGE BIRDS' deposit system, and money refunded in full if every satisfaction is not given. See British Bird and Appliance columns for further adverts.

ENOCH TAMS, CLARENCE AVIARIES, Church St., LONGTON.

Hartz Mountain Rollers,

5/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6. No higher prices now, but some of these birds will make up worth double in a very short time; the 10/6 birds are worth three of many of the so-called Schoolmasters with senseless names; this can be proved. Hens, 1/6, 2/-, 2/6 each. Pairs, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 15/-. Cages, 3d. extra. Week's approval, and I pay carriage back.

JUST ARRIVED!

Noisy, free-singing Hartz Cocks, 6/6 each, bargains.

No. 456.
A Supply Box.

Sent by Mr. W. H. Taylor, 10, Mitchell Terrace, Tantobie, co. Durham.

I enclose a sketch of a box, or hopper, for bird-room supplies. I have made one out of a box such as chocolate comes in, and find it so handy that I intend making a more finished one, for I think it more tidy than having a lot of paper bags standing about. It can be made with as many compartments as the maker desires or of any size to meet his needs of a week's or a fortnight's supply. The front board is raised slightly from the front of box for the slides to go down behind. The slides I made out of a bit of corrugated iron flattened out. I bent them as shown in sketch to ensure pressure against delivery holes. It is hopper-bottomed to cause all to run to the holes.—W. H. TAYLOR.

No. 457.
Seed or Water-Bottle Holder.

Sent by Mr. H. Simkin, 5, Warrington Street, Newmarket.

Enclosed is a sketch of a seed or water bottle holder I use on the punch bar fronts. It is much neater than having the wire bent round the cage wires, which always hangs loose. The contrivance I refer to remains firm, being soldered to the front. First take a piece of cage wire about 5 ins. long, bend it to fit the bottle nicely; the wire will then be found to be nearly horse-shoe shape. First flatten the ends out, so that it will take solder better and fit closer to the punch bar; then take the holder and place between the wires, and solder both ends, leaving the loop just long enough for the bottle to work freely.—H. SIMKIN.

An American Consul on the Canary Industry.

REMARKABLE FIGURES.

The appended extract from the Consular Trade Report, written by Consul Augustus E. Ingram (of the American Consulate, Bradford), we are enabled to reproduce by the courtesy of Mr. Fred Hammond, who has kindly forwarded it to us. It bears eloquent testimony to the attraction that the breeding of birds has for the working-classes and to the very large sum of money annually expended by reason of the industry.

Popular and Profitable.

The breeding of Canaries in Yorkshire has become of recent years quite an important minor household industry. Indeed, it is stated that, outside of Norwich (in the neighbouring county of Norfolk), which is sometimes called the "City of Canaries," there is no place where this industry is carried on so extensively as in the Bradford district. That the rearing of Canaries should be a popular and at the same time a profitable hobby in a textile district is not surprising when one learns that the introduction of these cage birds into England dates back to the days when the the Flemish weavers migrated to the town of Worsted, in Norfolk, and brought with them these little caged songsters to cheer their homes in which they ran their looms. The silk weavers who fled from France and established themselves near London are also said to have been instrumental in establishing this home industry of rearing Canaries.

This industry is a commendable one for those pursuing a sedentary occupation. Aside from the fact that it furnishes pleasant employment for spare time, it also enables those who keep a few birds to increase their small wages—one working-man is said to have made 400 dols. in one season by this means—while the large breeders make proportionately more. Though ordinary birds sell for a few shillings, prize-winners realise as much as 50 or 75 dols., or even higher.

Shipments Abroad.

The export trade in Canaries is considerable, shipments being made to Australia, South Africa, and other British Colonies, and also to the United States. It is stated that one firm alone in Norwich has sent as many as 10,000 birds a year across the Atlantic.

The exhibitions of cage birds that are held frequently throughout the country also do much to stimulate this industry. The Fifty-first Annual Cage Bird Show, held in the spring of this year at the Crystal Palace, had about 3,000 entries, a large proportion being Canaries. It is not unusual to see 400 or 500 Canaries at Bradford exhibitions, which are held under the auspices and rules of the Yorkshire Union, usually in council schools, on Saturdays from October to December. The Yorkshire Union of Cage Bird Societies has its headquarters in Bradford, and 30 societies in Bradford and the near-by towns are affiliated with the Union, which has a membership of 1,200.

Expenditures for Supplies.

It is estimated that over 1,000 persons in Bradford are engaged in breeding Canaries. It is likewise estimated that 12,000 dols. is expended annually in Bradford on white Canary seed alone. A considerable sum is also spent on such seeds as rape, hemp, maw, linseed, etc.; while the annual expenditure for cages, nest-pots, nest-linings, and various other bird breeders' supplies is also considerable.

Canary seed is imported into the United Kingdom from Turkey, Spain, Argentina, and probably elsewhere. This item is not separately stated in the British import statistics, but in 1907, 12,278,484 pounds of Canary seed, valued at 271,118 dols., were exported from Argentina to the United Kingdom. The Turkish seed is well-known, while the Spanish is said to be a finer, larger seed. The present retail price ranges from 3.40 dols. to 5 dols. per hundredweight of 112 pounds; the price of the Spanish seeds is, however, 5.85 dols. per hundredweight. It might therefore be of interest to American growers of this white Canary seed to consider the question of competing for this trade. A considerable amount of sweet red peppers, which are imported largely from Spain, is used for mixing with the egg and other soft food during the moulting season for deepening the colour of the plumage; the annual expenditure on this item alone for Bradford amounts to over 1,000 dols.

Wild-Bird Life.

Autumn Movements.

With the change to less genial weather the few remaining migratory birds still with us will quickly disappear. The Swallows and House Martins always seem loth to depart, and while they remain we are still hopeful of a few more days of sunshine. As soon as the rain came the Thrushes frequenting the meadow-lands and gardens continued their journey southwards, and now only a few remain (possibly home-bred birds), until a fresh batch comes in from the north, or the birds frequenting the outlying fields and woods are driven by stress of weather to take shelter in the gardens and shrubberies around the village. The autumn months are equally as interesting to the bird lover as those of the early spring. There is quite as much movement among the bird population, and the wanderings of some of the young birds of the year afford interesting matter for study. As a matter of fact, the migration of birds is more marked and noted in the autumn than at any other time. In the early months of the year the birds come to our shores singly or in little parties, and pass as rapidly as possible to well-known haunts and breeding places, and on some bright sunny morning we are suddenly aware of another graceful little warbler added to the population of the hedgerow or shrubbery. In the autumn we see them gathering in their hundreds, and for days we can watch the fluttering hordes gradually increase in numbers until the air appears full of life and movement.

Migration is undoubtedly undertaken for the purpose of obtaining a necessary supply of food. The majority of these birds are insectivorous, and our English winters are not genial enough to cause insects to multiply in sufficient numbers to maintain an army of feathered creatures with healthy appetites. Insectivorous birds must either migrate or starve. The Swallow, the Cuckoo, and the dainty feeding Willow Wren would doubtless stay with us if food in plenty was always to be had. The cold does not apparently affect them, as we may see in the early spring months when the biting east wind sweeps over the country, searching every nook and cranny where a small bird may find shelter. The glorious song of the Nightingale may be heard when it is almost too cold for the enthusiast to stand for a few moments to listen to the melody. Nature is then waking up from her long winter sleep, and the songster is quite aware that the insect world is on the move, and food will soon be plentiful. But in the autumn the reverse is the case, and the musicians of our English woods must seek elsewhere for the necessities of life.

The Shy Cirl Bunting.

The Cirl Bunting is a much rarer bird than the yellow Bunting. It is shyer and more fond of the woods. It sings in much the same manner, but has not quite the long drawn-out note of the yellow bird with which to finish its song.

The "Cherry-sucker."

The beautiful little Spotted Flycatcher feeds exclusively upon insects, and yet in some parts of the country it is called the "Cherry-sucker." We rather think it is in some way confused with one of our Warblers, which occasionally partakes of a fruit diet.

Song of the Rock Pipit.

That somewhat rare bird, the Rock Pipit, closely resembles the other Pipits in general appearance. His song is very much like theirs —just a few short simple notes delivered cheerfully. He sings while upon the wing, and while perched upon a rock by the seashore.

A Homing Sparrow.

A reader writes that his dog caught an adult cock Sparrow which had a numbered ring on his leg. This ring he recognised as one he had placed on a young Sparrow which he caught in his aviary the previous summer. No Sparrows had been in his garden during the winter, so that this bird had evidently been away for the winter and returned to his old home.

Effects of Sitting.

The act of incubation has an apparently dazing or taming effect on many wild birds. A striking instance of this is in the behaviour of the Curlew. When she first commences she is very light and easily disturbed, leaving the nest upon the slightest approach of danger; but when nearing the hatching point she becomes as tame as a Pheasant, and will actually allow herself to be lifted from the nest.

The advent of autumn always causes a rush of rats and mice from their summer quarters in the open into the neighbourhood of dwelling-houses, farmyards, barns, etc., and before they get settled down to increase and multiply (as they do in the winter months), an attempt should be made to drive them out and destroy them. The tremendously increased demand for "Liverpool" Virus is the best evidence that that preparation still holds the field as an effectual eradicator of the loathsome and plague-spreading rat. The proprietors of "Liverpool" Virus (56, Hanover Street, Liverpool), are at present distributing an attractive little booklet, which interested readers would do well to peruse.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

GRIMSBY.

Fourth annual exhibition held Oct. 26th and 27th. The Foresters' Hall provided capital accommodation for the exhibits; it is lofty and of excellent light, spacious, and absolutely void of draughts. The classification was of a liberal description. Prize money was good, and guaranteed. The entry proved a record one, 337 birds being on view. Nor. wich made a capital display. British and Mules were a very choice collection, and the Foreigners were nice. Chairman, Mr. W. Clews; vice-chairman, Mr. A. Townsend; both are most courteous, and rendered much assistance. The committee are a band of willing workers, who omit nothing to ensure matters running smoothly, praise being due especially to Messrs. Beanmont, Angliss, Cartwright, Dowie, Good, Moore, senr., Peers, Oliver, Pett, Stubbs, and Way. The secretaries are Messrs. Moore and Harding, both of whom are held in high esteem by their fellow members, and rightly so, as nothing is too much for them to do. Staging was well-thought-ont; every bird could be seen at a glance. The stewards were Messrs. Towl, Oliver, Booth and Ellender—a quartette of capital workers. Mr. W. Vardy (Hucknall Huthwaite) adjudicated. Sandiford's medal for hottest fed, Mr. W. H. Moore; Hyde's, Mr. T. Pepper; best Hardbill, Mr. F. Medley; best Softbill, Mr. Brotherhood; best Parrot, Mr. D. Lowery.

BROMLEY (West Kent).

Annual exhibition held at Drill Hall, 26 and 27 October. The cage bird section mustered 218 entries. Cup winner, Mr. E. J. Jordan; other specials went to Messrs. Wraigbt, Wheeler and Stead, and Ford. Plain-head Norwicb were a grand lot; Yorkshires, too, were on the heavy side in number. Crests and Crestbreds were small in numbers, but good in quality; and Mules and Hybrids were a nice lot. The British and Foreign birds were a capital collection. Mr. E. Pretty judged.

EPSOM.

Epsom F.S., 13th annual show, held 26th Oct., in the Drill Hall. The hall is a grand place for a show, being close to the station, roomy, and well lighted. The cage bird section was fairly well patronised, some good men sending exhibits. The largest entry was in the Yorkshire class, which might easily be extended into four classes, say, yell., buff, unlighted, and hens, as the only one scheduled attracted thirty entries; there were only four or five buffs. Fanciers will not send buffs out to compete against yellows, where there is likely to be much competition. The show was beautifully managed, Mr. Hicks, the secretary, having everything well in hand; he was ably assisted by his committeemen. Messrs. Saunders and Blaker looked after the cage birds, which were comfortably staged in the cosiest part of the building. In the absence of Mr. Dobson, Mr. H. Norman judged. Cup for best members' bird, Mr. Saunders, runner-up being Miss Hall.

BRISTOL.

For twenty long years bas the show of the Bristol F.A. secured the hearty support of cage bird fanciers, and the fixture held in the Drill Hall on Oct. 26th and 27th once more proved how completely the Bristol executive have tbe confidence of tbe cage bird Fancy. This is due no doubt to the excellent manner in which tbe section is catered for, and tbe splendid way in which the birds are staged and tended by the stewards, wbo are keen, practical men, and wbo spare no effort to do their best for tbose wbo support the fixture. Those responsible for our section on this occasion were Messrs. T. Keegan (supt.), C. Tilley (assist.-supt.), A. C. Brown, C. E. Brown, F. Buckland, T. R. Ind, E. A. Lovell, J. Silcox, J. Tristem, and last, but by no means least, Mrs. A. B. Roberts, who is one of the most capable stewards we have ever met. Four hundred exhibits faced the judges, Messrs. T. Heath and C. A. House, and the quality with which both had to deal was most excellent. Especially good were the Norwich and Yorkshires, but the Crest section unfortunately had to be cancelled. Mules were good, as were tbe Foreigners.

EVESHAM.

Evesham show held in connection with annual Chrysanthemum exhibition, Oct. 26th, in Public Hall. It proved a great attraction to the many visitors. The quality was first class, the Norwich being particularly good, an extra third prize being given by the committee. The exhibits were very nicely staged, and well looked after by a few good fanciers, amongst whom we noticed Miss Burlingham and Mr. J. Walton, both doing their best to make the show a success. Mr. G. Witts was again at the helm as hon. sec., and was just as courteous and obliging as ever. Mr. J. H. Payne made the awards.

GOSPORT.

Gosport and District F.A. annual members' show, held in Connaught Drill Hall, Oct. 26th. The hall is splendidly lighted from the top, has plenty of room, and is free from draughtiness. The management was excellent under the guidance of Mr. L. C. Backler, the secretary, who had the assistance of an influential list of patrons, a splendid working committee, and a willing band of practical stewards. Judging was over in good time, award cards up promptly, and catalogues ready early. The attendance of the general public was good. Entries were above the average, quality excellent, and competition keen. Mr. H. W. Mathias secured special for best bird, and amongst the other special winners were Messrs. MMorris, Tout, Jackson, Mathias, Jupe, and Mrs. Hayson. The former for Norwich, Mr. Jackson for Yorkshires, and Mr. Jupe for Goldfinch. If arrangements could be made to stage the cage birds by themselves at one end of room it would be a great improvement. Many fanciers from the South visited the show, amongst them being Mr. Billett, Senr., of Southampton, who carries his 88 years with the ease of a juvenile, and whose interest is as keen as ever, especially amongst the Foreign birds. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged.

PAIGNTON.

Torbay O.S. fourth open show, held October 26, in Badminton Hall, an ideal place for a cage bird show, being free from draught, lofty and well lighted. The birds were nicely staged, and the green draping was a fine set off. There was no difficulty in finding the classes, as class numbers were suspended from a wire bracket. The President, Mr. H. Whitley, kindly lent plants for decoration. Mr. C. Parnell, the hon. sec., and Jack Jeffery, assistant hon. sec., carried out the show arrangements well, ably assisted by an experienced committee of practical fanciers, headed by a most worthy chairman in Mr. A. N. Innes. Entries were about the same as last year, and considering this society issues one of the best schedules in the West, and "pay up" promptly, a larger entry ought to be received. Norwich and Yorkshires were far the strongest. Light Mules were undoubtedly one of the best classes ever seen in the West. The Clear Greenfinch Mule of Mr. Shellam's headed the class, also winning medal. The lovely Crest of Mr. Davey's won over the Border Belgian winners. Special for best Britisher fell to Mr. Arnold's Goldfinch. The Easterling Cup for best Yorkshire and Norwich was won by a magnificent yellow Yorkshire of Mr. H. Wells. Mr. W. Collings won special for best Norwich, special for best in members' classes Mr. F. Redwood, Messrs. Parnell and Sons won the Members' Cup. Mr. J. H. Roe judged.

BORDER CITY (Carlisle).

Second annual show held October 26th and 27th. Taken all over, it proved a great success, the entries being about 150 in excess of last year's total. Scot. Fcy. and Bor. were a select lot, birds of high-class standard being exhibited. The Yorkshires and Norwich were forward in good numbers, and some real tip-top specimens were on view. Mules, taken all over, were really good. Messrs. J. Robson and H. W. Battye judged these, Mr. Robson taking the odd numbers and Mules, and Mr. Battye the remainder. Britishers were a good collection, while Foreigners, taken all over, were grand, and Mr. Nicholson ably judged them. The show was held in the Mart Hall, an ideal place, being well lighted and free from draughts. The committee are composed of genuine fanciers, whose efforts on behalf of the society well deserved a successful result to the show. The worthy sec., Mr. Bell, had everything in apple-pie order, his awards-sheet being a great help to fanciers the first day. Everything passed off well, and the show should prove a great success.

Manager. "CAGE BIRDS," 154, Fleet St., London.

At Burnley I won 4th Nor. yellow, name reported Gibbie, which was correct; in buff Nor. I won 2nd, name reported Gibbee; at Morecambe I won 1st in Nor. novice, yell. or buff, name reported "Gilbie," also h.c. 15s. selling class, reported "Gubbie."—R. GIBBIE (St. Helens).

I think Morecambe C.B.S. members should be proud of their sec., Mr. W. H. Pickles, for the way in which he has paid out the prize money for their show on October 7 and 8. I received mine by the 8 o'clock post on the 8th inst., before I knew I had won any. There should be a few more secretaries like Mr. W. H. Pickles, then shows would be a bigger success.—H. T. KELSALL (Ashton-under-Lyne).

Twitterings.

Am sorry to say entries are very short, writes Mr. A. S. Treasure, hon. sec., Cheltenham C.B.S.

Eastbourne show report gives my name in error as Wright.—F. WRAIGHT (Tunbridge Wells).

Our members' show is fixed for November 3, writes Mr. C. F. Holliday, hon. sec. of the Oxford and Dis. C.B.S.

Edinburgh Western O.S. show report credits Mr. Whitefield with winning the cup; it was I who won it, with a Buff Piebald cock.—ADAM DODDS (Edinburgh).

Send to A. Waud, 3, Wilton Crescent, York, who will forward schedules. Ent. close Oct. 31st. 33 good specials and 99 cash prizes. Please help York Show.—Advt.

Our show is fixed for November 29 and 30, with Mr. T. J. Ambrose as judge, writes Mr. Jno. Wm. Gambrill, hon. sec. of the Folkestone and Dis. F.S.

The Henfield and Dis. F. and F.S. are holding their 2nd annual show on December 7, open to Sussex, the judge being Mr. C. A. House, writes Mr. J. A. Betchley, the sec.

Mr. G. Mitchell (Brechin) won the rose bowl for best Norwich, and Mr. J. Craig cup for Borders, at our recent show, writes Mr. W. Grewar, sec. of the Forfar C.B.I.S.

Thanks for the report of Plymouth show in CAGE BIRDS; it was simply great, write Messrs. Pope and Dyer, the secretaries. All prize money was paid away first day of show, and we also had a good gate.

Members of the Denton and Dis. C.B.S. are requested to meet at the General Post Office, at 10.15 a.m., on Sunday, October 30, to have photos taken, writes Mr. W. Hopwood, the sec.

Kindly correct mistake made in Battersea show catalogue and report; I should have been credited with the wins 1st in buffs and 2nd in yellow in the Border Fancy classes.—J. MCGUFFIE (Wood Green).

We have engaged a new hall for our open show on November 5, writes Mr. T. Cameron, sec. of the Bo'ness and Dis. F.A. It has plenty of light, and is in every way adapted for the purposes of a show.

We have received a record entry, and are not under Cage Bird Union rules. This, I think, is good for a show held outside Newcastle and London districts.—W. H. MOORE, sec., Grimsby C.B.S.

Will fanciers kindly note that we have been appointed joint secs. of the Ilford F. and F.S. in place of Mr. Drew, resigned, write Messrs. Priestman and Lant, and that our address is 56, Sunnyside Road, Ilford?

The Stonehouse N.B., Cage Bird, etc., Society will pay prize money on show day, and there are plenty of open specials, writes Mr. William Melvin, the assistant sec. I hope fanciers will again give us their support.

The Glasgow and Western Counties have secured the services of Messrs. W. G. Muir (Kilmarnock) and C. Houlton (St. Helens) as judges for their annual show, on December 17, writes Mr. T. Drysdale, sec.

At Rochdale show I found all my entries (Class 46, Nos. 4, 5, 6, Class 47, Nos. 3 and 4, and Class 48, No. 3) printed in the catalogue "William Fildes" in error; they should read Mrs. W. Fildes.—(MRS.) W. FILDES (Sale).

Mr. J. Dobson has written to say that he is too ill to judge at Stamford show on Nov. 17, writes Mr. A. W. Ludlow, the hon. sec. We have engaged in his place Mr. J. Robson, who will adjudicate in the Canary and foreign bird classes. We trust we shall receive a good entry.

Will fanciers please remember we have added two Lizard classes, two Cinnamon classes, and one Scotch Fancy class to our schedule for annual show, on November 4 and 5? writes Mr. G. Havver, sec. of the Blaydon-on-Tyne C.B.S.

I am sorry to have to inform you that the cage-bird section of the Bedale show (October 20), was an utter failure, we having to cancel all the open classes, just leaving the local class on, writes Mr. W. F. Merrin, the sec. My bird won in the local class.

The London and Counties O.A. are holding their fifth annual show of Canaries, British and foreign birds, at the Leysian Hall, City Road, E.C., Mr. W. Shakespeare, judge, writes Mr. W. Gilbert, the sec. The show opens at 2 o'clock on Saturday, October 29.

The members' seventh annual show will be held on November 8 (entries close November 3), writes Mr. W. Hodson, sec. of the Dulwich and Peckham C.B.S. It is hoped there will be a good entry and a fine attendance at the Reindeer Hotel, Rye Lane, E.C.

Swansea schedules have been delayed in the effort to make special railway arrangements for the transit of birds, writes Mr. S. H. George, hon. sec. of the Swansea and Dis. C.B.A. show. Will those who were expecting same before, kindly accept this explanation?

We must extend entries to Saturday, 29th (last post), as entries are very bad, writes Mr. C. W. Law, sec. of the London and Provincial O.S. Have members forgotten date of show, or are they keeping birds for some other big London show? All entries at present are from outsiders.

Open Roller competition, guaranteed prize money, 22s. each class, by J. Norris, Esq., secretary, B.R.C.C., Dulwich and Peckham members' show, November 8. Entries 1s. per cage, close November 3. Schedules, Tomsett and Richardson, 34, Endwell Road, Brockley.—(Advt.)

All prize money and specials have been sent out, writes Mr. R. Whitton, hon. sec. of the Broughty Ferry C.B.S. show on October 8, and the committee beg to thank the exhibitors for the support which helped to make the show one of the best as far as quality goes, although entries were down a bit.

If you have not tried Rochdale Good Intent send for their schedule, and their special and prize money is second to none, with the best lighted room in the district, and only a one-day show. No carrying about of birds. All judged as staged. Write at once if you have not got schedule.—(Advt.)

Just a word of appreciation for Newcastle-on-Tyne show, writes Mr. E. S. Lugg, of that well-known firm, Messrs. Spillers and Bakers, Ltd. It was a grand success, and splendidly managed by the ever courteous show manager, Mr. Hutchinson, and that jewel of a secretary, Mr. Crawhall, assisted by a very able committee. Their staging is par excellence, and the good-fellowship of the exhibitors was very noticeable. Our stand was crowded with anxious enquirers, and good business done on both days.

OBITUARY.

It is with regret, writes Mr. W. McMillan (Dumfries), that I have to announce the death of Mary Jane Smith, wife of Mr. J. Hannay (Maxwelltown), which took place on October 22, after a lingering illness. Mr. Hannay was one of the judges selected for the City of Glasgow show, but had to give it up owing to her illness. Mrs. Hannay was a general favourite with most fanciers, "always smiling" when they called to see her husband's stock. The fanciers of Dumfries and of Maxwelltown sent a wreath. She was buried in Troqueer Churchyard, on October 25, when most of the fanciers in the town attended.

We have secured the finest room for the holding of our annual open show, in the North of England, viz., the Carlton Rooms, writes Mr. G. H. Barnwell, hon. sec., Harrogate C.B.S. The show room is 80 by 40, well lighted at top and sides; in fact, if any C.B. Society had to build one they could not improve on these rooms. Fanciers are invited not only to give us a bumping entry, but to visit us.

I was pleasantly surprised, writes Mr. L. J. Richardson (Rotherhithe), to see my young buff, winner of first and two specials at Clapham show (one for best Norwich in show), depicted on the front page of CAGE BIRDS, of October 22. He was bred from my old winning yellow cock bird, and variegated buff hen. The yellow that was second to the buff I have sold at a good figure since the show.

An error occurs in our catalogue, writes Mr. T. C. Crawhall, sec., Newcastle C.B.S. In Class 50, first prize is No. 11, Mr. H. Bennet, and 2nd prize No. 19, Mr. W. Denholm, and not Nos. 14 and 18, as printed. Also in Class 1, third prize No. 14A should be Mr. Harland, and No. 14 second prize Mr. Humphries. (Mr. J. Patterson, the judge, also writes correcting the error in the Border Fancy class, No. 50.—Ed.)

My wife has recently (as a "hobby") taken to Canary breeding, writes Mr. J. Downing Farrer (Boscombe), and of necessity takes in your valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS. She was an exhibitor at the recent Frome show, and took three prizes in the Norwich section. Your reporter entered her name incorrectly, putting "the cart before the horse." It should have been Mrs. Downing Farrer. I mention this in nowise as a complaint (rather let me thank him for the compliment he paid to the ladies).

The last two years, writes Mr. R. J. Hamilton, sec. of the Banbridge C.B.A., we have only been giving in prizes the amount of entry fees we have received in those classes where the fees did not total the amount of full prize money; but we have changed that (per our Rule 11), so far as the open classes are concerned, this year; and as last year's show was a success, we anticipate this year's will be so too.

Owing to the Gravesend, Northfleet, and Dis. F.S. having sustained a financial loss on their last year's show, they are holding an exhibition this year, open only to fanciers residing within a radius of seven miles, writes Mr. E. R. Fox, the hon. sec. Mr. R. Terry, of New Road, Gravesend, is show secretary, and it is hoped by a less expensive venture and with a good support to put the society once more on a sound financial basis. The society (one of the oldest in England) is well worthy of support.

I am giving up the Fancy, writes Mr. H. J. L. Williams (Hartlepool). I am sorry to say that owing to the nature of my illness requiring all my spare time to be spent in the open air, I have had to decide upon this course. I have nearly lost the use of my right arm, but I believe the doctors have arrested the disease, and I am in the hope of gaining my strength back again. I have had a very tedious time this last two years. My wife has had the management of the birds nearly all this time, but she cannot keep it up. So I have decided under the circumstances to advertise my stock, and to retire.

York Show falls to be held on Nov. 4 and 5. Exhibitors note. Splendid prizes.—(Advt.)

Owing to lack of entries we are compelled to extend entries closing to 29th (first post).—W. J. ABBOTT, hon. sec., Dover show.

I have arranged a window show of some of our silver prizes and seven silver medals, for a fortnight, at Clifford Bros. (95, King's Road), writes Mr. W. H. Pyke, sec., Reading and Dis. C.B.S.

In the Portsmouth show catalogue, write Messrs. King and Joiner, the hon. secs., the hc in Yorkshire hen class should be Mrs. M. E. Gill, and first and special winner in the non-fed Canary class Mr. F. G. Joiner.

Kindly thank all exhibitors at our show today (October 29), for helping us to "break all records," writes Mr. E. Woodhead, sec. of Hartlepools C.B.S. We have received about 450 entries, this being 225 more than last year. We are indeed upholding the reputation of the northern circuit.

Exhibitors, don't forget Blaydon-on-Tyne Show, Nov. 4 and 5; schedules on application to Secretary.—(Advt.)

Our show is on November 12, with Mr. J. H. Payne as judge, writes Mr. A. R. A. Carter, sec. of the Bristol C.B.S.

Morpeth show report gives Mr. Clark as 4th in Class 4, buff hen, whereas I won.—T. GRIFFITHS (Choppington).

Don't forget London and P.O.S. show, Nov. 2 and 3.—Secretary, C. W. Law, 9, Oak Villas, Archway Rd., N.—(Advt.)

The 2nd and vhc prizes in the Norwich unflighted buff class at Coventry show were my birds, writes Mr. Robt. Hall (Ruydard).

The Leigh and Dis. C.B.S. will hold their annual members' show November 5 and 6, at the Railway Hotel, writes Mr. P. Hart, the sec.

Entries are very short, and we have extended time of closing to October 30; we trust fanciers will help us, writes Mr. H. Ware, hon. sec., Hayle show.

Despite an adverse balance of £29 on our show, all prize money has been paid in full, writes Mr. B. Marsden Pargett, sec., King's Lynn show.

A Bumping Double Number of "Cage Birds" Next Week.

EXQUISITE COLOURED PLATE.

NOVEL COMPETITION. EXTRA ILLUSTRATIONS, &c.

Manchester's great show of Cage Birds is held this week, and will be fully reported in our next issue. For the purpose of adequately covering the large number of shows held at this time of year we intend adding very many extra pages to our issue, and purchasers of the next number of CAGE BIRDS may look forward to a very special and interesting paper.

Amongst many attractions, A Particularly Pleasing Coloured Plate (full size) will not be the least, and the selection of articles will be varied and practical. A new competition of interest to all will be one of the features of this big budget of birdy literature. We advise all our friends to make certain of their copies by ordering them in advance. The demand for last week's CAGE BIRDS was evidently more than the printing order coped with, for many complaints have reached us that newsagents were "sold out."

The season so far has been an exceedingly brisk and promising one. Sales are reported to be lively, and there is every indication of a boom in the Fancy resulting before long. Some surprising figures anent the Canary industry are supplied us by Mr. Fred Hammond, of Bradford, and appear on page 283.

Advertisers in next week's Great Autumn Special will very greatly oblige by sending in their announcements promptly on the Monday, to reach us by Tuesday certain, and readers who care to contribute little interesting news items, helpful letters, photographs, etc., may be sure of receiving every consideration.

Next week's CAGE BIRDS will be well worth securing, if only for the beautiful coloured plate it will contain.

Kindly report to us any difficulty in ordering, so that we may remedy it immediately.

Mr. A. Malcomson will judge the Canary section, and Mr. A. Muir the Mules, British, and foreign birds, at our show on November 5, writes Mr. W. Priest, sec. of the Partick C.B.S.

I beg to thank you for the splendid report of Morpeth show. May CAGE BIRDS (which we could not in these days do without) still continue to flourish and prosper. All prize-money has been paid.—E. COWLING, sec., Morpeth and District C.B.S.

Our annual members' show will be held on December 10, writes Mr. Robt. Watson, Sec. Glasgow and West of Scotland N.M.B. and F.B.C. The judges are: Norwich Section, Mr. A. Watson (Kilmarnock); A.O.V. Canary Section, Mr. G. Hyslop (Stirling); Hybrid and British Bird Section, Mr. M. Craig (Tollcross).

Since the issue of the announcement of the London C.B.A. show in your paper, CAGE BIRDS, writes Mr. Wm. H. Mugford, the hon. sec., I have received a heap of postcards and letters for schedules, but as the latter are not yet ready I would ask the many applicants' kind indulgence. Wrappers have been addressed to each, and schedules will be forwarded very shortly.

At the forthcoming L. and P.O.S. show (held Wednesday and Thursday next, November 2 and 3, at the Lambeth Baths), we are informed by the secretary, Mr. C. W. Law, that the parents of the white Canaries recently illustrated in CAGE BIRDS, will be on view, as well as the white Canaries themselves; also a rare Twite-Greenfinch Hybrid, valued at £50, and a Redpoll-Greenfinch.

Kindly accept my best thanks for the excellent report of our show published in CAGE BIRDS of October 22, writes Mr. Thos. L. Hancocks, sec. of the Crewe O.S. We paid all prize money within three days, and all specials will be forwarded duly at the earliest opportunity. Kindly note that after November 4 my address will be 7, Hungerford Avenue, Crewe, as I am removing from Haslington, and any communications with reference to our recent show must be forwarded to correct address after that date.

The Norwich Plainhead Club.

The general meeting of the Norwich Plainhead Club will be held in conjunction with the club show at Liverpool on November 5th, at 3.30 o'clock. I shall be glad if as many members as possible will attend; also to hear from anyone who may have anything to bring up at such meeting.—JNO. HOPKINS, sec.

Lancashire C.A.

Points for the above society are as follows:—Messrs. E. T. Turner 18, W. Adams 9, J. Naden 16, W. Lea 14, J. Garner 9, J. Oldham 17, Dr. Conoghey 11, G. Fitten 7, A. Beattie 8, H. Laycock 14, A. Hordern 6; Novice: Messrs. J. Laycock 13, C. Whitehead 8, T. H. Collinge 9. The above points were gained at Rochdale. (Members please note points to count only in Lancashire classes).—O. WHITEHEAD, hon. sec.

I saw a Golden Oriole flying about in Buckinghamshire yesterday (October 23), writes Mr. G. Crabb, the well-known metropolitan bird-lover.

Changes of Addresses.

Mr. J. H. Mills, from Great Houghton, Northants, to 15, Moore Street, Kingsley Park, Northampton—Mr. T. Inman, from Undercliffe Street, to 43, Derby Road, Thornbury, Bradford—Mr. Jas. Leitch from High Street, Haddington, to 14, Mearns Street, Greenock.

Liverpool Show Schedule.

The cinnamon classes at Liverpool show, to be held November 4 and 5, writes Mr. J. W. Metcalfe, the hon. sec., should read: Class 42, hen, yellow or buff; Class 43, unflighted, yellow or buff, bred 1910, and not "Cinnamon yellow hen" and "Cinnamon buff hen," as printed in schedule.

Woodpecker's Nest in October.

I have just come across a Green Woodpecker's nest with young ones, nearly ready to fly, writes Mr. Morgan Evanson (Merthyr Mawr), to the "Western Mail." Is it an unusual occurrence to hatch in October? Or is it a second hatching?

Echoes from Glasgow City Show

That the 57th annual show was a marked success; that nearly 1,000 people paid for admission; that the show pleased the most exacting, to see such classes and quality of the very best; that Mr. McDonald (the able and enthusiastic secretary) was well supported by a grand body of workers; that the rules were quite up to the average; that the highest price paid was in the Scotch Fancy classes, Mr. James D. Brown, of East Kilbride, being the purchaser of the first yellow Piebald cock, from Mr. McLennan, of Edinburgh; that the judges here must have found some hard work in placing their awards; that some really fine birds failed to get "tickets"; that the yellow cock belonging to Mr. John Dalgleish (Leith), lifting first in his class, and all the specials, along with the cup, is undoubtedly the best type of a Scotch Fancy seen for some years; that the Yorkshires were a grand lot; that the Scottish club has done wonders for the Yorkies since it started; that the Belgians contained nothing outstanding; that among the visitors we were glad to see our old friend, Mr. Thomas Thomson, and his smiling face; that illness has kept him for five weeks in bed; that he had just left his bed on purpose to attend the show, as he had never been an absentee for over 31 years, and did not want to miss this one; that we hope his coming out on Saturday may not do him harm; that we also noticed Mr. Ronaldson (Belfast), also Mr. John Reid, Mr. Barclay, and Mr. Trimble; that all the noted breeders of Scotch Fancies, etc., were present in full force, notably Mr. J. D. Brown, Mr. Thornton, Mr. McClure, Mr. Dalgleish, Mr. R. Nairn, Mr. A. Renfrew, Mr. R. Findlay, etc.; that the ladies also turned out in strong force.—SCOTCH FANCY.

A TRIO OF NOTABLE FOREIGN BIRDS.

Topical Pars for Lovers of "Beautiful Aliens."

Although, as mentioned in our report, the foreign bird section at Clapham show contained only 31 birds, the novelties were in exceptional number, about a third of the beautiful specimens exhibited representing a first appearance of their species on the show-bench, and amongst them the trio illustrated by Mr. Goodchild (see front page) were especially noteworthy. The giving of only one class for Parrots kept the entry in the class down to six, one-half of which came from one exhibitor, Mr. Maxwell. It was not to be expected that owners of Budgerigars or Lovebirds would take their chance of competing against the rarer Parrakeets and Lories, not to mention the Macaws and Cockatoos, which might have been up against them.

The Brown's Parrakeets, Mr. Maxwell, are a wonderful pair of these very rare and beautiful birds, and justly deserved their position. The vhc (same owner), a Mitchell's Lorikeet, could not get higher in such competition, although unique for rarity; we shall expect to see it higher when it has had a cage-moult. The Brown's Parrakeets are a testimony to the well-being of properly treated birds in captivity. When this pair were first shown by their owner, some twelve months since, they were in very poor condition; now their condition can only be described by the stereotyped phrase "feather perfect." They are as beautiful as they are rare, and an ornament to the exhibition bench.

It was pleasing to see our old friend, the Meyer's Parrot (Rev. Raynor) once more in the prize money. This bird has had a very chequered experience, sometimes being among the leaders at big shows, and sometimes put well down towards the bottom at country exhibitions, where there was no competition worth mentioning. It was in the possession of the writer many years ago, fifteen or more, and its perfect condition after so long an experience of cage life, is a tribute to the loving care of its owner.

The class with a heading beginning "Common Seedeaters," including certain named species, produced a curious anomaly, first going to a Scarlet-rumped Weaver, the first of the species to be exhibited—surely not a "common seedeater." The judge, however, was obliged to recognise it as the class, as the heading included "Weavers, all species," and, having admitted it, could do no other than place it first.

Much interest always accrues to the ordinary visitors to the shows, if the names of the various species are printed in the catalogue. But almost the only exhibitor here whose birds were so named showed three birds in one class, and put the wrong label on each! This kind of thing is worse than not naming them at all.

The leader in the A.O.S. Seedeater class was a perfect Queen Whydah, Vidua Regia, and we are greatly indebted to its owner, Mr. Watts, for his kindness in favouring us with information, from which we take the following notes:—This beautiful bird was imported in 1907, and formed one of a reputed "pair"; both proved to be males. The Queen Whydah may easily be distinguished, even when out of colour, by its coral red beak and legs. Contrary to most of the Whydahs, the Pintail especially, it is entirely inoffensive among other small birds. Its extreme rarity is due to the fact that it is very local in its distribution, and is not found near the coast; this particular specimen came from the neighbourhood of the Stanley Falls. Although its first coming into colour in this country occurred in correspondence with its native season, Christmas, it has accommodated itself to our own periods, and now produces its breeding plumage in the spring and moults in the late autumn, so that it is only in the early part of the show season that it is in exhibition plumage. It has won 1st Palace 1908, 1st Watford 1908, 1st Wellinboro' 1910, 1st Clapham 1910, and "numerous others I cannot remember," says the owner. The writer believes that it has also been left out of the money at small shows, even when in perfect plumage. Ten of the long covert (or "tail") feathers taken at different moults vary in length from 9⅛ to 9⅞ inches.

The Crested Wood Partridge shown by Mr. C. T. Maxwell, attracted perhaps more attention than has any bird exhibited during recent years. For one thing, opinions were divided as to whether a partridge should be eligible for competition in a cage-bird show. However this may be, the bird formed a beautiful and interesting exhibit. It is a native of Borneo. In captivity, Mr. Maxwell kindly informs us that it feeds principally upon fruit, although it eats also seed as well as a little insectile mixture; and "mealworms it will devour by the dozen."—H. J. THE MAKING OF A CANARY FANCIER.

How a bird-lover solved the problems of the breeding-room.

Born in a country village some four and a-half miles from the town I now reside in, I had always, as a boy, a natural love for wild birds. Many times we boys would catch the young Thrushes and Blackbirds and many others of the feathered tribe, with a view to rearing them and forming an aviary, and in many instances dreaming of making our fortunes out of them. , One by one they used to dwindle away, and with them our hopes as well as our fortunes. Between the age of ten and fifteen, I perhaps became more interested in the bird world, and about the age of fifteen I learned to love its occupants.

Early Impressions.

In following my employment, day by day I passed regularly through a well-wooded district, with the rippling brooks running by the sides of the hedges, the branches of the many trees being reflected in the water. The trees in the spring were inhabited by a numerous throng of artists; on an early spring morning and evening they seemed to make earth into a grand concert hall. It was during these boyhood days that deep impressions were made on my mind, which induced me always to be kind to them.

Another scene during these days greatly impressed me. I was sent by my parents to a neighbouring cottage on an errand, and there in the corner of that snug little home hung a small cage with four young Canaries and their parent in it. The beauty of that picture led me to make up my mind that when I became a man I would have some of these birds in my own home. Years fled by, but I never dared to venture beyond the one singing bird; yet so strong was the desire that during some twenty years visiting the Manchester markets as a buyer, I scarcely ever failed to walk down to that birdy neighbourhood, Tib Street, with a view to seeing my favourites.

A Speculation.

My strong reason for not stocking a few was my fear of failing to do justice to them. Some four years ago I made a venture by speculating in one pair of Canaries which cost the modest sum of 4s. 6d. This may cause a smile, but my reason for taking this course was to experiment and find out, if I could do, the smaller and simpler things, and to try and learn the ways of the birds; then to successfully treat them.

After my first year's experience, which was a failure as far as increasing stock was concerned, I found that two special tools were needed to work with, if I was to win, viz., patience and perseverance. During the winter months I added another pair to my stock, looking well after them in the dreary, cold days. Then in the early spring I again set my house in order, washing and cleaning everything down. The result during this season was more encouraging. I had eleven young birds to look at for my trouble, so I began to feel somewhat of an expert.

Having gained all the information I could from an old fancier, and following that valuable paper, CAGE BIRDS, closely each week, I felt more at home in handling them.

During the last season I made a more expensive venture, in the better class Yorkshire and Norwich birds, which proved my best venture, being rewarded with twenty-four young birds. This, I may say, was going beyond my own expectations; so you can imagine my pleasure in showing all friends my great achievement.

Following Natural Laws.

One thing I have closely followed, and that is those simple, natural laws which govern the feathered tribe. After the bird had laid the last egg I put a small covering over the part of the cage containing the nest-box, so that the hen should not be disturbed at all. I removed the cock bird and kept them perfectly quiet, allowing no strangers in the room. After the young were hatched, I looked to see if they were alive, and fed them on egg and biscuit. After getting them on the sticks, I kept to the same food. As soon as they began to peck I moved them to another cage, but was unfortunate and got the red mite on two of the young birds. Being advised to dress them with snuff, I did so, and isolated them, giving them plenty of fresh water; and in a wonderful short time they made great improvement.

A Further Venture.

I have again made a further venture for another season by securing three show birds, which I have exhibited, and although not coming top, I have secured five cards.

Having pushed my way towards the front rank, I now have my most difficult problem to solve, viz., the mating for the coming season. The question of colour is the most awkward for novices to solve. One thing he needs to do, is to seek all the information he can from men and books; and then patiently put it to practical use by making the experiments himself. Every solved problem must come by and through this channel. I am satisfied that no novice can hope to succeed in the Fancy unless he starts with a definite aim; then seeks to pursue it by simple stages, making the ground-work firm as he proceeds.

It is not wise to be changing birds too often; when you do, have as your purpose, the desire to improve your stock in value. Many will be the irritations and disappointments, but the lover of his birds will rise above them, pressing forward with a dogged perseverance towards his ideal—the highest standard of perfection in his bird-room.

Wild Plants and Seeds: How to Recognise Them.

A Lecture recently delivered by Mr. F. Bowman before the Glasgow and West of Scotland N.M.B. and F.B.C.

In preparing this lecture, I have endeavoured to obtain as many of the wild plants themselves as possible, as no amount of word description can give you as good an idea as the plants themselves will do; I will ask you, therefore, to take special note of each plant, so that you may not fail to recognise them when out wild-seed gathering for yourselves. The very fact that Nature has provided such an abundance of wild seeds at a time when our wild birds most require them is ample proof of their value, and certainly no fancier who wishes to moult out his own exhibition specimens should fail to take advantage of this gift of Nature. Cultivated seeds may do all that is required in keeping your birds in the best of health, but they will never bring the plumage of the birds to that perfection that wild seeds will do. As it is the seeds themselves that you are most anxious to hear about, and as I have a large number to go through, I will proceed at once with what I have to say about them.

A Most Valuable Wild Seed.

The first, and probably the most valuable of all our wild seeds, to the bird fancier, is chickweed, for the simple reason that it is in bloom nearly the whole year round, and is readily eaten by all the Hardbills, and a number of part seed-eaters.

I note that Mr. G. E. Weston's opinion of this plant is that it is one of the best and safest of green foods, and in its seeding stage is particularly valuable. It contains useful medicinal properties, and at one time was claimed to be a cure for inflammation. This plant is so well-known that it requires no description.

The scarlet pimpernel (or "poor man's weather-glass," which name it gets through its habit of only opening its flower in the sunlight), is a plant closely resembling the chickweed in growth, but is not so often met with. This plant may easily be recognised by its bright carmine flower which is mostly found in cabbage fields and cultivated ground. It is a five petal flower and is a little larger than the small white bloom of the chickweed. It is considered by many the most brilliant of our wild flowers.

Useful as a "Force."

The plant of the common dandelion needs no description. The young leaves of this are recognised as a valuable food for forcing old birds to commence breeding operations; also as a food for the young birds of the first round.

But it is the seed of the dandelion which is most valued, and no fancier should be without it. As a "conditioner," too, it has no equal, and it appears to have a cooling effect on the blood of birds that are fed on it.

Coltsfoot is another useful wild seed. It closely resembles the dandelion in bloom. It is the forerunner of our wild flowers, and may be found in waste places and on railway embankments, and in full bloom as early as Februarv. This plant may easily be recognised, as the flowers always appear before the leaves. The flower stalk, unlike that of the dandelion, is almost covered with what appear to be small scales. The leaves when they appear are large, and are shaped like a colt's foot—hence its name.

Groundsel and Ragwort.

Groundsel is another easily recognised wild weed, and the young and tender flower heads, which appear in clusters of bright yellow, are readily eaten by Canaries and by most hardbills, especially the Goldfinch, and may be given with safety. Not so many years ago groundsel was carried from door to door by travelling herbalists and sold as a remedy for diseases of the liver and kidneys. About 20 years ago I often came in contact with one such herbalist, who travelled the Midlands under the name of "Tormental," and he claimed to cure almost any internal trouble with the use of groundsel, but never having tested his remedy I cannot speak of his success. Another useful plant to the bird-keeper is the Ragwort or "ragged wort," to give it its proper name. This plant, as you will see, is very like the groundsel in growth, but the flower heads are much larger, having a few ragged petals around each flower head. The plant may be found growing side by side with its relative, the groundsel, and is generally in full bloom throughout the months of July and August. The seeds are relished by most Britishers.

An Excellent Moulting Food.

We come next to the plantains. The greater plantain, known to most of you as "rats' tails," is an excellent moulting food for Canaries and Britishers, and is a special favourite of the Linnet's. It is, indeed, claimed by many that plantain is necessary in order to bring out the plumage of the Linnet to its requisite sheen and polish.

The seed having a binding effect is excellent when given to birds that are fed on seed containing the opposite properties. Plantains also contain medicinal properties, and are still used for diseases of the kidney and bladder.

The second of the plantains is the "rib wart." This plant may be distinguished from the greater plantain by the length of its flowering stem, as it grows more at the head of the stem, its white fluffy flowers showing much plainer. In a good specimen the seeds are much larger and are not so tightly held, as in the case of the greater plantain.

A FANCIERS' DAY IN THE COUNTRY.

This photograph, taken during a country ramble, depicts some members and friends of the Clapham and District C.B.A., which recently held a very successful open show. Standing (left to right): Messrs. C. J. Warley, S. A. Sandy, J. Robson, D. T. Barker, A. Silverthorne, E. Sexton and Pearce. Seated: R. J. Pretty, H. Yeoman (vice-chairman), Warley, junr., A. C. Askew (hon. sec.), and J. Brighty.

The labels for seeds, etc., issued with CAGE BIRDS of October 15, are, I think, a grand idea. S. BEATY (Alderley Edge).

Heartiest congratulations upon the October 15th issue of CAGE BIRDS. It is, indeed, a grand twopennyworth. The coloured plates are beautifully done, whilst the sheet of gummed labels should be found most useful in every birdroom.—J. B. WATERMAN (East Dulwich, London, S.E.).

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS.

Queries will be answered under the following Conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side only of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist, or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructions re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attention they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on receipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who require letters of complaints written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclose a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this source will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Children's Dinner Fund (London).

(9)—All queries must be addressed the Editor, "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C. Only queries so sent will be answered. Postcards are not admissible.

THE following gentlemen represent CAGE BIRDS staff of ADVISORY EXPERTS. Queries must in no case be addressed to any of them individually, but to the Editor.

Canaries.—Claude St. John. British Birds, Mules and Hybrids—Q. E. Weston. Foreign Birds—Wesley T. Page, F.Z.S., M.B.N.H.S., &c., Park and Lake Aviculture—Frank Finn, B.A., F.Z.S. M.B.O.U., &c. Wild Bird Life—H. Norman.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc. of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his question for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned

Fits and Blindness.

Miss S. S. Hearder.—You will not be able to do any permanent good, I fear; the birds are now too near the end. The trouble is constitutional, and probably arises from some part of your management or dietary, but you leave me in the dark on these points; you had better write again, giving full particulars of feeding and general treatment, and where the birds are kept, meantime adopting the following treatment. First see all your seeds and foods are perfectly sound and sweet, and not contaminated by mice or mites. Keep cages well strewn with clean, gritty sand, and see they too, are perfectly free from red mites. Keep in a comfortable place, not overheated, where they will be perfectly free from draughts and great fluctuations of heat, and where the air is pure and fresh, and not impregnated with fumes of burning lights. As staple diet, give a mixture of three parts Canary to one part summer rape, and each day give a morsel of bread sopped in cold milk, dusted with soft sugar, and covered with a pinch of maw seed. A scrap of ripe banana may be given every second day. In the drinking water give 6 drops syrup of buckthorn and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and on the alternate days 20 drops of chemical food, contain the latter for a month. Bathe the eyes daily with lukewarm solution of boracic acid—half a teaspoonful of acid to half a teacupful of warm water.

To Get Plenty of Song.

Bowes.—To accomplish your end you want birds that will sing, strong, healthy, active, not too old, and undoubted males. Birds vary in temperament and disposition, and are not all equally good singers, even when in the best of health and spirits. The bird, still having a few wing feathers to shed, should in the natural order of things, be just starting to moult, and not finishing, as these feathers are the first to be shed. Then, Canaries do not shed these feathers at all at the first moult, so if you bought this bird for a 1910 bred one the chances are that you were "sold" at the same time. You cannot expect either to sing until moult is quite over. I do not advise hanging Canaries outdoors at this season; nothing is more likely to defeat your objects in getting plenty of song. Keep them in a comfortable place, quite free from draughts; keep insects at bay; allow birds to bathe freely in mild weather. For staple diet give Roller a mixture of two parts Canary to one part summer rape, and the other three parts Canary to one part rape. Give a small teaspoonful of the mixed seed twice a week, greenfood or fruit as now, with the addition of watercress and chickweed. Twice a week for the next month give a small piece of bread and milk dusted over with fine sugar, and a pinch of maw seed. Keep a supply of clean, gritty sand in cages.

Canaries Sick and Dying.

T. B.—What do you mean by "sick?" Do the birds vomit or eject something from the beak? And you do not give enough particulars to found an opinion on. Please write again, and give full particulars of room, how situated, size, whether heated or not, and number of birds in it, and whether caged separately or flying loose. Also full particulars of treatment, how birds are affected, and how many have died. Then I will try and help. Meantime see room is free from damp, draughts, and vermin. In particular see that mice are not present. In addition to a staple of three parts Canary to one part summer rape, give a little bread and milk with 2 drops cod liver oil emulsion to each bird mixed in it, and sprinkled with maw seed. Give this every second day. On the alternate days give half a teaspoonful per bird of a mixture of equal parts hemp, black rape, millet, linseed, and teazle, and also a little green food, or a morsel of ripe banana. In drinking water give 6 drops syrup of buckthorn and a pinch of Epsom salts for two days, and afterwards 4 drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid every second day for a week. You might give this treatment a week's trial before writing again, and mention result. Get Part VI. of "Our Canaries," which contains much information on, and remedies for, ailments.

Cause and Effect.

S. R. J.—(1) You are right, the bird has been in a draught, and the open wire cage would exaggerate the mischief. Transfer him at once to a box cage, and keep in a comfortable and equable temperature. Treat him first as advised to "T. S., St. Helens," until moulting is stopped, then after an interval of a week or so, if the wheezy noises still continue, treat as advised to "C. J. U., Handsworth." (2) It is quite probable the Yorkshire cock was affected before this one was hatched, and in that case the outlook for this youngster is not rosy, as the trouble is largely hereditary. To get him through the moult keep in a warm place, but see that the warmth is regular and equable. Place a light cover over cage; keep a sharp eye on it to prevent red mites getting a footing, and keep floor well strewn with clean, gritty sand. Add 20 drops of whisky, and 5 each of syrup of buckthorn and syrup of saffron to the water every second day for a week. Feed on a staple mixture of three parts Canary to one part summer rape. Every second day for a fortnight give a morsel of bread and milk dusted with soft sugar, and twice each week also sprinkle lightly with flowers of sulphur before adding the sugar. On the alternate days for the same time give a third of a teaspoonful of maw. As you probably do not want to exhibit the bird, I do not advise you to colour-feed it. The remedy you mention is perfectly useless for the trouble in question.

Brevities.

Coughing and Sneezing (A. Rogers).—The first step is to remove the cause, without which no treatment will be of any avail. The same treatment as advised to "C. J. U., Handsworth," should then very soon put bird right.

Remedy for Coughs and Colds (P.A.).—The most essential point is to remove the cause or causes. Having done so, give twenty drops of whisky, ten each of glycerine, and oxymel of squills, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken in the water every second day for a week. In obstinate cases, if this fails, give the mixture advised to "E. Beta."

Norwich Cock Squeaky (W. Samuelson).—It is a 100 to 1 chance that exposure to cold draughts or damp is the cause. See these causes are quite removed, and that extreme variations of temperature and exposure to fumes of burning lights in the evenings is also quite avoided. Then feed and treat bird for a month as advised to "C.J.U., Handsworth."

What Seeds? (Black Cap).—Sample seems to consist of only two varieties, of which the small portion of whitish seeds is one of the grasses; the bulk of black seed I do not know. I will try to get the opinion of seed specialist, and reply further in a fortnight hence. It is not always possible, however, to identify the species of any small seed with certainty. To a certain extent they have to be taken on trust. In looking after wild seeds you would find "Seeds, Foods, and Wild Plants for Cage Birds," which our manager could send you for 1/2, post free, of much assistance.

Preparing for Next Season (Anxious).—You should endeavour to get a cinnamon ticked or marked buff cock for the hen you describe from a rich yellow cinnamon marked cock and a clear or slightly ticked hen. Choose a bird with the richest colour possible showing up through the mealy tips of the feathers, but have colour that is natural if possible, and not a hot buff, so to speak, which is the result of feeding.

A Second Moult (P.S.).—Yes, the change from the cold room in which it was bred to the warm one, at this season would quite account for the moult beginning again. Keep the bird now in the warm room, but see that it is quite free from draughts, and that the warmth is fairly equable night and day. Do not keep it too near the fire, nor too warm. Give a morsel of bread and milk with three drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it and sprinkled with maw seed three times a week, and add twenty drops of chemical food to its water on the alternate days. Continue this until the moult has stopped.

Norwich Wheezy (P.A.).—See that you are not keeping the bird too warm or too near a fire or over burning lights in the evenings, all of which would expose it to extreme fluctuations when these sources of heat were absent during the night. Keep it in a just comfortable place, as equable as possible. Feed for a month on plain canary only as staple, with half a teaspoonful of rape, given separately, every second day, and twice a week on the alternate days give a morsel of bread and milk sprinkled with soft sugar. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts every second day for a week, and afterwards give a course of the mixture advised to "E. Beta" for a fortnight.

Not in Song (B.A.C.).—You should have caged up the birds just before the end of the moult, so that they would have finished off moulting in the separate cages, and at the same time tried to keep a good singing cock at work amongst them. Cage them up now, or as many as you wish to bring quickly on song. Add half a teaspoonful of rape to the dietary every second day, drop the egg food, and give instead a little sponge cake twice a week with a few drops of sherry in it and sprinkled with a mixture of equal parts maw, sesame, and gold of pleasure seeds. In the drinking water give twenty drops of whisky, ten of glycerine, and a small chlorate of potash lozenge three times a week. If possible, put a good free singing cock amongst them also for a week or two.

Norwich and Roller (E. Beta).—Taking the Roller's age into consideration, he will never be much better, if any. The Norwich may improve. Both birds have been utterly ruined by being kept in the window. Remove them at once to some cosy place within the room, where it is quite free from draughts and extremes of heat and cold, and away from the fumes of burning lights in the evening. As staple diet give Norwich plain canary seed only. Every second day give separately half a teaspoonful of rape; twice a week on the alternating days a similar quantity of a mixture of equal parts hemp, teazle, niga, and linseed, and on each of the remaining days for the next month give a morsel of bread and milk with two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar. Give Roller a staple of two parts canary to one part rape mixed together, and give a pinch of maw on the days when Norwich has rape. Otherwise treat same as Norwich. Add a pinch of Epsom salts to the water of each for three days, and afterwards twenty drops of the following mixture, which any chemist will supply, every second day for a month if necessary:—Mixture: Oxymel squills, glycerine, chlorodyne, and Ipecacuanha wine, each quarter ounce, add ten grains of iodide of potassium.

Outgrowing Nail (Foreigner).—If only the toe-nail, as you term it, is involved, there is no necessity to interfere with it unless it should get so long as to hamper the bird in some way. In the latter case, I would advise you to snip it off with a sharp clean pair of nail scissors nearly close up to the toe, and touch the end with a hot knitting needle to sear and stop bleeding. A thin perch would be useless in such a case.

Destroying Red Mite (W. Hande).—If size and material of cage allow of it, remove bird to a temporary one and immerse cage for ten or fifteen minutes in a copper of boiling water, and re-paint and varnish afterwards when dry. If this is not feasible, saturate it with a solution of one ounce camphor in half a pint of methylated spirit. Use a small brush to work it into the joints and crevices. Repeat the operation two or three times at intervals of a day, and then re-paint, etc., as before named. Whilst bird is in temporary cage, give it a bath daily with a few drops of essence of quassia in it, and also thoroughly clean the wall and nail or hook where the cage has been hanging.

Crested Hen Moulting (Novice).—The bird has probably had a little check in its moult. Keep it in a comfortable temperature, but not overheated, and see that it is quite free from draughts and fluctuations. In addition to its usual diet give a pinch of maw, and every second day for a fortnight and three times each week give a morsel of bread and milk slightly dusted with a mixture of two parts flowers of sulphur to one part chlorate of potash. Lightly paint the bare place once with colourless tincture of iodine, and every second day after slightly smear it with carbolised vaseline. Do not put enough on to daub the feathers round about. For the tail wagging, see reply to "P.A." for remedy for coughs and colds, and try this treatment for a week. Shall be glad to have report of progress at end of fortnight.

Lice and Bathing (Norwich).—(1) If the bird is troubled with lice you would soon discover it if you catch the bird and hold it in your hand a short time. The lice will soon be seen running about your hand. To destroy them, give the bird a daily bath, in which a few drops of essence of quassia are mixed, and wash out cage a few times with water in which a little izal is mixed. To deal with red mites, see reply to "W. Hande." Lastly, unless you actually discover lice or mites, don't trouble, as I doubt whether anything at all is wrong. (2) If it desires to do so, let it bathe two or three times a week in mild weather all through the winter. Give bath in early part of day.

About Borders (A.B.C. Boy).—(1) Yes, Border Fancy cocks make very nice singing birds. (2) A staple of three parts canary to one part summer rape. Twice a week a pinch of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, teazle, millet, and linseed. Once or twice a week a morsel of stale sponge cake, or bread and milk, or ordinary egg food. A scrap of green food daily in summer, two or three times a week in winter when no frost or snow are about. When the latter conditions prevail substitute a little sweet apple or banana. (3) Within reasonable limits the larger the cage the better. A good size is 14in. long, 16in. high, 8in. deep. (4) Price depends upon where you buy, and the supply. You might get a suitable bird for singing for 3s. 6d. to 5s., for better class typical birds you may have to give as many pounds.

Birds for Cage Aviary (Know-little).—The selection of birds you name will agree very well in the large cage, and are quite as many as the cage will comfortably accommodate. Six birds is its full capacity. You had better get all cocks, and not attempt any breeding with this number. There is no necessity to cage them separately; if the netting is not more than half-inch mesh let them fly at liberty in the full space of the large cage. The position you have chosen for the cage is, as far as I can judge from your sketch, as good as anything you could do in the conservatory, and the birds should thrive there all right without any heat. But do not get Canaries from a heated room to turn in.

Losing Feathers Again (T. S., St. Helens).—The various weather we have had may be largely the cause. You should see there is not a considerable drop in the temperature during the night, and, if so, move the bird to a position where the day and night temperature will be more equable. A plainer staple diet, such as a mixture of three parts Canary to one part summer rape, would also be preferable. The mixed seed may be given twice a week for a change. Every second day give half a teaspoonful of crushed stale sponge cake with 2 drops of cod liver oil emulsion and 4 of sherry mixed in it, and sprinkled with a mixture of equal parts maw and gold of pleasure seeds. On the alternate days give a pinch of hemp, and a morsel of ripe banana instead of green food. In the drinking water give 6 drops of tincture of gentian and four of tincture of steel every second day for a week, then miss a week, and repeat for another week. Continue treatment until feathers cease dropping.

Makes Wheezy Noises (C. J. U., Handsworth).—Your diet is not quite good enough, but be certain the bird is free from draughts and fluctuations, and see it is not exposed to the fumes of burning lights, and that its cage is free from insect pests. In addition to the staple of plain Canary, give half a teaspoonful of summer rape every second day, and on each alternate day for the next fortnight a morsel of bread sopped in hot milk, two drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with maw seed. Continue giving green food as now, and twice a week give half a teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, teazle, linseed, and millet. In the drinking water add a pinch of Epsom salts and 6 drops syrup of rhubarb for three days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, 6 each of oxymel of squills, and ipecacuanha wine, and two of eucalyptus oil, well shaken together, two days in every three for a week, and every second day for another fortnight afterwards.

Stuck in Moult, etc (Chelsea).—So long as the hen keeps so well and bright, I do not think there is any cause for anxiety. It may be she moulted rapidly and has really finished. Anyway, keep her fairly warm, in a regular temperature, allow her to bathe when she likes, and keep her free from draughts and insect pests. Give a mixture of three parts canary to one part summer rape as staple diet. Twice a week a small teaspoonful of a mixture of equal parts hemp, millet, teazle and maw, and every second day for a fortnight give a small piece of bread and milk, with three drops of cod liver oil emulsion on it, and sprinkled with soft sugar. Stop green food and give a morsel of ripe banana instead. In the drinking water give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a pinch of Epsom salts for two days, and afterwards twenty drops of whisky and five each of tincture of gentian and laudanum until the diarrhoea is stopped. Anoint the lump with carbolised vaseline daily, but do no more with it.

Answered by G. E. WESTON.

Identity of Bird (J. Kay).—The body you send is that of a male Reed Bunting in winter plumage. In the spring the black at head and throat becomes much more pronounced

A Curious Bullie (H. Moore).—The male and female Bullfinch are alike when in nest feathers. I expect you have got hold of a rich-coloured young hen (a jonque), which is only just assuming adult plumage. These "chocolate coloured" hens are highly esteemed for Hybrid breeding purposes, and make good show birds, if, of course, possessing the essential show properties.

Seed Samples (Progress).—(1) Hemp seed small, but looks good and well ripened. (2) Canary seed seems a very fair sample, though it looks to be a mixture of two qualities. (3) Teazle is real good. (4) Inga seems to contain a lot of empty shells, as though something (? mice) had been eating of it; otherwise it is good seed. (5) This is a very good wild seed mixture, but I do not like the large black "thistle seed" it contains, which is a poor substitute for the white (and proper) English thistle seed. (6) Excellent summer rape.

Twite and Linnet (R. R.).—The Twite is much slimmer in build than the average Linnet, and can readily be distinguished by its yellowish beak. Twites sing, but their song is not of much account; the call-note, constantly uttered, sounds like "twi-eet" (or "twite," hence its name). Twite-Canary Mules are often exhibited at the shows. The cock Twite has a red rump—the upper tail coverts, that is, exhibit a reddish patch of colouring. The hen does not carry this reddish patch.

Two Matters (Constant Reader).—Yes; give the two Linnets a good tonic for a week. Get one ounce of syrup hyphosphite co. BP from a chemist and stir four or five drops into two tablespoonfuls of drinking water. Use a glass or earthenware drinking vessel. Let them have a teaspoonful daily of a mixture of thistle, dandelion, maw, gold of pleasure, and white lettuce seeds. I think the other birds mentioned will be quite alright in the cold indoor room. I see no reason why they should not do well there.

Muling Hens (W. H. G. Franks).—It does not matter whether the hen is yellow or buff so long as she comes from a strain which consistently throws light-plumaged Mules. Light Mules are bred from both kinds of hens. It is generally held, however, that buff hens are the likeliest to throw them. Type does not count at all in a Muling strain; the point is to get the biggest hens consistent with the throwing of light plumage—such hens may be "mongrels" from the exhibition point of view, but what does that matter? You should read "Cage Bird Hybrids," which would give you full information on all the points you raise.

A Magpie Ailing (Marcus Malvern).—To put it plainly, a 2ft. cage is absurd for a Magpie, and I have not the slightest doubt but that the cause of the bird's weakness is due to the lack of exercise consequent upon its cramped situation. Can't you get him a real big box and put some wire netting over the front? It need cost but a few pence. You could let him out for a run round the garden or yard for a few hours daily if you cut short four or five of the flight feathers of each wing. Being a tame hand-reared bird he would thoroughly enjoy his outings. Give him a few trappeu mice or Sparrows—at least one daily. These birds must have flesh food; and they want reasonable exercise.

British Bird Querists should purchase our "British Bird Manual," published in two parts, "Hard-bills" and "Softbills," price 1/- each, or in cloth cover together, 2/3 post free.

Loss of Birds (A. F. B.).—Are you sure that the seed you are giving the birds is of good quality and free from dust and must? Judging from your letter it certainly seems to me that it is some irritant in the food which is setting up the inflammation, and, of course, until the cause is removed you cannot hope to avoid losses. I advise you in any case to change the birds' seed, to wash out the utensils and drinking vessels in water coloured strongly with Condy's Fluid, and to stir two or three drops of Condy's Fluid into the water given them to drink, changing it two or three times daily for three days. Send a body to our Mr. Yates for post-mortem examination; he will tell you the exact cause of death.

A Greypate (Bowes).—You are evidently a beginner in the keeping of Goldfinches, and I advise you to invest 2½d. in a copy of our Nutshell handbook on the Goldfinch. The blaze of even the adult Goldfinch does not moult out crimson in colour—it comes a pale ("brassy," as fanciers term it) colour at first, and gradually gets deeper. Sometimes it is a month or two before it becomes at all a deep red. The blaze of a first-year Goldfinch (a "greypate") always comes very "brassy" looking, and seldom comes out a really bright, deep colour, until after the second moult. You could put out the cage on bright sunny days for a few hours. Let the bird have plenty of niger (inga) seed. I cannot understand how the feet get clogged with dirt if the cage is cleaned out every day. You must soak the hard dirt thoroughly in fairly hot water, and when softened remove it gently with the fingers, afterwards drying the feet.

A Jackdaw (J. M. M.).—Here is the most economical method of feeding your Jackdaw. Utilise table scraps largely. As a stock food you could use broken-up dog biscuits, or puppy cakes, or "Melox," (or some other similar dog meal). Soak with hot water, giving it crumbly moist, and mixing with it table scraps, cooked meat, potatoes, greens, gravy, etc. Give a few trapped mice, young and old Sparrows, and the like (if you can capture them), but not over much raw meat. You will find them very accommodating in the matter of food. Eggs (raw and cooked), berries and fruits, are also liked. My birds, too, do not despise a leaf of crisp lettuce. Beetles are other things they will eat.

A Woodlark (J. H.).—There are no differences in the plumage of male and female Woodlark which enable one to sex them with certainty; as a matter of fact, the hens are invariably the richest coloured and best "pencilled" of the two. An experienced dealer can sort out the cocks from the hens, consequently you ought to get a cock right enough. The food you are giving your Skylarks will answer well for the Woodlark, but the latter is a more delicate bird, and should have ants' eggs and dried flies more liberally, likewise live food more freely. I have known many Woodlarks to be successfully kept in the ordinary bow-front Lark cage; but they require at least one perch in their cage. A cage of the type known as the "Lark runner" is very suitable if of good size and containing a perch.

All the Winter (Stone).—Yes; it is certainly a good plan to allow, where possible, muling pairs to run together through the winter. Separate them for a few weeks in the spring (say, by a wired slide), then, when both birds are quite fit and anxious to breed, let them run together for the season.

Wintering Outdoors (Only 15).—All the birds you mention will stand the winter quite comfortably in the snug aviary you describe. Let them have plenty of hemp, sunflower, and linseed during the very cold spells (in addition, of course, to the other seeds.) You can turn in a few hen Canaries with every chance of getting a Mule or two next Spring. Don't overcrowd the place, though.

Turnip Seed (Aviator).—I do not care for turnip seed as a food for birds in cages, and when summer rape, or this and charlock, is being given, it is quite unnecessary. The oil it contains is not of the same bland nature as that found in summer (German) rape, is not so digestible, consequently calculated to upset birds—especially birds without free opportunities for exercise to work it out of the system. German rape seed (more so the cheaper kind) is not infrequently adulterated with turnip seed; in fact, I have known turnip seed to be sold as "summer rape" at small shops, the shopkeeper himself being ignorant as to the difference.

The Case of a Linnet (J. W. J.).—Keeping the bird in an all-wire cage would not cause the trouble, though this kind of cage is not really good for the purpose of housing any of the British Finches. Once a day for a week rub gently on the place a tiny smear of mild sulphur ointment (obtainable from any chemist); rub only the way the feathers should lie. This will result in an improvement. I expect the bird is not allowed to have a bath frequently, and this will have to be remedied. If necessary, invest in a spray and use it fairly often, adding a few drops of quassia solution (also obtainable from the chemist) to the water. Don't spray the bird until he is soaked, so to speak.

In an Aviary (New Beginner).—As it is the floor space which counts, I cannot give an opinion upon the holding capacity of your aviary until you let me know the depth from back to front, in addition to the length and height. Very nice birds to keep with the Canaries would be Goldfinches, Linnets, Siskins, Redpolls, and Bullfinches, all except the latter being songsters. One or two cheap foreign birds would lend colour and variety to the collection, and the Grey and Green Singing Finches are both lovely singers (address a query to our Foreign Bird department). You will find the prices of the above given in our advertising columns. The book on British birds for you is Part I. of the "British Bird Manual," post free 1s. 1d.

Another Aviary (Nemo).—Your place is a very nice size, and in it you could keep any of the Finches and Buntings. All of them will live on seed, though a little insectile mixture and a few mealworms are relished by many (especially the Buntings) now and again. You will find it much more economical to give the principal seeds (say canary, hemp, sunflower, teazle, summer rape, and charlock) in separate dishes, this plan reducing waste to a minimum. The other seeds (linseed, maw, niger, wild seeds, etc.) can be offered occasionally. Two dozen birds, or thereabouts, should find ample accommodation in your aviary and flight; it might be better if you roofed part or the whole of the flight over if this has not been done.

Goldfinches and the Law (G. H. Ball).—I can assure you that the fear of doing "seven days' hard" is not keeping me from buying any Goldfinches I take a fancy to; nor do I know any Goldfinch lover who has been intimidated into giving up his pets. I do not go catching them in the close season, or in districts where they are protected, of course (I have not the time, for one thing, nor, I am afraid, the skill). If you want Goldfinches, by all means buy them; the "strong arm of the law" is not at all likely to insert a hand into your coat collar and try to lead you to the nearest police station. If it does, engage your right instep with the "man in blue's" right heel, and throw yourself backwards. As P.C. 99 hits the pavement, with you on top of him, make sure that your elbow catches him "on the mark," to use a prize-ring-ism. Then get up and take your Goldfinches home.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Budgerigars Losing Feathers.

Puzzled.—Budgerigars succeed well enough in a cold room, and do not need any artificial heat. If your room fluctuates from, say, 50 to 65 or 70degs. F., this would account for the moulting out of season; in most living-rooms the combined effects of heat and light raise the temperature of a room very materially in the evening, and then during the night and early morning it is just as low. Let them have light and air, but keep them in the coolest part of the room. Through the winter keep their drinking water well coloured with Parrish's chemical food, and if there are any signs of constipation, use Dinneford's magnesia as advised to "Foreigner" in this issue. If this has no effect, and the feather-shedding is continued after the winter, you can safely assume it is constitutional, and you can do nothing further for them than get them put into some outdoor aviary. On general sunny days a light, weekly spraying will be beneficial.

Breeding Budgerigars.

L. C. B. S.—Yes, the new arrangement should meet with success. The natural branches are the best perches, and I should well line the back wall and one end, as well, for that matter, with fresh twiggy pea sticks. I should also supply a leaf of tender lettuce when available, also seeding grass whenever it can be obtained free from frost or unsodden with dew or rain. You could put in a pair of Cockateels or Blue-wing Lovebirds, but do not include the larger Parrakeets or Finches, as the latter would soon be maimed. Your aviary will not contain more than 20 Budgerigars (young and adults mixed); you can make comparison from this. There is the Pintail Nonpareil, a near relative of the Parrot Finch, and there is the Nonpareil Bunting, but I do not know of a Nonpareil Parrot or Parrakeet. Spice birds are not free breeders in captivity, not even in an aviary, but there is really no reason why they should not breed in the cage—they usually sleep on the perches except when nesting. If there is a fireplace in the room a few holes in the top of the door should suffice during the winter months, if you open the window on sunny days for a little time, but not when the wind would be blowing directly into the room; or you could have a glass ventilator in place of one of the upper panes of window, or even a pipe to atmosphere, if fitted with a cap there should be no down draught.

Ailing Birds.

E. M. H.—Your treatment is about right, though as a change a millet spray to pick over will be beneficial. Yes, I think they are troubled with vermin, and I should advise catching them and dusting with pyrethrum powder and also a little quassia solution in their bath. Put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's magnesia into the drinking water—ordinary small drinker. The best plan is to take away the water overnight, and then give the magnesia on the following morning. The birds will then drink heartily of it; after an interval of three days repeat the dose. When not giving the magnesia lightly colour the drinking water with Parrish's chemical food. If there are parasites, these will be in the cage as well, which should be thoroughly scalded out or baked, and then distempered, or you will never get rid of them, as it's no good treating the birds while the pests remain in the cage.

Ailing Budgerigar.

Vyse.—It is quite possible that it is egg-bound, and if it is paired up, this is probably the case. If so, you will find it more or less swollen at the vent. Remedy: A couple of drops of sweet oil to the beak from a quill; anoint the vent with same, and then shortly after steam the vent over a jug of hot water, and put the bird in a small cage in some warm position till the egg has been laid. If there are no signs of egg-binding, give two drops of Dinneford's magnesia to the beak from a quill, and repeat the dose in a couple of days; also give twice daily two drops of oxymel of squills to the beak from a quill till the breathing is easier. Your dietary is satisfactory, but while it is ailing, if it will eat it, supply a piece of plain biscuit that has been soaked in Parrish's chemical food, and then allowed to partially dry before supplying to the bird. The bird should be caged separately, kept warm, yet have light and air without draught, and it will probably recover.

Budgerigars and Lovebirds, etc.

"Only 15."—(1) I think the Budgerigars and Lovebirds would be safe through the winter in their present quarters, but I must confess there is a risk, more from long, continued cold rain than frost, and I consider your best course would be to take the cage into some outbuilding or unheated room, standing it where the birds would get light and air. (2) Yes, but I advise the following additional protection: One half of netting of front of aviary to have felting tacked over it from November to end of March, and a screen of canvas or similar material to be fastened over the other half each night. Of course, if you prefer it, you can make wood and glass shutters, binge them to front of aviary, and keep these open or closed during the day, according to the weather, of course, making provision for ventilation when fixing the shutter. You must aim at keeping rain, sleet, etc., from driving into the aviary through the front. Of course, I am assuming that the aviary is large enough for them to have plenty of exercise, and to take small flights. You should get "Foreign Birds" for Beginners," 1s. 1d., post free, from our manager—it would help you.

Birds for Aviary Cage.

E. H. Fowler.—Give the wirework two coats of Brunswick Black; this is quite innocuous and a quick dryer. Enamel woodwork according to taste. I am assuming that it is a roomy C.P. aviary cage, and if so you could keep in it a dozen Waxbills. Once established, these should prove enduring in the temperature of any ordinary living room, providing they are not subjected to draught; at the same time, they must get light and air. I prefer keeping them in pairs; they are more interesting. At the same time, as they will not try to breed in such quarters, equalisation of sexes is not an indispensable factor in their well being. I must, however, warn you that you are almost sure to suffer some loss in procuring newly-imported birds. Procure pairs of Zebra, Grey and Orange-checked Waxbills, also Common and Green Avadavats. This will give you some beautiful species and an interesting series value 3s. 6d. to 7s. 6d. per pair. Use twigy branches as perches, and hang up five cocoanut shell nests as shelters for the birds. Supply canary, white, and Indian millet seeds, also millet sprays, green food (seeding grass, lettuce, groundsel, etc., as in season), small piece of any ripe fruit they will peck at, and keep a piece of clean cuttlebone hanging in the cage, the tray of which must be covered with gritty sand. You would find "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1s. 1d., post free, from our manager, very helpful.

Description of Finches.

R. G. P. Nelson.—(1) The deseriptions can only be very vague; to give them fully would take a column. The male Jacnrina is shining blue-black with the bend of the wing white; the hen is brown, very similar to a Linnet. Guttural Finch: Olive green with the breast and abdomen pale yellowish. Black-headed Weaver, breeding plumage: Head black, upper parts green, with blackish striations, underparts yellowish-green. Half-masked: Very similar to the preceding, but instead of having the head black, it has merely half a mask, hence its name; both are very handsome species, some of the yellow areas being very rich and intense. Russ's is a sort of rosy-brown hue, with darker markings. Black-breasted: There are several which may be so designated; can you give me more information? The Tanagers have all lustrous and silken plumage. Crimson-crowned; Black, with a longitudinal streak of carmine through the crown. Archbishop: Principally blue, with a yellow patch or two on head and wings. Pretre's Tanager: I can say no more than that this is a pleasing and striking arrangement of black, white, yellow, chestnut, gold, and brown, and of those you name the most suitable for exhibition. (2) In all ordinary seasons the shed will suffice, providing cages are sufficiently roomy to enable the birds to take exercise; but during extraordinary spells of cold some slight heat should be given—merely sufficient to take the sting out of the cold is sufficient. The temperature ought not to fall below 45 degrees F. for any lengthy period. The most important point to bear in mind is, you must have ventilation without draught, and damp must be excluded by some means.

Brevities.

Blue-wing Lovebirds (R. R.).—The one with the blue is the cock, the one without is the hen. Yes, very many Lovebirds and Parrakeets arrive in this country with clipped wings. If these birds have been kept indoors for a time you must not put them into an outdoor aviary till spring.

Diamond Doves, etc. (C. E. H.).—You are not really entitled to a reply per post. If you refer to rules you will see reasons for this. I am, rightly, not allowed to mention particular advertisers, but failing other means I should certainly try an advertisement in our pages, which would probably secure you pairs of each from some private advertiser. Both species are rather scarce in the market at the present time.

Cover for Cage (M. R.).—The sail cloth should be well scalded to remove all dressing, and it is essential that a hole at least 3 inches in diameter should be left on top of cage for ventilation. Any material that is to hand will do—buize, cretonne, flannelette, and the like, but whatever is used should be run through boiling water monthly to clear away any mites or other parasites from establishing themselves in its folds, etc.

Budgerigars in Moult (Foreigner).—Get from your chemist the following mixture: Ipecacuanha wine, oxymel of squills and glycerine in equal parts; for use, take a small portion of the mixture, dilute with an equal bulk of water, and give three drops from a quill direct to the beak twice daily till relief is given. For a couple of days put one teaspoonful of Dinneford's magnesia into its drinking water; repeat this after a week's interval; in between, well colour the drinking water with Parrish's chemical food. You had better write the editor re busks. See rules.

Parrot with Growth on Tongue (Bob).—I cannot say, as of course it is impossible for me to know the nature of the growth, and I should advise a vet. being called in to remove it. Of course, if it is a soft growth containing pus, then you can lance and cleanse it. Putting a little honey and borax (ready mixed from any chemist) on its tongue two or three times a day cannot do harm, and will at any rate help to keep the mouth clear; also keep the bowels moving freely, not watery loose, with Dinneford's Magnesia (use as advised to other querists in this issue), and on other occasions well colour the drinking water with Parrish's Chemical Food. Report progress a fortnight hence, giving full details.

Aviary and Birds (H. C. B.).—Yes, but you must use either a canvas cover or glazed shutters (the latter preferably) for night and winter use. You can keep in it Budgerigars, Cockatiels, Blue-wing and Madagascar Lovebirds. However, unless you know the birds have come straight from some outdoor aviary, where they have been all the summer, it is no use buying birds now, they will only die like the Budgerigar. If you cannot get birds as above, you must wait till spring. Get "Foreign Birds for Beginners," 1s. 1d., post free from our Manager. It will help you.

Aviary for Cockatiels, etc. (P. T. H.).—Your arrangement promises well, but give up to their use as much of the shed as you can spare, and see that in arranging for the inner portion there is no draught through windows and crevices in back. As a precaution see that no perches stand in direct line with the windows. Budgerigars and Cockatiels will agree together, and not interfere with each other's nesting arrangements. However, I do not advise two pairs of Cockatiels. You could put in place of one pair either a pair of Redrumps or Rosella Parrakeets. You would also have accommodation for a pair of Blue-wing Lovebirds. I do not like asphalte base for parrakeets, and should advise surfacing this either with one inch of concrete or several inches of gravel, with some means of side drainage.

Exhibition Queries ("Much to Learn").— (1 and 2) I will place the birds you name in what I consider the order of merit, condition and other things being equal. Lavender Finch, Cordon Bleu, Gold-breasted Waxbill (pair), Orange-cheeked Waxbill, Red-eared Waxbill, White Java, Combassou, Green Singing Finch, Bronze-wing Mannikin. Pairs are not a necessity for exhibition purposes, and unless both birds are perfect and fit in every way, only show the perfect bird, or the inferior one would penalise its mate. (3) Ants' "eggs," game meal, crissel and pupae meal. One part ants' eggs to two parts each of the others. If the birds are indigenous species you had better repeat this query to our Mr. Weston.

How many, and what kind? (Mitcham).—(1) It would accommodate 40 to 50 birds, ranging in size from a Canary to a Waxbill, but for breeding purposes 6 to 8 pairs. (2) Cover in another 3ft. of the roof, and for winter use provide either a glazed shutter or canvas curtain to cover the front of this portion. Preferably the glazed shutter, as this does not obstruct light, and it can be left open at discretion. (3) I do not think the one pair of Budgerigars will do more than occasional mischief if you do not permit them to increase in number. Zebra Finches, Gold-breasted, Orange-cheeked, and Grey Waxbills, White Java Sparrows, Silverbills, Common Red and Green Avadavats. You would find "Foreign Birds for Beginners" very helpful. 1s. 1d. post free from our manager.

Roseate Cockatoo (H. C. A.).—I am glad to note that the bird has made some progress towards settling down. The Rosy is not noted as a linguist, though some individuals talk well, and I am of the opinion yours will ultimately talk a little, at any rate. When it is in a restful mood in its cage talk to it and it will ultimately respond to this, and what it hears in the ordinary way. Yes, it is a good practice to let the bird out; it is sure to take occasional wing exercise, and as it gets accustomed to this its flight and the effects of it, both on itself and ornaments, are noticeable. Of course, they must always be kept under observation that they do not exercise their beaks on the furniture under such circumstances. Where it was a bird I could not handle I always threw a cloth over it (not wildly) and returned it to its cage. I have had birds give a sort of chuckle under the cloth and not be at all scared—it all depends on how it's done. There will be less wild flights as the bird becomes accustomed to occasional freedom.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. And bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

Ernest Mellors.—The bird was very emaciated and thin, and the intestines almost devoid of contents. The latter organs were also in an inflamed condition, which brought about its death. It is a contagious disease, the contagious element entering by way of the digestive track. I applied the usual tests and carefully searched for the presence of lead, but the result was negative. You must deal with it as for any contagious disease by segregation of the healthy from the diseased, adopting at the same time a suitable method of disinfection, and I think a course of Condy's Fluid given in the drinking water may obviate much of the trouble.

F. Bielby.—Canary died of pneumonia, probably having contracted a chill on travelling to and from the show. It is by no means an uncommon cause of loss. In all other respects the bird was healthy, well nourished, and in good condition. I noticed the presence of lice, but these had no connection, of course, with the ailment from which it died.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

"The Thief" (T. Charlton).—Thanks for the cutting. We shall hope to deal with the matter as space permits.

The Rev. Smith's Book (F. Hardy).—Thanks for your kindly offer, but we already possess a copy of this work.

Seed Hopper (E. Smale).—We have duly received your box and shall hope to examine the hopper, etc., this week-end.

Photographs (A. Hollingshead and W. Aitken).—Thanks for your letters; we will endeavour to reproduce the photographs you send in the near future.

A Photograph (J. A. Restall).—We are pleased to receive your interesting photograph, which, however, is not quite clear enough to reproduce satisfactorily in our pages.

Softbills at Glasgow Show (Pied Wag).—We cannot see our way to publish your letter. We take it that the Softbills were properly looked after (you say nothing to the contrary), and the question of the stewards is one for the management to decide for themselves.

A Coloured Plate (P. Flynn).—A copy of the double number, containing the plate in question, can be sent you post free for 2d.; or packed flat in cardboard for 4d. Kindly note that your letter cost us 1d., as you had put on it a halfpenny stamp only.

Use of Bird Lime (W. H. Pearson).—There is nothing illegal in the use of bird lime. The reference to "costing you 40s." was merely bluff. It is for a magistrate to decide whether "cruelty" has been used; and this, of course, would depend upon the evidence put before him.

A Warning to Societies (Late Committee).—If you desire to have this matter dealt with in our pages you must send your name and address with your communication, as guarantee of your bonafides. We cannot publish, or take any notice of, anonymous letters.

Border Fancy Canaries (W. Brown).—All varieties of the Border Fancy Canary will be fully dealt with in "Our Canaries," and the views of all the present-day expert breeders given. You should certainly subscribe to this work (6d. monthly). A chapter on the breeding of the Border appears in House's Canary Manual (post free 1s. 2d.).

WISBECH.

Wisbech and Dis. F.S. first open show held Oct. 26th. Several classes were cancelled, but those standing contained birds of high quality. The committee might do well another year to make the prize money 10s., 5s, and 2s. 6d. The Public Hall is a grand place for a show of this kind. Mr. Charles Ward judged. The committee had arrangements well in hand, and everything passed off in grand style, under the supervision of the sec., Mr. C. Ward.

The Roller Canary: How Feeding Affects the Song.

SIR,—Roller fanciers, who are living in all parts of the country and not able to attend the meetings of the British Roller C.C., will have been greatly interested in the report of the discussion in the columns of CAGE BIRDS anent the much debated diet for Rollers, and how feeding affects their song. We notice the experiment that is being made by Mr. Lester, who is feeding largely on canary seed, and who states that his birds are no higher in song in consequence, although being, as he said, bred from a strain rich in high tours. No doubt a good many have tried this, myself being amongst them. I fed four young cocks on nearly all Canary seed up to last week, when I changed their seed to all rape; to my surprise they sang as loud again as when fed on canary seed, and being put back on it again they resumed their old tone. I take it a Roller Canary will sing as low on canary seed as one fed on rape, provided it is fed on it early. I do not believe it is so much a question of food as of climate. You can buy the best German low-toned singers and feed them exclusively on rape, and most of them will get high in time in spite of every care taken to prevent this. To my mind the careful selection of young cocks when starting to sing, and clearing out of all born screechers, are of more importance than the kind of food. As we all know, no matter how some Roller Canaries are fed, they will still sing high; these are wasters. If canary seed induces a loud song, how is it that Mr. Randall's birds are no higher in tone than other fanciers' birds, seeing he admits he gives them their egg drawer full each day? With all due respect to Mr. Fisher, who opposed the use of canary seed, and says he uses a little mixed seed occasionally, one might ask how is it he is penalised for high notes like the rest of us, if, as he says, rape seed keeps the song low and canary seed makes them violent in song? That they will gorge themselves with it is not my experience. If in the flight previous to caging the birds up singly I put pots containing canary and rape seeds separate, I find as much rape seed as canary seed eaten. Mr. Schluter's remarks that he did not think you could win with a German bird at an English show is rather startling, considering that for years past the 1st in champion classes (with a few exceptions) have been German-bred birds. Whether an English-bred bird can do likewise has yet to be proved, and we can do no better than, to borrow that historical phrase, "Wait and see." JUSTICE.

SIR,—Having had some little experience with Rollers, I should like to give those who intend going in for this beautiful songster my mode of feeding. After having kept these birds over 20 years, I find that they like Canary seed better than German rape. I have now 130 Rollers in my room; these birds have free access to both these seeds, and I find they eat every week 11lbs. of Spanish Canary to 2lbs. of German rape. I have never yet had a bird of this breed that would make German rape its staple food. But I once had one that would eat neither. I purchased this bird at Hull, and it had not been in England an hour before I got it. This was on a Saturday, and on the Sunday I was up by 3 a.m. with the lamp lit to hear what sort of a songster he was. Instead of singing he was knocking the seeds out of the hopper which he soon emptied. Not a seed did he eat; nor did he sing. But when the day was half gone he sat with his head under his wing and his feathers turned inside out—the very image of misery; and I made sure the bird was ill. However, I had some mixed seed that I used for Linnets in the house, and I filled his hopper with that. I then roused him from his perch, and he went to the hopper like a bird with the "going light" disease. He didn't knock out the seed this time—he had found what he wanted—niger seed. Yes, and didn't he have his fill! I thought he would never have done eating. I kept this bird on niger seed alone for over three years, when the cat got him. He was the best little songster I ever possessed. In the British Roller C.C. discussion the other week it was stated that Canary seed will make one's young birds loud in their song. I am of the opinion that they will sing as low and as sweet when fed on Canary seed as they will when German rape is used. Two years ago I fed my young birds on nothing else but Canary seed, and trained them in large open cages; and my birds were low-singing birds. It all depends on the training and the strain you are breeding from. If you have a strain of birds that are low, deep songsters, they will with a few exceptions breed the same sort of singing youngsters. On the other hand, if your stock birds are loud singers, and have faulty notes, the youngsters will have the same faults, and you will have a task to breed a low and deep-sounding young bird. The Roller is supposed to be a bird that needs plenty of warmth to bring out his best song; but this is another fallacy. I have proved the bird to be as hardy as a Linnet and as easy to keep. My bird-room faces the north, and I use no artificial heat whatever; and though I found last winter the water glasses filled up with solid ice, my birds were not troubled with either wheezing or any ailment. However, there is one thing the little bird cannot stand, and that is, being hung in the window in a metal or brass cage—the variations of cold and heat and draughts prove too much for him. Keep him in a box cage well away from the fire; give him his choice of good Canary and rape seed; in the winter give a tit-bit of milk sop, egg-food, carrot, potato, apple, and now and then a spray of watercress; and in the summer, as the wild seeds ripen, give him his fill of the following: Dandelion, chickweed, shepherd's purse, plaintain stalks, dock seeds, and the best of all rod maize. Birds so kept will come through their moult like new pins, and delight you with their everflowing music.

JOHN CANNING.

Hull Fanciers Call on Grimsby Fanciers.

SIR,—The other day, along with Messrs. Calam, Harland, and Pepper, fellow-members of the Hull C.B.S., I went to Grimsby, and, by invitation, had a look over several bird rooms, and the fine Foreign bird aviaries of Mr. Sutcliffe. The first visit was to the room of Mr. W. H. Moore, sen., Flottergate, where we saw some very fine Norwich; several good unflighted yellow hens were among this lot. The next visit was to the room of Mr. Moore, jun., also a Norwich fancier; amongst the birds, which are in an outdoor aviary, we noticed a very fine Linnet, which we hope to see exhibited during the coming show season. The Norwich, which are kept in an inside room, are a very level lot, and are just about through the moult. We next viewed the lovely aviaries of Mr. Sutcliffe, which contain a marvellous collection of Foreign birds. The Old Aviary, which is beautifully planted with shrubs, and has a background of green foliage, contains amongst other birds, Grey-winged Ouzels, Meyers' Gracebills, Malabar Starlings, Blue, Palm, Maroon, and Black Tanagers, Himalayan and Olive-beaked Thrushes, Yellow-headed and Long-tailed Starlings, Onyx, Red-billed, Madagascar, and Black-faced Weavers, Red-crested Cardinals, Mocking Birds, Painted and Harlequin Quails, White-crowned, Partridge, White-winged Peaceful and Ring-tailed Doves. We also noticed the following British birds: Hawfinches, Snow Bunting, Bramblefinches, Greenfinches, and Bullfinches. In the bird-room we had Budgerigars, Rosella, Moustache, and Venezuelan Parrakeets, and Orange and Yellow Troupials. The Yellow Troupial is one of the most amusing birds I ever have had the pleasure of seeing, coming out of the cage, perching on your finger and singing at the word of command; also lying on its back in the palm of your hand and repeating the performance. You could also let it fly in the open when it would return and perch on your shoulder. These birds are fed on all the different kinds of seeds, on milk, honey, insectivorous mixtures, bananas, oranges, etc.. We next visited a beautiful new aviary Mr. Sutcliffe has had erected; this contained the following birds: Gouldians, Long-tailed and Masked Grassfinches, Red-legged Sugarbirds, Jamaica creeper, Trinidad creeper, Yellow-bellied Tanager, Violet Tanagers, Yellow-crowned, Black-throated Tanagers, two kinds of diminutive Tanagers (species almost unknown in this country), Black-headed Lined-finches, Guttural-finches, Greyfinches, Jacarine Finches, Fire Redfinches, Tropical Seedfinches, Tivativa Finches (Black Finches), Thick-bellied Seedfinches, Hooded and Columbian Siskins, South American Canaries, Pelzeln Saffron Finches, Nonpareil and Indigo Finches; also one unidentified Bunting, Waxbills, and various other kinds of Mannikins, etc. The Trinidad Creeper is probably the only one of this species in the country. The birds feed on pollen and small insects in captivity Mr. Sutcliffe feeds his on condensed milk, honey thinned with water, bananas, oranges, and grapes. The Diminutive Tanagers are about the size of Wrens, and feed on milk sop, bananas, oranges, etc. The Sugarbirds are fed the same. A large number of the birds are the first importation, collected by Mr. Sutcliffe on his recent tour in the West Indies. After seeing this wonderful collection of Foreigners, we visited the room of Mr. Townsend, where we were once more among the short and chubby ones, some very nice Buffs being on view. From here a short walk brought us to Mr. W. Clews', the genial chairman of the Grimsby Society, and after an inspection of his stock (which consists of Norwich and Crests), we were beginning to feel the effects of a very hard day. I should like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Moore, sen., Mr. and Mrs. Clewes, and all the Grimsby fanciers, and hope this will only be the prelude to many more outings. ERNEST R. RIDLEY.

The Cage Bird Union and Newcastle Show.

SIR,—In reference to the paragraph appearin your last issue re Newcastle Show, I must emphatically deny having written asking the Yorkshire Union Secretary to get entries withheld at this show. Although by their refusal to abide by a decision of the council, this society have rendered themselves liable to suspension, nothing has been done that could in any way prejudice the show, and this is all that need be said on the matter.
